Scrap Shortage May Cripple British Drive

LONDON, April 26 — (Reuters).—Shortage of scrap may cripple Britain's drive to produce this year the 14,000,000 tons of steel on which her plans to increase exports, and so speed her economic recovery, depend.

To achieve the steel target for 1948, Britain needs 4,600,000 tons of scrap besides pig iron, iron ore and coke. She must obtain about 1,000,000 tons from overseas and find another 3,500,000 tons at home.

Already, however, the British Iron and Steel Board has issued a warning that because of poor prospects of getting scrap from abroad, Britain may find herself about 1,000,000 tons short this year because the scrap which Germany is to send Britain this year shows no sign, as yet, of materializing.

Home stocks of scrap have reached the low level of 348,000 tons compared with 534,000 tons last year. Industry is more or less living on day-to-day supplies.

Brighter Side

However, there is also a bright side to the picture.

George Strauss, minister of supply, said last month that the campaign for recovering scrap from home sources has started well this year with a weekly average in January of 82,000 tons compared with 67,000 last year.

Though pessimists think that this rate will fall once the initial momentum of the campaign becomes exhausted, great efforts are being made all over the country to collect scrap wherever it can be found—from factories, farms, the railways and shipyards.

Even five venerable old battleships, which served Britain in two victorious World Wars, were condemned by the Admiralty in February to be broken up, will be called upon to play their part once more—this time in the battle for scrap.

Speaker Tells Of Punjab At Hastings

HASTINGS, April 26—(ENS)—Those present at St. George's Parish Hall on Wednesday afternoon are most enthusiastic over the interesting talk they heard. The speaker, the guest of the WA, was Miss Elsa Peter who will return to the Punjab to work with her brother.

Miss Peter is a third generation missionary in the Moravian Mission when the mission was closed. Then she joined her brother in India, and they are primarily interested in the agricultural aspects of the country, and will work to raise the living standards of the Punjab inhabitants.

She spoke with a delightful accent, being Swiss. This is her first visit to Canada, and she is most impressed by the country and commented on the wonderful work being done by the WA's.

Miss Peter did not follow the lines of the usual missionary address, but dwelt on the living conditions and the country generally. She told of the over populated, poverty-stricken country: the most land owned by a family is about eight acres, and the income per capita $26 yearly. About 95 per cent of the population is illiterate.

The women do the most of the hard work, and all seem willing to be taught. During the war the supply of knitting needles being imported was cut off, but there was plenty of knitting wool to be had. Miss Peter showed a man what she most needed, and in a few days he returned with a perfectly made, by hand, set of needles. Others learned the trade and soon the district was supplying a vast area of the East with their hand-made needles. The income from this industry was a fortune to these people.

Miss Peter and her brother are taking a horse-driven pump back to India with them, for irrigation purposes. The land is barren as the people are ignorant of land improvement methods.

The Government of India is most anxious for the missions to continue their work, knowing it is for the good of the people, and are making the most generous grants to the Technical Services Associate.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. C. R. Spencer. Thanks was expressed by Canon Spencer, who also led in opening prayers. Mrs. E. Smullin also added a word of appreciation.

Tea was served by members of the WA. and a social time enjoyed.

Lost In Fog Narrowly Misses Going Over Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, NY, April 26. (CP)—A fisherman who came within a quarter of a mile of going over the American Falls in a boat said yesterday fog and darkness won't catch him in the Upper Niagara River again.

Edward O. Schotz, 54, was fish- He headed his 15-foot craft for when a thick fog ruined visibility. He headed ris 15-foot craft for what he thought was his dock, but lost his way.

Finally his boat hit a rock and broke the connecting pin. He turned off the motor.

"Then I could hear the roar of the falls," he said. "I grabbed the one canoe paddle I had."

He spotted a boom in the river and "paddled like mad" until he reached it, and clung on for dear life.

He shouted for help and used a cigaret lighter intermittently. Ray Holzman, worker in a nearby factory, heard him and called police.

Scholtz said it was about three hours between the time he became lost and when he was taken ashore.

Freak Pig Had 8 Legs, 3 Ears, 2 Hindquarters

BONARLAW, April 26—A freak pig was born on the farm of Alfred Lake, two miles south of Stirling, Wednesday.

The little animal was dead when discovered. It is not known if it ever lived.

It had eight legs, one head with three ears—one large ear and a smaller one on centre of the head. The creature had one body for the first half of the back, then two bodies with normal hind quarters.

The spine was joined so that the front legs were straight down, the other two up on the side, pointing outward.

The rest of the litter is normal and alive.

2 CHILDREN, 3 MEN KILLED IN TRAGEDIES

Two Convicts Likely Tried For Murder

Believe Gun Smuggled Into Penitentiary Not Like Guards Use

KINGSTON, April 27 (CP). — Recaptured at gun point just four hours after a daring escape from Portsmouth Penitentiary, Howard Urquhart and Austin Craft will likely face murder charges for the killing of a prison messenger.

A new version of the actual break and shooting came today from sources close to penitentiary officials.

First reports said the messenger, John Kennedy, was shot three times while driving his car from the prison and that his body was then dumped from the car. The shooting was said to have been done from the back seat by Craft after which Urquhart raced from his hiding place in the trunk and jumped in behind the wheel.

The later version related how Kennedy drove the car through the gate with two convicts hiding in it. As the first gate clanged shut behind the car the outer gate swung open.

Another Story

Kennedy got out of the car and was walking toward the store room on the right when one of the convicts, reported to be Craft, fired one shot at him. The bullet struck Kennedy below the left arm, penetrating his heart.

Kennedy staggered into store room where he died. A second shot was fired but missed. Craft — not Urquhart — then leaped from the rear seat into the front and drove off. Urquhart remained hiding in the trunk.

The first killing in a prison break in the penitentiary's history, it was followed yesterday by the largest "shoot-to-kill" manhunt in years. Swiftly a 180-man posse ringed the area and brought the gun-wielding desperadoes to bay in dense brush near Sydenham, 15 miles northeast of here. They surrendered without resistance.

Last night Maj.-Gen. R. S. Gibson, commissioner of penitentiaries, said at Ottawa that both Urquhart, 21, and Craft, 40, likely will face charges of murdering John Kennedy, 59-year-old penitentiary employee. He believed both would be tried, although only one, Craft, is reported as having

The ceremony took place on the 600th anniversary of the Order, which was founded by Edward III.

Union Suspends Suspect Official

NIAGARA FALLS, NY, April 27. (AP)—Charles A. Doyle, a CIO official charged by the United States government with being an alien Communist, has been suspended as secretary-treasurer of the United Chemical Workers District 2 Council.

The council voted 53 to 22 last night to suspend Doyle immediately "until such time as he be absolved of charges by the United States government or until the expiration of his term, whichever comes first."

A deportation hearing in New York City, at which he was accused of being an alien Communist, is in adjournment, subject to recall by the Federal government. Doyle faces possible deportation to his native Scotland if the charge is upheld.

His term as secretary-treasurer of the district council expires next August. Doyle is a vice-president of the United Chemical Workers' International Association.

First Forest Fires In Kirkland Area

KIRKLAND LAKE, April 27 — (CP)—First forest fires of the season have been reported in this area. A blaze in McGarry Improvement District, just north of Kearns, burned six acres of slash, and a smaller blaze on Highway No. 11 near Ramore burned a small area of slash.

Rangers are on duty and all towers have been manned, three weeks earlier than usual on account of the high hazard, said Col. F. J. Dawson, district forester at Swastika.

Flood Damage On Prairies Costs Millions

WINNIPEG, April 27 —(CP)— Flood damage ran into millions of dollars today across the prairies with the count bound to mount greatly before conditions return to normal.

Here and there, flood waters ebbed or their rise came at a slower pace. Manitoba's position was still the most perilous of the prairie provinces even though there had been some abatement. By contrast, Saskatchewan and Alberta were regarded as "over the hump."

Death toll from the floods stood at 12 for the three provinces.

In Winnipeg, city authorities expected the waters of the Red river to reach the 25-foot mark by the end of the week, which would be three feet over flood stage. Between Monday noon and midnight the river rose only 1 1-5 inches, to register 22.5 feet about datum, compared to an average daily advance of one foot since flooding started late last week.

By last night, approximately 40 greater Winnipeg families had been evacuated because of the floods.

At Emerson, near the Minnesota border, the worst appeared over. Three-quarters of the town still is under water but the crest of the Red river had slithered by the town and the water level has been dropping slowly.

In neighboring Saskatchewan, another boundary spot — Roche Percee—was stricken by Souris river flood waters. Every home in the hamlet, 125 miles southeast of Regina near the North Dakota border, was damaged. Red Cross and Salvation Army officials rushed emergency supplies to the scene.

Million Dollar Robbery Stern Gang Tricks Hagana

TEL AVIV, April 27—(AP).—Heavily-armed youths who said they were members of the Jewish underground Stern Group pulled a $1,000,000 daylight bank robbery today under the eyes of Hagana guards.

The youths, just after dawn, visited the homes of all directors and cashiers of Barclay's bank. At gunpoint they took the matched keys needed to open vaults. Some of the bank officials were beaten to make them surrender the keys.

Just after the bank opened, two of the group, wearing military police armbands, asked admittance to inspect the armed guard kept by Hagana, the Jewish militia, because of the wave of recent robberies by dissident underground groups.

When the doors opened, a larger group of youths rushed up. They disarmed the guards, herded the employees into one room, and opened the vaults. They escaped in two waiting taxis with £250,000 in cash and negotiable bank securities.

Last Of Tiny Quads Dies In Detroit

DETROIT, April 27. (AP)—The last of four tiny babies born yesterday to Mrs. Anne Borg died early this morning in hospital.

Born prematurely, the three girls and one boy were given a good chance to survive at first. But two died late in the afternoon, a third expired at 10:55 p.m. and the last succumbed at 1:25 a.m.

The 28-year-old mother was reported in good condition. Her husband, Joseph, also 28, is a pipefitter.

The babies, each weighing less than two pounds, were delivered yesterday morning and placed immediately in incubators.

Wm. Knudsen Dies In Detroit

DETROIT, April 27 — (AP). — William S. Knudsen, 69, former president of General Motors Corporation, died early this morning at his home here.

The industrialist had been in poor health for more than a year. His physician, Dr. Charles E. Lemmon, did not give a specific cause of death immediately.

Son of a Copenhagen customs inspector, Knudsen came to the United States in 1899 and began work in a shipyard as a shophand on the Erie Railroad.

Within 10 years he was assistant manager of a Buffalo concern which later merged with the Ford Motor Company. After work with Ford and Ireland and Matthews, a Detroit manufacturing company, he joined General Motors in 1922.

He became a president of the firm in 1933 and four years later took over the presidency of the continent's largest manufacturer of automobiles.

In June, 1940, Knudsen took a leave of absence to become a member of the National Defence Advisory Commission, serving without pay.

Ask Russians Explain Police Chief's Flight

BERLIN, April 27. (CP)—American authorities said today the Russians will be asked to explain circumstances which Berlin's commander of German police says caused him to flee to the city's western sector.

The chief, Hans Kanig, told the Americans he ran away from the Soviet sector while being questioned. He said the Russians wanted to arrest him because he had ordered a policeman disciplined after the policeman lured a German citizen into the Russian sector to be kidnapped.

William T. Babcock, United States Deputy Commandant in Berlin, said that if Kanig's story is true the Russians are violating a four-power agreement which says that a German official with city-wide power can be arrested only on orders of the four-power Allied Kommandantura. He said the Russians will be told Kanig's story and asked to explain.

Kanig, who commands 11,000 uniformed police, was quoted as saying he ran away because he did not want to disappear like his predecessor, an officer named Heinrich. Heinrich was arrested by the Russians in August, 1945, and has not been heard from since.

Recommend 25 PC. Raise In Pensions For Veterans

OTTAWA, April 27.—(CP). — The Commons Committee on Veterans Affairs voted unanimously today to recommend a 25-per-cent increase in war pensions after a prominent Liberal member said there were "good prospects" it would be granted by the government.

Earlier, by votes of 16 to 15, the committee defeated Opposition motions for a 33 1/3-per-cent increase and for a 25-per-cent hoist plus a cost-of-living bonus.

The motions were made on a bill that includes a government proposal to raise pensions for war disabled and widows by 16 per cent and those of dependents by 20.

The basic pension for a 100-per-cent, single disabled veteran now is $75 a month.

The statement that there were "good prospects" that the government would grant a 25-per-cent increase — raising the $75 to roughly $93—came from David Croll (L-Toronto Spadina) and was considered a possible indication that the government will accept a further increase, for the third time this session.

Veteran Minister Gregg, one of 35 members of the committee, voted against the first two motions, but abstained on the third. The 25-per-cent request originally came from the Canadian Legion.

The government came through the first two votes because of the aaid of H. W. Herridge (Peoples CCF-Kootenay West), the man who moved for the 25-per-cent hoist.

Mr. Herridge and 15 Liberals defeated an otherwise combined Opposition on the 33 1/3-per-cent motion, moved by A. J. Brooks (PC-Royal).

Mother Hurt In Futile Fire Rescue

Been In New Home Only One Week When House Destroyed

BRONTE, April 27 (CP)—Two children were burned to death and their mother seriously injured in a fire at this Lake Ontario port today which destroyed three homes. The fire is believed to have started from an overheated stove.

The dead are Brian Young, two, and his 18-months-old brother, Gary. Their mother, Mrs. Morgan Young, was seriously burned about the face and head when she attempted a rescue. She is in hospital at Hamilton, 10 miles south of here, in critical condition.

The Young home was a converted barn and when the flash fire broke out, an adjoining stone house owned by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Johnson and an unused cottage of the Johnsons, also were destroyed.

Another child, Caroline Young, six, sister of the two boys, was in the Johnson home at the time of the fire, and escaped without injury. Firemen were able to save some of the furniture in the Johnson home.

Heavy seas of Lake Ontario prevented three fire departments which responded to the call from drawing water from that source. Water was obtained from a nearby creek but the fire had made so much headway the flames could not be checked.

The Youngs previously resided at Tobermory on the Bruce peninsula before coming here from Toronto last Friday.

Given Up To 5 Years In $784,000 Swindle

NEW YORK, April 27 (AP)—William Arthur Nickel, former $64-a-week cashier for the Mergenthaler Linotype Company today was sentenced to 2½ to five years in prison for his part in the $784,000 swindle of the firm.

County Judge Samuel Leibowitz imposed the same term on each of 202 counts of forgery and grand larency, to which Nickel had pleaded guilty more than a year ago. The court, however, specified the sentences were to run concurrently, which would entitle him to apply for a parole hearing in about two years. Nickel had testified for the state.

The Mergenthaler swindle came to light in the fall of 1946. Nickel, who had become the owner of two yachts, two expensive automobiles and large real estate holdings, was arrested in Miami, Fla.

Demand U.N. Halt Palestine Invasion

LAKE SUCCESS, April 27 — (CP). — The Jewish Agency today demanded firm action by the United Nations to halt an invasion of Palestine by regular armies of Trans-Jordan and other Arab countries.

The Agency also warned the U.N. that the Jews of Palestine themselves were "making every possible preparation to meet the next phase of the onslaught with our own forces."

The Jewish position was set forth by Moshe Shertok, head of the Jewish Agency's political department. He spoke before the 58-member political committee of the U.N. special Palestine assembly.

The U.N. trusteeship council met simultaneously in an effort to work out emergency police machinery to guard the holy places of Jerusalem against destruction. Russia ended her year-long boycott of the Council to take part in the discussions.

Need Special School

TORONTO, April 27 — (CP).— Arlene Anderson, 13-year-old cerebral palsy victim, would not have been killed by a crazed sex-slayer if she had been able to enroll in a school, the murdered girl's mother, Mrs. W. H. Anderson, said yesterday. She was testifying at an inquest into the child's death.

Believed Drowned

MONTREAL, April 27 — (CP).— W. B. McLellan, vice-president of Toledo Motors, Ltd., and his wife are believed to have drowned in Des Prairie River and company officials said today they will begin an extensive search of the district. The 49-year-old executive and his wife left their St. Geneviece home last Saturday night for a proposed fishing trip and have not been heard from since. The river is on the northern side of Montreal Island.

4 Arab Armies Poised For Big Attack

JERUSALEM, April 27. — (AP).—A reliable Arab source said troops of an Egyptian armored division crossed Palestine's southern frontier at dawn today.

The report came on the heels of a Damascus report that a Trans-Jordan Arab Legion had occupied the town of Jericho and was moving into the Dead Sea Valley of Palestine.

This was discounted here since Legion security forces are on loan to the British authorities under both the old and new British-Trans-Jordan treaties.

Reports that Haifa is being shelled from Acre across the bay were unconfirmed.

An official British army spokesman in Jerusalem said one company of the Arab Legion "under British army orders" had entered Jericho on specific duties.

"When their duties are finished," he said, "they will be withdrawn."

Back Abdullah

A Palestine government spokesman said that "any Trans-Jordan troops now in Palestine are under command of the British general officer commanding and their conduct is not in question. We have not heard of any declaration of war and consider any such declaration as extremely unlikely."

A Jewish agency spokesman told reporters Jews had learned that last night the Trans-Jordan Parliament agreed to King Abdullah's demand to send troops into Palestine and ordered a general mobilization.

Armies of the four Arab states which encircle Palestine are reported ready to invade the Holy Land before the week-end.

The reports said the forces of Trans-Jordan, Syria, Lebanon and Egypt will launch the thrust in defiance of the British mandate, not scheduled to end until May 15, and of the United Nations Security Council, which has ordered a cease-fire in Palestine.

(In London, the Foreign Office announced that Britain will resist any Arab "incursions" into Palestine before the mandate ends.)

Two Britons were killed in Jerusalem today, as tension increased over the threatened invasion.

Capt. R. B. Leggett, retired British naval officer who came to Palestine last week to accept a consular appointment when the mandate ends, was shot by Arabs near Barclay's bank in the heart

Mimico Workmen Killed In Sewer Cave-in; Buried Under 20 Ft. Mud

Use Large Power Shovel In Effort To Save Three Buried In Mire; Work Quickly But Dead When Uncovered

MIMICO, April 27—(CP).—Three workmen were killed today when a mound of earth caved in on them as they were working on excavation of a storm sewer. The cave-in occurred just before 11 a.m. a short distance from Toronto's western boundary. The excavation was close to Lake Ontario west of the Humber River.

A large power shovel was used to remove the 20 feet of heavy mud that toppled over on the men. They were reached at 11.10 a.m. and were reported dead at 11.15.

Two of the men were identified as Henry Rotunda and Dominic Passery of Mimico.

Morris Viola, contractor in charge of the excavation, operated the power shovel in an effort to free the men in time.

An employee of another construction company said the three men apparently had felt themselves being buried. When the earth was dug away from around their heads they all had their arms stretched upwards.

Mr. Viola collapsed while helping to dig for the men and was taken to hospital.

Ambulances from Mimico and Toronto hospitals and police from Etobicoke and Toronto were on the scene. They helped dig to free the men but it was too late.

Supreme Court Settles Provincial Dispute

OTTAWA, April 27 (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada ruled today that provincial legislation on minimum wages does not apply to an employee of the Federal government.

The test case, revolving around temporary Christmas employment in Maple Creek, Sask., post office, was argued here last fall. Counsel for the attorneys-general of Saskatchewan, Ontario, Alberta and Nova Scotia joined in the argument on behalf of provincial rights, while F. P. Varcoe, deputy justice minister handled the Federal government's side of the case.

The case involved Mrs. Margaret Ellen Mary Graham, postmistress at Maple Creek, who was convicted of an offence under the Saskatchewan minimum wage act of failing to pay Leo Fleming, an assistant engaged during December, 1946, the minimum wages prescribed by the act. The Saskatchewan appeal court upheld the conviction and by order-in-council the question was referred to the Supreme Court.

On behalf of the Federal government, Mr. Varcoe argued successfully that Mrs. Graham and Fleming were, at all relevant times, in the postal service of Canada, under jurisdiction of parliament, and that the Saskatchewan legislation did not apply to them. He also contended that Mrs. Graham employed Fleming in the course of her employment as a servant of the King and that the minimum wage act of Saskatchewan is not expressed to be binding on His Majesty.

PEN MESSENGER KILLED—John D. Kennedy (left) messenger at Kingston Penitentiary for 40 years and a brother of Dr. M. J. Kennedy, Peterborough, was killed Monday as two convicts escaped. Austin Craft (right) was one of two convicts who escaped and was recaptured four hours later. He was serving 10 years for a bank holdup.

Sealer Trapped By Ice Floes; 25 Leave Ship

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., April 27 — (CP)—The 25-man crew of the sealing vessel Norma Conrad have abandoned their ship which is being crushed by grinding ice floes near Battle Harbor, Labrador, it was reported today.

The report said the men had taken to the ice and another sealer, the Wimoda, which had been working nearby, was headed to her rescue. Weather conditions in the area were reported as fairly good with clear visibility.

The Conrad is a Newfoundland vessel, skippered by Freeman Pottle of St. John's. It was caught in the ice floes some 25 miles from Battle Harbor, a 20-mile deep indentation in the bleak Labrador coastline opposite the northernmost tip of Newfoundland.

Boy 12 Shot On Fishing Party

HAMILTON, April 27 (CP). — A fishing party, happily planned by three school boys, came to a tragic end yesterday when one of the lads, Timothy Glen Alford, 12, was shot in the head by a neighbor friend. He died in hospital shortly before midnight, some five hours after admittance.

Dr. J. H. Mullin, chief coroner, has ordered an inquest into the fatality for Friday.

The victim, with his brother, Donald, 10, and James Wilson, 11, had left home shortly after 4 p.m. The boys were taking a short cut through the grounds of the Hamilton cemetery when Timothy was shot by one of four other neighbor youths engaged in target practice with .22 calibre rifles.

The boys shooting included Frank Preston, 19, his two brothers, Leonard, 16, and David, 11, and Walter Beland, 16.

Reports Threat Made To Shoot Reuther

DETROIT, April 27.—(AP).— An unnamed minor union official reported to police today that a man carrying a gun told him he planned to shoot Walter P Reuther, president of the United Automobile Workers (CIO).

Police Commissioner Harry Toy termed the tip startling and ordered his best detectives to follow it up.

The tipster informed police he talked to the man April 20, the night the 40-year-old red-haired UAW leader was shot down by a shotgun blast through a kitchen window of his home.

Toy said it might require three or four days to pin down the tip, adding it "may take us to an adjoining city." (Windsor is south of Detroit, across the St. Clair river, is one of several cities adjoining Detroit.)

Princess Sentenced

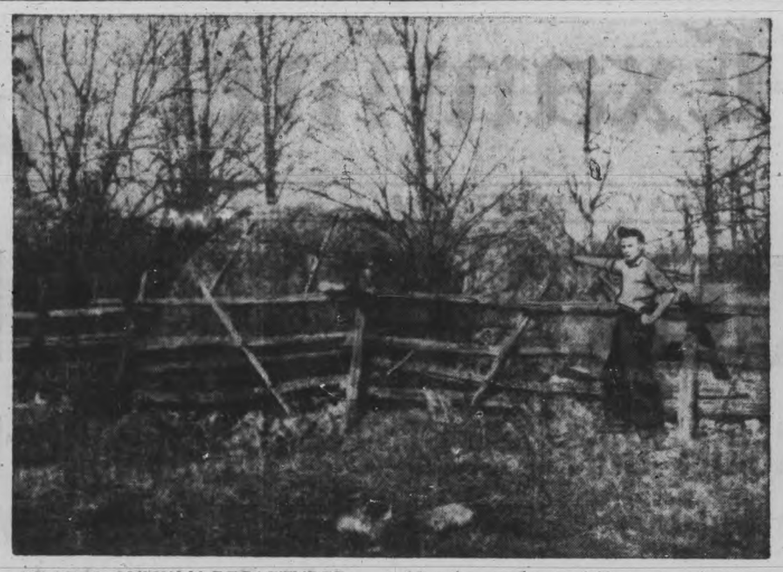
BRUSSELS, April 27—(Reuters)—Princess Alexandra Obolensky, 32-year-old Russian, today was convicted by a military court for trading with the German army during the war. She was sentenced to eight years imprisonment. She was desribed as being the head of a gang of seven collaborators who sold 260,000,000 Belgian francs ($6,000,000) worth of woollen goods and liquers to the Germans.

Police Trap Safecrackers Near Picton

Manhunt Called Off As Alleged Robbers Surrender Peacefully

PICTON, April 27 (CP)—Police said today that capture of three alleged members of an armed safecracking gang had ended a manhunt in which they sealed off the peninsula of Prince Edward county.

Brought to county jail here were Peter Carey, 36, Mickey Metrunitz, 41, and H. E. O'Laski, all of Toronto. Police said all three are wanted on armed robbery charges.



Originally it was thought six men took part in the robbery of the Brewers' Warehouse here, when a safe containing $1,000 and some jewelry was stolen early yesterday.

Police said the three were trapped when they attempted to cross a bridge at Carrying Place, southeast of Trenton. They were driving a car stolen in nearby Bloomfield. As they approached the bridge two Provincial Policemen, Sgt. E. Martleib and Constable H. Caldwell, armed with shotguns, signalled them to halt.

The fugitives immediately turned the car about but the officers raced up and ordered them out at gun point. There was no resistance.

The stolen safe was loaded on a truck stolen earlier in Picton. Police found it several hours later, along with the abandoned safe, near a small woods a mile north of here.

The robbers took to a car and drove toward Belleville. On highway No. 33 Chief Constable Edward Marvin encountered the car roaring toward him. He stopped his car to halt them but the fugitives kept on going and he fired a shot, the bullet crashing through a window. The car eventually was found abandoned on a farm, the robbers continuing in another vehicle.

KILLERS QUICKLY RECAPTURED—Douglas Amey points to spot left of haystack on Struthers farm northwest of Sydenham, 15 miles northeast of Kingston, where two armed convicts who shot and killed a Portsmouth Penitentiary messenger were recaptured four hours after their escape.

5 Lay Charges Against Police

TORONTO, April 27 —(CP)— Five accusations of assault by Toronto policemen—all laid within a month—were on record today. The city's police commission and police department conducted separate inquiries into the charge.

Soon after the suspension of two detectives, pending a commission investigation in charges that they beat a prisoner, two citizens yesterday declared they were assaulted within the last 10 days while being arrested.

One was Peter Petrovitch, 23, a war veteran, who charged his jaw was broken by Constable David Peacock on April 16. Earlier, Medric Robitaille took out a summons charging that Constable Thomas Hill beat him up on April 18.

MP's Ask Revision of Laws To Halt Communism Spread

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL

OTTAWA, April 27—(CP).—Revision of Canadian laws to halt the spread of Communism was urged yesterday in the Commons. Several Opposition members drew attention to deficiencies in the laws. They suggested ways in which the RCMP could be strengthened to deal with subversive elements. Justice Minister Ilsley promised to give the proposals "respectful consideration."

John Diefenbaker (PC—Lake Centre) said the RCMP had a right to ask for, and parliament had a duty to give, teeth to the law that would help them in the fight against Communism. There was no law to prevent Communists from intimidating foreign-born Canadians.

A. L. Smith (PC—Calgary West) suggested that legislative action could be taken that would prevent foreign embassies and consulates from using their offices for spreading propaganda aimed against Canada. Steps could be taken to uncover 'Communist propagandists.'

Earlier, there were these developments:

1. A bill amending the Dominion Elections Act was given second reading—adpoted in principle—and referred to a special committee.

2. A bill extending a Canada-United States agreement for conservation of seals in the Northern Pacific Pribilof Islands was adopted.

3. Members speedily passed all clauses of a bill providing for an increase in unemployment insurance benefits.

Revenue Minister McCann promised to consider requests that the April 30 deadline for the filing of income tax returns be extended for the convenience of farmers.

In the RCMP debate, Mr. Diefenbaker said foreign-born Canadians are being threatened with reprisals against relatives living behind the iron curtain if they do not contribute to Communistic funds. He said there was nothing in the law that could prevent such intimidation.

Two Convicts

shot the messenger three times.

It was reported today that only Craft was armed. He carried a .32 revolver. Earlier reports intimated that Urquhart also carried a gun.

Gen. Gibson said the two now were lodged in a "dissociation cell," similar to solitary confinement. Meanwhile Warden R. M. Allan has been asked to speed up a report on the break and investigate how the two convicts were able to obtain weapons.

Gun Smuggled In

Gen. Gibson said it seemed likely that the gun or guns used by the two prisoners in their escape had been smuggled into the institution.

"In a large establishment such as Kingston Penitentiary," he said, it's quite possible to smuggle arms inside the walls. Inmates move in and out quite a bit to work in different parts of the prison area. It is possible that the weapons used were 'planted' in some agreed spot by an accomplice from outside and later smuggled into the prison itself in one way or another."

It had been established, he said that the weapon used was not of the type used by guards and hence had not been stolen from the penitentiary arsenal.

Justice Minister Ilsley told the Commons he was awaiting a full report on the escape before deciding on further action.

It was the second major break in less than a year at the heavily guarded prison. Last August Donald (Mickey) McDonald, Ulyses Lauzon and Nicholas Minnelli sawed their way to freedom and have not been recaptured.

Urquhart was serving a penitentiary term of 20 years on a manslaughter charge following the slaying of Meyer Tobias, Toronto merchant. Craft, from Brantford, was serving 10 years on a Hamilton bank robbery conviction.

Forced Surrender

Two penitentiary guards, J. P. McLaren and P. H. J. Belisle, forced the surrender. Both bandits were flat on their stomachs in heavy weeds and bush when finally cornered. While they watched McLaren working his way in on them behind cover, Belisle crept up behind them and took the pair by surprise. Craft, who had a .32 revolver in his possession, gave up his weapon when ordered.

In the break, the two entered the car of the messenger shortly before 9:30 a.m. One of them, believed Urquhart, hid in the trunk and the other crouched on the floor in front of the rear seat.

Unnoticed, the convicts remained in the car as Kennedy drove through the prison gate. As the doors swung, the convict in the rear reached over the back of the seat. A brief struggle followed and then came a shot.

Almost simultaneously, one of the convicts jumped out of the car and raced alongside to get into the driver's seat. The car roared through the gates, one door swinging wildly, and turned west with a screech of tires.

Only a few feet from the prison gates the body of the murdered messenger was thrown out on to the street.

Father Relieved

TORONTO, April 27 (CP)—A sigh of relief was breathed by bus driver Norman Urquhart yesterday on learning that his 21-year-old son had been recaptured a few hours after escaping from Kingston Penitentiary.

As soon as Mr Urquhart learned of the escape of his son, Howard, from the penitentiary, he hurried to his wife, who is under doctor's care. He said at the time he was determined to hand his son over to police if he should try to take refuge at the home of his parents.

"I can't understand it," said Mr. Urquhart. "It doesn't seem real. We heard from him only last week. He was getting along so well at Kingston. He never failed to write his mother every week since he has been there. He always said that he was fine and they were treating him splendidly."

Much Higher Prices For Leading Stocks

TORONTO, April 27 — (CP). — Revived interest in base metals on the stock exchange today resulted in substantially higher prices for leading stocks as golds and western oils traded without direction while industrials were easier.

Volume for the first three hours was 481,000 shares, about 114,000 less than yesterday's similar period.

Sherritt pushed out in front on activity among base metals to gain 22 cents. Noranda added $1, Lend Oreille added 5, Waite Amulet 20, Hudson Bay ¾, Gulf Lead 8, Eureka 10, and East Sullivan 5. Golds balanced gains and losses with no significant changes recorded.

Newsprints, liquors and oils were weak for industrials. A handful of leaders, however, edged into higher territory. Brazilian and Ford Motors showed fractional gains.

Shot Near Bank

A Royal Artillery officer, near the scene when Leggett was killed joined in the gun battle with the assailants. He said Leggett had just emerged from the bank with £4,800 (about $19,200) and was placing the money in an armored car when an Arab two feet away fired two shots into his head and one into his chest. Some 250 people in the area fled when police and the army opened fire. One Arab was killed and two injured. The assailant escaped.

Machine-guns chattered in Jerusalem all morning, after a night-long Arab-Jewish skirmish in the Katamon area for control of the city's suburbs.

Large scale fighting was reported in half a dozen other parts of the Holy Land.

A traveller from Lydda said Arabs looted the Customs House there, set it afire, and the flames ruined some $50,000 in stores.

Control Airport

British Argyll and Sutherland Highlander troops now control the Lydda airport, which the Arabs took over Sunday. Soldiers fired on looting Arabs and killed five.

Dispatches from Cairo said the Trans-Jordan Legation there announced that Arab legion reinforcements have reached the outskirts of Jerusalem.

An Amman, Trans-Jordan, dispatch said 66-year-old King Abdullah will lead the armies of Trans-Jordan, Syria and Lebanon against the Jews. Abdullah said the Arab League Military Council gave him the command.

The King said Egyptian army units will cross the Holy Land southern frontier at the same time under a closely allied command.

"I find that the work of the city council is all that I can attend to," the chairman of the finance committee said. "I have been eight years in the council, and when by experience you become a senior mmber and chairman there is plenty to do, when you have your own business to look after, too."

Ald. Swanston confirmed reports that many Liberals had been urging him since the elections were announced to allow his name to go before the convention.

It was learned today that James Hamilton, former Mayor, is also being mentioned for the nomination, and others who may be proposed, according to party rumors, are Vernon Campbell, prominent young farmer of Douro township, Ralph Standish of the law firm of Carley and Standish, Gordon Hancock, James Gillespie and Arthur Lewis.

President Arthur Lewis announced that Hon. Michael Dewan, former minister of agriculture would be the speaker.

Ontario Finances Good Pay As We Go, Frost Says

TORONTO, April 27 — (CP). — Mines Minister Frost said today Ontario's financial position is "very strong." It would have to be kept that way "if we are to do the great job which is our to do."

"We are a great growing and expanding province," the minister said in an address prepared for delivery to the Progressive Conservative Business Men's club. "As such it is necessary you should have flexible tax sources which are vital to our development."

The government had avoided being "lured into" a Dominion-provincial agreement which "could not have been other than detrimental to our financial position," he said.

Ontario was free of any "financial straitjacket." There was no sales tax, provincial personal income tax and one of the "nuisance taxes" which were in effect in other provinces. The government was free to raise without restrictions, revenue from sources best able to pay. Ontario had "about the lowest per capita provincial taxation in Canada.

"Every foot of highway we have constructed . . . every grant we have made for rural hydro extension . . . every hospital grant we have given . . . every grant to education, which we have increased by over $25,000,000 annually — have been completely paid for."

In the last five years the government had spent $313,400,000 on the Departments of Agriculture, Education, Health and Welfare.

Owe Nothing

"Every cent has been paid," Mr. Frost said. "We owe nothing."

In the same period the government had reduced the net debt of the province by $27,357,470.85.

He recalled that in 1947 the province was imposing an eight-cent gasoline tax and the Dominion a three-cent tax. The Dominion vacated the field in March, 1947 and the province assumed the entire 11-cent rate. Every dollar realized from the three-cent rate taken over from the Dominion had gone to municipalities in increased subsidies. More than $12,000,000 additional subsidies were paid last year.

If the government reverted to the system of grants which prevailed in the province in 1943, and municipalities and school boards provided the same type of service today, the additional cost to them would be more than $37,200,000, he said. In terms of mills it would mean an increase of about 12 mills to towns like Orillia and Lindsay; St. Catharines, about 6 mills and Peterborough 5½ mils.

Resume Probe Ot Meat Price Setting

OTTAWA, April 27 —(CP)— Methods of setting meat prices and the factors involved will be the subject of continued inquiry by the Prices Committee today.

That cost was the largest factor in setting meat prices was told members yesterday by officials of Swift Canadian Co. Ltd. but the officials contended that its full relationship to selling prices could only be determined by comparison of figures which were not available.

Vice-Chairman Ralph Maybank announced, as the committee broke up, that he thought committee counsel H. A. Dyde and the Swift officials could reach some agreement on the figures for live cattle to be used.

Earlier, the company's supervisor of beef operations, R. E. Swan, told one of the committee members, Jean Lesage (L—Montgomery—L'Islet)

"We take whatever our competitors allow us to take."

A. E. Millard, president of the company, interposed:

"The competition wouldn't allow us to take an exorbitant profit."

However, Mr. Dyde told company officials he had compared the price of live cattle, the number killed and the wholesale price of beef over a period.

"Up to this moment, I can find no relationship between them," he said. "One goes up and another goes down when you would expect the reverse."

He sought, in particular, an explanation for a rise of $1.50 a hundredweight in the company's beef price at the end of last year.

ARLINE WINS DIVORCE—Winning an uncontested divorce from her fifth husband, Henry J. (Bob) Topping, tinplate millionaire, screen actress Arline Judge (above) was awarded a settlement of $100-000 and $15,000 counsel fees by Bridgeport, Conn., Supreme Court Judge John H. King. Meanwhile, in Hollywood, Cal., arrangements were being made for the marriage of Topping to film star Lana Turner.

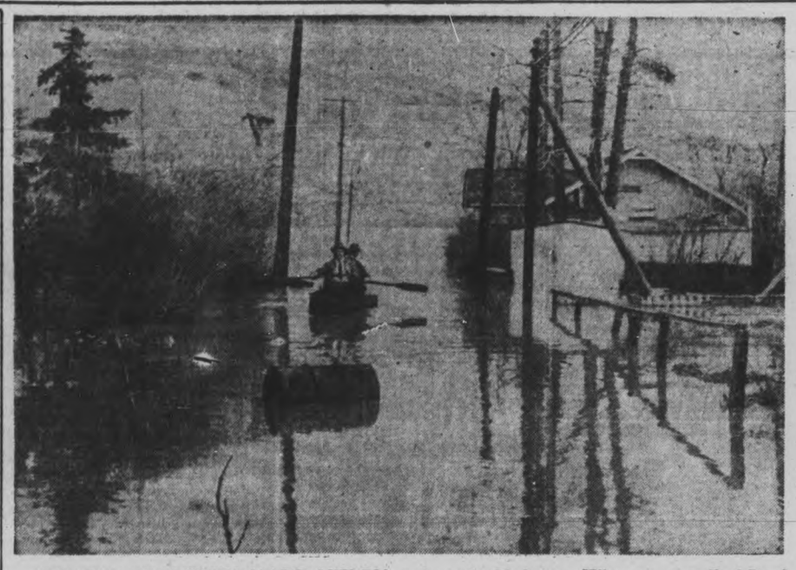
Town Planning Saves Money Speaker Claims



Town planning was the subject of a speech by James Dutton at the Rotary lunch on Monday at the YMCA. He began by quoting from a speech made by the Hon. Dana Porter, Ontario Minister of Planning: "The objective of planning is to make possible by wise arrangement and control the most profitable use of urban land: thus the capital that is invested in the buildings on it may be maintained in value and those who live upon it may thrive more abundantly. This sort of planning is an economy; it is no more nor less than forethought, a view of more than just a piecemeal development. It is the conception of the future growth of a whole community in all its varied aspects as they are related to one another."

"I know of no city in Canada," continued Mr. Dutton, "where development is going on at the pace it is here." He then went on to deal with the proposed Peterborough plan and explained that to plan effectively there must be zoning and zoning by-laws. He said that before the plan becomes operafive it must receive the approval of the people, but he said, "I think the people are beginning to realize the value of it."

He outlined the main features of the plan, drawn up by the planning Committee appointed by the City Council and approved by the Department of Planning and Development. It was based on an anticipated population increase by 1975 of fifty to sixty thousand people. The most outstanding features are the diversion of the CNR and construction of a Union Station to eliminate the railway crossings in the city, the construction of a by-pass highway rrom the west to the north to divert traffic from Charlotte St. without passing through the business centre, and the designation within the future city limits of sites for six public schools and a collegiate.

Mr. Dutton ended by saying that "given any planning for any city to be successful, it must have the wholehearted support of the citizens."

E. L. Sackville introduced Mr. Dutton, who was thanked by P. J. LaBranche. Charles Cummer presided at the meeting.

PRAIRIE PROVINCES HARD HIT BY FLOODS — Snowstorms in Alberta and British Columbia brought new flood threats to those provinces. Whereas flood threats have lessened in Saskatchewan, they showed no signs of diminishing in Manitoba where Winnipeg, one of the worst trouble zones, is busy building dykes to hold back waters from the Red river. When water in Red Deer river which cuts through Drumheller, Alta., began to rise, it flooded residential areas, and in a few hours nearly reached ceiling height in some homes. Here residents in a boat negotiate one of the streets. Some 500 in the district were homeless. Floods have reulted in 11 known deaths so far.

54 Have Red Measles In United Counties

COBOURG, April 27—(ENS)—Communicable diseases recorded in the week ending April 24, totalled 87 cases, according to the weekly report of the Counties' Health Unit. Mumps dropped from the previous week, last week's total being 27 cases. Cobourg had only one new case of mumps and with the exception of nine in Haldimand Township, the balance was scattered throughout the unit area.

Red measles led the list with 54 cases, ten being in Darlington and 13 in Haldimand Township. Bowmanville had seven cases and the rest were evenly distributed throughout the two counties. Two new cases of tuberculosis were recorded, both in Murray township. A few cases of chickenpox, German measles, scarlet fever and septic sore throat completed the list.

His Car Overturned Driver Not Hurt

COBOURG, April 27—(ENS)—When his car went out of control on a curve just west of here, an automobile driven by William Roblin of Toronto went into a deep ditch and turned over with the top lying on a fence. Roblin was shaken up but was otherwise uninjured. Provincial Constable Lyle Erskine investigated.

IN REUTHER PROBE — Authorities in Detroit are holding Nelson Davis (above) for "further questioning" in connection with the shooting of Walter P. Reuther, president of the CIO Automobile Workers Union. County prosecutor James McNally said an unidentified informant declared he heard Davis boast: "I know who shot Reuther." McNally also said Davis had signed a statement that he was a communist.

Ottawa Drama Adjudicator Hasn't Even Nickel For A Cup Of Coffee Upon Arrival

OTTAWA, April 27.—A drama festival adjudicator expects to run into some difficulties during the course of his work, but being penniless cannot be counted as one of the usual hazards of the profession.

When Robert Speaight, British adjudicator, arrived in Gander, Newfoundland on Thursday, on his way to Ottawa, he didn't even have a nickel for "cuppa coffee."

Only through the generosity of friends did he get a drink. London authorities had not allowed him to take any money out of England.

Then came arrival in Montreal, and the realization that his ticket would not take him any farther So he threw himself on the mercies of the TCA. Would they take his word for it that he was just a poor hard-working adjudicator who was inadvertently without funds?

TCA officials were kind. They took the precaution of telephoning to Ottawa, just to make sure that people here were waiting for an expert on drama, and when they were assured they let him board the Ottawa plane.

Two Films Shown On Insect Control

Two films illustrating insect control were shown at a meeting of the Peterborough Horticultural Society on Monday evening at the YWMCA. The first, entitled "Vegetable Insects," was produced by the National Film Board in conjunction with the Dominion Department of Agriculture and won first prize at the Paris Exposition of Technical Films in 1947 as the best educational picture. It showed the various types of biting and sucking insects and the methods of destroying them. The other was a commercial film, "Good-bye Weeds," illustrating the action of a herbicide on lawns.

In the interval between the two films, W. J. Tawse of Montreal, answered members' queries on plant pests and plant protection. Mrs. Gordon K. Fraser presided at the meeting, at which insecticides were given as door prizes.

Charge Eight Men Shot Pickerel

LINDSAY, April 27 — Eight Kirkfield men face possible charges for shooting pickerel — and in the closed season, too. The new type of fishing violation was detected Monday by Wildlife Inspector A. Hodgson.

Overseers of the Lindsay office of the Department of Lands and Forests surprised the men on a bridge across the Talbot River near Kirkfield, attracted there by the sound of shots.

The men were standing around a .25 calibre rifle, and Inspector Hodgson said they admitted using it to shoot pickerel. He added that probably all eight would be charged. It is further alleged that flashlights were focussed on the fish while the others took turns shooting.

VANCOUVER, April 27 (CP).—Frank Huwyler, high school student, has built a home worth $15,000 at a cost of only $3,500.

He started the structure four years ago at the age of 17 and it is now almost finished.

"I never build anything in my life," he said, "but the average kid thinks building a house is a cinch, so I took a crack at it."

The ground floor has an ample living room with a huge brick fireplace. The kitchen has plenty of cupboard space. There are two bedrooms on the ground floor. On the second floor Frank has a suite consisting of a large bedroom with a "sitting room" off it.

The woman's brother took the gun from him and called police.

Program of Rehabilitation Starts In Prison Supervisor Tells Optimists

"The job of rehabilitating the criminal still rests with the group dealing with the young boy," said Murdoch Keith, case work supervisor of the John Howard Society of Ontario, addressing the meeting of the Peterborough Optimists' Club on Monday night. A sense of "not being wanted" was attributed by the speaker to many criminals. It is often the case that crime permits them the outlet by which they express themselves.

Outlining several actual case histories handled by the society, he mentioned the home backgrounds of many of the so-called "tough guys" in penal institutions.

Mr. Keith stressed the importance of the change in the type of prison courses given inmates in recent years, which he said were really constructive, taught the man a true trade and way of earning their living. It was a great improvement over systems used in the past, he said, where often the only type of "course" given was in connection with actual maintenance of the institutions or in such an outmoded form as to be impractical.

"That's the thing which has been missing," he said, adding that the additional public money needed would more than repay itself.

"It is the first real attempt to teach men on the inside to stand on their own feet." From that point, he said, the job was one for the John Howard Society, which gives service to about 70 per cent. of released men.

As a strictly private and unofficial organization, the speaker said that his society had an advantage with the men. Under official supervision for a number of years, they tended to avoid any hint of it on their release. By attempting to help the man reestablish himself in society, the unofficial workers efficiently played their part.

"Most of the trouble comes during the first 16 years—somewhere in there the home," the school, the church, the club, has slipped up."

He told the club of the study courses which can be taken by remates in preparing for their return. The Society, in assisting them in job placement, explained the situation and circumstances frankly to the prospective employer. There was often difficulty in persuading them to give the ex-convicts "the break" to start again.

Restore Self-Confidence.

Dealing throughout his talk in case histories, he showed how the self-confidence of the men can often be restored by showing him that he was trusted and by treating him with proper clothing, housing.

The Society represented by the speaker deals with "every type from the vagrant young boy to the tough guy."

The workers keep in touch with the released men and try to help them, indirectly, to make proper decisions.

Much of the trouble starts, he said, in the home life which tells the children vaguely what to do, but does not attempt to show or share the proper habits.

One of the problems facing the rehabilitation workers, he said, was the edginess of the released convict towards little things — the rush of traffic, innocent and impersonal actions of police which are translated by the sensitive and frightened minds as directly against them personally.

"It is a big job," Mr. Keith concluded, "and depends on the co-operation of the groups working with the younger boys. There must be an effort to improve home life, to educate parents to the proper standards of home building."

"Yes, these fellows are dangerous, they can hurt us. But they are still individuals, they came from our own communities, they can still work and take their places."

"They still belong to us."

President John Broadhurst chairman of the meeting, introduced the speaker and expressed the clubs thanks for his address

A native of Port Arthur, Ont., Michael went to Ireland to marry a "beautiful Irish colleen" whom he had courted by mail after falling in love with her picture. Immigration officials pardoned him on his arrival. Unable to obtain passage to Canada with his bride, Michael left his bride and baggage on the Liverpool docks and crawled aboard the Inishowen Head. He had believed that he could survive the whole voyage without food or water, but after five days of lying in a foot-high space deep in the ship's hold, he crawled from his hiding place in search of water and was discovered. Michael is now on his way home, and hopes his "Margy" will be able to join him soon.

Italians Fight Bloody Border Skirmish

ROME, April 27—(—AP) — A brief but bloody border skirmish last night highlighted for Italians the expected coming struggle for Trieste.

An Italian soldier and a Yugoslav officer were killed and three other Italian soldiers— one reported dying —are in a hospital as a result of a shooting affray between Italian and Yugoslav border partols near the village of Rauna Di Luico, northwest of the free territory, in Venezia Giulia.

Italian officials said the Yugoslavs had moved a border marker near the village and stood on ground which the commander thought still was Italian.

Shots rattled out from a Yugoslav machine-gun, the Italians said. They returned the fire. A Yugoslav officer and an Italian soldier fell dead. Three other Italian soldiers were hit.

Italians Withdrew.

The Italians said they withdrew when 70 Yugoslav soldiers came charging down a hill on the 18-man Italian patrol.

The western powers have proposed that the free territory of Trieste be returned to Italy. Russia turned the idea down.

In Rome, meanwhile, Pietro Nenni's pro-Communist Socialists appeared headed for a new split.

Giuseppe Romita, leader of the Socialist opposition to the Nenni faction, meets today with Lelio Baso, the party's secretary-general, to present his group's demands.

Romita, former Minister of the Interior who was a pre-election fellow traveller, wants a party congress called and he wants its executive committee to resign. Nenni and Basso are on the committee.

Suggestion For An Ambitious Tourist Centre

An interesting pamphlet has reached us which gives details of a number of festivals which will be held in Great Britain this year. There is the Edinburgh Festival of music, drama and painting; there is the Shakespeare Festival at Stratford-on-Avon, devoted to six months of Shakespeare's plays; there is the Bath festival, devoted chiefly to painting and architecture; there is the famous Three Choirs Festival of choral music at Worcester; there is another music festival, devoted chiefly to opera, at Aldeburgh; there is the Malvern Festival, devoted to English drama; and there is the Royal National Eisteddfod in Wales, devoted to music and poetry. These festivals attract hundreds of thousands of visitors and are deeply enjoyable; we know, for we have attended several of them. Why are there no festivals comparable to these in Canada?

• • •

Let us be practical. What entertainment could be provided at a festival at a tourist resort such as Peterborough? Well, there are several Canadian musicians of fine quality, and concerts by them, and concerts of their work, could be organized. There are several Canadian ballet companies, two of which are first-rate, and performances by them would be acceptable. Canada has a Film Board which produces some fine films, and they could be shown. Plays could be produced. We feel that there is a large public for a summer festival of Canadian arts, both among our American visitors and among the people of our own country, and it is a plain fact that the Kawarthas cannot keep up its tourist trade forever on fish; there are too many other good fishing grounds in Eastern Canada. The more tourist attractions we have here, the more likely we are to hold our own in a field which is becoming highly competitive.

• • •

The establishment of such a festival as we have hinted at would cost money, but it would rely chiefly upon the ingenuity and imagination of its organizers. A rich reward awaits the Canadian tourist district which first organizes something of this kind. It might be Peterborough. Surely the idea is worth pondering?

Compulsory Military Training For Young Canadians?

The American Congress has been asked by President Truman to authorize not only selective military service (conscription on a draft basis) but universal military training for young men. Many American leaders, including the service chiefs, have urged these steps as military necessities. The question of peacetime conscription in Canada has not yet come to the fore, but there is a demand that a year of military training be given every able-bodied Canadian male.

• • •

The first purpose and most insistent reason given for universal military training in Canada is that of military preparedness. This point was succinctly made by the commander of the Canadian Army Overseas, General H. D. G. Crerar, in St. Catharines on Saturday:

> War has not been banished from this world, the danger of its recurrence is a situation which we Canadians must face frankly. In any future war, neither time nor geography will be factors on which this country can count. In a future war, a national military policy of having little ready, and of being late in organizing the balance, invites catastrophe. Only by universal military training in peace, and the maintenance of the means to quickly mobilize large forces, if suddenly required, can this country meet its military requirements.

The degree of military usefulness of universal training can be argued, but its importance cannot be denied. A man who knows the rudiments of soldiering (or of naval or air force techniques), and who has experienced a year of military discipline and life, will be more useful in his first six months of war-time service than a man who has had no training. Further, a large body of young men under compulsory training would impress foreigners with our military preparedness.

• • •

There are other than strictly military values in universal training. Thousands of young men would benefit from the regular diet, the dental and medical care, the daily routine (including early to bed and early to rise), the mingling with others of different occupations, social environments, educational and intellectual attainments. They would benefit from the outdoor life—particularly if they have come from large cities and office and factory jobs. A universal training scheme would do much to weld the country together and to make the problems and characteristics of the west understood by easterners, French-Canada more than a myth to Albertans. If the young men in training were sent away from their home districts they would mature as Canadians, not as provincial bigots. Their understanding would be deepened, their vision enlarged.

• • •

A question that must be asked is: Can Canada afford an extensive universal military training plan? The corollary is: Can we afford not to afford it?

The Pother Of Palestine

For eight months Palestine has been front page news almost daily. If we dared speak so about a situation so difficult and so important to so many thousands of people, we would announce ourselves as being bored by the whole hash. We can expect that the farrago will soon have some sort of climax or anti-climax, for the British are giving up their mandate in a couple of weeks (May 15th), but we cannot hope for an end to the turmoil.

The Security Council politely told both sides that they would have to cease fighting until U.N. had deliberated, but the armistice terms have not been accepted. The special session of the Assembly is now meeting to determine whether or not the partition plan will be rescinded. Australia wants it implemented, the U.S. wants it abandoned and a three-year U.N. trusteeship established over the whole country. Britain and Canada have urged that partition be postponed until the U.S. proposal is investigated. Meanwhile, fighting in Palestine continues and U.N. seems impotent to deal with it. A slight reason for optimism is that Britain is willing to co-operate in seeking a solution to the immediate problem. There is a great amount of pother about the whole thing and neither Jewish nor Arabic partisans are doing much to allay it.

Throwing Hydro Into The Political Arena

The Examiner has already pointed out that Premier Drew's stated reasons for calling general elections this year are flimsy. The argument that the Hydro expansion program should be put to the electors for approval is unsound; support for our view comes strongly from an unexpected quarter. The Toronto Telegram which can usually be depended on to sanction Conservative policy, carried a leading article last Monday criticizing Premier Drew's decision to call an election at this time and condemning his action in making Hydro an election issue.

The Telegram says in part:

> The Hydro-Electric Commission has made other large expenditures in the past without asking a vote of the people and it could do so again. The necessity of developing new sources of electric energy is so apparent that no sensible person would attempt to block it. Although there are differences of opinion on the wisdom of converting the Niagara system from 25 to 60-cycle current it is a technical question and scarcely one for the electors. It can hardly be made a campaign issue since the Liberal and C.C.F. opposition groups in the Assembly voted for the bill to permit the change-over.
>
> Whatever other reasons Premier Drew may have for calling an election at this time it is unwise to attempt to make Hydro the issue when it isn't one. The danger is that Hydro will be thrown into the political arena where it should not be.
>
> The public will rightly conclude there was no real reason for holding a general election at this time when the present government could continue in office for two years more.

Mr. Drew's prime reason for calling an election this year is, as we have already mentioned, to take the opportunity of winning an easy victory in boom times. He has made Hydro an issue; he is involving the public in expensive elections—they will cost more than a million dollars. These two facts may lessen the extent of a Conservative victory at the polls.

My First Deer-Hunt

By F. M. DELAFOSSE

EVER since I was big enough to carry a bat in my hand I had been a thorough-paced addict to the gentler games of legitimate sport. I found, however, on my arrival from the Old Country that the sort of sport which I used to enjoy in England was almost unknown here while deer-hunting, which was solely the sport of the idle rich over the water, was common to every class in Canada. It was a distinct revelation to me that rich and poor alike were equally free to engage in the hunting of antlered and other wild animals so long as the regulations laid down by the Government for public observance were carefully followed.

◇ ◇ ◇

I WELL remember my first essay in hunting deer. It was when I had been resident in Canada a little over a year. It was quite an impromptu affair and entirely out of season and proved a very educational one to me in more senses than one. Beyond having become somewhat proficient in the art of paddling I knew nothing whatever about hunting lore, or practice. I had started out on that beautiful sunny morning in company with a neighbouring settler to engage in a day's chopping of timber on my land. We had been engaged in work for some time when suddenly the musical notes of a baying hound floated down to us from the woods above. We knew at once that some hound was in full chase of a deer and that the animal was making straight for the lake to throw the hound off the scent. Without hesitation we threw our axes on the ground, picked up our guns and sped down quickly to the canoe beached close by.

◇ ◇ ◇

WE knew that the deer would be making for the lake at no great distance from where we were standing so we started off in the canoe, and rounding a point that had obstructed our view sighted the deer, a magnificent buck, ploughing through the water some distance ahead trying to gain the opposite bank. When we reached our quarry we were about half a mile from the shore. We kept pace with it for a few yards and then my companion, suddenly exclaimed, "Say, we're a long way out in the lake and if we shoot the deer here we'll have quite a long and slow job towing the body to the shore. If you'll catch hold of the buck's tail with one hand and take the paddle in the other to guide it we'll have no bother at all. Ive done it lots of times". He was a seasoned veteran in hunting and I believed him. A few strokes brought us up to the deer, and obedient to the advice given I leaned well over the thwart, caught hold of the animal's tail and held on like grim death. My partner was loud in his praise and quite gleeful as to the way the plan was working. He told me that I was a born hunter and that he had never seen anybody who could get the right hang of things as quickly as I had shown I could.

◇ ◇ ◇

I WAS pleased at the encomium he had lavished on me and in order to get a firmer hold of the appendage I was grasping, and also a little easement from the constant rasping of my ribs against the thwart owing to the deer's lunges through the water, I raised myself quickly and in less than a moment the deer's head went under the water and his legs came up and kicked me with such force as to send me flying out of the canoe! The displacement of weight caused my mate to lose his balance and he fell out, upsetting the canoe and both the rifles! Luckily, although we lost the rifles we didn't lose ourselves for both of us made a wild grab for the canoe and held tight to it. I looked ruefully at the brute swimming away for dear life. It looked back only once and I could see as plainly, as if it was human, the malicious grin that seemed to overspread its features, just the sort of look that in the old English jargon expressed the derision of a vulgar boy when he put his thumb to his nose and thrust out his tongue at anyone whose gibes and threats irritated him. I believe, in the slang phraseology of the past, this act was called "Cocking a snook".

◇ ◇ ◇

AS soon as we had recovered our breath and understanding we began to propel the canoe towards the shore. It was a slow process, but long before we got there my friend found his tongue and began to belabour me with all the piquant bad language that he could muster. There was no use in carrying out any argument as to whose fault it was that the accident happened. Neither of us had a leg to stand on, either actually or metaphorically. But it all ended happily and my fellow-worker was quite my good friend again when I told him that I would pay half the cost of his rifle.

A Bible Message

Behold, the Lord's hand is not shortened, that it cannot save; neither his ear heavy that it cannot hear: but your iniquities have separated between you and your God, and your sins have hid his face from you, that he will not hear....

None calleth for justice, nor any pleadeth for truth: they trust in vanity and speak lies; they conceive mischief, and bring forth iniquity....: The way of peace they know not; and there is no judgment in their goings: they have made them crooked paths: whosoever goeth therein shall not know peace. (Isa. 59: 1, 2, 4, 8.)

Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Amend your ways and your doings, and I will cause you to dwell in this place... Will ye steal, murder, and commit adultery, and swear falsely, and burn incense unto Baal, and walk after other gods whom ye know not?....

Seest thou not what they do in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem? The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knead their dough, to make cages to the queen of heaven, and to pour out drink offerings unto other gods, that they may provoke me to anger.

Do they provoke me to anger? saith the Lord: do they not provoke themselves to the confusion of their own faces? (Jer. 7: 3, 9, 17-19.)

HYDRO AND ELECTION COSTS

Sir: The Peterborough Examiner refers to the $200,000,000 Hydro Conversion and Extension Scheme and the Globe and Mail to the $600,000,000 conversion scheme. Are there two schemes at $800,000,000 together or what is the explanation please?

About how much is the cost of a provincial election?

Yours truly,
C. W HOLMAN.

ED. NOTE: The $6 millions includes $2 millions for conversion, as well as entire expension. Cost of elections: see today's fourth editorial.

GET AWAY FROM THE JUNGLE

Sir: There was one very basic point in the course of that little letter by "A Veteran of 5½ Years Service" dealing with working conditions in Peterborough: "A raise in pay today means nothing, for the cost of living takes another jump.... There is only one solution; get our shoulders all together and bring down the high cost of living".

That appeals to this farm reader as sound commonsense—and it seems worth recalling the fact that one of the wise men described commonsense as "the highest statesmanship" —because it has become increasingly clear that the present patchwork system of a continuous effort to get more wages to pay higher prices is not getting the majority of the Canadian people anywnere, unless it be into debt and trouble?

Unfortunately the whole struggle has been carried on bi-laterally, as between workers and employers in individual industries, and largely on what might be termed "all the traffic will bear" basis, without much thought of the interdependence of all, or the inescapable effects on the general price structure. It has been clear, even to one knowing little about economics, that the higher prices go, the lower the real purchasing-power of a given number of dollars, and the more painful it will be to get back to normal levels?

I can assure you that $2.00 wheat and 73c butter, today, lose most of their one-time attraction to the farmers, as they find their profit margins dissipated all along the line, as the cost of the things they must buy from Canadian stores, factories and mills surge upward. As your correspondent would describe it, "an increase in farm prices means nothing, for the cost of production takes another jump ...."

Generally speaking, the less government we have in business the better; but I think it is up to Canadian leadership all along the business front, to get away from the jungle 'grab as grab can' technique; get around the conference table, and discipline themselves?

PAT.

A STRANGE REGULATION

Sir: Recently the new Tourist, Travel and Publicity Department, have made it illegal to operate a tourist camp or rent cottages unless a licence is obtained from the Provincial Government.

As near as I can find out each township council appoints the licence issuers which in most cases is the township clerk.

Now for the funny part. The act says that the issuer may keep the fee (which is $5.00) for their own use. I take it all forms of licences are supplied by the Department, no doubt at the public expense. if the government receive none of the licence fee, why not do the same thing with the issuers of hunting, trapping, dog and motor car licences. They only get a small fee for each licence sold and the balance goes to the Provincial Treasury which should be the same for the tourist camp licence. Who pays the tourist camp inspector? It seems to me that part of this licence fee should be used to pay their expenses, or is it that this new department has such large sums of money at its disposal that it can be generous enough to let the licence issuer earn $5.00 for about five minutes work.

I think this is something that needs explaining, can any one give me the answer?

(Mrs.) WALLACE SHEARER.

BUCKHORN ROAD IN DISGRACEFUL CONDITION

Sir: Re Tory's letter published in April 23 edition of your paper, expressing his views on the Stony Lake Road.

I wish to say that those are my own as well as hundreds of others, sentiments. Regarding the Buckhorn Road, that is that portion between Lakefield and Buckhorn. We too have had meetings and had petitions signed to be presented to the Minister of Highways requesting the Dept. to take over this road. But so far everything has been ignored. The condition of this road is disgraceful. I have just returned home after making a trip over it and only by zig-zagging from one side of the road to the other and driving at a speed of not over 20 m.p.h. can you get over with any degree of comfort. It is full of holes and corduroy sticking through all over, and for a bus route and a road that carries the traffic it does the condition is disgraceful.

It is common knowledge that the county want to get rid of this road, and I suppose that is why there is practically nothing done on it. Last June Mr. Fletcher, the County Engineer, told a delegation that they would gravel it, and here another tourist season is near at hand and still nothing done.

Recently the Minister of Tourist Travel and Publicity addressed a meeting at Lakefield encouraging people to do all in their power to attract tourists and keep them returning year after year. We the people in the north end of Smith township depend on the tourist trade to a large extent for our living, and in spite of all we can do to attract tourists the country or the Government will do nothing to help us out by providing a decent road.

By studying the road map it will readily be seen that this road is a straight line and the shortest route to the north and the Haliburton regions, from Peterborough.

Meeting the public every day I continuously hear grievances and complaints regarding the condition of this road especially from tourists and the people of Peterborough who use it for pleasure drives and to get to and from their summer cottages.

I think I can quite safely say that there is not as much money spent on this road in a year as one local trucker pays in gasoline tax in the same period. Where does the rest go?

We fully realize that the Dept. of Highways have a very large highway program on major highways due to that work being neglected over the war years. But surely it is not asking too much of the Dept. to take over some of the more heavily travelled county roads now and just maintain them fit for travel until such times as they get a chance to rebuild them.

To quote 'Tory', I myself say "This is the hour" and all those interested in the improvement of the Buckhorn Road should remember this during the coming election campaign.

Yours truly,
CHAS. E. QUICK.
Buckhorn.

Senators Divided On Value Of Gold Subsidy

OTTAWA, April 27.—(CP).—Senator T. A. Crerar (L-Manitoba) reminded the Senate last night that money spent by Parliament comes from the taxpayers' pocket.

"I feel we tend sometimes to lost sight . . . of the fact that in the end these appropriations come out of the taxpayer's pocket," he said.

He was one of three senators who spoke prior to second reading of the government's bill providing financial assistance to the gold-mining industry. It was referred to the Senate Resources committee for further study.

Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader, said earlier he doesn't think the bill is "any good at all."

"I don't think we should vote and put on the statute books legislation we know in our hearts won't do any good."

Senator Crerar said he is not so pessimistic about the legislation.

Help Those Operating

"I doubt it will promote the development of many new mines. But I do think it will be of material assistance to mines now in existence which might be described as marginal."

There was one special feature—"for the first time in our history we are passing legislation which means a subsidy to certain types of mines."

"Every dollar paid in subsidies to keep these marginal mines going comes out of the taxpayer's pocket.

"The day will come — and they're not so very far away—when we'll be considering very carefully the way money is spent . . . I shall have no regrets at all.

"Criticism of taxation means examination of expenditures and you get better government all along."

New Crown Corporation To Loan Money For Low-Cost Homes

TORONTO, April 27 (CP). — A Crown corporation to make loans to individuals in Ontario who lack sufficient money for down payments on new low-cost homes will be in operation by May 1, Planning Minister Porter said yesterday. He told the Toronto Metropolitan Home Builders' Association "persons interested may obtain applications and other information by writing to this department," said Mr. Porter.

Prospective home builders will have two new channels through which to work for the raising of the necessary down payment. They can go to a provincial lending institution and obtain an advance, guaranteed by the province, on a first mortgage, or they can deal with the new Crown corporation.

Mr. Porter gave the conditions under which loans may be made by the Crown company as follows:

1—They will apply to newly constructed homes.

2—They will apply only where a first mortgage has been arranged amounting to a reasonable proportion of the sale price.

3—They will amount to one-half of the present down payment; but not to exceed in any case $1,250.

4—Interest will be payable at 3½ per cent per annum payable monthly.

5—Principal will be repayable upon a 20-year amortization, in equal amounts monthly.

Second Mortgages

6—The loans will be secured by second mortgages which will permit the borrower to repay all or any part of the principal without notice or bonus.

7—The mortgages will also provide that in the event of subsequent sales for more than the initial sale price, the excess (less agent's commission and legal fees of the vendor) shall be payable on account of the outstanding principal of the moragage.

"It will be seen from this," Mr. Porter explained, "that the proposal for the assistance of home ownership is not in the form of a subsidy."

"It is intended to bring the opportunity of home ownership within the reach of a greater number of people . . .

"It is not intended that advantage should be taken of this assistance, so that a house might be turned over at a quick profit. In such cases the mortgage will be reduced by the excess over the initial sale price. To a large extent this should prove an effective control of future sale prices of property subject to one of these loans."

Raise Shipping Rates On Great Lakes

WINNIPEG, April 27 (CP). — An increase in maximum freight rates for shipping wheat, rye, and flax on the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence River route, ranging from one-half to three-quarters cents a bushel, yesterday was announced by the Board of Grain Commissioners.

The freight rate from the Lakehead to Georgian Bay ports, Goderich, Sarnia, and Walkerville, remained unchanged.

At the same time, the board instituted maximum rates on barley and oats at a discount from the full wheat rate.

Action of the board was believed influenced by the fact that the vessel freight rates for carrying ore and other commodities were on a higher basis than grain. There was a keen demand for vessel space in other lines of the carrying trade.

Increases were said to be necessary to attract vessel tonnage into the grain carrying trade.

Maximum freight rates for carrying wheat, rye and flax from the Lakehead to Georgian Bay ports, Goderich, Sarnia and Walkerville, have been set at four cents a bushel, unchanged from previous rates. The barley rate for this route was set at 3¾ cents a bushel and oats at 3½ cents a bushel.

The rate on wheat, flax, and rye from the Lakehead to Port Colborne, was quoted at 5½ cents a bushel, an increase of one-half cent. Maximum rates on barley and oats on the Port Colborne route are 5¼ and 4¾ cents respectively.

The rate to Toronto on wheat, flax and rye now is set at six cents, a boost of one-half cent, while the maximum rates for barley and oats now are 5½ and 5¼ cents respectively.

Rate to Kingston, for wheat, flax and rye now is 6½ cents as compared to the old rate of six cents. Oats now is six cents and barley 5¾ cents.

Police Seeking CSU Director

THOROLD, April 27 — (CP). — A night-and-day search is being carried out by provincial police for Michael Jackson, Great Lakes director of the Canadian Seamen's Union, Police Chief George Minty said here yesterday.

Three others are sought with Jackson on warrants charging "conspiracy to assault and do violence and beset the officers and crew of the Glenelg." The warrants were issued following the club swinging attack on the Canada Steamship Line freighter Glenelg by 70 C.S.U. men in this Welland Canal port Thursday night.

"We are looking for everyone who boarded that ship and we have been working 24 hours a day to get them," said Chief Minty.

Over the week-end William Kuzman, 19, of Orillia, was arrested and charged with trespassing. He was lodged in Welland County Jail with 34 C.S.U. members and a free lance photographer, arrested following the boarding of the Glenelg.

Gordon Bates, Niagara Falls, Ont., lawyer, said yesterday he would apply for bail today for the jailed men. They are charged with trespassing by the R.C.M.P. intimidation by the Thorold Municipal Police and six other charges by the Canada Steamship Lines. They will appear Friday in Thorold police court.

Jolliffe Calls Drew Big Business Front

TORONTO, April 27 — (CP)— E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario CCF Leader, charged last night that Premier Drew is the "front man" for "big business."

"When Mr. Drew speaks in his capacity as Premier, the voice is the voice of the front man, but the words come from the board rooms of big business," said Mr. Jolliffe in an address prepared for delivery before the Toronto Labor Council (CCL).

"The script was written by the most reactionary employers in Canada. The story they tell is the same old story you have always heard. Labor must be kept in its place. Labor is asking too much. Labor is unreasonable. Labor is lawless . . . ."

Mr. Jolliffe said a new Trade Union Act was needed, "a charter of rights which will protect the right to organize, the right to bargain collectively, and the right to win union security clauses . . . . Ontario also needs 40-hour week legislation."

He said the CCF would establish two weeks' vacation with pay as the statutory minimum.

And from the Sports College in Toronto comes an article which starts off like this: "Studying our track and field prospects against what the rest of the world has to offer, it would take a notable optimist to forecast any victories for Canada in the coming Olympic Games. There are indications, however, that the cinder sports is on the upswing across the Dominion and that among the juniors coming along we have some potential world-beaters." It goes on to review some good showings made lately by young Canadians and emphasizes the importance of training for any sport. Book On Baseball

National Baseball Congress of America—the Petes took part in the Congress in Toronto last year—sends a copy of its 1948 baseball annual. Contains a raft of information on sandlot ball and on the diamond sport in general. As well as the '48 playing rules in compact form and the official scoring rules. Some inside stuff, too, and it will make a valuable addition to our sports' library. The major leagues should never lack material the way baseball goes over across the line.

Indoor swimming season at the YMCA has finished up after the most successful yet. No less than 61 sessions were held and local swimmers competed in half a dozen meets in other towns and a couple here—including an Ontario championship meet. Jack Boorman won the outstanding swimmer award, while Ken Stacey took the marathon trophy, one put up by the Legion branch in Peterborough. Other winners in various events were: John Cusimano, Frank Wright, Jack Forbes, Bill Watson, Bob Howe, Jim Heffernan, Scott Pearton, Hugh Outram and Ernie Laton. Youngest competitor was Ross Dobbin—and we don't mean the Utilities manager! Congrats to Coach Gord Minty and all the aquatic members.

Old Athlete Dies

Tomorrow afternoon, the funeral takes place of James Henry Simmons. Many oldtimers will recall his proficiency in field lacrosse and with the Victoria Harriers Club. He was a prominent runner around the time Tom Longboat ran in Peterborough. An ardent fisherman and hunter all his life, he was also keenly interested in athletics generally all through, being a particularly keen hockey fan in recent years. Though born in Chandos some 64 years ago, Mr. Simmons lived in Peterborough for the past 56 years and was with the Quaker Oats Co. for 35 years. Our sympathy to his family.

Local soccer season officially opens on the morrow at King Edward Park, Electrics meeting the Petes (formerly Spartons) at 6.15 p.m. And there Saturday at 2.30, CGE plays O'Halloran's, as the Petes trek to Lindsay for league matches. Permission is being sought to have King Edward Park used in sports exclusively by the soccer clubs, who say the softballers are crowding in there. A committee consisting of Bill Gracie, Bob Strong and Stroyan Leith, was appointed to draw up the schedule for May. Meantime club colors were registered and the football fellows are all ready to kick off.

Still Talk COBL

Latest senior ball dope we learn is that Smiths Falls and Brockville may play in a setup down Ottawa way. Leaving Kingston out on the limb. So, Limestone City officials are sounding out former COBL centres as to chances of re-organizing that league. The Petes would be interested, and Oshawa is a possibility. Either Belleville or Batawa might do something, too, as there's gold in those Quinte baseball floodlights now. Anyway, there's some talk at present of a week-end meeting if enough clubs show interest in a revived COBL before that time. More on it later.

Strong Mat Card Features The Mask and McCready

The Masked Marvel who meets Earl McCready in the Brock Arena ring tomorrow night has probably aroused more curiosity than any other wrestler in recent history. The Mask is a big gent wonderfully put together and as strong as a horse. However on Wednesday night he will be up against another grappler who appears to know just a little more about wrestling. Earl McCready thinks he can wind up their feud permanently this time and the fans will be solidly behind the big ex-school teacher.

CAHA Rejects Team-Player Contract Plan

TORONTO, April 27.—(CP).—Delegates to the annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association meeting here were scheduled to elect a new slate of officers at today's concluding session.

Norman Dawe of Montreal, who died last winter, was the logical man to be accepted by the delegates as the new president. Since his death the CAHA has been combing its ranks in search for a man to fill the post held last year by Al Pickard of Regina.

Yesterday the CAHA rejected efforts by the National Hockey League to have the Association adopt a team-player contract plan proposed by the NHL.

The plan would eliminate the $31,000 paid annually to the CAHA by the NHL in return for a straight cash deal for senior amateur players turning professional. The NHL offered to pay amateur teams $5,000 for each player while the American Hockey League would have added $3,500.

Pickard said the plan "would be tabled for further exploration" on the recommendation of the contract committee.

A proposal by William Northey of Montreal, a life member, that the CAHA delete the word "amateur" from the organization's name and the Allan and Memorial Cup be retired from competition, was rejected by the more than 100 delegates.

Pickard announced after yesterday's meeting that the CAHA agreement with the NHL would be renewed for another year. He said the two groups had entered the "agreement in complete harmony and would continue the agreement in place of the team-player contract for at least another year."

Newsom Likes Giant Hitters

NEW YORK, April 27 — (AP) — Bobo Newsom smiled as he looked out the clubhouse window. Down below his New York Giant mates were hitting home runs. Even if it was only batting practice, it was a pleasant sight.

"That's the kind of a club to pitch for," said the grand old man. "I never saw any better hitting club and I've seen lots of ball teams."

Newsom's meanderings around the baseball map have taken him to nine different major league clubs. He was in Washington four times, in St. Louis with the Browns three times and twice in Brooklyn. Now he belongs to the exclusive circle of those who have played with the Giants, Dodgers and Yanks.

It was a day off for Bobo who pitched Sunday in Boston. He pitched good ball, too, until he pulled a muscle trying to run from first base to second.

"Just a day or two and I'll be all right," he said, 'I'll take my regular turn. I hope."

Bobo, never a stickler for spring training routine, missed the entire program this year. He never faced a batter until he walked out on Braves field to oppose a team that many think can win the National League pennant.

Taxation Takes Big Slice Of Betting Yield

By MICHAEL O'MARA, Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LONDON, April 27 (CP). — Betting — Britain's seventh largest industry—turns over £20,000,000 ($80,000,000) a week.

Punters' weekly investments may roughly be broken down this way: £9,000,000 on horses, £8,500,000 on greyhounds, and £2,500,000 on football pools. This total decreases during football's off-season but does not take into account unestimated thousands of pounds which cross the Irish Channel for illegal participation in sweepstakes or which change hands in friendly wagers.

Betting—possibly influenced by scarcity of consumer goods in the shops — has increased sharply since before the war when the average weekly turnover was £9,000,000. In those days, for example, the average football pools stake was 4s 11½d (99 cents), compared with a 1948 average of 3s 3d ($1.65).

The industry now numbers about 250,000 full-time employees —track bookies with their agents, off-the-course bookies employing large office staffs and agents laying off bets at the course, totalizator (pari-mutuel) sellers and clerks and large staffs of football-pool personnel.

Thousands of pounds are invested in complex machinery which facilitates large-scale betting. An average greyhound track tote costs £70,000, takes 18 months to build and requires maintenance men in constant attendance.

Insured For £100,000.

One pools firm has its machinery insured for £100,000 — including devices which sign 5,000 cheques an hour, "pinprick" letters to prevent faking and add and subtract at lightning speed.

The Exchequer takes a big bite out of the industry's turnover, drawing £250,000 a week in direct taxation from firms which deal in gambling.

Sir Stafford Cripps' recent budget with its new tax on greyhound track bookies, in addition to taxes on pools and greyhound totes, is expected to bring the take to £500,000—which means that the government gets about one dime out of every two dollars wagered on dogs and pools.

Taxing horse-racing bookies has always been a tricky business. Winston Churchill tried it when he was Chancellor in 1926 and realized £2,600,000 a year. But the tax cost so much to collect that Churchill, like many another Briton, decided you can't beat the bookies, and dropped the tax.

Experts figure that if Cripps would tax horse betting on the same scale as dogs and pools betting he could add another £413,000 a week to the exchequer's income, and before the budget the bookies were laying only fractional odds against such a tax being introduced.

Hockey Trade Involves 13, Several Clubs

TORONTO, April 27.—(CP).—Even before the names of his latest National Hockey League championship team were engraved on the remodelled Stanley Cup, President Conny Smythe of Toronto Maple Leafs yesterday announced a series of deals in which 13 hockey players and many leagues were involved.

The deals were staged to fill the gaps left by the retirement of two Toronto stars—Captain Syl Apps and Nick Metz.

No money was involved the deals which paralleled the famous "five-for-two" trade in which Leafs got dipsy-doodle Max Bentley from Chicago Black Hawks.

Most important move, made after a week of conferences with officials in six leagues, was the trading of defenceman Wally Stanowski and Elwyn Morris to New York Rangers in exchange for Cal Gardner, Rene Trudel, Bill Juzda and amateur Frankie Mathers of the Allan Cup finalist Ottawa Senators.

In connection with the same deal, Leafs gave up playing rights to amateur Orville Lavell, who played with Lethbridge Native Sons this year, in exchange for rights to amateur Bruce McMurray, on the St. Paul farm list of Rangers.

In the second deal, Smythe traded Gordon Bell, Armand Lemieux, Leo Curik and Rod Roy to Springfield Indians for centre Eldred Kobussen.

Stanowski Pleased

Smythe completed the big deal yesterday afternoon with Ranger Manager Frank Boucher. The Springfield deal had been completed with Eddie Shore late last week.

Stanowski, 29-year-old native of Winnipeg, has played six years with Leafs, starting in 1939. A fixture ever since except for two years spent in the RCAF. His status with Toronto has been a subject of controversy the last two seasons and recently Smythe said the defenceman was set with Leafs. Stanowski, however, preferred the opportunity of becoming a regular with Rangers to staying with Leafs as a fifth defenceman.

"I'm satisfied," he said. "I like the idea of going to New York."

Twenty-seven-year-old Toronto born Morris graduated to Leafs from Toronto Marlboro juniors in 1943, staying with the club until the 1945-46 season when he was sent to Pittsburgh Hornets of the AHL, where he has played since.

King George Wins

King George edged out a 6-5 decision over King Edward in their School Softball League fixture yesterday on the latter's grounds. A five-run splurge in the second, after one in the first, put it on ice, but King Edward made it a tight fit. They got two each in the first and fifth, with one in the third. The teams:

King George: Starr, lf; McIlmoyle, lf; Ash, p; Lipsett, 2b; Dubay, 1b; F. Ash, c; McGee, rf; Barker, rf; Baptie, ss; Pollard, 3b; Innes, 3b; Crowder, cf; Johnson; Wait, 1b.

King Edward: Turner, c; Pagett, ss; Downer, p; Corbett, 2b; Frizzelle, cf; Nickson, 3b; Moffatt, rf; Henderson, 1b; Crowe, 1b; Rose, lf; Hunt, lf.

Successful YMCA Swim Season Ends With Trophies Presented

Completing a highly successful YMCA indoor swimming season, trophies were presented the various victors for 1948. The Victor Allen Memorial Trophy, the outstanding swimmer award, went to Jack Boorman, who had 216 points for his winter and spring efforts. Following him closely was John Cusimano with 212, and third was Frank Wright with 201. They received shields.

Mr. Francis P. Burke presented the Canadian Legion Trophy to the YMCA for annual competition in the marathon swim, won this year by Ken Stacey, with Frank Wright next and Jack Forbes third. They get trophy replicas. Al Clark, YMCA physical director, accepted the Legion Trophy from the branch's past president.

Monthly handicap awards were won by: Frank Wright in October, Jack Boorman in November, John Cusimano in December, Jack Forbes in January, Jack Boorman in February, Ken Stacey in March, and Bill Watson in April. The latter swimmer will hold the shield for the summer. The youngest competing member was Ross Dobbin.

Gold Medals

Gold medals went to John Cusimano with an attendance of 58 out of 59, Bob Howe with a 37 of 38 attendance, and Jim Heffernan of the 'budding breaststrokers," the latter getting Al Marshall's medal. Small "oscars" were presented to Scott Pearton for being second fastest in his class in Ontario, Hugh Outram for success in races as well at good attendance and high in points for the season, and to Ernie Laton for keen interest shown, good attendance and marked improvement.

Gord Minty, honorary director of YMCA aquatics, reported 61 sessions held, and an attendance of 1,266 compared with 977 the previous season. Meets were held at the West End 'Y' in Toronto, at Hamilton, Queen's University, Trinity College Schools and at Humberside Collegiate in Toronto. Local meets had Queen's here, the open Ontario meet recently, and the public school meet. It was the most successful swimming season yet.

Tournament Notes

The YMCA team of Frank Worsencroft, Mike Doris, Reg Dyer, Ross Hopkins and Earl Kearns rolled into second place in the team event in the tournament at Duffus Alleys. Last night this outfit hit 3583.

Irv Hanes, one of the most consistent trundlers in the tourney took over first place in the singles when he cracked down with a huge 883. Hanes is really hitting them in the tournament and has a grand chance to cop the high aggregate prize.

Alf Pepe and Frank McCormack rolled into second place in the doubles with a 1623 count.

Quite a number of local and out-of-town teams will be in action this week. The local bowlers are getting in shape for the CBA tournament at Toronto, which opens next week. Most bowlers going up from here are trying to make arrangements to roll some of the events Friday night and the remainder on Saturday. They find it too tough competing in all the events on the same day.

In the mixed doubles Marg Hawthorne and Ches Grant hit 1516 to put them in second place.

Still one of the main topics of discussion at the alleys is Joe Legault's perfect game. The Belleville bowler broke a 12-year span for no perfect game in competition. Fred Martin and Gene Reynolds rolled perfect games but in open bowling. Joe takes down the $100 standing offer of the Duffus Alleys to anyone bowling a perfect game in competition.

Soccer League Schedule Opens April 28

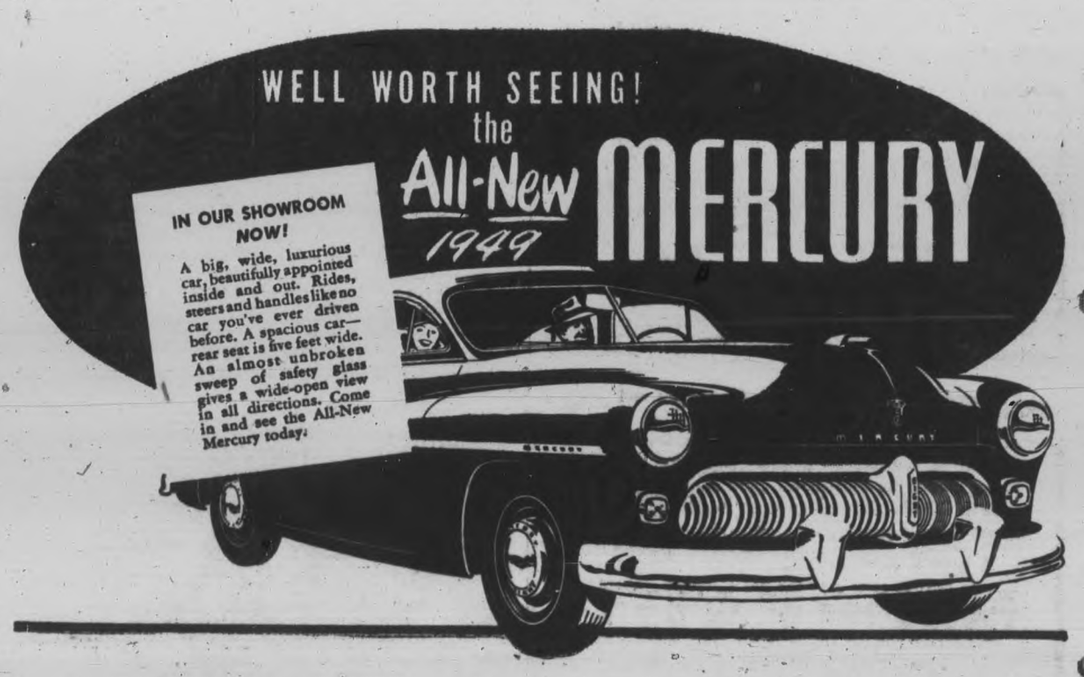
The opening game of the Peterborough and District Football Association is schedued for Wednesday evening at 6.15 when Canadian General play the Petes soccer club (late Sparton club) at King Edward Park, with Art O'Halloran as official referee. It is expected that Mayor Ovens, along with President Gracie, will officially open the season.

On May 1, Saturday, CGE play O'Hallorans on King Edward Park, kick-off at 2.30 prompt. Referee Tom Garland. And the Petes (Spartons) travel to Lindsay to meet the club of that town, referee to be appointed. The following Wednesday evening, Canadian Legion will meet an opponent selected by the schedule committee.

Official Notice

The executive requested that the secretary, along with the past president, interview city officials relative to the use of King Edward park as the soccer field as they have had for many years. Softball teams have taken possession in spite of the soccer players' request that it be exclusively for the soccer teams.

Canadian General registered their colors, white sweaters with black trimmings and black pants; Petes, gold with black trimmings and blue pants; O'Hallorans, blue sweaters with monogram on front and white pants; Canadian Legion have not declared their colors, but no doubt will be the same as last year.



The schedule committee, composed of President William Gracie, Vice-President R. Strong and Past President Stroyan Leith, were instructed to draw up the schedule for the month of May and report to the meeting next Monday evening.

Petes' soccer club will hold a practice on Tuesday evening at six and hold a special meeting after the practice.

Port Arthur Wallops Flyers 8-1 In Second Memorial Cup Tilt

TORONTO, April 27—(CP).—Port Arthur West End Bruins have made it clear that Barrie Coach Hap Emms wasn't lulling them into any false sense of security after the first game of the Memorial Cup final when he lamented that "we can't come back." The scrappy Bruins last night showed 11,828 fans their first victory was no fluke, as they pinned a humiliating 8-1 defeat on Barrie Flyers to take a two-game lead in the best-of-seven series for the Canadian junior hockey championship. They scored a 10-8 victory in the first game Saturday.

Only in the first 10 minutes of the first period were Flyers able to match the Bruins. After that brief flurry they dropped back and the Western champions rode roughshod.

Barrie started in good style and hemmed in the Lakehead forwards with their speed and aggressiveness. Bruins, however, soon came back and out-skated, outplayed and outbumped Flyers who left the ice a well-beaten team.

Open Scoring

The easterners opened the scoring in just a little more than six minutes to play but Bruins led 5-1 at the end of the first period. They added one goal in the middle session and two more in the third period while holding Flyers scoreless.

Shifty Danny Lewicki was the spark plug for Bruins. Both he and Dave Credighton scored two goals and received one assist.

Robbie Wrightsell, Fred Baccari, Bob Fero and Alfie Childs each scored once for the western team. Wrightsell was playing in place of Bill Johnson who missed the game because of a bad knee.

The lone Barrie goal came at the 6:40 mark of the first period as Brun Favero took Paul Meger's pass to beat goalie Lorne Chabot.

Flyers missed their star pivot man Jerry Reids, who suffered a torn ankle ligament in the opening game. He will not likely see action again until the fourth game Saturday. The third game is Wednesday night.

Royals Drop 11-4 Decision To Syracuse

By the Associated Press.

Lefty Jack Kraus, who helped pitch Jersey City Giants to the International League pennant last year, will remember his 30th birthday for a long time.

Kraus, who won 12 and lost 9 in 1947, reached his 30th milestone yesterday and celebrated the event by pitching the Giants to a two-hit victory over Buffalo Bisons.

Chet Laabs, currently on a home run rampage, accounted for the lone Buffalo run with his sixth homer in the fourth inning. Rookie Johnny Groth singled for the other Buffalo hit.

The Bisons carried the Giants until the ninth inning when Lloyd Gearhart broke up the game by singling with the bases loaded. Gearhart also drove in the first Giant run with a single in the second frame.

Kraus was one of the Giants' best pitchers in last year's stretch drive. He won six games and lost only two during the last month of play.

The victory pulled the third place Giants to within a half game of Toronto Maple Leafs who moved into first place as Montreal Royals dropped an 11-4 decision to Syracuse Chiefs. Rookie Jim Avrea, aided by a seventh inning rally, went the route against the Royals, allowing 10 hits. Kermitt Wahl highlighted the Syracuse triumph by batting in five runs on a triple and two singles.

The four other teams were idle yesterday.

Maharaja's Horse Made 2-1 Favorite

LONDON, April 27 — (AP) — The Maharaja of Baroda's My Babu was made a 2-1 favorite today in the Two Thousand Guineas England's richest horse race, Wednesday.

The Cobbler, an entry of Lt.-Col. Giles Loder, is second choice at 7-2.

A score of the best thoroughbreds from England and France will compete in the race, one of two highlighting the four-day meeting on Newmarket Heath.

The One Thousand Guineas for fillies will be run Friday. Both faces, for three-year-olds, are run over the Rowley Mile.

It was the first no-hit, no-run game in major league play for nearly three years, and Tobin failed by just two men of pitching a perfect game.

Grants Whip Phils 5-1 Indians Outlast Chicago

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

It may be only a flash in the pan, but New York Giants appear to have finally found the missing link — strong pitching — which added to their terrific batting power, can make them the most feared outfit in baseball.

Combining the two yesterday, the Giants whipped Philadelphia Phils 5-1 for their fifth straight. They now enjoy a game and a half first place lead in the National League.

The surprising part of the Giants' surge, naturally, has been their airtight pitching. And to make it all the more confusing, it has come from the most unexpected sources.

Take yesterday's masterful hurling by southpaw Dake Koslo, for instance. Manager Mel Ott had no assurance that Koslo would go the route, let alone pitch a seven-hitter and a near shutout. The left-hander, who underwent an operation on his pitching elbow last January, had not gone more than four innings in each of his four exhibition starts, and in each he was belted fairly freely.

Not to be outdone, the Giants power hitters slammed starter Schoolboy Rowe and two successors for eight hits, five of which went for extra bases. Sid Gordon cracked a home run, the club's 10th in eight games.

A Little Mistake

Eddie Stanky wasted no time in convincing his former Brooklyn bosses that they made a mistake in trading him to the Braves last month. The scrappy little second baseman, in his first crack against his former team mates, slammed a triple and single and drew a walk in four times at bat to lead the Braves to a 50 victory over the Dodgers in Boston.

Billy Voiselle, former Giant, handcuffed the Dodgers with three singles.

In as wild a game as seen in the majors in a long time, Cleveland Indians outlasted Chicago White Sox 12-11 in a 14-inning game that lasted four hours and 20 minutes. A home run by Eddie Robinson, his second of the game and third of the year, decided the contest.

In all, seven home runs three triples, four doubles and 23 singles were hit for 68 total bases off 11 pitchers, seven for Cleveland.

Russ Christopher, sixth Indian hurler, was credited with the win, Earl Caldwell was charged with the loss.

Fred Sanford outpitched Dizzy Trout to give the Browns a 2-1 victory over Detroit Tigeers in the pinches.

In the only other scheduled contest, Boston Red Sox won the first night game of the season, defeating Senators 6-0 in Washington. Lefty Mel Parnell limited the Senators to five hits, while Boston collected 10, including three singles and a double by Ted Williams.

Minor Baseball Prospects Poor

NEW YORK, April 27 (AP). — In spite of those huge "assembly line" training camps that some major league baseball clubs put on for their minor affiliates, some smart baseball men deep in the bushes aren't too happy about 1948 prospects . . . listen . . . from one anonymous gent who knows his way around the minors: "I'm afraid most of us overestimated the players who would be developed in the armed forces. With so many leagues going, some of the class D's will have to employ pretty raw talent. The danger is when one club manages to nab a few experienced performers, who will put that club far ahead in a runaway race."

A league president: "I feel that in a way we will eventually destroy hometown enthusiasm and support if local ownership and management is taken away" . . . Another president (after quoting figures to show that only a winning class "D" club can hope to break even): "Training is an expensive proposition and most class D clubs are pleased to have parent club train the ball players and ship them in 10 days before the opening . . . keening them 10 days is no small item."

Clark Gable Drops Uniform In Next Picture

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 27 (AP) — The oft-postponed wedding plans of Ida Lupino and Collier Young are on again.

Ida and the studio executive have bought a home on a two-acre plot in the Hollywood Hills and say nuptials will take place in Santa Barbara shortly after she finishes "Road House." Ida says she'll take a vacation from pictures for several months and is shopping for a ketch for a honeymoon cruise.

Out of Uniform

Clark Gable says his next film will likely be "Angel's Flight." No, it's not a supernatural story—the title comes from Los Angeles' lone cable-car line. Clark adds that he'll be happy to get out of uniform. He's been an army officer in his latest two pictures . . .

Bob Hope wants to enter the United States Open Golf Tournament here in June. "With Byron Nelson out of the tournament, I've got a chance," he says, swinging his special three-pound club. Bob has turned down Rank's proposed biography of Joe Miller, the Bob Hope of the 19th century. He's read the script and doesn't think it's right for him . . .

Summer's Rest

Monty Woolley, the sage of Saratoga Springs, goes right home after "The Tatlock Millions." He'll rest through the Summer, since he's not yet recovered from his abdominal operations last year. I suggested the public would like to see him team with Gracie Fields again. "I'd love it," he says, "but producers saw audiences don't go for middle-aged stars." Marie Dressler, the Cobourg, Ont.-born star, and Wally Beery did all right . . .

Loretta Young's future plans include more additions to her family . . . Cornel Wilde tells me he began writing a play six years ago, designed for his idol, Laurence Olivier. With the play finished, he now thinks he could play the lead. He added: "By the time it's finished, Lon McCalister will be right for it."

WANT NAME CHANGED

A proposal to change the name of the Canadian Small Bore Association, parent body of Canada's small bore rifle and revolver shots to the Canadian Association of Marksmen, was approved at the annual C.S.B.A. meeting at Montreal, it was announced yesterday. Originally organized to serve small bore fans, C.S.B.A. recently embraced pistol and revolver marksmanship and now seeks to extend its services to other unorganized forms of competitive shooting.

Marmora Recreation Centre Drive Hits $15,000 Mark

MARMORA, April 27 — (ENS) —One thermometer has risen appreciably in Marmora the last few days. It is the large one set up outside the Post Office at the highways junction, indicating receipts for the new Marmora District Memorial Recreation Centre amounting to more than $10,400 on the opening evening of the intensive canvass. The figure is now around the $15,000 mark.

The committee has used chance to make a dollar, and small donations are being garnered besides the larger ones with a zest.

On Saturday evening, the commitee and their canvassers were delighted with progress to date and most optimistic over results to come from that part of the canvass which remains to be completed. Next in line of action after the local territory has been thoroughly covered will be the soliciting of donations from former residents of Marmora, many of whom with in attendance at the Old Boys' Reunion last summer. Various posters in the stores and business places call for the support of the project. One of the most striking reads: "I can't do it! You can't do it! but altogether we can build a rink in Marmora.

Can't Budge City Council On Anti-Noise Bylaw

Contention of a deputation from the Allied Labor Council that use of loud speaking equipment at factory gates was not calculated to disturb the neighborhood failed to change the adverse attitude of the city council Monday night.

"We don't ask that the city by-law be rescinded or amended," said William Cambers, representative of the United Electrical Workers, main speaker for the deputation. "All we ask is recognition of our claim that the by-law permits us to operate within its framework since our meetings are not calculated to disturb the people. We contend that although the bylaw does not permit us to cruise the streets and advertise anything in our own behalf or for any other group, we could operate within a narrow definition of the bylaw, without changing it."

Several months ago the council refused to grant this same petition on the ground that it contravened an anti-noise bylaw passed in 1937.

The request was renewed, Mr. Cambers said, 'because we felt that perhaps we had not made our points as clear as we should have done."

Discussion by the committee, with all the members present, after the deputation retired, ended in a "no action" motion by Mayor Ovens, seconded by Ald. Dick Raine.

Principal use of the sound amplifying equipment, commonly called a sound truck because it is portable, appeared to be intended for the vicinity of the Canadian General Electric Co. works.

Ald. Douglas Miller said that when the broadcasting was previously used it caused congestion of employees leaving and entering the C.G.E. grounds. Mayor Ovens said that streets at the works were crowded at those hours, noon and 5 p.m., not only with C.G.E. employees, but with others from De Laval, Raybestos, and other factories, that buses and automobiles created a traffic problem aggravated by the sound truck. His Worship said he had received complaints on occasions when broadcasting was carried on in front of the plant.

The Noisy Hour

In support of his point that use of the sound truck in making announcements to employees was not "calculated to disturb residents of the neighborhood," Mr. Cambers said the level of noise in the vicinity of industrial plants was at its height during the periods around 12.30 to 1 p.m. and from 4.45 to 5.30 p.m. At both times, he said, the loud speaking was not continued more than fifteen minutes or thereabouts.

"I can't conceive the sound truck being able to match the C.G.E. whistle, the noise of buses and cars, the honking of horns," Mr. Cambers said.

"One reason we are asking for this permission is simply to make ourselves heard over a noise level that is not of our doing. Our duty is to keep our membership informed. We are there at the request of our membership in the CGE, of whom there are 3,300 at present. We have no intention to be provocative. We were there because the use of the sound truck was voted on by our officers and members working in that plant.

I would like to emphasize this, that we have never as yet been denied that permission. We were in the habit of renting sound equipment from the Dit Clapper store. We were not told that we could no longer use it, but we were told at the store that they couldn't rent the equipment to us. If we were transgressing the law, we should have been told."

City Clerk Outram offered the explanation that Mr. Clapper was informed that use of the public address system was contrary to a city bylaw.

Want Reasonable View

"We could have defied the law, and bought our own equipment," Mr. Cambers continued. "But, we wished to have your support, and we are asking you to take a reasonable view of our request. We are aware that the bylaw is subject to administration, but we feel that it can exist and at the same time that we can hold our meetings. We say it is within the framework of the bylaw to do so, because the bylaw prohibits noise calculated to disturb the neighborhood, and we say that we have so such intention and are not disturbing the neighborhood at a time when there is so much noise there."

Mr. Cambers said he was told by Chief Thompson that he had never received any complaint against the union's use of the sound truck.

Ald. D. Miller enquired whether effects would not be just as satisfactory by use of leaflets.

Mr. Cambers replied that the world progressed, and if one medium of communication was found better than others, "we ought to use it and forsake the others."

"We do not say that the bylaw was designed to work against us, but unfortunately I think it was invoked against us."

Mayor Ovens said the bylaw was passed by the council of 1937 because sound trucks were going about the streets blaring advertisements of various things. "There were so many complaints that the council had to take action."

Ald. Herbert Young asked Mr. Cambers whether "you ever asked permission to enter the grounds to address employes?"

Mr. Cambers: "No, because we don't think such a request would be received in the most generous spirit. We park on the side of the street near the plant. We are only one out of 100 or 150 cars in that block, so I don't think it could be said that we were encumbering the street."

City Solicitor Huycke said the bylaw did not apply only to streets. The gist of an antinoise act, passed about 1880, was to prohibit unusual noise or noise calculated to disturb the neighborhood. Years ago a Lakefield Salvation Army girl was charged under the Act with beating a drum in the street, but the bylaw applied to all the city.

Mr. Cambers said the sound truck practice was to park on the side of the street next to the factory, and talk to the people, many of them inside the fence.

Enforced Against Church

Mr. Outram remarked that a certain church had used a loud speaker, conveying the service into the street, and the bylaw had been enforced against it.

Mr. Cambers said that music at Christmas time down town indicated some flexibility of the bylaw. "The intention of the bylaw is to prevent disturbance of the inhabitants, and in the absence of complaints, as Chief Thompson told me, it can't be argued that we were disturbing the neighborhood."

As to what constituted disturbance, Mr. Huycke said that was something for a court to decide. One man's estimate of a disturbance might not be another man's.

Each case would have to be decided on its merits. In the Lakefield case, in which the late Sir Alan Aylesworth was engaged, a prior conviction was quashed on appeal. One man, the only witness, said he saw a drum beaten, but there was no evidence as to hearing any noise.

William J. Whibbs, of the deputation, said he was not opposed to summer carnivals and lacrosse games late at night. If there was complaint against noise and disturbance of the neighborhood that was the time that it might be made, not at five o'clock in the afternoon.

Mr. Cambers: "We don't think the bylaw was designed to prevent the sort of thing we are asking for."

Ald. Grant Miller said labor organizations had meeting halls and other facilities of information to membership, but sound equipment could be an infringement of the comfort and pleasure of other people. The council in a democratic way had to think of all the people, not just one group.

Mr. Cambers replied that there were 9,000 union members in this city. With their families and other relatives they constituted the larger proportion of the people. "If it is a question of democracy, we are prepared to support our plea with a petition placed before the council, signed by a majority of the citizens. Nothing has been indicated that we were interfering with the rights of any people, but we were speaking for the majority, at the C.G.E. plant, 3,300, and there were no complaints."

Mr. Cambers said Quaker Oats Co., Canada Packers, Raybestos, Peterborough Lock and other factories were largely of union membership.

CHIEF FOILS HOLDUP — Gerald Wheelwright, 17, of Hamilton (left), and Victor Vincent, 22, of Montreal, are shown under escort of PC Reg Lawrence after the pair, both armed, had been disarmed and arrested by Chief Constable Garnet McGill of Toronto township (right). The bandits hid in the Royal Bank branch at Cooksville during Sunday night and tied up three bank employees arriving for work yesterday morning. Screams of two girl tellers, also arriving for work, brought Chief McGill from a near-by barber shop. Although unarmed, he arrested the pair trying to escape by the bank's rear door. Chief McGill is shown with a mask worn by one of the bandits.

Companies Say Profits Deceiving

By The Canadian Press

Companies nowadays take somewhat of a "ribbing" on the subject of their high earnings and in effect reply: "What would your weekly pay cheque be if we didn't keep this concern in good operating order?"

More and more they take the occasion of their annual reports or meetings to present their situation to their employees and the public.

Their argument is that profits per dollar are modest; that only through efficiency in high turnover are they able to maintain themselves; that it takes a great deal of money on hand just to keep going and to provide against contingencies; and that in any event their shareholders don't get undue returns.

Aside from their immediate problems, company reports occasionally deal with broader economic issues. What may be considered a summation of their views along these lines was given yesterday by H. G. Hilton, president of the Steel Company of Canada, Ltd., at yesterday's annual meeting in Hamilton. Mr. Hilton said in part:

"Under the freedom for enterprise which has prevailed on the North American continent, more improvement in the lot of the average man has taken place in the last 100 years than in all previous human history."

Never Say Die

DURBAN, South Africa (CP)—Reggie Schmidt, 15, and his brother, 11, were fishing from a dock here when a wave swept them both into the water. Reggie clambered back but saw his brother floating unconscious in the shark-infested water. Diving back Reg pulled his brother, unharmed, to safety. But the next day he was back again—fishing for sharks.

Oliver Will Have Same P.C. Opponent

DURHAM, April 27 — (CP). — Farquhar Oliver will have the same Progressive Conservative opponent as in 1945 when he contests South Grey riding in the June 7 Ontario elections.

A Progressive Conservative nomination meeting last night chose Howard A. McCauley of Flesherton to oppose the Liberal leader in the constituency. In the 1945 provincial contest he lost to Mr. Oliver by some 1,500 votes.

The Liberal nominations are due May 6 but riding gossip sees little chance of Mr. Oliver being dispossessed. The CCF candidate will be chosen later.

Mr. McCauley won the nomination last night over W. H. Cress, former Mayor of Durham, and three other candidates.

PROBE BRUTALITY — Further investigations are being made into reports that the Toronto police force has been unnecessarily brutal in handling prisoners. Constable Thomas Hill (Upper Left) is charged with assault as a result of a scuffle during an arrest. Det. Robert McCandless (Upper Right) was suspended with Cradduck for the same reason. Another detective told the police commission of the brutal treatment of the prisoner. Robitaille Mederic (Lower Left) was the complainant against PC Hill. Mederic required hospital treatment for a head gash after being struck on the head by a billy. Det. Sgt. Frank Cradduck (Lower Right) has been suspended from the Toronto force pending result of an inquiry into police beating of a man now in Guelph Reformatory.

VOL. XCVI, No. 99 TUESDAY, APRIL 27, 1948 PRICE FIVE CENTS

Dept. of Highways Willing To Rebuild Buckhorn Road If Commission Does Work

Department of Highways is willing to pay the entire cost of rebuilding the Buckhorn Road if the Suburban Area Commission will undertake to do the work. That proposal was made by the Minister, Hon. George Doucett, to a Peterborough deputation composed of the members of the Suburban Area Commission and the roads committee of the County Council. They were A. W. Archibald, J. A. Middleton and M. H. Gainey of the Commission, Warden James Humphries, Reeves Gifford, Darling and Harrison of the council's roads committee, Mr. J. A. Fletcher, county engineer. The deputation was joined by Hon. H. R. Scott in the interview in Toronto last week.

This information relates indirectly to a letter from Charles Quick of Buckhorn in today's Examiner complaining of "the disgraceful condition" of the road from the Lakefield turn to Buckhorn.

A Huge Backlog

The Commission and county council have delayed expenditure and work on this road in the hope that it would be assumed as a provincial highway by the Department. Mr. Doucett told the deputation the Department had too bulky a back-log of highway projects to take over the Buckhorn road this season. The years of the war had held up construction, and the department's policy is to make no new pleges until it has begun to overtake work to which it is already committed. Mr. Doucett promised to send some road machinery to Peterborough to help the Commission if they enter into agreement with the Department. It was also understood that the work would be supervised by Mr. Ewart Marsden, the Department's district engineer.

The deputation will report to the county council at a special session Friday. It has been called also to consider the resignation of Mr. Fletcher and to discuss the Chemong causeway project.

Both Mr. Gainey and Mr. Middleton told The Examiner that a Commission difficulty is expected to be in obtaining sufficient labor for the rebuilding of the road. Council and Commission both know the extent of maintenance work that is needed. Major activity on the road this season would probably hamper tourist traffic, and it may be that only temporary repairs may be done at present. That is only a surmise. Some decision may be reached at the meeting of the council Friday.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

PROGRESSING WELL

John Cupoli, Elm St., injured in the car-tree crash Saturday morning, is "progressing favorably," his doctor said today. He received a fractured hipbone and chest injuries in the accident which killed Vera McKinley.

NO SOUND TRUCK

Request of the Junior Chamber of Commerce for permission to advertise by sound truck their Jamboree, May 24, was rejected by the legal committee of the council Monday in a motion by Ald. Grant Miller, seconded by Ald. Swanston.

POLICEMEN'S BOOTS

For the first time, members of the Peterborough Police Department literally "walked on the city" today. This morning saw the men wearing the first issue of boots purchased by the force. Before this, officers have supplied their own footwear.

CYCLES RAMPAGING

Some of the neighbors in downtown apartments and others throughout the city would like to ask Chief John Thompson the rating of motorcycles on the noise level after 11 p.m. The flock seems to be larger than ever this year with exhausts just as nerve-wracking at any time of the day and in inverse proportion to the quiet that descends at the end of the day.

WELCOME JUSTICE GENEST

The Honorable Mr. Justice Genest was welcomed to Peterborough on Monday afternoon when he entered the courtroom to begin the Non-Jury Sittings of the Supreme Court by The Honorable G. N. Gordon, K.C., speaking for Francis D. Kerr, K.C., on behalf of the Peterborough Bar Association. His Lordship replaced The Honorable Mr. Justice McFarland who was originally scheduled to preside.

YMCA ACTIVITIES CLOSE

This week will see the winding up for the season of more YMCA activities. The Boys' Fun and Friendship Club will hold their last meeting on Friday evening, with a film show, including a cartoon and three other films. On Saturday, the Boys' Department is holding its annual athletics meeting, when trophies will be presented to the winners in the three groups: pioneer, juvenile and junior. It will be a tabloid sports meeting, thereby encouraging all boys to take part in all events. Saturday evening, the 16-20 Club will be holding the last dance of the season.

BUSY CIVIC DAY

Mayor Ovens and some of the aldermen did a long shift at the city hall yesterday. Ald. Adam Sands called the legal committee together for more than an hour in the afternoon. With him were Mayor Ovens, Aldermen Swanston and G. Miller. All hands turned up at 7.30 for a session of the board of works. Its most important affair was a housing project. Then at 11 p.m. Ald. Herb Young gathered the parks committee around him for a forty-minute go.

Bank Manager Dies At Lakefield

LAKEFIELD, April 27.—(ENS).—A resident of Lakefield for the past two years where he was manager of the Royal Bank, Carl Elmer Robertson, 48, died today in hospital in Peterborough. He had been ill a short time.

Born in Lanark, son of the late Thomas Robertson and Minnie Barber, he was educated there. He served with the bank as manager of the Chippewa branch for four years before coming to Lakefield. Previous to that, he had served in Toronto and in Nassau, in the Bahamas, from 1926 to 1939.

He is survived by his wife, the former Anna Adderley of Nassau, and three children—Catherine 17, Richard 14 and Malcolm 9.

He also leaves three sisters and two brothers, Mrs. John Leigh (Carolyn), Toronto; Mrs. Robert Saunders (Janet), Fort William; Mrs. J. H. Ironside (Eva), Fort William; Thomas Boyd Robertson, Toronto; William Robertson, Vancouver.

He was a member of the Lakefield Lions Club, and the Presbyterian church.

The body is at the Tedford Funeral Home for a service there Thursday night at eight o'clock. On Friday, the body will be transferred to Lanark for service at two p.m. Rev. William McDonald, Peterborough, will officiate. Burial will be at Lanark cemetery.

STILL NON-PRODUCTIVE

The word fallow to describe land which has been plowed but not sown probably is a derivative of the Old English "fealga," a harrow.

Council Lauds Officers Of City League

Jack Turner, Gordon Young and Jack Billingsley, officers of the City Baseball League, received a compliment from the parks committee of the Council last night, expressed by Ald. Doug Miller.

"We'd like them to know that we are behind them 100 per cent., and that we appreciate what they are doing for the youth of the city," Ald. Miller said.

Mr. Turner said the league was chiefly interested in the minor groups around town. "Tonight, we have well over 300 boys registered. We are chiefly interested in the youngsters from the junior grade down to the peewees What we are asking for is much the same arrangement for Riverside Park that we had last year when the Council appointed Mr Alex Kay as commissioner, and left it to him to allot park space and time. The seniors got every Saturday. We had hoped for some funds from them to assist in looking after the minors, but we didn't get one cent."

Mr. Turner said the seniors were no doubt handicapped by the lack of a senior league in this district. They had to arrange exhibition games until the OBAA play-offs."

Ald. Waddell proposed that Mr. Kay be asked to carry on in scheduling parks this season, and the committee informed the deputation that definite arrangements would be ready by next week. Ald. Young presided.

Child 2 Gulps Drink-of Paint Thinner Before Mother Can Snatch Bottle Away

Gary Byers, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Byers, 445 Wellington St., is coming home from the hospital today after a bout with pneumonia.

The boy went to St. Joseph's Hospital in a rush last week when he swallowed a mouthful of turpentine-like solution which was being used by his mother in painting their kitchen. The child had been playing about the room and grabbed the bottle. Before he could be stopped, he had taken a big gulp of it.

He was rushed to the hospital in the car of a neighbor across the street.

Doctors explained later that the caustic action of the liquid on the lungs almost invariably results in pneumonia.

The quick action in rushing Gary for medical assistance prevented the case from being any more than one of pneumonia.

He also served on the commission, 'Church, Nation and World Order' and on the Church Stewardship Council.

A second charge of theft of war medals from Buckham against Taylor was remanded for a week in the absence of the accused's counsel.

Lakefield Opens Drive For New Rink

Plan District Memorial Centre To Cost $26,000, Seat 1,500

LAKEFIELD, April 27—(ENS).—Concrete plans were laid for building this year of Lakefield's new arena, at a public organization meeting in Memorial Hall Monday night.

Initial step in the project was the decision to let the contract at about $26,000 to a contractor prepared to start work immediately provided that the first $7,000 can be raised in the next two weeks. Committees for action in all departments were formed.

The proposed building will have an ice surface of 75 by 175 feet with an overall size of 95 by 208 feet, to seat approximately 1,500 people. It will be of steel, on wooden trusses, mounted on cement piers, and the contractor will guarantee that it will be ready in time for the first winter flooding.

Labor donated by local men will be allowed as a deduction in costs. Lights and water system were not included in the figure given.

Name Committees

Committees appointed were: honorary president, Gordon K. Fraser, M.P.; honorary vice-presidents, Hon. Harold Scott, Col. A. T. LaFevre, William P. Charlton, Dr. Murray Moher, Dr. G. E. Renwick, Capt. R. T. Bell, J. Mahoney, reeve of Douro, R Harrison, reeve of Smith.

The general committee: chairman, Reeve William Grant, Frank Coyle, Everett Sloan, William Morrison, Harry Stabler.

Campaign committee: Eric Anderson, Frank Coyle, Stanley Goodall, E. H. Northey, Charles Hunter, Kenneth Jakins, Rev. Dr. J. V. Masterson, Kenneth Morris, Charles Young, William Morrison, Everett Sloan, G. Winder Smith, Harry Stabler, James Moloney, Hilliard Darling, of Warsaw, Neil Blewett of Selwyn.

Building and plans: E. W. Bailey, Joe Blewett, E. Craig, Stanley Richardson, Garnet Samis, Thomas Staves.

Financial: Albert Buchanan, Harry T. Hill, John McKerchar and Carl Robertson.

Reeve Grant, chairman of the tentative committee said the present rink was positively dangerous when large crowds were attending a hockey game. The ice surface is not proper size for OHA games, the rink will not accommodate enough people, it is a fire hazard and it would cost at least $10,000 to repair it.

For Whole Area

Everett Sloan, principal of the public school said the rink serves 330 children for skating, 100 of whom play hockey. A good rink would not only serve Lakefield but the entire district, he said.

Police Chief Garnet Samis noted that the juvenile delinquency was at a low ebb during the hockey season.

William Morrison reported that the tentative committee visited rinks in nearby communities, the best of which was at Cannington, a village of 600 people, which built a rink to seat 1,200 people at a cost of $23,000. The best figures that could be obtained for erection of a rink in Lakefield was $26,000, complete except for wiring and water system, and the contractor has material to go ahead in two weeks.

Reeve Grant said the financing would be by public subscription from the village, surrounding area, industries and former residents.

"Some people", said Reeve Grant "are counting on a provincial grant—the chances for this are fair, but at the most it would not exceed $5,000."

The financial management would definitely make provision for replacing the rink in years to come and profits would be used for promoting community activities in the rink.

Discuss Site

W. J. Morrison said of sites inspected the one most favorably considered was at the "V" near Moore's lumber yard. This is owned by the CNR and it is thought it can be purchased at one-half the assessed value.

The committee is awaiting definite word from the CNR.

It was moved by Roy Brown and Albert Buchanan that a board of trustees be appointed for one to five years. Everett Sloan moved an amendment that the village council appoint the board of trustees.

Everett Sloan said he thought donors should be allowed to donate over a 12-month period.

Ken Jakins suggested pledge cards be issued.

Rev. M. R. Hunt asked if all the money had to be in when the building was completed to which Mr. Morrison replied that the contractor would go ahead with the work as long as he had good security.

Miss Dorothy Colquhoun expressed the opinion that if the rink was to be a Memorial Centre the fact should be brought forth and used as a publicity point. It was moved by Roy Brown and Cy Hopkins that the general committee be authorized to spend such money as was deemed necessary to carry on publicity.

School Gives Backing

G. Winder Smith, head master of the Grove School said he had mentioned the proposed new rink to the board of governors of the Grove and they were behind the project and would do all they could to assist.

Reeve Grant said the contractor would start work with $7,000. It was moved by Ken Jakins and Reg. Mathews that the general committee be authorized to give contract when $6,000 was raised.

An amendment was made to this motion by Roy Brown and Charlie Hunter, who set the figure at $13,000. Another amendment was made by Everett Sloan naming $7,000.

On vote, the $7,000 amendment was carried. It was moved by A. Buchanan and Tom Staves that the rink be called the Lakefield and District Memorial Centre. This was passed.

$15,000 Damages Claimed Over Accident

Hearing the claim of Nuziato Santomero, Victoria Ave. for $15,000 damages against Leo Garvey, Munroe Ave., began on Monday afternoon before the Honourable Mr. Justice Genest, Supreme Court of Ontario in the first case of the Spring sitting of the Non-Jury Sessions.

Plaintiff claimed that on the evening of September 18, 1947, shortly before 11.30 p.m. while riding a bicycle west on Hunter St. he was struck down by the car of the defendant who made a northerly turn from Hunter St. onto Armour Rd. after travelling in an easterly direction.

It was further charged that Garvey did not remain at the scene of the accident but continued on for approximately a block and ahalf before stopping at Munroe Ave.

James M. Defoe, RR 1, Kingston said he was driving east on Hunter St. and slowed down at Armour Rd. before turning north to allow a west-bound bicyclist to pass. He said he was aware of a car coming from behind and then the bicycle passed out of his line of vision.

Cross-questioned by W. J. A. Fair, solicitor for the defendant, he said he did not see the actual impact, but heard the sound of the collision. The next thing he saw was the plaintiff in process of being thrown from the middle of the car.

Mr. Defoe said the defendant did not stop and that he followed him in his car until he did so. He said that after Mr. Garvey travelled about a block and a half he stopped. And the witness then testified that he questioned Garvey asking him if he knew what had happened at the intersection Garvey, he said, denied that he knew anything about the matter but consented to return to the scene of he accident in Defoe's car, and was present before police arrived.

Defoe said he believed he smelled alcohol on Garvey's breath.

Dr. Justin O'Brien said he arrived at the scene of the accident about 11.30 p.m. Santomero was described as lying about seven feet from the north-west corner of Hunter St. and Armour Rd. After a preliminary examination he requested that the police cruiser take the injured man to St. Joseph's Hospital as quickly as possible without waiting for the ambulance.

Injuries Severe

He said Santomero was suffering from concussion of the brain, severe hemorrhage, severed external jugular veins, facial lacerations and other injuries not revealed until he was later X-rayed. The injured man was lying in a pool of blood.

Temporary treatment was given that night but his condition was considered too serious for an operation, and he was unconscious for about three hours. At first examination Dr. O'Brien said he did not expect the man to live.

After an X-ray had been taken it was found that Santomero had a fractured left clavicle and fractured left shoulder bone. The patient was confined to hospital from September 18 to October 13 and received a treatment a day for the next 20 days after his release.

Dr. O'Brien said the plaintiff has a permanently disabled shoulder, and defective hearing. And he said Santomero claimed of dizziness, pains and headaches. He said injuries affecting the brain might become worse in the future.

Mr. Fair pressed the points that the defendant's head had not been operated on; that injuries were all received on the upper extremities of the body, and that Dr O'Brien had no knowledge of whether the plaintiff's blood pressure was low or high before the accident.

Justice Genest adjourned the court until Tuesday morning.

Hesitate To Give Property As Site For Arena Until All Money Raised

Several members of the council declare themselves opposed to giving any part of the municipal lot on Park St. to the Civic Arena until the money is in the committee treasury to pay for the building. "They should put the money on the barrelhead," was the expression of one of the members who are opposed to the council being drawn into this project beyond their contribution of part of the Park St. lot.

It was said around the City Hall that intimations were coming from the Arena committee that there were prospects of letting a contract with only part of the cost to its credit in the bank.

"We have too many other places where we have to spend money without getting into a secondary rink," said one of the aldermen, "and if there is an opinion in the committee that the job would devolve to the council to finish it might as well be made known now that the council hasn't the money."

It has also been said that opposition will be aroused if the council prepares to give the entire area of the Park St. lot to the Arena committee. The front section of the property, out near the street line, is considered ample for the committee's requirements, leaving the rear siding part for any possible use some time as a factory site.

Some of the aldermanic conversations are turning back to the Memorial Community Centre, thinking again of the Townsend-George-Rink block and of another examination of the subsoil, and even moving further to the idea of trying to change its conditions of the gift, reduce the committee to five members, bow to the excessive costs, and go back to the beginning.

Ald. Grant Miller, as one of the new members of the council, is insisting on some action. The last step by the council was its opening of negotiations with the Children's Aid Society for their property at Princess St.

A perceptible spirit of impatience here and there in the council with a policy of drifting through another summer and winter has been noticed of late. One aspect of it is a reluctant proposal that with building costs higher than ever this year the elaborate plans for the Centre be abandoned and that the scale of the building and its original multiple uses be reduced to the level of the buying power of the money in hand.

No Warnings Given

The regular spring check of mechanical conditions of cars may not be on some citizens' lists, but it is a definite part of the schedule of the Peterborough Police Department.

For the past several weeks, a patrol man has been making unheralded checks of the brakes and horns of vehicles. Under the Highway Traffic Act, it is an offence to drive with either in improper working order. There is also being carried out by city and provincial police a careful check that all cars and trucks are bearing the correct type of lighting equipment.

And they add: there are no warnings given.

TOOTS ON A TEAR

There is a nimble creature, half man, half goat, gamboling in the woods and open pastures playing its small shepherd's pipes to the animals of the wild. It is the song of birds and bees, flowers and growing things, notes so plaintive that wild creatures will follow the shrill strains and balk at no barricades. One silly young thing is reported to have jumped an eight-foot fence in pursuit of this phantom music, or something, and was lost from the sight of man for a week. But she returned to her pen at the Filtration Plant deer yard. Toots is three years old, old enough in the ways of deer to know better, for, she does it each Spring.—NN.

River Road North Has Bog Holes

Fine week-end weather, such as Sunday's, brought out many motorists for a Sunday afternoon drive. Aside from enjoying the beauty of Spring as it unfolds over the countryside, there were many complaints of very bad road conditions on some of the most popular and accessible drives. The River Road, on the street side of the Otonabee from Nassau to Lakefield, has four or five soft frost holes that let cars down to their running boards.

Other motorists deplored the condition of the Lakefield-Buckhorn road and report that it is so full of bog holes and exposed corduroy that driving speed is reduced to 20 miles an hour. People of Buckhorn are considerably concerned over the state of the present road since they depend on tourist traffic for much of their livelihood.

Princess Margaret Wears Skirt Long

LONDON, April 27—(CP). — It's the new look, all the way, for Princess Margaret.

A few weeks ago, as acute observers noted in casting eagle eyes at photographs of the royal family, the Princess cautiously let down the hem of her coat a few inches. Now she's all out for the style which in London still causes heads to turn.

Yesterday, in her first complete conversion, she wore, for the royal silver wedding anniversary celebrations, a tight-waisted jacket with a short, flared gasque over an ankle-length skirt bouffant of forget-me-not blue grosgrain silk.

Her hat was a Dolly Varden creation, gay with blue love-in-a-mist flowers.

Her shoes had 2½-inch platform soles with sling backs and square toes.

Princess Margaret has been quoted as saying that she wants to become "the world's best-dressed woman" some day.

Mrs. O. Laderach presided at the meeting of PCVS Home and School Association Monday evening. Reports were given of the OEA convention in Toronto by Mrs. Laderach and Mrs. J. N. Wood, vice-president. Mrs. J. Carlisle, representative to the Cancer Society dinner meeting last week, reported. It was anvey McFadden, who played "Old be held on Monday, May 17.

First speaker of the evening was Mr. Albert Croasdale, leader of the school band. He spoke of the music library that is being accumulated and the introduction of instrumental music in the school. He described the instruments as being triple silver plate, and the only complete set in Canada at present. The band was started in September with 30 instruments, and is now divided into choral groups for boys and girls. "Music is an international language," said Mr. Croasdale. "We are not trying to make professionals, but trying to help young musicians." Members were entertained by a trio of juniors, Don Curtis, Roger Ingall and Harvey McFadden, who played "Old Black Joe" and "I've Been Working on the Railroad," and by a quintet of John DeNure, Gary Robinson, Bob Bogue Dick Crowe and Jack Greatrix playing "God Bless America."

A school concert on Friday evening, April 30, by band and vocalists was announced. Free tickets are available from any student.

Mr. M. J. Curtis, vocal teacher at the school, was introduced by Mrs. Laderach. He explained that vocal lessons are only compulsory in Grade 9. Four part singing is started in Grade 2. When Grade 9 is reached there is some trouble with the boys' voices and they are then called alto-tenors. Music appreciation is gained in the class-rooms through recorded music, pictures and films of symphony orchestras, etc. During auditorium assemblies hymns, popular songs and old favorites are sung. A group of the student executive body helps in selecting the songs that are desired.

The choral club was started in October with about 40 members. They have since made nine appearances and won first prize at the Kiwanis Musical Festival. A triple trio of three sopranos, three second sopranos and three altos sang two numbers, "Linden Lee" and "Beautiful Lady Waltz." The singers were Barbara Outram, Margaret Martyn, Phyllis Davidson, Barbara Huffman, Evelyn Dunn, Jean Smith, Marjorie Brown, Sheila Smith and Marilyn Galbraith. Their pianist was Patsy Martyn. The "barber shop" quartette which took first prize in the Kiwanis Festival also sang two numbers. They were John Barlow, Don Crawford, Alex. McLeod and Trevor Davies, and the pianist was Marilyn Pomeroy.

Mrs. Laderach announced that a meeting of all city and district parents of grade 8 pupils on Wednesday, May 5, has been called by Mr. J. H. Moebus, vocational guidance director.

Refreshments were served to the pupils who entertained by the social committee.

Most Devoted Parents Fail To Make Pals of Children

Taking them by and large, the great majority of parents love their children dearly and make many sacrifices to give them comfortable homes, good educations, and even the kind of sport togs that the other kids have. But the fathers and mothers who are friends with their youngsters are almost as rare as white blackbirds.

Dorothy Dix

The average parents have little more than a bare speaking acquaintance with their children. They are devoted to their Tommies and Sallies. They are kind and indulgent to them. They are frantic if they are ill. But they are not on confidential terms with them, and the whole neighbourhood knows more about what the youngsters are doing and thinking than their father and mother do.

A brilliant and famous old man once said to me that it was the regret of his life that he had never really had a man-to-man talk with his father, for he was sure that they would have been so congenial if they had only known each other well enough to have been friends.

Probably this is a common experienee, for when we think back to our own childhood most of us realize that after we outgrew our infantile babble, we never had any free talk with our parents. Perhaps this was because we stood in such awe of our fathers and mothers that we never opened our hearts to them, or because they always tacked a lecture onto any confidence we made, or made a funny story out of the secret we whispered to them. But, whatever it was, it raised a barrier that we could never break down, and that made it easier to tell things to a stranger than it did to our parents.

Abets Delinqency

This inability of fathers and mother to make friends of their children is responsible for much of the juvenile delinqency which is such a headache and heartache to the world just now. For how can parents guide and protect their boys and girls if they don't know what they are thinking and planning and doing?

If home is a place of taboos in which children have as litle personal liberty as they would have in a concentration camp, and if parents never speak to their adolescent children except to correct them, and deprive them of their foolish little childish pleasures, it is inevitable that they will drive their youngsters into doing by stealth what they are not permitted to do openly, for youth will be served.

But these tragedies do not happen in families where Father and Mother pal up with their kids from their very infancy, and where there are no autocrats who rule the helpless children in their power with a ruthless disregard of their happiness and desires.

No foolish young girl gets into trouble when her mother is her most intimate friend who will listen with sympathy and understanding while she tells about what a grand party it was and how many cut-ins she had, and what a peachy dancer Johnny is and how she thinks maybe she is in love with him. The girls who go astray are those who have to lie and cheat to have the fun that belongs to their time of life, and whose mothers are always strangers to them.

Lucky the youngsters whose parents are also their best friends.

Girl Draftsman Wins Art Prize

MONTREAL, April 27 (CP). — Dorothea Rockburne, 18-year-old winner of a Montreal Art Association scholarship, says her green eyes have brought her luck.

At any rate, Dorothea was the most astonished person at the presentation when she was awarded the association's scholarship for the evening elementary drawing class.

"I was so surprised I didn't hear what I had won," said this young artist who works in the drafting department of the Bell Telephone Company.

"Drawing has been my hobby as long as I can remember. Two years ago I started studying at Sir George Williams' College, but lately I've been attending classes at the Art Association."

Famous Pinup Girl Doffs Bathing Suit

HOLLYWOOD, April 27 (AP). —Adele Mara is better known for her pinup photographs on barracks' walls and warship bulkheads than she is for her pictures on the screen. But she has put away her bathing suit now—all 36 of them—in favor of Hollywood's more conventional glamor.

In five years "the star of the stills" spent 1,140 hours before the movie cameras, in 28 films. Yet in the same period she devoted 2,400 hours, clad in bathing suits for more than 5,000 pinup pictures, altogether. Each of these, in thousands of copies, went around the world.

This darling of the press agents found other ways, too, to familiarize the public with the charms of her figure. Semi-clad, she fondled a kitten for National Cat Week. She even posed, for the War Assets Administration, with otherwise sexless 18,000-volt transformer the government was trying to sell.

Her studio now has decided that anyone who can inspire nearly 6,000 fan letters a week deserves a better fate than "star of the stills." She has accordingly been given the feminine lead opposite John Carroll in "The Blue Lady," a million-dollar opus.

"Legs are O.K.," said Adele, "but stars have to have faces, too. It's time folks discovered I have one."

They've given Miss Mara an ash blonde rinse and long flowing gowns. She runs around now looking sultry. Her voice is huskier, too. An assistant director even remarked the other day that she had very beautiful — eyes.

Successful Tea Held In St John's School

St. John's Home and School Association held a most delightful tea and sale Saturday afternoon in the school auditorium. The affair was largely attended in spite of inclement weather and was an outstanding success. Mrs. Bernard Holland, president, welcomed the guests. Mrs. L. Lefley attended the treasurer's table.

Mrs. Wm. H. Pushie presided at the tea table, effectively decorated with spring flowers and centred with a silver candelabra holding green and gold tapers, the colors of St. John's School. Hostesses serving the small tables were Mrs. B. Shaugnessy, Mrs. Mrs. Connelly, Mrs. J. Quirk, Mrs. J. Coleman, Mrs. J. J. Shaughnessy, Mrs. F. Livings and Mrs. W. J. Boddison. Plates were replenished by Mrs. A. Goselin and Mrs. S. A. Seabrook.

Mrs. B. Monaghan looked after sales at the candy table. Mrs. W. Prindible and Mrs. T. McGarrity were in charge of home baking.

Mrs. George Maloney, head of the social committee, was general convener of the tea.

Woman Aged 80 Hot Hockey Fan

EDMONTON, April 27 (CP).—An 80-year-old woman is one of Edmonton's most rabid hockey fans—but it was only last year that she saw her first game.

Mrs. A. D. Carmichael was born in Scotland and lived in Sedgewick, Alta., before moving to Edmonton eight years ago. However, she found her time occupied without taking an active interest in sport.

She received her baptism of hockey last year when she was escorted to an Edmonton junior league game. From that moment she was a dyed-in-the-wool fan. Her only difficulty in watching the play was keeping track of the puck.

She remarked once "My, that rubber thing certainly travels very quickly."

Since that eventful game, she witnessed other junior contests and also a pro. all-star event. She is keenly interested in all the players but refuses to commit herself on her opinions of performance.

She favors Turk Broda in the National Hockey League and adds: "That Syl Apps is a good player too."

Mrs. Carmichael had a number of relatives with hockey teams—the Kenora Thistles, Winnipeg Monarchs and Melville Millionaires. Two brothers played for Melville and a son was prominent on the Sedgewick team.

ACUMEN, shrewd insight, bright ideas and clever manipulation of the promising situation could catapult aims and objectives of high consequence. But a quick graps of the importance of a sudden change at this critical juncture, could open "new highs" of constructive and creative ability. Fast thinking and swift changes could bring surprising achevement, although a dash of subtlety, intrique, or secret agreements might serve. But in this, consider all angles.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is have augury of a year of excellent promise for distinctly constructive and progressive accomplishment, with rapid promotion, recognition of talent, skill and "sure fire' thinking, in which superiors are standing by to celebrate, reward, and furnish ways and means for ambitious objectives, even though there be need for swift change of plans, ideas or techniques. An undertone of the secret or subtle in making agreements, might be too dangerous, but pause for reflection before taking any fatal jump. The outcome holds some promise of purely personal involvement or perhaps allure.

A child born on this day has brilliant equipment for notable, distinguished and constructive work, with bright mentality, keen insight as well as hidden powers for success and honors.

Messages of Best Wishes Pour In, Millbrook Woman Attains Century Mark

MILLBROOK, April 27 (ENS). —Looking much younger than her century of living would indicate, Mrs. Eliza Johnston reached her 100th birthday on Sunday with an "At Home" the previous day to allow friends from the village and vicinity an opportunity of extending good wishes and congratulations.

A cablegram from the King and Queen was among the many messages of felicitation received, which included a telegram and note of personal good wishes from Hon. Dr. R. P. Vivian, of Montreal, member for Durham county in the provincial House.

Scores of cards and telegrams from Prince Rupert in the west to points far east in Canada, indicated the wide circle of friends and relatives who hold this wonderful lady in the highest esteem. Flowers, candy and other gifts also marked the birthday occasion.

The Women's Association of St. Andrew's United church sent a basket of lovely snapdragon, and the Ladies' Aid of Grace Presbyterian church made its gift an attractive filled hostess box.

Many Callers

In spite of the heavy rain Saturday there were many callers. Mrs. E. Benson, Peterborough, a cousin, poured tea at the damask-covered hostess table, centred with the handsome three-tiered birthday cake, bearing its quota of 100 tiny white candles.

Mrs. J. Rowland, a daughter of the guest of honor, Mrs. W. Fallis, Miss Vera Fallis, and a granddaughter, Mrs. Howard Brackenbridge, assisted with the service of the guests. In the living-room Miss Agnes Johnston received with her mother. Mrs. Johnston wore a lovely corsage of pink roses.

A placid disposition, and inner spiritual peace were reflected in her face, and these, with the unfailing industry marking her years, probably account for the long and useful life.

On Sunday, the actual birthday date, many relatives from Toronto, Peterborough, and other widely-separated points, were among the guests who paid their tribute of affection and respect to this citizen who, as far as can be learned, is the first at least for many years of village history, to attain the century mark, in such good health, and retention of her faculties.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

IS IT A BLACKWOOD?

NO misunderstanding between bidding partners can do more harm than that concerning the meaning of a 4-No Trump call. If the circumstances are such that the bidder thinks he is using the Blackwood convention when his partner considers it a natural bid—or if he means to be making a natural strength-showing call and his partner thinks it is a Blackwood—only the most extreme luck can save the pair from disaster. It is therefore well for partners to know the convention thoroughly, including its provisions as to when such a call is conventional, or at least to have the same ideas between them as to when they consider it to be such.

'Twas a sad story, mates. After West scored his heart A, South had enough winners to take fifteen tricks, had there been that many to be played. But they earned his side not a solitary point, whereas accurate bidding would have brought his side a nice score for the easiest small slam you ever saw.

All the trouble was caused by South's believing his 4-No Trumps constituted a Blackwood ace-asking bid, and that North's answer of 5-No Trumps indicated possession of all four aces. He told North so, and tried to fix the blame on the latter for his own call of the grand slam, which would have been easy if North had all of those aces.

"My 5-No Trumps was not meant as an answer to the Blackwood at all," said North. "We had not previously shown a suit fit or guaranteed one by a jump in some suit. So your 4-No Trumps sounded to me just a bit stronger than 3-No Trumps would. I thought you wanted to make a mild slam invitation, which I was unable to accept outright. When I bid just 5-No Trumps instead of small slam, I meant to put it up to you whether to pass or bid the small slam."

So when is a Blackwood not a Blackwood? Good idea for you and your partner to know.

Clips Hydro Pole

A hydro pole at the corner of Gordon Ave. and Hopkins Ave. was hit and bent over when it was struck by a car which police say was driven by Mrs. Florence Hall, 437 Downie St. The incident happened about 11 o'clock Saturday night.

Rambling Reporter

STRANGE ENCOUNTER

A man was meandering home about three o'clock the other morning, ambling leisurely along George St. At the corner of King and George, a member of the pole-cat tribe joined the nocturnal stroller. It was a well-fed, sleek-looking skunk, appearing a bit out of place at that location. Although not an unsocial sort of fellow, the man felt that he should draw the line of his associates somewhere. He made a complete circuit, crossing the street to avoid the company of the striped pussy. Each continued their separate ways.—RB.

Kingston Sanatorium Built In Three Years

HAMILTON, April 27 (CP). — Dr. C. C. Brink, Director of the Tuberculosis Division of the Ontario Health Officers' Association, said today he had "every reason to believe there will be a sanatorium in Kingston in the next two or three years."

In reply to a question at the 32nd annual conference of the organization, Dr. Brink said a trust fund of $100,000 was established in 1944 in connection with the Government's offer to build a sanatorium at Kingston, and that offer "still stands."

Dr. Gordon Brown, Ontario Department of Health, reported that the venereal disease rate in Ontario had been reduced by one-third during 1947 from the 1946 level.

Young Amnesia Victim Found Near Highway

BRANTFORD, April 27.—(CP). —An unidentified young woman, believed to be suffering from amnesia, was found lying in a semi-conscious condition beside No. 24 highway near the outskirts of Mount Pleasant village early today.

Provincial police said that the woman was found by Deputy Reeve Charles G. Gurney, returning from a night meeting of Brantford township council. No marks of violence were found, Provincial Constable Welsh said.

Constable Welsh described the woman as "in her 20's" and about five feet, four inches tall, dark hair, wearing a dark brown coat and had with her a black plastic purse.

No money was found in her hang-bag, but two CNR baggage checks were found. The baggage had arrived from Windsor last night and was still at the station here. The baggage consisted of two cardboard cartons in which was included two books, one bearing a Lasalle, Ont., address.

Whittington's action was dismissed in Supreme Court here last February on the grounds it was not started within the limitation period in the Municipal Act. Basis of the action was the claim that bad roads caused the fatality in August, 1946.

Nazi Saboteurs Freed From Jail

WASHINGTON, April 27 (AP) —Ernest Burger and George Dasch, convicted Nazi saboteurs who landed from submarines on the eastern United States coast in June, 1942, have been freed from prison and allowed to return to Germany.

The White House said today that President Truman approved a Justice Department recommendation for clemency for the two men. They were taken to Germany under army custody and will be permitted to live in the American occupation zone under conditions imposed by the commanding General.

Burger and Dasch were among eight men rounded up by the Federal Bureau of Investigation as saboteurs put ashore from subs with instructions to cripple American war industries.

They were tried by a military commission and all were convicted. Six were executed.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS

By The Canadian Press

Arthur Chipman, president of Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Inter-Provincial Football Union, said at Winnipeg yesterday that it was definitely settled that Toronto Beaches-Indians would travel west for three exhibition games the last week of August. The powerful Toronto aggregation, a combination of last year's Balmy Beaches and Indians, will play single games at Winnipeg, Regina and Calgary.

Dates probably will be released Wednesday when he expected to hear from the Dominion champion Toronto Argonauts, also contemplating three exhibition games in the west around the latter part of August, Chipman said.

Ken Thom, 26, ousted defending champion Gerlad Micklem yesterday in the first round of the English native amateur golf championship. Thom, runner-up two years ago, took the lead on the eighth hole and routed the champion 4 and 3. Micklem played on the British Walker Cup team last year against the United States.

Stassen Boom May Falter Experts Say

By CLYDE BLACKBURN

WASHINGTON, April 27—(CP)—State party conventions this week and next may give a fairly clear indication of the man President Truman will have to beat if he retains the presidency in next November's elections.

At the moment, judging from popularity polls and results of state primaries and conventions choosing delegates for the Republican nomination convention in June, Harold Stassen holds the most promising position.

But there is a long way to go and some veteran observers here claim that the Stassen boom cannot last—that it will go down under the weight of the organization for Governor Thomas Dewey of New York.

The next fortnight may also decide whether or not Truman will be the candidate for the Democratic party. He has already announced that he is willing and ready to be.

But there were strong rumors today that the Democratic party, at least some influential parts of it, will try to induce the President to adopt a neutral position and let the party nominate anyone it choose.

Conventions to choose delegates to the national conventions will be held Tuesday in Pennsylvania and Massachusetts. Both parties are having conventions in Pennsylvania.

The big test for Stassen comes May 4 when he contests the Ohio State Republican primary with Senator Robert Taft of that state. They are both on the hustings here and Stassen is trying to elect a slate of 23 of the 53 delegates Ohio will send to Philadelphia in June.

Stassen's next test will come in Oregon May 21 when he will battle Dewey for the 12 Republican delegates from that state.

King, Queen Find Strength In Close Family Ties

By NORMAN CRIBBENS.

LONDON, April 27 — (CP) — When Queen Elizabeth allows her deep interest in people to delay a Royal tour the King often shows signs of masculine impatience, glancing sharply at his watch.

At such times the Queen will cut short a conversation — perhaps with a housewife or factory worker — hurry over to the King and with a disarming smile inquire: "Are we a little behind time, dear?"

The King nods and smiles and the party moves off. But however far behind schedule they may be, Their Majesties never make up time by cutting an arranged call or visit. They are more likely to cut the scant rest periods allowed them in their program.

The King and Queen "are human beings, not fairy-book characters," says Louis Wulff in his third book on the Royal Family. The profusely-illustrated book, entitled "Silver Wedding," is being published in Britain to synchronize with the 25th wedding anniversary of the King and Queen to-day.

Wulff, court reporter for the Press Association at Buckingham Palace during the last three reigns, says that the King and Queen "do not see eye to eye over everything." But he adds that men and women who have been in their service since they were crowned in 1937 cannot recall a single major disagreement between them.

Colorful History

The colorful history of their married life dates from a cold April morning in 1923 when the young Duke and Duchess of York known to each other as "Bertie and Elizabeth," left Westminster Abbey for their drive to Buckingham Palace.

Adheres to Ideal

Archbishop Cosmo Gordon Lang, then Archbishop of Canterbury, had told them: "You cannot resolve that your wedded life shall be happy, but you can and will resolve that it should be noble . . . . a blessing not only to yourselves but to others."

Throughout their 25 years together, the King and Queen have adhered to that resolution.

Though by inclination an outdoor man, the King has given up since he came to the throne in 1936 tennis, golf, and even gardening, formerly one of his favorite hobbies, because affairs of state preceded them.

Britain's King no longer commands the allegiance of his subjects by leading them, sword in hand, into battle, but earns their adherence by example. And, says Wulff, "to set an example to a family-loving nation is a well-nigh impossible task for a sovereign without a family.

"One of the King's greatest strengths lies in the fact that he is above all things a family man."

Buried In Cave-In

LONDON, Ont., April 27—(CP)—John Welch, 58, was injured fatally at noon today when he was buried under hundreds of tons of earth in a sewer cave-in at a housing sub-division project in London township. Welch, one of a crew working for a private contractor, was released in about 15 minutes but efforts of a fire department inhalator squad to revive him failed.

Liberal Party Will Remain Fighting Force

By JAMES McCOOK

LONDON, April 27 — (CP) — The once-great Liberal party, with only 11 members in the House of Commons and a poor record in recent by-elections, will remain a fighting political force, despite disappointments.

The party's national convention concluded Saturday, decided to continue the attempt to displace the dominant Labor and Conservative parties now in public favor.

This sober resolution was passed:

"The delegates, being under no illusion as to the grave difficulties that face the irpart y, express their unshaken confidence in its future and urge that their Liberal colleagues join them in much greater efforts to increase membership, raise finance and improve organization."

A financial report illustrated the party's problem. Expenditures were running ahead of income. Two years ago drive started to raise £125,000 ($500,000) in five years. Thus far the total gathered is £70,000.

Faithful Supporters

Political circles said that the delegates were counted among the most faithful of the Liberals, those not affected by the propaganda of the Labor and Conservative organizations. The senior parties appeal to Left and Right Wing Liberals with the argument that it is useless to vote Liberal and that they might as well support Labor or Conservative candidates who have a chance of being members of the next administration.

As in past conventions, Clement Davies, afluent Welshman, who is party leader and chief spokesman in the House of Commons, asked the Liberals to face the facts and fight hard

Davies said party supporters must realize that there was no truth in statements that Britain never was more Liberal than at present and that "the battle for freedom has been won and we are all Liberals today."

"We Liberals have been too long on the defensive," he said "It is time we took the offensive."

Disabled Vets Succeed

VANCOUVER —(CP)— More than half of the 3,863 British Columbia veterans of the Second World War with over 25 per cent disability now are self-supporting reports the department of veterans' affairs. George S. Mahon supervisor of casualty rehabilitation here, believes successful careers are possible for at least 95 per cent.

Arab Legion Occupies Jericho City

Troops Take Positions On Abdullah's Orders; New Invasion Jitters

JERUSALEM, April 28— (AP) —King Abdulah of Trans-Jordan said to-day his Arab Legionnaires have occupied Jericho, in Palestine.

He told the Associated Press in his capital at Amman that the force which occupied Jericho, less than 20 miles north-east of Jerusalem, was made up of "scout troops which always precede the regular army."

His statement was a contradiction of denials by the British Army, which said yesterday that members of the British-trained Arab Legion in Jericho consisted of one company under British Army orders assigned to secure the Allenby Bridge.

Abdullah earlier announced he personally had taken command of Trans-Jordan Syrian, Iraqui, and Lebanese troops planning an early invasion of Palestine to fight Zionism.

He said to-day he had recalled to active service all retired Legion officers.

Yesterday he conferred at some length with 100 leaders of Trans-Jordan Arab tribes and reported he was assured by them: "We are at war with the Jews." Abdullah said he gratefully accepted their support and sent them back to their tribes "to prepare for war."

Invasion Jitters

Abdulah's announcement concerning Jericho added to the invasion's jitters already gripping Palestine.

Tension was heightened by rumors from the north that Lebanese and Syrian armies are moving towards Palestine.

British officials acted to quiet the alarm fast spreading among both Jewish and Arab leaders to Palestine. One official said the British authorities had heard of no declaration of war "and consider any such declaration extremely unlikely."

An invasion of Palestine before the British mandate expires May 15 could be considered an act of war. Britain has promised to resist any Arab "incursions" made before then.

Rescue Near For 25 Sealers Trapped On Ice

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., April 28 — (CP)—The 55-year-old sealing vessel Eagle was on the greatest mission of her career today as she smashed her way through grinding ice floes to the rescue of 25 men whose ship was splintered in the Strait of Belle Isle yesterday.

The 25 hunters of the Newfoundland sealer Norman Conrad abandoned ship when ice floes dealt a mortal blow to their 150-ton vessel and rafted it out of the water 25 miles southwest of Battle Harbor, Labrador.

If the ice parted again beneath the Conrad, it would go down in a few minutes.

The men, meanwhile, are huddled on an ice pan. Meagre report reaching here were that the Eagle was close at hand but it could not be learned as yet whether she had the men. She had been expected to arrive at the stricken vessel before dawn.

The Conrad crew salvaged the ship's radio equipment and lifeboats before they leaped over the side to the ice.

They were able to establish radio contact with another sealer, the Wimoda, which apparently was lodged in the ice some miles from the Conrad. The Wimoda relayed messages to the Eagle which was pushing through open water.

The Conrad had 1,300 skins aboard when she was rafted by the ice jam. Continued calm weather might make it possible for the Eagle to salvage the pelts as well as rescue the hunters.

British Troops In Action Against 2,000 Irgun Men

JERUSALEM, April 28—(Reuters). — British troops went into action against 2,000 Irgun terrorists today after the Jews had ignored the British warning to halt their assault on Arab Jaffa.

(A Tel Aviv Associated Press dispatch said Irgun Zvai Leumi announced it has captured the entire Manshein quarter of the port which adjoins the southern part of Jewish Tel Aviv.)

Some Jews claimed that the town had surrendered under their three-day onslaught.

Only a few nours earlier the district high commissioner, named Fuller, was reported to have told the Mayor of Tel Aviv, Israel Rokach, that Britain's forces now would allow Jewish troops to occupy Jaffa.

The British attack was carried out by army units stationed along the Tel Aviv-Jaffa no man's land, it was officially stated.

Shells thumped and whined all morning in the southern district of all-Jewish Tel Aviv and Jews were digging trenches and leaving the upper floors of apartment blocks to take cover in the cellars.

Earlier the rattle of machine-gun fire and crump of mortar shells resounded from Jaffa while truckloads of excited Irgun men drove at noon through the Jewish town of Tel Aviv shouting "Jaffa has surrendered."

The Jewish fighting group made the announcement with loud-speaker trucks as the battle for Jaffa flared toward a climax. Hagana threw its forces into the fight side by side with Irgun in attacks on four key suburbs of the Arab city.

Hagana, which at first had declared the Irgun attacks on Jaffa unauthorized, came to an agreement with Irgun commanders yesterday on co-ordination of military operations and threw regulars into assaults on four villages, ringing the southeast perimeter of Jaffa.

Freezes In House Had $50,000 Fortune

ANN ARBOR, Mich., April 28—(CP).—Washtenaw County authorities today closed the books on the strange case of a 76-year-old woman who froze to death last winter because she refused to spend any of her $50,000 fortune for coal.

The estate will be divided among her three sons. She left no will.

Officers found her lying in the kitchen, surrounded by charred bits of paper and burned matches, indicating she had made a last frantic effort to heat the room.

Court investigators found $13,000 in stocks and bonds, several valuable diamond and emerald rings, property deeds value at $15,000, and a $4,227 balance in a Detroit bank.

Blames Woman In Bank Holdup

SAULT STE. MARIE, April 28 — (CP). — "If I get my hands on her I'll tear both her eyes out," was the hysterical threat hurled by Mrs. Gladys Greschuk in Magistrate's Court here today.

Mrs. Greschuk, whose son Edward, 23, is jointly charged with Mrs. Marge McLean in connecnection with the $8,000 April 22 bank holdup here, cried out against the woman whom she charged with destroying "my home."

Magistrate James McEwen today granted a remand to May 6 in the armed robbery charges against the office clerk who was captured a few hours after the Royal Bank of Canada branch at Steelton was held up.

Mrs. McLean is accused of being Greschuk's accomplice. The blonde woman is alleged to have driven the getaway car.

Mrs. Greschuk was seated near Mrs. McLean during the hearing today. After her outburst, police moved her to the far side of the courtroom.

Belgium Outlines Details Of Dollar Pool Proposal

BRUSSELS, April 28 (Reuters) —Belgium gave details of a plan for a dollar pool fed by the Western Union Nations as the finance ministers of the five powers held their first meeting here today.

Sir Stafford Cripps, representing Britain, refused to make any statement at the end of the first session. The ministers were expected to meet again this afternoon and to issue a communique afterwards.

The Belgian plan called for convertbility of British, French, Belgian, Dutch, and Luxembourg currencies, and, as an alternative to the dollar pool, a five-power pool fed from proceeds of western union trade with countries outside the financial bloc

It was believed that the five powers would make a joint approach to the United States on their Marshall aid needs.

The talks were expected to cover all economic questions affecting the five countries.

The finance ministers have before them a purely financial program clearly divided into three parts:

1. A long-term joint financial policy to be adopted by the five powers after the running out of the Marshall Plan.

2. A medium-term policy to be followed throughout the duration of the Marshall Plan.

3. A short-term policy dealing with the urgent immediate problem of payment in order to tide over the two to three months until the Marshall Plan becomes effective.

150,000 Men To Walk Out Union Says

Truman Is Silent On Intervention; Fear New Paralysis

CHICAGO, April 28 — (AP). — May 11 was set today for a country-wide railroad strike.

The date for the start of the walkout of 150,000 union members was made public in Cleveland while union spokesmen were preparing a formal announcement of the date in Chicago.

The strike will start at 6 a.m. on May 11, the Cleveland sources said.

The strike would paralyze the rail transportation system of the United States by pulling locomotive engineers, firemen and enginemen and switchmen off the jobs. Two years ago a strike cut off rail service in the United States for two days until President Truman intervened.

What legal steps might be undertaken to head off the crippling walkout remained a question. The wage dispute between the unions and the country's class one railroads has passed through all steps of machinery set up under the National Railway Labor Act.

Railroad worker are excluded from coverage by the Taft-Hartley labor law. Hence the government cannot ask for an anti-strike injunction as it did recently against John L. Lewis' coal miners.

There was no immediate word from the White House whether Truman might step into the dispute as he did in May, 1946.

Hopes of averting the strike, which would paralyze the country's railroad system, faded last night. Union and rail officials, who have been meeting for the last two weeks in efforts to settle their six-months-old wage dispute, broke up their meeting shortly before midnight.

Midnight Deadline

Midnight was the deadline set by the unions for settling a strike date if an agreement had not been reached. The unions and carriers have exhausted all remedies provided in the Railway Labor Act for avoiding a walkout.

In Cleveland, David B. Robertson, president of the Firemen, said that once the strike date is set there is no reason why negotiations should not continue. However, there was no indication that further wage talks were planned.

Yesterday was the end of a 30-day cooling off period following a report by a presidential fact-finding board. The unions had repected the board's recommendation of a wage increase of 15½ cents an hour. The carriers, which estimated the pay boosts would add $80,000,00 a year to their added costs, accepted the report.

Craig Describes Stabbing Buddy

WINDSOR, April 28 —(CP)— Tears streaming down his face Robert Craig, 37 described in Supreme Court today how he stabbed to death William Franklin Solomon, 32, an army "buddy."

Charged with the murder of Solomon, Craig said he had killed him Feb. 23 with a German commando knife.

Craig said that he and Solomon had been drinking heavily that night. The stabbing occurred accidentally when the pair were scuffling as he was trying to induce Solomon to get a taxi cab and take his wife home, he said.

The accused brushed away tears as he recalled that had met Solomon in England campaigned with him in Italy, and how they came back on the same boat. Solomon and he visited each other frequently since their return, he said, and there had never been any trouble between them.

Arrest Four Goats

LINDSAY, April 28 (ENS). —Police are accustomed to picking up many types of vagrants, but its not every day (or night) that four goats are found wandering on Kent Street. Constable John Hunter ran across the vagrant nannies while making his rounds at 3 o'clock this morning. He herded them to the police office, and they are at present languishing in the basement of the Town Hall. Police point out that should no one claim the goats they would always come in handy for providing milk to undernourished prisoners.

Labor Party Expels MP Over Telegram

LONDON, April 28 (Reuters)— The Labor Party tonight expelled John Platts-Mills, a Left-wing member of the House of Commons who is alleged to have been one of the instigators of a good-wishes telegram to Pietro Nenni, leader of the Italian Socialists supporting the Communists in the Italian general election.

Platts-Mills represents the London borough of Finsbury in the House.

The Labor party executive warned 21 other parliamentary members who figured in the "Nenni incident" that they must by May 6 promise to follow party policy or they will be expelled.

Between 30 and 40 members sent the telegram. The warning applies to those who have neither repudiated nor withdrawn their backing for it.

Mrs. Allen, who suffered bruises to her throat where she was held by one of the men, said her glasses were broken and her night clothing torn from her body. The men took $16 from her purse and all the food from her icebox.

She told police she received a telephone call a week ago from a person who threatened her husband for signing Canadian Lake Seamen's Union members.

Britain Firmly Refuses To Continue In Control Of Palestine

Bevin Refuses To Tell House If Continuing To Arm Arab Legion; Conservatives Challenge Govt. Leadership

LONDON, April 28—(CP).—Britain emphatically reaffirmed today her determination to withdraw officially from Palestine by May 15. Foreign Secretary Bevin made the reaffirmation in a short blunt statement to the House of Commons. He recalled that last Oct. 16 Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones had told the General Assembly of the United Nations that, under certain conditions, Britain would be prepared to continue the administration of Palestine until independence was achieved if the Jews and the Arabs settled their differences.

"But there has been no agreement between the Jews and the Arabs," Bevin said. "And, moreover, withdrawal of British administrative personnel has begun and is proceeding rapidly and we cannot reverse the process at this late hour."

Bevin refused to say whether Britain will continue to finance, arm and officer the Trans-Jordan Arab Legion after surrendering the Palestine mandate.

No Promises

(Under a barrage of questions from the House, dealing primarily with King Abdullah's Trans-Jordan fighting force, Bevin said:

"I am not going to be drawn into promises and commitments about the Trans-Jordanian force until I know the final decision of the United Nations (on Palestine)."

Conservative Members of Parliament challenged the Labor government's leadership in a motion of censure criticizing its conduct of affairs in Palestine.

A censure moion, if passed by the House of Commons, can precipitate a general election in Britain, but it is unlikely that the House will pass the Opposition's proposal.

Britain signed a treaty with Trans-Jordan in March agreeing to continue British subsidy of the Arab Legion, which has been used in Palestine for border patrol work.

Questioners attempted to pin Bevin down on what the effect on the treaty would be if King Abdullah uses the Legion against Palestine Jews. The members tried to learn what Britain's policy in general will be on the sale of arms to Arab states.

No Suspension

A member asked whether Bevin would suspend further deliveries of such arms for a period "in view of publicly announced intention of these states" (to invade Palestine).

"No, sir," Bevin replied.

Bevin said the Arab states buying arms from Britain are under obligation to standardize their weapons with those of British forces.

"We must naturally expect that when they place contracts in this country we shall carry them out as speedily as is technically possible," the Foreign Secretary said.

Will Britain allow the Jews to "have arms with which to defend themselves,' Laborite Seymour Cocks demanded.

Bevin replied:

"From my information of Palestine at the moment, it seems

Soviet Press Claims War Not Threatening

BERLIN, April 28 — (CP). — "There will be no war," the Soviet-controlled press in Berlin said today, but "there will be a political reckoning with those who chose Berlin as a fighting place for their political adventures."

The reference to political reckoning was one of a number of vague threats made in Soviet-licensed papers against the western powers, and the United States in particular.

Taegliche Rundschau, Soviet military government newspaper, devoted nearly half its front page to a new attack against the west. It charged wholesale arrests of political minorities and widespread attacks by American soldiers against Berlin Germans.

The latest Soviet blasts were touched off by the flight of Hans Kanig, chief of Berlin's uniformed police, into the city's western sectors. Kanig charged the Russians threatened to arrest him for disciplining a German policeman who he said had lured a German citizen into the Russian zone for kidnapping. He further charged the Communists with being responsible for a wave of kidnapping in Berlin.

Meanwhile the meeting of deputy commandants of the allied kommandatura (city government) was discussing a proposal by Col. Alexis Yelisarov, Soviet deputy commandant that its meetings should be fixed from week to week, instead of a month ahead.

When he made the proposal last week, the British, American and French deputies all objected.

Agriculture Appropriations Reduced For 1948, Sharply Criticized By MP's

Charge Government Policies Discouraging Food Production On Farms; Urge Lifting Of Ban On Cattle Shipments

OTTAWA, April 28—(CP).—Problems confronting Canadian agriculture were aired yesterday in the Commons. Opposition members charged that Government policies are discouraging food production and preventing farmers from obtaining a fair share of the national income. Agriculture Minister Gardiner replied that farmers were at least a "little better" off than they had ever been before. He agreed, however, that they are not as well off financially as he would like to see them.

The debate developed as members began their annual study of estimated expenditures for the Agriculture Department. The 1948-49 estimates were set at $41,810,662, compared with $63,173,153 in 1947-48. Mr. Gardiner said the estimates for the current year would be boosted by another $16,000,000 as a result of the Government's recent decision to continue freight assistance on Western feed grain movements until July 31, 1949.

J. A. Ross (PC-Souris) speaking before Mr. Gardiner disclosed his year's estimates would be increased, said the drop in agriculture expenditures is too great in view of the large surplus expected by the government.

Wants Embargo

He urged the lifting of the embargo on cattle shipments to the United States. Cattlemen were afraid they would be unable to regain that market if the prohibition remained in effect too long.

Percy Wright (CCF-Melfort) charged that the government policies have wiped out hog production in western Canada where it is more economical than elsewhere in Canada. This was because of the practice of subsidizing shipments of feed grains from western to eastern Canada.

If the subsidized grain was to be used to feed dairy cattle in eastern Canada, the policy was a good one. But if it meant that hogs were to be produced in the east, the policy should be abandoned.

Mr. Gardiner said that any difference between this year's expenditures and last year's could be traced to removal of wartime subsidies, such as those on feed grains.

He said the policy of paying freight charges on feed grains moving from the prairies to eastern Canada and to the Pacific was a good one. Ordinarily, the west grew more feed grain than it could ever use. At the moment, the demand was abnormal.

Set $2,500 Bail For 35 In CSU

WELLAND, April 28. — (CP). —In a quiet but tense atmosphere Great Lakes seamen today awaited a court trial expected to mark the next phase in a union jurisdictional dispute.

The trial will be held Friday at nearby Thorold, perhaps in the town hall because the court room is too small to accommodate a large crowd. Thirty-five Canadian Seamen's Union members and a free lance photographer stand accused of trespassing on the Canada Steamship Lines collier Glenelg.

Bail was set yesterday at $2,500 each for the men, who also are accused of intimidation, unlawful boarding of a ship, obstructing machinery and the crew, assault causing bodily harm to officers and crew, mischief causing more than $20,000 damage, besetting and conspiracy to commit the indictable offence of besetting.

The bail amounts to $175,000 altogether and George H. Bates of Niagara Falls, lawyer for the men, said last night he would try Friday to have it reduced. C.S.U. President Harry Davis said in Toronto he considered the amount excessive.

The charges stem from an incident in the Welland canal last Thursday when the C.S.U. men swarmed aboard the Glenelg and fought the rival Canadian Lake Seamen's Union crew.

that the Jews have the best arms."

Bevin was asked under what circumstances the government was prepared to carry on or take part in the administration of Palestine after May 15.

"Withdrawal of British administrative personnel has begun and is proceeding rapidly and we cannot reverse the process at this late hour," he answered.

The censure motion was introduced by Lord Hinchingbrooke. The back benchers could call for a debate on it, but under the Commons rules could not force a vote on the issue without the endorsement of the Conservative Party's leaders.

There is no immediate indication they will reverse the field by criticizing Foreign Secretary Bevin who has been the guiding hand behind the British police in Palestine and has had Conservative support on most issues in the past.

Arab Legion

Palestine Arab leaders would have little cause to rejoice over invasion. Such an act might upset the delicate balance by which they hold political control over the Holy Land's 1,250,000 Arabs.

The invasion fear swept the Holy Land after reports reached here that Egypt, Trans-Jordan, Lebanon and Syria had decided to send troops into Palestine before the week ends.

An Arab report that Egyptian armored troops crossed the southern frontier of Palestine early yesterday was denied by Egyptian officials in Cairo.

Sources close to the Egyptian Army however, maintain that an invasion had occurred, with the troops involved probably going as volunteers.

Senate Takes Third Vote To Lift Ban On Margarine

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP)—The stage is set today for the Senate's third vote in three years on a bill to lift the ban on oleomargarine.

The division was forecast yesterday by Senator C. B. Howard (L—Quebec), government whip. He said it was hoped the contentious issue would be put to a vote today after speeches by Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader, and Senator W. D. Euler (L—Ontario), sponsor of the bill.

It is Senator Euler's third bid to amend the dairy industry act to permit importation, manufacture and sale of the butter substitute. The same measure was defeated 43 to 30 in 1946 and 38 to 22 in 1947.

An identical public bill, sponsored by James Sinclair (L—Vancouver North) is before the Commons.

In yesterday's Senate debate, Senators G. P. Campbell (L—Ontario) and A. K. Hugessen (L—Quebec) urged passage of the Euler bill. Senator J. J. Kinley (L—Nova Scotia) opposed it.

Senator Campbell called the ban undemocratic and unconstitutional. It was a federal statute infringing on provincial rights under the British North America Act. To reject the bill would be to favor a "particular class" over the mass of the people.

Senator Hugessen said he will support the bill because, in Montreal, for instance, "a very large number of thousands" of poor families were unable to afford butter. He believed in fairness to the farmer but not at the expense of the poor.

Government Has Survived Freight-Rate Crisis Vote

OTTAWA, April 28—(CP).—The Government has survived the freight-rate crisis. For the second time within a week, it was upheld yesterday by a majority of the Commons. Members voted 110 to [illegible] against motion of non-confidence, moved by the CCF when the Government declined to delay application of a 21-per-cent. increase in freight rates.

Only last Thursday, members turned down a similar non-confidence motion of the Progressive Conservatives by a vote of 110 to 89.

Although the question may be raised again, it is not expected to threaten the political life of the Government.

Still to come is a government announcement on representations by western and maritime provinces against the increase. Premiers of the seven provinces asked the cabinet Monday to set up a Royal Commission to look into the freight-rate structure. They also asked that the increase, authorized by the Board of Transport Commissioners, be withdrawn until the Commission had made its report.

Yesterday all Liberal members voted against the C.C.F. motion. In the earlier vote, George Cruickshank (L—Fraser Valley) was the only one in government benches to support the Progressive Conservative motion.

Besides the support of its own members in the vote against the C.C.F. the government also drew strength from independents and from one Progressive Conservative — C. W. Hodgson (PC-Victoria, Ont.).

Returning Officers Named In 90 Areas

TORONTO, April 28 —(CP)— The 22nd Ontario Legislature was dissolved yesterday by order-in-council.

Announcing the dissolution, which paves the way for election of a new provincial parliament next June 7 Premier Drew said returning officers have been appointed in all 90 constituencies. Election writs will be sent to them at once.

The writs call for official nominations to be held May 31, seven full days before the voting.

Voters lists are prepared in all cities, in towns of more than 10,000 population and in townships adjoining municipalities of more than 100,000 population. In all other centres, municipal lists are used.

Tom Breneman Dies Suddenly

HOLLYWOOD, April 28 (A. —Tom Breneman, who turned odd hats and orchids for old ladies into a top-flight radio program, dropped dead of a heart attack today. He was 47 years old.

He had just finished breakfast, and was preparing to leave for the studio for his early morning broadcast, said his wife, former stage actress Billie Dunn. She said she heard a thud, and found him lying on the floor of his bedroom.

Breneman only recently returned to the air after a month's vacation at Palm Springs, ordered by his doctor because of a slight heart condition.

Breneman, prematurely gray, was a particularly favorite of elderly ladies, who made "Breakfast in Hollywood" a favorite stopping place whenever they came to Hollywood. The program was sold out for weeks in advance.

One of the features of his broadcast was presentation of an orchid to the oldest feminine member of the audience. He had a chatty, home-town approach which in nine years had built the program to top-rating among audience participation shows. Matrons, young and old alike, enjoyed being kidded about their hats.

NOBODY HOME?

A man charged with a minor offence has a new excuse. A resident of the northern part of the county, he told police that he had made a special trip to the city to pay his fine. When he reached the police station, he said with disappointment, the door was locked. So, he went home. The tale rather stumped the department—the door of the station has not been locked for more than a quarter of a century.—RB.

THE WASTE OF WAR

A simple, lonely little object lay in the gutter at the corner of Water and Hunter Sts. on Tuesday. To the practical, it would possibly arouse memories of the personal past (maybe the present, too.) To the true philosopher, it would start an intriguing chain of thought—contemplation of the why and wherefore of its location. It was a plain wooden rolling pin, with one handle missing.—RB.

Faked Stamps Artist Jailed For Year

PARIS, April 28. (Reuters) — Estes de Sperati, self-styled "Art Philatelist", today was sentenced to one year's imprisonment and a fine of 10,000 francs (about $44) for swindling collectors with fake stamps.

His wife, Marie de Sperati, and his sister-in-law, Anna Corne, both convicted of simplicity, each were sentenced to four months' imprisonment with a stay of execution and a fine of 1,000 francs.

The Paris Stamp Dealers' Association, a civil party to the proceedings, obtained 300,000 francs damages and an order that the court's judgment be printed in 10 newspapers of the association's choice.

Sperati's stamps, well known to philatelists as "fake Speratis" have found their way into collections for some 50 years. Experts have admitted themselves unable to tell the difference between a "fake Sperati" and a genuine rare stamp.

The "artist" was sued on the grounds that he made profit from his stamps. It was alleged that although he signed them he did not do so in indelible ink, so that the buyer of a "fake Sperati" could erase the signature and sell it as genuine.

Sperati argued that there was a world market for his art and he had just as much right to make sham stamps as others to make sham furniture or copies of well-known pictures.

His lawyers contended he could have made millions, but was still a poor man.

Cobourg Studies Pension Plan

COBOURG, April 28.—Cobourg council Tuesday night adopted proposals for a pension plan for all town employees and a revision of the old building code until a new code is established.

Councillor Fred Bell, sponsor last year of a resolution to set up a pension plan, gave notice that he would bring in a resolution at the next meeting covering a pension plan. To make the pension coverage retroactive it would cost about $8,000 to $9,000 and future cost would be about $800 a year.

Councillor Bell also unearthed an old by-law on which building permits are issued and pointed out that with a revision as to the authority to grant permits, it could apply at the present time.

Mayor Joe Smith said that the new building code could not be ready before September and a stop gap to forestall undesirable types of buildings should be provided. On motion of Councillor Bell the old by-law will be amended to make it applicable to present conditions pending a new building by-law.

One Worker Drowns But Diver Saves Self

MONTREAL, April 28—(CP)—One man presumably drowned and a diver managed to free himself and reach safety when high winds and waves set a raft adrift off the eastern end of Montreal Island yesterday.

Frank Daoust, 38, was pumping air to his brother, Leo, working below the surface on Caissons to strengthen piers of a railway bridge crossing Des Prairies River. Cables holding the raft parted and Frank was swept into the current.

The diver, realizing something had gone wrong, struggled free of his heavy under-water equipment and reached safety.

Miss Vera McKinley Funeral Tuesday

Funeral service for the victim of Saturday morning's traffic accident, Vera McKiley, 27, was held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the Belleghem Funeral Home. The Rev. E. J. Whan of Park Street Baptist Church officiated and pall bearers in attendance were Kenneth, Delmer, Calvert and Bruce McConnel, Jack Edwards and John Nurse. Burial was at Little Lake Cemetery.

A great many out-of-town friends as well as a large represenation of fellow employees from the CGE were present at the ceremony and there were a great many floral tributes.

Miss McKinley was born in Peterborough, daughter of Robert McKinley and Julia Maude Sheriff of Keene. She had resided all her life in the city and was an employee of the CGE.

Stassen Clings To Lead In Pennsylvania

PHILADELPHIA, April 28. — Harold E. Stassen clung today to a slim but surprising lead in returns from Pennsylvania's "popularity contest" for Republican presidential candidates.

Reports from 6,025 precincts of 8,262 in the state gave the former Minnesota governor 60,806 write-in votes.

New York's Governor Thomas E. Dewey, beaten by Stassen recently in Wisconsin and Nebraska but reckoned a formidable contender in Pennsylvania, was in second place with 55,233.

Tabulation of returns from yesterday's election showed the state's "favorite son", Senator Edward Martin, in third place with 35,633.

Gen. MacArthur furnished another mild surprise by forging into fourth place 11,717 to 11,307 for Senator Robert Taft. Senator Arthur Vandenberg had 6,432 and Gen. Eisenhower 3,661.

Democratic party voters, who found President Truman's the only name on the ballot, cast 187,650 votes for him in 5,893 precincts. Eisenhower got 3,206 write-in votes.

The third party candidate Henry A. Wallace received 1,995 write-in votes on Democratic ballots, and 912 from Republican electors. His party did not participate in the primary.

Protests Bail Set Too High

TORONTO, April 28. (CP) — Harry Davis, president of the Canadian Seamen's Union, today described as "vicious and discriminatory" $175,000 property bail demanded for the release of 35 members of the union charged with trespassing and intimidation. The charges arise from the action of the seamen in boarding the Canada Steamship Lines freighter Glenelg in the Welland Canal last Thursday.

In a telegram to Attorney-General Blackwell of Ontario, Mr. Davis said the bail was higher than that set for "notorious gangsters." He asked that bail be reduced to not more than $100 for each of the men.

A rented automobile, said to be driven by Michael Jackson, CSU organizer, was found here last night. Jackson, however, and other union members, sought since the trouble at Thorold when CSU members fought with members of the rival Canadian Lake Seamen's Union, were not in the automobile. Police said the driver of the car told them Jackson and the others would give themselves up at Welland today.

The Appeal For Children

We learn that the Canadian Appeal for Children is still short of its objective, and we cannot say that we are surprised. For some reason which has never been made plain this campaign has been conducted on unusually subdued and muted lines, and only people who felt strongly enough on the subject to go to some trouble about it have contributed to the fund. Large, popular appeals should not make the banks the only places where contributions may be accepted; there are hundreds of people who would like to give a dollar, or less, to such an appeal, but they feel that they cannot go into a bank with a contribution so small, without losing face. Provision must always be made for small givers when funds are sought for worthy charitable causes.

• • •

It is still possible to give to the Canadian Appeal for Children; contributions will be received until the end of this month. We earnestly commend this fund to the attention of those among our readers who have not already given. The need of the children of Europe is very great, and those of us who are able to give our own children every necessity of food, clothing, shelter and medical care have a duty to assist the hundreds of thousands of children who are starving, threadbare, homeless and unprotected against the ravages of disease and malnutrition. Only a very small group among the people of Canada have ever known what it is to be hungry, without having food to satisfy that hunger; we cannot turn a deaf ear to the appeal of these children who have no hope, save that which we give them, and who, having lost their natural protectors, have every claim upon our mercy and kindness.

Figures That Stultify Thinking

It is not true that ordinary people have become accustomed to thinking in terms of large numbers. Only specialists can really think in that way about the distance of the earth from the sun, the size of the armies engaged in the late war, an enormous American budget. So the figures representing the sum authorized by Congress for the first year of E.R.P. stultify the thinking of most of us. What does "$5.3 billion" mean? Can our thinking processes cope with a figure like that, or with the other billions which will be added to it in later years? Can we understand the American administrator of E.R.P., Mr. Paul G. Hoffman, when he says that 5.3 billion dollars is likely to prove inadequate even for the first year?

When the sum is broken down we may perhaps get a glimmer of an idea of the extent and generosity of the American aid. The U.K.'s share is to be $1,324,300,000, France $1,130,800,000, Italy's $703,600,000; The Netherlands' $599,600,000, the British and American occupation zones of Germany will get $437,400,000. The money will be spent chiefly on grain ($957,200,000), clothing ($511,300,000), and petroleum ($379,700,000).

Canadians will come to a realization of what all this means when they see its effects in their own districts, and our goods being despatched overseas. It is estimated that the values of Canadian commodities required by E.R.P. in the first fifteen month of its operation total $1,600,000,000. There are approximately three million households in Canada. E.R.P. business in Canada will therefore average $533 per household during the next year. How much of that business will be paid for in American E.R.P. dollars and how much by Canadian grants and loans to Europe has yet to be determined. Mr. Howe is in Washington this week consulting with the E.R.P. administrators; and for several months Canadian officials in Ottawa and Washington have been studying the problem of what Canada can provide in produce and what additional financial burden it can assume. E.R.P. will have an important effect on our economy, but as Mr. Graham Towers, the chairman of the Foreign Exchange Control Board and a man who can think in large numbers, has warned, it will not in itself be a cure for our financial ills.

The Taxi Bus

A correspondent whose letter appears on this page today complains about the taxi service to and from our local stations. It is a common practice in Peterborough for the taxi driver to bundle as many passengers as he can inveigle and sometimes more than he can comfortably accommodate into one cab. The larger firms do try to zone their cars so that a passenger for the Normal School area is not taken first to the Exhibition grounds. Nevertheless, our correspondent has voiced a grievance which users of taxis have grumbled about for several years.

May a taxi legally be used as a bus? There is no specific city by-law against the practice but a lawyer might find a common law which makes it illegal. It is true that in larger cities a taxi driver will not put other passengers into an engaged cab, unless he first secures the permission of the person who has already engaged it. It may be that a passenger who is paying the fare has secured the sole right of occupancy of the cab during the time he is being delivered to the address given by him to the driver. In other words, the cab might be at his sole disposal as long as he is paying for it. It is a legal point which our correspondent might find interesting to investigate.

This Peterborough practice of converting a cab into a bus grew up during the war and was tolerated because of war-time conditions. More taxis are now available and the demand is probably thinning out, though the taxi service at the stations on week-ends, particularly late at night, does not indicate much change. A passenger who insisted on sole occupancy of a cab would be unpopular with dozens of others waiting for a ride. However, if enough people insisted long enough on being driven only to their own doors, the cab firms might be encouraged to make more cars available at early and late rush hours.

Hunting With Bow And Arrow

A humane society is protesting to a committee of the Legislature of Nova Scotia against a proposed law which would encourage deer hunting with bow and arrow. The society's protest has received considerable attention and support from many newspapers.

The logic of such protests is a little too fine for us to understand. Everything, as we see it, depends on the skill of the hunter, rather than upon his weapon. A good shot can kill a deer at a considerable distance with a rifle, and a poor shot can maim an animal, causing it great suffering and often a slow death. The same thing is true of hunting with bow and arrow. A longbow delivers its arrow with much greater force than anyone can imagine who has seen nothing but toy bows, and a good archer is as good a marksman as a good shot. If he hits the deer in a vital spot he will kill it at once; if he maims it, he is guilty of cruelty. It is all a matter of skill.

If skill is the measure of the sport, we think that there is a weight of argument in favour of the longbow. How many deer hunters take time to brush up their marksmanship before they go into the woods? But the archer must keep in constant practice, for he can lose his skill with the bow in a month, if he neglects it. The chances are that archers are, as a group, better marksmen than rifle shots. Let anyone who doubts it go to the archery butts, and watch the skill of the men and women he finds there.

If deer are to be shot, we cannot see that there is any reason to deny archers whatever sport they may find in the hunt. We cannot imagine that there would be any more wild shooting, or cruelty, or hunting accidents in the forests, if the archers were to join the hunters with deer rifles.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A woman in Philadelphia suggests that money could be made more attractive if the faces of statesmen on bills were replaced by the faces of beautiful women. No, madam, those faces are symbolic, and as spenders of money statesmen have always defeated beautiful women, hands down.

WEEKLY BOOK REVIEW

Workers In Words

BY
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

DOUGLAS LE PAN'S book of poems "The Wounded Prince" (Oxford) is now available in Canada, and should engage the attention of everyone in this country who is interested in poetry. Le Pan is very much a Canadian, and several of the poems in this collection have Canadian themes, but there is a richness and a breadth in his workmanship which is by no means characteristic of Canadian poetry, and which does not sound like the workmanship of the poets whose work reaches us from the U.S.A. Le Pan's mind is of this continent and of this country, but it received its polish in Europe; in his work we find a linking of Canadian and European attitudes which is deeply interesting. It has been my privilege to know Douglas Le Pan for twelve years, and I formed this opinion some time ago. It is gratifying to have it corroborated by Cecil Day Lewis in an introduction to "The Wounded Prince' in which he says: "He is a Canadian. He is also in his poetic thoughts and themes a European. He is not the first poet in whom the New and the Old World have met; but I am not sure he may not be the first in whom this partnership will remain an equal one".

DOUGLAS LE PAN has been an instructor in English at Toronto and Harvard; he saw varied service in the war, and until recently he has been first secretary to the Canadian High Commissioner in London. A fortnight ago the announcement was made that he had been awarded a Guggenheim fellowship which will provide him with a year's time in which to write a novel. This novel should be an extremely interesting production, for the feeling for words and the quality and analysis of emotion shown in the poems in "The Wounded Prince" will be sufficient to give it distinction, whatever other gifts it may reveal. It is plain that in Douglas Le Pan Canada has brought forth a writer of fine quality; the question now is, can it hold him? What rewards and honours has it for him? Does Canada want him, or will we relinquish him without struggle to the U.S.A., or to Britain, as we have done with so many of our poets? These are not rhetorical questions, but practical ones, for there has never been a country of any consequence which did not take some thought for its poets. The first and best thing that his countrymen can do for Douglas Le Pan is to provide him with an audience.

SUPPLEMENT TWO of H. L. Mencken's great work 'The American Language" has been out for a couple of months, and I have dutifully read the 786 pages of its letterpress. "Dutifully", I say, because I fear that too many reviewers have praised this book without reading more than a few snippets of it, and also because something of the pleasure which the book gave in its revised Fourth Edition, and even in the First Supplement, has now vanished. We know what to expect; the surprises which made the original volume a delight can no longer get a rise out of us.

SOME doubt must arise in the mind of the reader, also, as to whether the scholarship of this book has not been unduly praised. It is a big book, of course, and the organization of the references is wonderful, but should a work of scholarship not be as free from obvious bias as possible? Mencken, it seems to me, has one bee in his bonnet in "The American Language", and that is to prove that American English is a better language than the English of the British Isles, and more likely to survive as a world language. I am not at all sure that such a point can ever be proved or disproved satisfactorily, for although American English now has the weight of numbers behind it, virtually everything worth preserving in English literature is written in the other version of the language—including the works of Emerson, Melville, Hawthorne and the rest of the American classicists. I cannot rid myself of the feeling that Mencken loves mischief better than he loves scholarship, and that he would rather take a dig at the English (whom he hates about as vigorously as he appears to hate his fellow-countrymen) than balance on the knife-edge of strict accuracy. (It must be said that Mencken's hate is of the Christian variety; he hates the sin, but not the sinner, and his attitude toward individual Englishmen and Americans is, I am told, cordial to the point of benevolence.)

◇ ◇ ◇

IT may be that this second supplement will be the last addition to "The American Language". The book has an immense reputation and a large sale, and future workers in this field will never be able to ignore it entirely. To many people like myself, however, it will always be more interesting as a reflection of a brilliant, cantankerous, ribald mind than as an attack upon a problem of language. Perhaps it is better so; Mencken at his most pig-headed is better reading than the scholars.

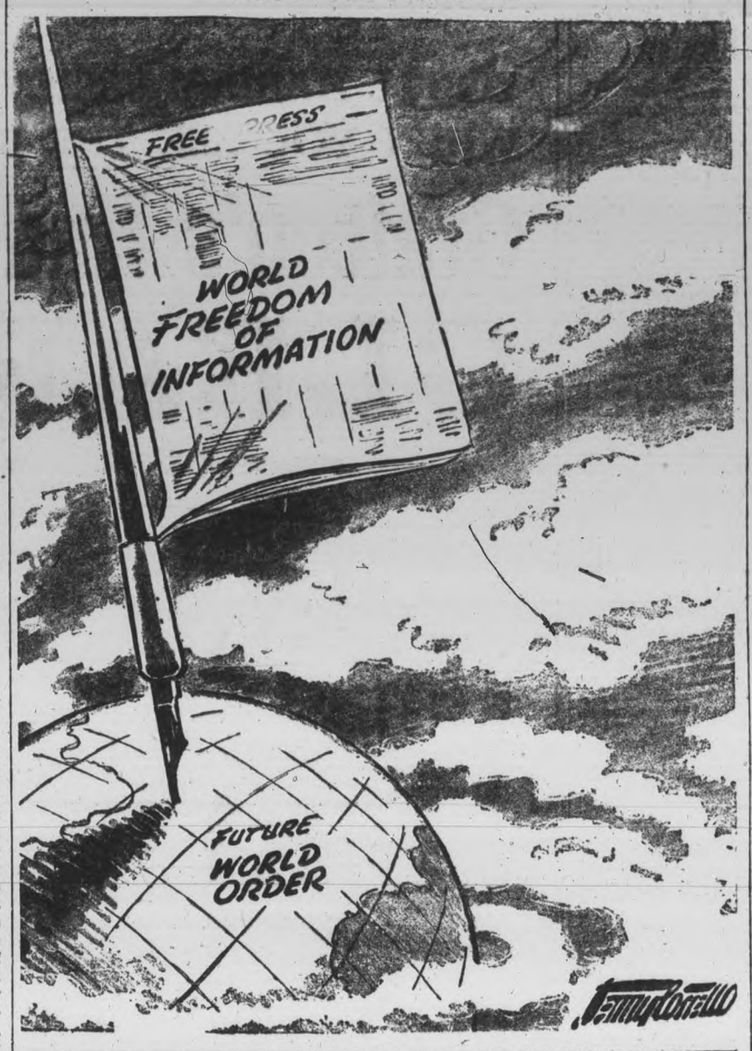
Hymn Writer Dies



One hundred years ago Mrs. Cecil Frances Alexander's hymn, There is a Green Hill Far Away, was first sung at Divine service.

Mrs. Alexander, wife of Primate Alexander, sometime Bishop of Derry and Raphoe, wrote hymns treasured by all the Churches, such as Once in Royal David's City and All Things Bright and Beautiful.

The second daughter of Major John Humphreys, of Co. Wicklow, and of Milltown House, Strabane, Northern Ireland, she began to write at a very early age. The money earned by her first important works was devoted to the building and maintenance of a school for the deaf and dumb at Strabane.

Mrs. Alexander died on October 12, 1895, and is buried in Derry City Cemetery.—In her memory there is a stained-glass window in St. Columb's Cathedral, Londonderry, and hanging in its Charter is a portrait of her at her desk.—Tyrone Constitution.

THIS BE THE STANDARD!

What Is Free Enterprise, Anyway?

(OTTAWA JOURNAL)

J. S. McLEAN, president of Canada Packers, told the Commons Prices Committee that the highest profit of his company in any year ($1,890,000) came from one-fifth of a cent a pound on its volume of business; that he (McLean) considered such profits small; that Canada Packers was in no sense a monopoly; and that the company had paid $10,000,000 in bonuses to its employees against $10,000,000 to its shareholders. He concluded:

"There is the record. If you feel there is anything in that record which calls for apology, I would like to know what it is".

What is there for apology? This country subscribes to free enterprise, bases its economy on a profit system. If under that system a group of citizens use their initiative and risk their capital to perform a public service (distribution of food is surely that), the while providing employment for thousands and treating them fairly, what is wrong if in the process they make a just profit? Isn't that what our system is about?

Canada Packers, out of one-fifth of a cent a pound on its volume, made $1,890,000 in its best year. But Canada Packers, under that one-fifth of a cent reckoning, could have run into a bad year, could have met up with sharp drops in prices. In that case, with its overhead, it could have suffered loss. "What we have", said Mr. Churchill once, "is not a profits system; it is a profits and loss system."

Many have forgotten this; or talk as if they had. With such people, it is all right for the enterprising to risk their capital and take a loss, all wrong for them to risk their capital and make a profit. It is success, apparently, that is evil.

It may be argued—it is argued—that the earnings (or profits) of an enterprise should be related to its invested capital; to what men first put into it. It is wrong argument. So long as the profits of the enterprise do not involve unjust prices to the consumer, and so long as profits are distributed fairly among (1) workers, (2) investors, and (3) the need of the enterprise's enlargement to meet expanding markets, the relation of profits to the size of the original investment is irrelevant. Under any different conception, and with a corporation paying only, say, 5 or 6 per cent. on what represented its investment in the beginning, most of our existing important industries would be compelled to go out of business.

Time that this country cleared its mind about such things We tell ourselves that we believe in free enterprise; that it is the only system. Yet if under that system some man or group of men make a success of their business, show that the system can be made to work, immediately there is outcry, with the successful attacked as though they were criminals. The whole thing is nonsense—as much nonsense as the spectacle of a committee of Parliament seemingly under the impression that it is making startling discoveries when revealing that people in this country have been selling goods for profit.

If this country doesn't want the free enterprise system, doesn't want anybody to sell anything at a profit, it had better say so—go in for socialism. That, foolish though it would be, would be better, certainly less hypocritical and confused, than our part of extolling free enterprise in one breath and in the next branding as criminals those who try to practice it.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Woe unto them that draw iniquity with cords of vanity, and sin as it were with a cart rope.... Woe unto them that are mighty to drink wine, and men of strength to mingle strong drink....

Therefore as the fire devoureth the stubble, root shall be as rottenness, and their blossom and the flame consumeth the chaff, so their shall go up as dust: because they have cast away the law of the Lord of hosts, and despised the word of the Holy One of Israel. (Isa. 5: 18, 22, 24.)

◇ ◇ ◇

For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting. (Gal. 6: 8.)

◇ ◇ ◇

See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise, redeeming the time, because the days are evil....

And be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess; but be filled with the Spirit. (Eph. 5: 15, 16, 18.)

Letters to the Editor

ENQUIRES ABOUT PARK BENCHES

Sir: Do you know why the benches were removed from the city park just before the warm weather set in? They were there all through the winter.

Sincerely,
E. H. R.

QUESTIONS ABOUT TAXI SERVICE

Sir: Can anything be done about the taxi situation at the station. For instance, the midnight train from Toronto comes in and a person gets into a taxi, for which she pays 50c and expects to get taken straight home. What happens is the driver puts four or five other people into the car who are usually strange men. Then he starts to make a tour of the city. Remember it is 2 o'clock in the morning when a person doesn't want to drive all over. He delivers the passengers here and there and collects 50 cents every time he stops. Finally he gets the original person home.

This kind of thing happens all the time. Also in the mornings when I am taking an early train. The driver picks up three or four other people in the taxi I have hired.

Is that legal? When a person hires a taxi, hasn't she the right to say who else can go in it? Hasn't she the right to be driven straight home?

Yours sincerely,
(Miss) LILLIAN S. PALIN.

COMMENDS COUNTRY ECHINOP

Sir: Would that every genuine Canadian had read the appeal in the section, Letter to the Editor, under "Is This Christianity?" of Tuesday, 20 April, 1948, ponder the subtlety and add to the thought some accredited observations.

History records that the Jews have brought ruin to all countries which, with Christian spirit, gave them a home and protection.

Mr. Chas. Stevens, Conservative M.P. for Durham county, gave the House of Commons some interesting facts about the associates of Communism, training young leaders at the Art School, located in the north of Port Hope.

I feel sure that 'Country E' knows that the real thing would not connive with itself.

I dismiss the superficial slur on the Christianity of the people of this great country, or its present too lenient government.

APOLOGUE.

ED. NOTE: The Examiner does not agree with this correspondent's statement that the Jews have brought ruin to countries which protect them—certainly not to Holland, England or the U.S.A.

Nature Goes Democratic

Out in Washington a chicken is sprouting hair instead of feathers. Evidently nature has abandoned her planned economy in favour of free enterprise, and henceforth a mink, if he feels that way, will grow feathers instead of fur coats; sheep with a will of their own will produce porcupine quills in place of warm underwear; and geese will grow tortoise shell rather than pillow stuffing.—T. W. Jones in The Toronto Star.

Alternative

A letter, unfortunately an anonymous one, reached this office the other day, asking whether it was compulsory under the law to stand when "God Save The King" was played. It is not, as far as we can discover, but the same thing is liable to happen to those who do not as happened to the author of our communication. He was punched on the nose. Objectors, therefore, have an easy decision to make. They can either stand by their principles and sit or they can sit on their principles and stand. There is nothing more to it than that.—Winnipeg Free Press.

TRIBUTE PAID TO ANZACS—In commemoration of the exploits of Australian and New Zealand soldiers on the heights of the Gallipoli Peninsula 33 years ago—and in tribute to their dead of both world wars, wreaths were laid at the Cenotaph in Montreal, Anzac Day. Australia's representative at what was believed to have been the first such ceremony in Montreal was Dr. Keith N. E. Bradfield, Australian delegate to the Council of the International Civil Aviation Organization, with J. A. Malcolm, New Zealand Government Trade Commissioner in Canada, representing New Zealand.

Safeguarding of Jerusalem Felt Essential By UN

By WALTER O'HEARN

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., April 28 —The Palestine debate has been proceeding three paces forward, two paces backwards. With this limping gait it is a miracle that any positive idea has emerged from the discussions.

That idea has emerged from behind the scenes and is not a product of public debate. It is to concentrate first of all on the safety and peace of the city of Jerusalem, with unimpeded access to the sea, and then to spread authority outward. The United States, Britain and France seem to be elected for this task.

The public debate has produced virtually nothing. Almost every delegate who has addressed the political committee of the United Nations assembly during the past week has begun his remarks somewhat like this:

Mr. Chairman, time is of the essence. The days are growing shorter and May 15 draws on apace. On that date the British mandate will end there will be no constituted authority to take its place. Meanwhile, as we talk, events are hurtling on to a bloody solution."

If the writer has overlooked a single pertinent cliche in the above paragraph, the delegates have not. In almost every case this opening plea for haste has been followed by a lengthy "review" of the Palestine decision, a time-wasting, discursive oration for the record and for hometown consumption, harrowing old ground that has already been so harrowed and trampled that the topsoil is worn and almost incapable of fruit.

Canada's Contribution

Those on the sidelines, the correspondents and the Secretariat members, cynical but suffering, have been reminded time and again of Mark Twain's remarks that everybody talks about the weather but nobody does anything about it. In this reference, General McNaughton's contribution for Canada was admirable, in that it was terse. It was also neutral enough to please no faction but at least it did not couple a plea for haste with a weary rehash of events.

Briefly, the Canadian position can be summarized as follows.

A. Support for the French idea that the Holy Places and Jerusalem must be guarded and guarded immediately.

B. Support for the American trusteeship plan to this extent, that it deserves full and speedy examination as an emergency measure to meet an emergency situation.

C. A decision to abstain for the present on any resolution to reaffirm partition.

A continuing line of thought can be seen between the French proposal, between part A and of the Canadian position and the behind the scenes decision to concentrate on international authority in Jerusalem. Some Zionists feel that this development is not inconsistent with the proclaiming of a Jewish state in Palestine on May 16, which they still intend. At this point, no one can say how well the two—Jewish state and trusteeship — could live together.

The Social Commission

It is perhaps an explanation of the popular near-despair about the United Nations that only its disputes and failures make news.

The case of the social commission, which ended a three week session on Friday is very much to the point.

This 18-member body, on which Canada is represented, derives its powers from the economic and social council. It does not deal with disputes nor, except for the occasional semantic fireworkers, does it develop any.

Its task is to define and codify certain ideas and ideals which, eventually adopted by the members and converted into social legislation, eventually sink into the consience of the peoples of the earth. It deals with such things as penology, suppression of prostitution and other social conditions which, as a Canadian spokesman said, "are the things which breed war."

It does not breed dramatic solutions because, to quote the same spokesman "it deals with continuing conditions, many of which do not admit of final solution."

Now the Social Commission met this year with a packed agenda. Its meetings revealed substantial agreement between the Slav bloc and the West on a number of topics of sociological concern When the heavily documented and rigorously briefed Soviet delegates and the scarcely less rigorously briefed Americans together with the more free-wheeling delegates from other countries agree on anything, that should be news.

However, an examination of the record shows that newspapermen—including this guilty correspondent—paid no attention to the Social Commission except on the rare occasions when a row developed. One such occasion was a flare-up in whicr N. Borisov of the USSR for the Slavs and Burns Curry of Canada were chief protagonists. The question was whether to consult or not to consult the international and penitentiary commission, as the commission had been instructed to do by ECOSOC.

All May Join

Now IPPC, as it is called, is an old international body which any nation may join if it pays its dues. Franco Spain once belonged, but has resigned. The Soviet Union, in its perpetual vendetta against the rightist totalitarian state, wanted no UN converse with the IPPC until it amended its charter so that Spain could not take membership again. Canada's view, which prevailed, was that it was more practical to consult with IPPC now, at the same time instructing it to amend its charter. As IPPC is not contaminated by Spain at the present time, that view prevailed.

Another Social Commission dispute which gained a modest mention was a jurisdictional row between the International Children's Emergency Fund and the World Health Organization over who should distribute medical aid to needy countries. (ICEF will distribute for the time being and turn over its medical functions to WHO as soon as that body is better organized.)

A third row concerned refugees and immigrant peoples. In this connection the Soviet delegate tried to jam through a preamble which could have been interpreted as a condemnation of the European Recovery Program. (Canada saw the trap; the United States did not.) Another Soviet move which failed would have made the various governments responsible for paying the return passage of dissatisfied immigrants. As finally passed, the recommendation gives imported labor and prospective permanent settlers equal civil rights with citizens of the country in which they work.

These disputes, which engendered no real bitterness were minor flaws in a really constructive session, yet they were the only incidents which made "news".

Long Range Problems

Yet persons who retain a qualified optimism over the future of UN—while sceptical of its immediate power—base their feeling on the quiet achievements of commission like these—economic social, statistical and the like, which really do a great deal of work and whose proceedings do add something to the sum of human knowledge. Their programs are, as the Canadians' spokesman put it "long-range programs, undertaken in the long view of human betterment."

By contrast the attention-compelling cases which comes before plenary sessions and Security Council meetings are ad hoc cases — violent, dangerous, but of the moment. In the face of these storms which it is often incapable of quelling the UN temporizes, delays sometimes changes it collective mind, sometimes makes decisions which are flouted. It is perhaps inevitable that these fields of combat should command the spotlight. But in the adjoining fields quieter men — the social scientists — are tending their crops and the crops are growing.

Truth Serum: "Is there a clinic in Toronto where I could have a truth serum injection? Under its influence I would like to submit myself for probing about an incident in my past. For years I have been unjustly accused. I would like to be exonerated under the truth serum."

There is such a drug, but it could be used only under the direction of the court. No institution or private organization would have the serum. Evidence taken while under the influence of such a drug is not acceptable. If, however, the court orders the serum and test, evidence given may be admitted.

Plumbing Apprentice: "A friend of mine wishes to become an apprentice in the plumbing and steam fitting trade. What education is required? What is the pay? What are the prospects?"

Belyea, plumbing experts give us this information: A thorough public school education would be required for an apprentice. A high school education would be desirable. Pay during apprenticeship is 30 cents an hour. Apprentice is under indenture contract during period of learning the trade. If the apprentice has a thorough mechanical type of mind, he will have no trouble entering any reputable plumbing and steamfitting firm. Prospects for the future of this business, Mr. Belyea says, have never been better.

Places to stay include the Y; such hotels as the Taft, Roosevelt, Savoy Plaza, Plaza and Commodore. Men's Softball Begins May 11 With Four City Squads Entered

The four-team City Softball League will commence play this season on May 11 in the Bowl with a double-header, it was decided at an executive meeting held last evening in the YMCA. This is an extra early start and depends upon the weather as well as upon the nights allotted the league this year.

Knights of Columbus, De Laval, Legion and the new B-A team were the four entries. The managers of these clubs conferred briefly outside the room and returned to state they were not in favor of a Hastings entry, requiring trips to Hastings each week, so this applicant was rejected.

Bob Crowe asked for entry of Kawartha Sports as an OASA juvenile team, arranging its own schedule or exhibitions until play-down time. The league approved the entry and will pay the affiliation fee for this juvenile squad and probably assist with balls, etc. No junior teams sought assistance from the league.

About Umpires

With nine applications for umpires, it was finally decided to use them all for a two-week period at last year's fee, and then hold an executive meeting to decide which four umpires would be hired. It is to be a trial period until this meeting. It was also emphasized that the umpires as well as managers are responsible for getting games away on time. If this is not done satisfactorily the first two weeks, the executive may either impose a fine on late teams or put a curfew time on the first game of twin bills.

The secretary will draw up the schedule, which opens on or about May 11, and it will end when the CGE Co. holiday shutdown week starts. Then the semi-finals and finals will be run off, best of seven games in each, concerning the top three teams. Games start sharp at seven p.m., and the opening night draw has De Laval vs. Knights in the first fixture, and Legion vs. B-A in the nightcap.

The players' certificates were handed out to the four club managers, who may now sign up players according to OASA rules. Probably no further meeting will be required until two weeks after the schedule commences. President Pat Calladine conducted last evening's well-attended session.

According to Andy Lytle, Mac Colville left the west coast in high dudgeon after playing and coaching with Vancouver Canucks. They won the Pacific Coast League puck title — with Percy Nicholls of Bobcaygeon, who started the season with Legion, a big help on defence. Mac was pretty peeved when the players failed to cut him in on the "take" they split up at the finish, after getting so much a week all season. Andy says: "Mac has a legitimate beef against the players. It is widely customary in hockey to declare the coach in on the spring loot." And that's for sure. We can imagine the chagrin of the Petes' or Legion coaches if they were left out of the split at season's end. But maybe Mac looked for extra sugar for his coaching efforts apart from his playing.

Seems to be a division of opinion in the city council regarding the handling of playing fields like the Bowl and Riverside Park. Some say the parks committee should handle these spots all the way, while others feel it is a job for the recreation commission. Why not have the parks committee put these fields in shape and maintain them, but let the recreation commission take care of the allotting of dates, collecting of revenue and such? After all, it seems to us that the recreation commission was created to relieve the city council of some of the detail work where civic recreation is concerned.

Shop Players Set

Annual re-organization meeting of the Industrial Softball League is at eight tonight in the YMCA, Secretary Jack Stuart informed us yesterday. It is open to all interested shop teams, and entries will be taken, officers elected and general plans for the season made. Probably last year's reports presented, too. This has always been a hefty circuit catering to the softball needs of industrial workers. Whether the proposed Southend League will cut in on the Industrial Loop or not this season remains to be seen. An OASA intermediate "AA" affiliation is expected again.

And entries close at the Girls' Softball League meeting tomorrow night at 7.30 in the YMCA. At the opening session, it was suggested that eight teams would operate: Quakers, CGE, Marines, Lock Co., Westclox, Woollens, Ashby's and possibly Lakefield. Also a rumor that a Lindsay lasses' crew might be in. Maybe one or two others will be represented tonight, also. Call is out for umpires and they should apply immediately to Mrs. Wm. Millar at 345 Rubidge St. by mail or phone. The girls had use of the Bowl last summer three nights one week and four the next. They will probably ask for a similar setup this semester.

Pry Lid Off Early

Four teams in the men's loop this year, Knights, De Laval, Legion and a new B-A entry. Hastings was voted out by the managers owing to trips out of town. Nine umps applied and all will get a trial for two weeks and then four selected. Loop schedule opens real early this year, about May 11—depending on nights available at the Bowl—with De Laval vs. Knights in the opening game, and Legion vs. B-A in the nightcap. Secretary will draw up the schedule shortly, which runs till late July, with lengthy semi-finals and finals following. Executive is insisting on games starting on time this year with a real threat of penalties for offenders. Bob Crowe is piloting Kawartha Sports in the juvenile OASA.

A meeting at seven tonight in the "Y" of the City Baseball League with various details to be cleaned up. All officials, coaches and others interested asked to attend. And service clubs should be represented, too. First night's player registration resulted in over 300 boys, the majority below juvenile age, turning out. A fine showing to indicate the interest in minor ball in Peterborough. It probably means the peewees, bantams, midgets and maybe the juveniles, will be all set. Likely two junior squads will be rounded up and there's talk of entering both in the Lakeshore Junior League. And it is possible that one intermediate team will seek entry into the Lakeshore Loop. However, more may be learned at tonight's meeting.

Call To Cricketers

Secretary A. H. Radford of the Peterborough-Whitaker Cricket Club announces an open practice for tonight at 6.30 in the Oval. He requests last year's players and any interested newcomers to be present as they will discuss entry into a Toronto association. They can get in okay but won't try to unless there is sufficient player interest here. Quite a few young chaps have come to this city from the Old Country in the past year and, while many are experienced soccer players, some of them must be cricketers, too. In any case, the club is hoping for a big turnout to start off a season which should be most successful.

King George Wins

King George pulled out a 17-12 junior School Softball League victory against Queen Alexandra on the easterners' grounds yesterday after four. They got four runs each in the first and fourth, one in the second, three next heat, and five in a big fifth after the score was tied to end the fourth. The losers shoved two markers across in the second chukker and got five apiece in the third and fourth. Some good ball was seen at times on both sides. The teams:

The 20-man delegation will consist of Lt.-Col. H. Spoman of Ottaawa, Commandant; Capt. A. G. Guntero of Saint John, N.B., Adjutant, and 18 shooting members who placed among the best shots at the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association meet at nearby Connaught Park last Summer.

"MY REQUEST" ROMPS HOME—More than 48,000 race fans saw the thrilling finish of the feature race, the Wood Memorial, at Jamaica race track in New York. "My Request" (above) is shown crossing the finish after staving off the closing rush of "Mount Marcy," a 40-1 shot, who ran, second. "Better Self" ran third.

King Edward Wins Over Queen Mary

King Edward beat Queen Mary 21-3 yesterday in a junior School Softball League fixture. They bunched hits with walks and errors in a few big innings to roll up a one-sided count as Frizzelle hurled four-hit hall, fanning seven. His support was good. Downer hit a homer and two singles, as Turner got a homer and one for the winners while Drury hit safely twice for the other side. The teams:

King Edward—Turner, c; Frizzelle, p; Downer, 2b; Corbett, 1b; Nickson, 3b; Crowe, cf; Moffatt, rf; Henderson, rf; Rose, lf; Paggett, ss; Hunt, ss.

Tournament Notes

Irv Hanes still leads in the singles in the handicap tournament at Duffus Alleys. We made a slight mistake in the total it is 884.

The YMCA team has been relegated to fifth spot in the standing, due to an error. In figuring the handicaps Secretary Frank Wood took Reg Dyer's YMCA average, which gave him a nice handicap. But under the rules of the tournament the highest average in any league has to be used and as Dyer had a 233 average in the CGE League, it made him start at scratch. The error was not Reg's as he figured he had not rolled enough games in the shop league to give him an official average. The tough break puts the team down a few notches in the standing.

Mixed doubles were rolled by Bea Morrow and Norm Hopgood and Marg Rogers and Vince Anthony but neither pair managed to dislodge the leaders.

Two teams from the Dominion Woollens League will be rolling Thursday.

Ben Swartz took a crack at the singles last night, but was away off form, and failed to place in the first ten.

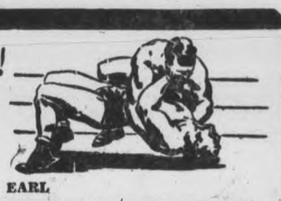
Charley Demelis of Toronto turned in a corking 405 single game, but his three-game total left him well down the list in the singles.

Grants and Fashion Craft and some Belleville teams will be rolling tonight.

Fred Martin leads in the aggregate event.

A couple of odd features were noted in Joe Legault's perfect game. Hank Gordon, who is helping out during the tournament setting up pins, was pin-boy for Legault's feat. Hank also was pin-boy when W. G. Shiner rolled his perfect score. Fred Montgomery scored this game and Reg Dyer witnessed all three perfect games rolled. He was watching Shiner, Tom Curvin and Legault perform their feats. An odd fact.

Cricket Club Holds A Practice Tonight



An open practice of the Peterborough-Whitaker Cricket Club will be held this evening (Wednesday) at 6.30 o'clock in the Oval. Former players and newcomers to the city are urged to attend. The possibility of entering the club in a Toronto cricket league will be discussed at this practise and other plans of the season brought up.

One of the local officials stated yesterday that the club had been in touch wtih the Toronto association and had received encouragement, but that such an entry depended entirely upon the number of players attending tonight's practice. It was possible, he added, that the club might have to drop out of competition this season if enough interest is not shown here.

QUEBEC, April 28 — (CP). Vice-president Emile Lemieux of the Quebec Lacrosse Association announced yesterday that Bill Archer of Montreal has been appointed coach of Les Montagnards, Quebec's entry in the newly-formed Interprovincial Senior Lacrosse league. Archer coached a Verdun team last year. Les Montagnards this year will operate under a Montreal syndicate headed by Frank Quinn.

Browns Whip Tigers 9-8 As Cubs Knock Off Reds

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sport Writer

Tomorrow the beautiful dream may be over for St. Louis Browns and Chicago Cubs, but today the major leagues' two "ugly ducklings" are riding high.

The standings show the Browns and Cubs, generally tabbed as 1948 cellar-dwellers, perched in second place in their respective leagues. Each club has a winning streak of three games still alive.

The Browns whipped Detroit Tigers for the second straight day yesterday 9-8 for their fourth win in six starts. The Cubs knocked off Ewell Blackwell and the Cincinnati Reds 7-2 for their fourth triumph in seven outings.

The Cubs' vets apparently have plenty of kick left. Bill Nicholson, for instance, is hitting .381. He collected two hits and two walks and drove in a run yesterday. Andy Pafko is hitting just under .300, but is leading the club in runs batted in with eight. He knocked in three yesterday.

Meanwhile Chicago's pitching has been excellent.

The Brown's pitching has been overshadowed by their new-found batting punch. Their chief batwielder has been bespectacled Bob Dillinger, flashy third baseman, and one of the few holdovers from last year. Dillinger has accumulated 11 hits in 23 times at bat for an impressive .478.

Second Defeat

Dillinger cracked two of the Browns' 15 hits yesterday as they handed Hal Newhouser his second defeat of the season. A single by Al Zarilla scored Whitey Platt with the deciding run in the 11th inning. Newhouser was serving in relief, having replaced starter Fred Hutchinson in the ninth.

Continuing their terrific extra-base clouting, New York Giants shellacked Philadelphia Phils 7-1 behind the three-hit flinging of Larry Jansen. Curt Simmons, the Phils' $60,000 bonus beauty, was the victim of the Giants' assault. The win, New York's sixth straight, gave the National league leaders a two-game advantage over the Cubs.

The Braves made it two in a row over Brooklyn as Charley (Red) Barrett limited the Dodgers to six hits in pitching Boston to a 3-2 victory. Bob Elliott, the league's most valuable player last season, drove in all Boston runs with a home run and two singles. It was the Dodgers' third straight defeat.

New York Yankees turned back Philadelphia Athletics 4-2. Karl Drews received credit for the victory but needed assistance from Lefty Joe Page.

Three games, two in the American and one in the National league, were postponed by rain—Cleveland at Chicago, Boston at Washington and St. Louis at Pittsburgh.

Writers Name AHL All-Stars

NEW YORK, April 28.—(AP).—Baz Bastien, star netminders of Pittsburgh Hornets, was the only repeater on the American Hockey League's 1948 all-star team, announced today.

Bastien polled the largest tally—129 points—on the team chosen by a vote of sports writers and radio announcers of the 11 league cities.

The all-star squad was announced by league president Maurice Podoloff.

First Team—Baz Bastien, Pittsburg (12), Pete Backor, Pittsburgh (107), Ott Heller, New Haven (66), Cliff Simpson, Indianapolis (77), Pete Leswick, Cleveland (88), Carl Liscombe, Providence (126).

Second Team—Roger Bessette, Cleveland (43), Eddie Bush, Philadelphia (36), Hugh Millar, Indianapolis (61), Eldie Kobussen, Springfield (45), Phil Hergesheimer, Philadelphia (51), Paul Gladu, St. Louis (54).

HOW OLD IS TOO OLD?—In a bit of dugout by-play at Boston's Fenway Park, in Boston, Mass., 55-year-old Earl Mack, who lost his first-base coaching berth with the Philadelphia Athletics, for being "too old," pleads with pappy, 85-year-old Connie Mack, the A's mentor, not to sell him down the river. Connie relented to the extent of permitting Earl to assist him in program-waving signals from the bench.

Niagara Falls Boxers Take Two

LONDON, Ont., April 28 (CP).—Niagara Falls boxers broke even in their matches of the Olympic boxing trials held here last night, winning two and losing two of the eight bouts arranged by the southwestern branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canadad.

Over 2,000 fans watched the outstanding bouts that decided the fighters travelling to Montreal for the final Olympic trials.

Johnny Dell and Tange Bailey, both of Niagara Falls, took the middleweight and lightweight matches while the other Niagara Falls representatives, Bryan Kelly and Ronnie More lost out in flyweight and light-heavyweight divisions.

Dell scored a technical knockout over Howard Bulmer, veteran Windsor puncher, when he opened a deep gash over Bulmer's left eye in the second round.

Bailey had too much power for the highly-touted Sarnia lightweight, Jackie Huggett.

George Cadman, of Windsor, got the nod over Kelly in the flyweight match and Jackie Billings, St. Marys, confused More in the featherweight clash.

Two Westerners Appointed To Senior Posts In CAHA

TORONTO, April 28—(CP).—Two Westerners, Al Pickard of Regina and Doug. Grimston of New Westminster, BC, will hold senior posts in the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association for the 1948-49 season, while the East has been limited to one senior official. Re-elected president at yesterday's concluding session of the four-day annual meeting, Pickard, a Regina school teacher, will hold office for the second consecutive year. Grimston, elected unanimousing by 22 voting delegates, will move from the second vice-president's post to the first vice-presidency, succeeding the late Norman Dawe of Montreal.

W. B. George of Kemptville nosed out President George Panter of the Ontario Hockey Association in a close vote for the second vice-presidency.

Delegates voted to increase yearly grants of $2,000 to each branch to $3,000. The money, payable from the National Hockey League, is to be used to promote hockey among bantam, midget and juvenile teams in the Association's minor leagues.

A resolution was passed whereby certain radio station will be charged a tariff fee to broadcast amateur hockey games. The fee will not apply to stations which are located in the same city from which they broadcast hockey games. Stations broadcasting out-of-town games will be subject to a $25 fee for league games and $50 for Memorial and Allan Cup games.

A proposal by President George Slater of the Quebec Amateur Hockey League that referees in the Allan and Memorial Cup finals be alternated each year between the east and west was accepted.

Beauty Plans Car Trip Across U.S.

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 28. — (AP).—The Italian film beauty, Valli, says she'll take a motor trip through the country she intends to make her new home.

As soon as she finishes "Weep No More," the sultry-voiced actress plans to drive with her husband and son from California to New England. After that, "we're going to follow our noses," she says. She recently applied for U.S. citizenship.

Broken Silence

Jane Wyman has broken her silence on the "Kiss in the Dark" set, now that her reunion with Ronald Reagan is official. She's too regular a gal to go in for such temperament for long.

Bargain-style pictures are a new wrinkle on the Hollywood scene. Evidence: 1, R-K-O is making a feature by pasting together musical and comedy bits from some of its old films, plus a running commentary by master of ceremonies Jack Paar; 2, Benedict Bogeaus took the Charles Laughton sequence from the episodic "On Our Merry Way" (snipped from the final version) and padded it into a full-length film. . . .

Fighters' Answer

Warners has an answer to M-G-M's "Command Decision." It's called "Fighter Squadron" and it will also have an all-male cast of big names. Twentieth-Fox plans a similar project, "12 o'Clock High" . . .

Alexis Smith, formerly of Penticton, B.C., and Craig Stevens will take her parents to England this summer. They have 35 relatives to visit. . . Congrats to Lou Costello and Bud Abbott on the first anniversary for their Youth Foundation in East Side, L.A. They put $350,000 into their "investment in humanity" . . .

Derby Entries Hoping For Muddy Track

LOUISVILLE, April 28—(AP)—The weather and Calumet Farm's rampaging cyclones—Citation and Coaltown—provided most of the Kentucky Derby discussion today as pre-race indications pointed to one of the smallest fields for the classic since its inaugural in 1875.

Calumet's mighty pair already has managed to scare off all but the bravest of the three-year-olds, and even some of those doubtful starters were praying for a muddy track Saturday afternoon.

The muddy track idea is based on the theory that it would slow up Citation and Coaltown sufficiently to give the others some chance of grabbing the major share of the $100,000 swag.

At the moment its looks like a field of six or seven, one of the smallest in more than 30 years.

Yesterday Citation leisurely jumped away with the Derby Trial, a one-mile final prep jinx which has haunted every colt that ever won.

Citation and Jockey Eddie Arcaro beat W. L. Brann's Escadru by 1¼ lengths although Escadru was closing nicely and took place money by a head over Howard Wells' Eagle Look, with Charles O'Neil's Galedo last in the field of four.

Texas Ben Whitaker's My Request, conqueror of everything at Jamaica recently, arrived yesterday.

My Request had been expected to rank right behind the Calumet pair in the wagering, but Escadru's creditable showing in the Derby Trial has gained him a lot of wavering votes in the last few hours.

Two Southpaws Wreck Theory

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

When the Cardinals beat the Bums 1-0 in Chicago's National League opener, two left-handers, Harry Brecheen and Johnny Schmitz, just about wrecked the old theory that all southpaws are wild (as well as being slightly insane)....Schmitz made 100 pitches to 31 Cardinal batters and missed the plate only 33 times.... Harry (the Cat) heard the ump holler "ball" only 32 times in 103 throws to 36 Cubs.

Shorts and Shells

Galedo, Charles O'Neil's possible Derby starter, is one of those thoroughbred rarities, a twin... The colt's twin sister died a week after foaling....Hal Swanson, Bucknell University pitcher, is believed to have set a new college record for strikeouts the other day when he whiffed 17 Albright batsmen. That's surprising, since Bucknell once had a pitcher named Christy Mathewson.

Perfect Pitcher

Ken Jones, Peoria, Ill., Journal-Transcript sports editor, finally is convinced that his boy, Bobby, is cut out to be a pitcher. Hurling against Decatur, Bobby turned in a two-hitter, then went back as a reliefer and fanned eight in 2 2-3 innings....The next morning he looked at the box scores and found that his dad's paper hadn't credited him with a hit he had made....Bobby howled: "Dad, I need those hits. It's serious."

HOW'S YOUR BACKSWING?—A starting position and backswing, like that pictured above, practically assure you of a good downswing and finish; yes, a good shot. It is important to keep the arms close to the body.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Waterloo Tigers of the Intercounty Senior Baseball League yesterday announced they have applied for transfer of Don Gallinger to Waterloo from Port Colborne. Gallinger, former member of the Boston Bruins, was suspended indefinitely following an NHL probe into betting on games and association with gamblers. Speculation has been wide as to whether governing bodies of baseball and other sports would take action if application was made to play in other sports. The Ontario Baseball Association is expected to issue a ruling soon. Gallinger starred at shortstop for Welland Seniors several years ago and Boston Braves of the National League were also interested in him.

Lt.-Col. J. M. McAvity, president of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association, announced yesterday at Montreal that Mexico has accepted a Canadian invitation to play the Davis Cup tie between the two countries in Montreal July 8-10. The tie will be played on the grounds of the Mount Royal Tennis Club, the Mexicans having expressed their preference to play on grass grounds.

Operating henceforth as the Dominion Curling Playdowns Committee, officials of the Thistle Club in charge of the Dominion championships announced yesterday at Hamilton that the official dates for the title event will be March 5-10 inclusive, 1949. Play will start on Monday, March 7, and continue through until the final on March 10, with all play at the Hamilton Thistle Club.

Plans to hold the 1948 Dominion track and field championship in Sudbury this summer, have been cancelled it was announced there yesterday. Difficulty in preparing the track and other snags prompted Sudbury City Council to cancel its plans. At Toronto, a spokesman for Sports College said his organization, which claims 400,000 members across Canada, said it would seek permission from the Ontario branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada to hold the meet at Toronto.

Staging an uphill struggle, the smooth-working Vancouver Clover Leafs moved into a one-game lead in the best-of-three Western Canada senior basketball final at Winnipeg last night defeating Winnipeg Paulins 67-61.

Longshot Dale Mklyo won the feature race at the harness racing meeting at Santa Anita Park yesterday and paid $93.40 to win. The seven-year-old, ignored by the form players, finished the mile and one-sixteenth race 1½ lengths in front.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press

Batting, Bob Elliott, Boston Braves—Last year's most valuable player in the National league drove in all Boston's runs with a home run and two singles in the Braves' 3-2 victory over Brooklyn Dodgers.

Pitching, Larry Jansen, New York Giants—Limited Philadelphia to three hits in pitching the Giants to a 7-1 victory over the Phillies.

FOREST RESOURCES

A third of Canada's primary production comes from the forests; pulp and paper accounts for two-thirds of the output of the forest industries.

STRIKES OUT 28 — Hugh Frank Radcliffe, 19-year-old pitcher for a Thomaston, Georgia, high school, accomplished the seemingly impossible feat of striking out 28 batters in a nine-inning game. Not satisfied with whiffing 27 men for the usual number of putouts, Radcliffe fanned the extra batter after his catcher dropped a third strike and allowed the batter to reach first safely. It wasn't a no-hitter, though his team won with a score of 10-0. The opposing team's catcher got to first base for his team's only hit. The "baseball wonder" is shown above on the bench.

Reid Returns To Action With Flyers

TORONTO, April 28 — (CP). — Barrie Flyers—down two games—had good news as they made ready to meet Port Arthur West End Bruins in the third game tonight of the best-of-seven series for the Canadian junior hockey championship.

The news that they will be near top physical form brought renewed hopes Flyers can repeat their performance in the Ontario Hockey Association final. Flyers dropped the first two games to Windsor Spitfires before they hit their stride to win four straight games and the title.

Thanks to three-day massage treatments Jerry Reid, flash centre man who was not expected to be ready for action until the fourth game Saturday, will likely take over his old spot in the lineup tonight.

Paul Meger, one of the neatest left wingers in OHA competition this season, also will be in top form. Meger played in Monday's game, which Barrie dropped 8-1, but a torn ankle ligament slowed him up considerably.

"The club isn't going and there's not an awful lot we can do about it," said Coach Hap Emms last night.

"I wouldn't say Port Arthur was the best club we've faced," he added. "I think Windsor, Oshawa or Galt—at their top form of course—would give them a real battle."

Port Arthur coach Eddie Lauzon was not predicting how long the series would last and would not even talk of "four straight." He will ice the same team which trounced Barrie Monday.

Harvey Mathe Scores His Second Knockout

TORONTO, April 28 — (CP). — If hardrock Harvey Mathe of Sudbury keeps laying them out in jig-time he may find himself entering a ring against Dominion lightweight champion Arthur King in the not-too-distant future.

Mathe scored his second knockout and third Toronto victory in three starts last ight in a six-round preliminary with Ray Sananna of Puerto Rica. It took the 23-year-old ex-soldier only 90 seconds to dispose of his man. Mathe weighed 132, Santanna 133.

The champion, meanwhile, distinguished himself with one of his better performances in winning the 10-round main event by decisioning Korean Richie Shinn. The San Francisco fighter, weighing 135¼, matched King, 136, fairly evenly in the first eight rounds. Then King, who had never gone over eight frames before, turned on three punishing, two-fisted attacks in the final two frames that left Shinn a weary boy as the final bell sounded.

AS DEWEY THREW THE TRADITIONAL FIRST PITCH—Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York tosses a high lobbing ball as he made the traditional honorary first pitch just before the American league season opened at Yankee Stadium in New York with a game between the New York Yankees and the Boston Red Sox. Build Model Rink

MARMORA, April 28 (ENS).—Donations for Marmora District Memorial Recreation Centre are coming in daily. President A. F. Fraser of the Chamber of Commerce has an attractive display in the north window of the Dominion Bank. A model covered rink, the artistic work of Frank Bobyk of this village is supplemented with the two hockey sticks autographed by the Maple Leafs' players, and a hockey stick autographed by members of the Marmora team.

Senators Ready For Cup Opener

REGINA, April 28 — (CP). — Edmonton Flyers and Ottawa Senators open the 1948 Allan Cup wars tonight.

Both coach George Boucher of Ottawa and Frank Currie of Edmonton said their teams were ready for the best-of-seven series for the Canadian senior amateur hockey championship. Both refused to predict.

Flyers had a light workout yesterday after arriving from Calgary on a morning train. Senators reached town last night and went immediately to the rink for a brief skating session to limber up after their two-day train trip.

On each club a defenceman is recovering from injuries. Gordon Watt of Flyers is a doubtful starter as a result of an ankle strained in the western finals against Winnipeg. Butch Stahan of Senators will play despite a toe broken during the eastern final with Hamilton Tigers.

Newark Rookie Blanks Red Wings 3-0

By The Associated Press

Bob Porterfield, rookie right-hander of Newark Bears, turned in the best pitching performance of the International league campaign yesterday when he shutout the Rochester Red Wings 3-0 on one hit.

Porterfield, 23, retired the first 19 batters he faced before walking Vern Benson with one down in the seventh. He lost his no-hitter in the eighth when Russ Derry opened the inning with a clean single to right.

The Bears, one of the weakest hitting squads in the league, collected only three hits off Max Surkont. However, seven walks, two hit batsmen and a pair of Rochester errors helped the Bears get their three runs.

In the only other game, Jersey City Giants crushed Buffalo Bisons 16-3 to move into a second place tie with Montreal Royals.

Catcher Syl Yvars led Jersey City's 17-hit attack by driving in five runs on a homer, double and single. Lloyd Gearhart also homered for the Giants while Cy Block and Norm Jaeger belted four-baggers for Buffalo.

Rookie Sam Webb went the route for the Giants, allowing six hits.

The scheduled games between Montreal and Syracuse and Toronto and Baltimore were postponed by rain.

Find Farmer Unimpressed By Oil Discovery

BOTHWELL, April 28 (CP). — Standing on the threshold of oil riches, Hilliard Stocking, a farmer four miles north of here, today continued his spring planting, unimpressed by the oil pouring out of a newly drilled well in the midst of his wheat field.

The well came in over the weekend, and while not yet pumping, has already filled two big 57-barrel tank trucks with rich crude oil brought up in baling tests in the last 24 hours.

The well, said to be one of the richest ever brought in this district, was described by one veteran oil man, who has ben on hand at the discovery of practically every important well in Western Ontario in the last 10 years, as even better than the Staples gusher which came in late last year.

Meanwhile, as the drillers continue their preparations to start pumping the new well, Mr. Stocking continues his chores around the farm, unwilling to jump to the conclusion that he is likely to be a rich man.

"They don't tell me anything, he observed. "All I know is that a couple of trucks went out of here this morning loaded with oil for Sarnia."

The farmer, who lives with his wife in a weathered frame house in the heart of a flat, marshy district, between Bothwell and Shetland, is inclined to be philosophical about the possibility he will become wealthy.

"They tell me I'll get every eighth barrel as royalty if it produces," he said, "That'll give me quite a bit of money, won't it? Well, I'll use it to do a bit of good. There have been plenty of times when I could have used a little help."

Oleo Forces In U.S. Win First Victory

WASHINGTON, April 28 — (AP). — Dairy state congressmen drove hard Tuesday to require triangular-shaped oleo margarine packages so the product can be "clearly distinguished from butter."

They brought forth this proposal as they conceded that the House of Representatives will vote tomorrow to repeal the 62-year-old Federal taxes on oleo.

However, they still hope the repealer bill can be stopped in the Senate.

The oleo forces won their first test against the butter bloc yesterday. The House vote 235 to 121 then to discharge its agriculture committee from further consideration of various repealer bills and to put the issue squarely to the House floor for a showdown. The agriculture committee had voted 16 to 10 to shelves the bills.

Oppose Dropping Word 'Dominion'

OTTAWA, April 28. (CP)—The Commons yesterday gave first reading to a bill that would eliminate the word "Dominion" for Canadian laws, orders, regulations and official titles.

The bill, opposed by Progressive Conservative members, was sponsored by Bona Arsenault (L., Bonaventure).

Mr. Arsenault said the bill would have the title "Dominion of Canada" substituted by "Canada". Where the word "Dominion" appeared alone it would be substituted by "Canada" or Canadian."

Mr. Arsenault said that since Canada had become a sovereign nation, the word "Dominion" no longer had its original meaning.

Liberal and CCF members applauded introduction of the bill. Progressive Conservative members shouted "No, No," when Speaker Gaspard Fautex asked if the bill would be read a first time. However, the motion carried and the measure will be discussed at a later date.

Believe Ivers "Ill"

Fish Restocking Underway Now In This Area

LINDSAY, April 28.—(ENS).—Game Inspector A. M. Hodgson of the Department of Lands and Forests announced today that the season's first truck load of 3,000 speckled trout for restocking purposes has been planted in streams throughout the district. The shipment was delivered on Friday.

Inspector Hodgson said 500 of the trout were planted in Blackwater Creek, 500 in the Uxbridge "Electric Light" Pond, 1,600 in Chalk Lake and 400 in the Elgin Park Pond at Uxbridge. In addition, 1,000 speckled trout not included in the above shipment were planted in Archer's Creek east of Omemee.

More shipments will be arriving at intervals to restock the Kawartha Lakes and adjacent waters, the inspector pointed out. He said the number of brown trout to be planted in this district in 1948 will likely exceed the number of speckled trout. He was unable to say how many fish would be planted during the season.

Costa Rican Delegate Penniless, Leaves UN

LAKE SUCCESS, April 28—(CP) — Dr. Ricardo Fournier, Costa Rican delegate to the United Nations, was scheduled to fly home today leaving his country's U.N. seat vacant.

He said that his move followed a request made earlier to his government because he had insufficient funds to continue here.

Meanwhile, the New York Times said reports from San Jose, capital of the recently strife-torn Republic, was called home partly because he had suddenly voted with the Russian bloc after long siding with the Western powers.

However, suggestions that Fournier is pro-Communist, were ridiculed here by other Latin American delegates.

Narrow Escape

PICTON, April 28—(CP). —When one end of an iron pipe he was carrying came into contact with a high tension wire, Alton Chapman, 34, was held fast to the pipe with electricity running through him. Only when a fellow worker managed to knock the pipe against another wire, causing a short circuit, was he able to release his hold.

GAVE TIP-OFF for capture of the escaped killers from Kingston penitentiary came from farmer Fred Ruttan, who saw car turn at his gate. He watched fugitives pry fender off tire, later told police when he learned of the escape..

Decide May 2 Blossom Sunday

ST. CATHARINES, April 28 — Thousands from Ontario and the Northern States are expected to visit the Niagara Peninsula next week in the annual pilgrimage to view the blossoms. The blossoms, expected during the first week in May, are appearing a little earlier this year than last.

Blossom Sunday for the western area of the peninsula will likely be May 9. A sudden sweep of warm air to the south is expected to move in and rush along the blossoms, even now beginning to appear.

In the Queenston area, blossom Sunday has been named for May 2. A fruit grower in that district reports cherries there are almost out in blossom, and says peaches will be out soon.

Dr. E. F. Palmer, director of the Dominion Experimental Station at Vineland, called blossom week for the first week in May. He said growers would have blossoms on pear trees by Sunday. Apricots are coming out and sweet cherries will soon follow. Dr. Palmer thought the blossoming would last a week and possibly longer.

First Showing of the All-New 1949 MERCURY

Mercury moves up into an entirely new class! It's a bigger, heavier, more powerful, more beautifully appointed car. In appearance, in riding luxury, in engineering and in performance it has new distinction, new advancements everywhere you look.

All-New Long, Low Lines

At first glance this all-new 1949 Mercury reminds you of those low, rocketing racers which streaked across the salt beds of Utah. It's a big car—and exceptionally broad. And it's really low—only 5 feet 3 inches from road to roof line. In its sweeping harmony of curves there's the very spirit of dynamic motion. Yes, this great new Mercury moves like a whisper with its new, powerful, 110 horsepower V-type, 8-cylinder engine.

All-New Interior Luxury

Inside the all-new Mercury you will find that every detail combines maximum convenience and usefulness with clean modern* design. The instruments are grouped for easy reading in a housing which is set out from the main panel directly in front of the driver. The rear seat is a full five feet wide and the floor is lowered to give plenty of headroom. From the broad, deep windshield to the big new rear window you get a wide-open view in all directions. Interior lights come on when any door is opened. The car is ventilated with clean fresh air supplied under slight pressure to prevent closed-car drowsiness and to defog windows. When a Mercury heater is installed the system provides fresh, warm air.

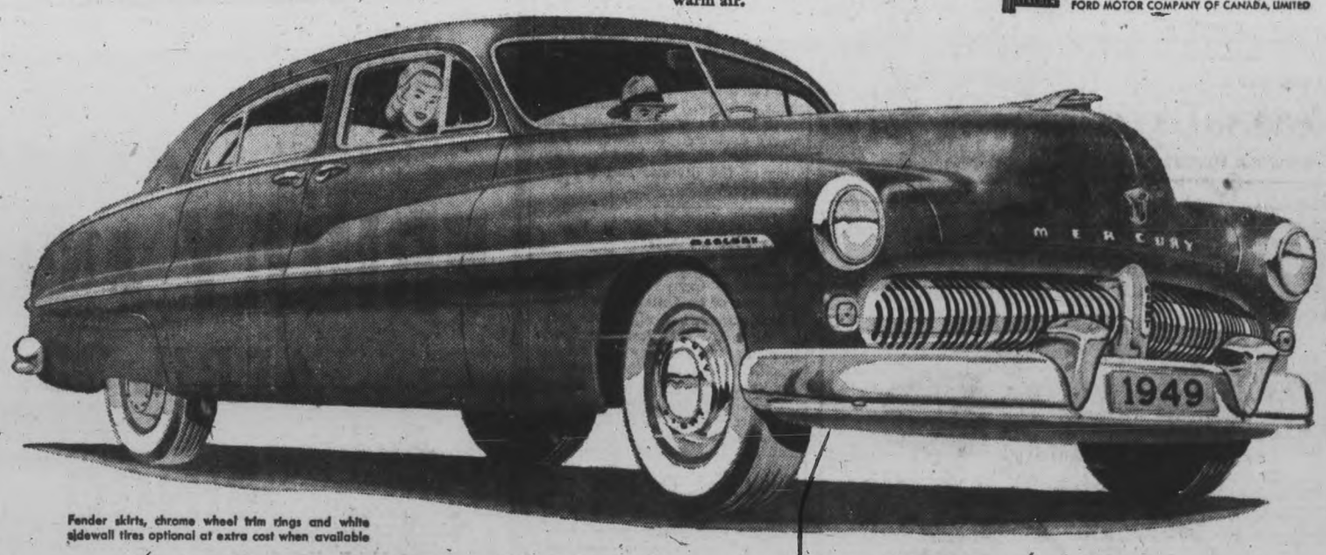
All-New Lullaby Ride

There's a new "Lullaby Ride" in the all-new Mercury which is the result of many features, all developed in perfect balance. The passengers are cradled in the "comfort zone" well forward of the rear wheels. Independent front wheel suspension with coil springs; long, longitudinal rear springs; soft-acting telescopic shock absorbers and the new low-pressure tires all combine to give a new high in riding comfort. The new low centre of gravity and ride stabilizer take the "lean" out of road curves.



All-New Ease of Control

It's a real pleasure to drive this all-new Mercury with its effortless "straight-line" steering. Road shock does not reach the wheel. The all-new hydraulic brakes have a self-energizing action so that they require very little foot pressure.

So that's the story—or rather just part of the story—of the all-new 1949 Mercury now ready for your inspection at Mercury and Lincoln dealers. There are many more advancements—too many to mention them all. But when you see it you'll know why thousands soon will be saying "It's Mercury for me!"

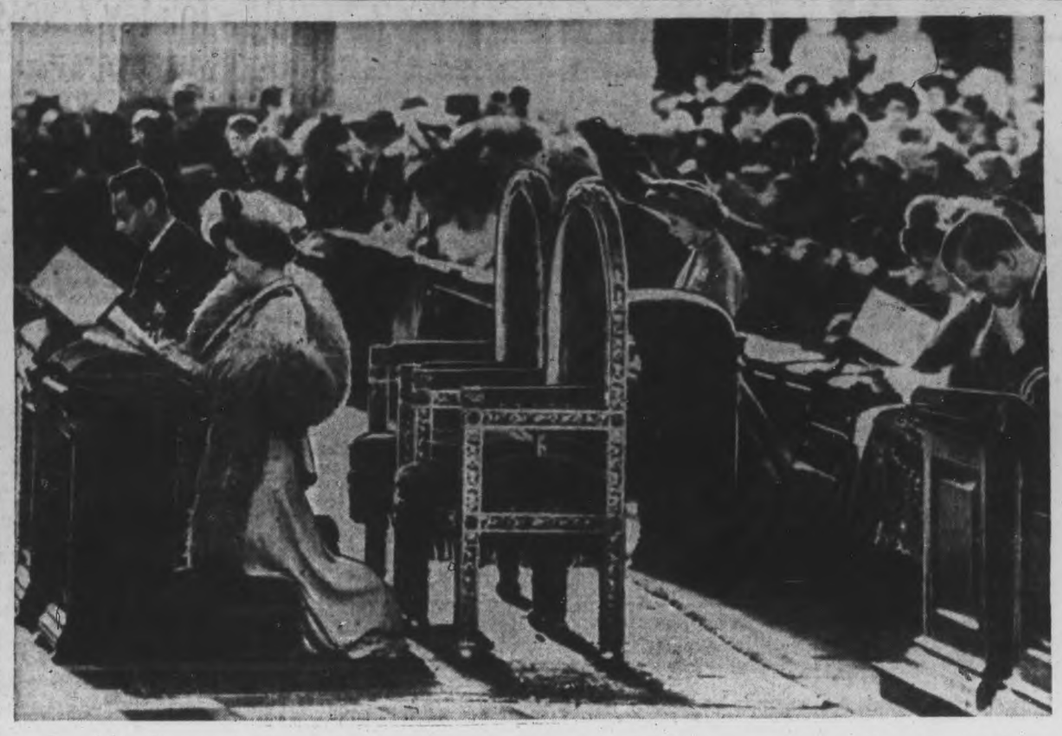
Says Canada Not Seeking Favors From U.S.

By CLYDE BLACKBURN.

WASHINGTON, April 28 (CP)—C. Bruce Hill of St. Catharines, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, yesterday told an audience here that "Canada wants and expects nothing from the United States other than the consideration normally given a best customer, a good risk, and a good friend."



Hill spoke at the morning session of the United States Chamber of Commerce annual meeting and said "The mantle of world leadership has fallen upon the shoulders of the people of these United States." But "a Canada, strong both economically and politically, is vital to the fulfilment of the destiny of the United States of America....

"It is in the mutual interests of our two countries that the destinies of the United States and Canada run a parallel course."

The United States had done a good job in helping develop Canadian resources and production, with some 2,000 branch plants located there and an investment of $5,000,000,000.

Then he drew attention to the fact that Canada in 1947 had spent $2,000,000,000 in purchases of United States commodities against about half that amount spent by the United States in Canada.

This had brought about a critical shortage in Canada of United States dollars. Nevertheless, Canada asked only the consideration normally given a best customer and friend.

Robinson Fights Deportation; Applies For Writ

TORONTO, April 28 — (CP)—An application for a writ of habaes corpus was made here late yesterday on behalf of Reid Robinson, United States labor leader, who has been ordered deported.

The writ is returnable Friday and argument will take place then as to whether the vice-president of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (CIO) will have to abide by the decision of an Immigration Board.

The board ruled previously Robinson had shown Communistic leanings during his work among miners in Northern Quebec and Ontario since he entered Canada last fall. It decided Robinson, a prisoner in Don Jail here since Monday, had violated a Federal law providing for deportation of foreign labor organizers considered undesirable.

Robinson has denied the charge.

Basis for the writ is the claim by Robinson's counsel, C. L. Dubin of Toronto, that the board acted without sufficient evidence.

Mr. Dubin filed with the court a transcript of the evidence taken at the Immigration Board hearing. In doing so he placed on the public record the testimony given at a session from which the public was barred.

In it, Robinson said he lent his name as a sponsor to several organizations reported by RCMP Inspector John Leopold as having been designated in the United States as Communist-Front organizations.

They included the American Council for Soviet Friendship, a refugee committee, a civil rights organization, and a group called the American Youth Congress.

Colonial Powers Overhaul Attitude Towards Colonies

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 28 —(CP)—The old conception of colonies as closed corporations, shut off from their neighbors and outside influences, is being overhauled by Britain and other powers.

These developments of historic importance are in progress:

1. Plans for West European unity involve co-operation not only between Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg on the continent but in their colonial possessions. The results, especially in Africa, will be important: better facilities for movement of raw materials to convenient ports, collaboration in the development of useful services and over-all planning for territories with common interests.

2. British colonies now are being treated as groups where their interests converge. The first meeting of the East African Central Assembly has just been held in Nairobi, Kenya. The assembly has power to legislate on a specified range of subjects connected with the operation of common services in Kenya, Uganda and Tanganyika, where 87,000 whites and 13,000,000 African natives reside.

In these developments, the assistance of native legislators and officials is used increasingly. Thus they become familiar with zonal and international collaboraton, training which colonial officials say is necessary for those who eventually will control their own affairs.

End Of Competition

International co-operation on colonial schemes marks the end of competition among these nations for enlarged colonial influence. It should do much to eliminate the unrest sometimes bred among native peoples by knowledge of better conditions existing outside their own territories.

While ready for international collaboration, however, the British are not prepared to turn over their colonies to others, and even when mandated territories were offered for United Nations' trusteeship Britain suggested that existing administrative services should continue.

While Labor as an opposition party criticized "imperialist" policies which resulted in territory beng added to the Empire long ago, the present colonial secretary, E. Creech Jones, said Britain could not withdraw from colonial responsibilities and must regard them as a legacy of duty.

"Labor cannot repudiate the facts of history and seek to return to the world when colonies were non-existent," he said.

"...The work of nation building includes the growth among the colored peoples of tolerance, social responsibility, voluntary initiative and public spirit.

Woman Not Surprised To Win $25,000 Suit

THOROLD, April 28.—(CP).—Mrs. Carrie M. Smallman said last night she was not surprised she had won her Supreme Court of Canada appeal by which she will receive $25,000 breach of promise damages from the estate of a fiance who died before their marriage could take place.

Mrs. Smallman, mother of three children, was divorced from her husband in 1941 and was to have married Frank William Moore. She operated a drug store for 25 years and disposed of it last year.

"I am not surprised," she said. "I was confident I would win my appeal. It was what I expected."

Criticize Minister's Act

BUFFALO, N.Y., April 28. — (AP). — The Buffalo-Niagara Presbytery expressed "surprise and regret" yesterday that a Presbyterian minister officiated at the Hollywood wedding of Lana Turner and Henry J. (Bob) Topping. About 100 elders and clergymen passed a resolution asking the presbytery of Los Angeles to "administer such reprimand or discipline as the situation in this judgment deserves." The church decrees that a clergyman "shall not marry divorced persons until one year has passed between the time of the divorce and the remarriage."

Police said the driver of the truck, Harry Smith, 32, of Cornwall township, will appear in court today on a charge of manslaughter.

Have Hose On Ship

CORNWALL, April 28.—(CP).—There was steam hose equipment on the Canada Steamship Lines freighter Saskatoon when she passed unmolested through Cornwall yesterday. Capt. G. C. Kirk admitted that the vessel, manned by Canadian Lake Seamen Union members, was equipped with the hose against attack by the rival Canadian Seamen's Union.

OTTAWA, April 28.—(CP).—A full scale debate on external affairs will open in the Commons Thursday. External Affairs Minister St. Laurent told Commons members yesterday that, if neecessary, the debate will be continued into Friday to permit full discussion of Canada's foreign relations.

Top U.S. Officials Badly Worried Over Arab Army Attack Reports

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP).—Top American officials are gravely disturbed today over reports that Arab states are prepared to send armies into Palestine.

The main fear is that while the United Nations is still trying to find some way to keep peace in the Holy Land, both the Jews and Arabs may take steps which will make outright war there inevitable.

In this respect officials draw a sharp distinction between the current fighting in Palestine and the involvement of either Arab or Jewish forces from outside the Holy Land.

At the moment it seems certain that the appearance of external forces would confront the UN with an act of aggression which would test its resources and strain its prestige to the utmost.

There appeared to be little doubt, therefore, that the Palestine situation figured prominently in a secret meeting State Secretary Marshall held last night with three of his top advisers.

United States policy on Palestin for the past several months has been aimed primarily at one objective: to get the Jews and Arabs to stop fighting and, at the least, to agree to live together temporarily under an armed truce.

This has been a fundamental condition of various United States proposals to the UN, including the promise to join with other UN members in sending an international police force into the Holy Land.

More Dangerous

However, if there now is an actual invasion of Palestine from Trans-Jordan, Egypt or any of the other Arab states which have figured in news dispatches of the last two days, both the United States and the UN would be confronted with a new and more dangerous situation.

So long as Britain remains the legal governing power over the Holy Land—until May 15—any invasion probably would be regarded officially by the United States as an act of aggression within the UN charter. The UN security council then would be face to face for the first time with the necessity of deciding what to do about it.

What makes the situation so critical at the moment is that Britain is scheduled to give up the Palestine mandate in just 18 more days.

After that time the legal status of the Holy Land will be in doubt. Jews and Arabs will be making conflicting claims as to their rights, and there will be no established international agency, in responsible American opinion, capable of dealing adequately and swiftly with the dager of war in a land to which no one has a clear title.

Corporation Cuts Steel Prices

NEW YORK, April 28—(AP)—The United States steel corporation has stopped the third round of wage increases in heavy industries by its recent price-cutting move, National Metalworking Weekly, said today.

The $25,000,000-a-year price reduction came in the face of one of the heaviest freight rate increases and the possibility of bigger coal costs later this year.

The Iron Age said there is no evidence that it was political, that it was not made to meet steel price competition, and there was no relation between the price cut and a refusal to raise wages.

The wage question, the Iron Age, said, was a point of discussion among United States steel officials before the increase in semi-finished steel prices took place.

War-Torn Area Has By-Election

LONDON, April 28 — (CP).—Southwark Central, constituency in London, votes in a by-election on Thursday.

The atmosphere in this 42nd by-election since the Labor Government came to power in 1945, has been almost eerie. Southwark Central suffered brutal losses from German bombing and whole streets were clipped off the canvassers' lists. Rebuilding has been slow and the number of voters reduced from pre-war years.

The constituency has been recommended for amalgamation with two others and the vote probably will be the last held under the existing distribution of parliamentary seats.

The candidates largely have confined their appeals to local issues such as housing. As a result Southwark Central has appeared remote from the furies of national controversy which marked other recent by-elections.

Labor won the seat in the 1945 general elections with a 3-to-1 majority over the Conservatives. Labor supporters say that they are confident of victory and are concerned only with the size of the majority their candidate obtains.

SPECKLED TROUT, BROWN TROUT SEASON OPENS SATURDAY MAY 1

FROM THE BANCROFT DISTRICT—Alderman Adam Sands got this mess of large speckled trout in the Bancroft area while fishing along with Lorne Bateman and Ross Hood. The trout range from 15 to 18 inches in length and all were taken from Spring lake using worms as bait. This was one of best catches brought into the city last year.

Outdoors

With PETE McGILLEN

YOU'LL SHIVER when your feet hit the cold floor at four next Saturday morning, because it's coolish at dawn, but you won't be alone for that is the first day of trout fishing, and the rush to the creeks will be on. Weather conditions could be anything from perfect to rotten but that won't make any difference either. You can't wait any longer to unlimber that fly rod, and not even an unexpected May snowstorm could keep you between the bed covers. All preparations will have been made the night before, the waders, warm socks, old trousers, warm jacket, rod, line, flies and worms, a couple of cold beef sandwiches wrapped in waxed paper, perhaps a thermos of tea or coffee and you're off.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

IF THE WEATHER is halfway decent you can hit your favorite stream when the full-throated chorus of songsters is heralding another day with melody. It helps a lot if you stand and hearken to this choir. The sun won't be over the horizon yet, and there will be a sharp chill in the air. Perhaps a few stray wisps of fog will be suspended along the brook. The tag alders and the bare lofty elms have a ghostly appearance at this time of day, and the far-off barking of a farmer's dog is a welcome note of life. You are too interested to even wish you were back home in a warm bed, because you have spotted a place where the creek waters sing a merry song as they whip a series of riffles across a slanting gravel bed, and a pool is formed at the bottom. That is your objective. There should be trout feeding at the foot of the riffles, or deep in the pool.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

WHERE CAN YOU GO? There is the Cavan stream and pond, the Millbrook stream and pond, the Mount Pleasant stream, and the Garden Hill stream to list the best known spots west and south of the city. East on No. 7 is the Little Ouse, and it's east branch which flows through Norwood. That millpond at Norwood should be worth a try also. Down Birdsall way, there is the Birdsall stream, plus another one which flows into Rice lake in the vicinity of an old railway right of way. Sorry I don't know its exact location but Alex Kay can advise you. Plato creek at Havelock, and Belaparine creek are both good, but the latter may be leased, you will have to check that point. Eel's creek up Apsley way produced some whopping big browns during the past few years. There is a small creek that cuts across Lindsay highway about a mile east of the railway crossing. This stream has some nice trout. That's only a partial list, but enough for the newcomers to use for making enquiries among the trout fishing fraternity.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

PERHAPS YOU ARE FORTUNATE in that you can journey for a week-end to the Bancroft area. Shanty lake, Diamond lake, and Echo lake in the Maynooth area are three of the best known spots. This trip takes a bit of planning and if you are wise you will take somebody along who knows the fishing spots. Brown trout up to nine pounds have been taken in Shanty lake. Alderman Adam Sands, Lorne Bateman, Harley Keefer, Alf Townsend, Norm Elliott, Ross Hood, Doug Anderson or Doc McKee, all know good speckled and brown spots in this North Hastings section. Just push any of them into a corner, brandish a sizeable maple stick over their heads and say "OK, buddy, start talking, where did you get that four pound speckled last spring, and no malarky." Jack Hayward, Jack Arnott and Cam Rowatt know some good northern spots too, but their memories are not so good when one starts making enquiries. You will have to use sterner methods on this trio. Better start on Hayward, and pretend you are going to build a house this year, that will throw him off his guard.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

THERE ARE FOUR principal methods of trout fishing: bait fishing, spinner, wet fly and dry fly. All four methods require the same or similar tackle, a flyrod, and line to balance it, and a single action or automatic reel. Still, a fifth method calls for bait casting tackle and lures such as wobbling spoons and small plugs, but bait casting for trout, while very effective where the trout run large, is not practiced nearly as widely as the first four types. Flies are a hot subject for argument, but if an angler has the following his assortment should be fairly complete for wet fly fishing—Royal Coachman, Campbell's fancy, March Brown, Gray Hackle, Light and Dark Cahill, Black Gnat, Gold-ribbed Hare's Ear on hook sizes 10 and 12. In addition the all-round fly fisherman should have a few bucktails or streamers and a few nymphs imitating Mayflies and stoneflies. It is wise to include a few small spinners. When the water is high, cold and muddy and trout won't take flies try worms and minnows. Worms should be allowed to drift naturally with the current, bumping along the bottom and tumbling into spots where such foods settle naturally. Minnows either may be drifted with the current or pulled against it. They should be fished deep. Big trout have a weakness for them.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

THAT PARAGRAPH is for the super-fishermen, the aristocrats who let their kids go hungry and rob their wives of new clothes to buy fishing tackle. If you don't belong to that fraternity, take any fishing rod, be it a Whitehall Aristocrat or an ordinary willow gad, dig a few small worms, get a couple of No. 10 hooks and you are all set. So long as you don't tramp around a stream like a bull moose, you have a good chance to land enough trout to make life interesting. Of course, if some joker is making a whale of a lot of noise, there is just one thing to do, throw him into the stream.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

BAG LIMIT IS 20 FISH, not to exceed ten pounds in weight. That is for speckled or brook trout. The browns and speckles have a seven inch minimum legal size and you can take seven browns in any one day. Many trout fishermen won't keep anything under ten inches and that's a good rule. Some, too, say they won't keep a fish they are ashamed to take from the creel and show a fellow-fisherman. Trout addicts get mad as hatters at pickerel fishermen who clutter trout streams using every kind of bait from jointed pikie minnows to heavy hooks and dew worms. That sort of thing indicates there are a lot of people running loose who should be in Whitby, and I don't blame the trout fishermen for being angry. The larger the hook, the less chance an angler has of returning the undersized trout to the water alive. Fishing for pickerel calls for action galore and noise doesn't matter, but on a trout stream, for Heaven's sake tread softly, don't go barging along the bank like an elephant. That ruins all chances of getting fish.

THOUSANDS OF TROUT are killed annually through the carelessness of fishermen, and the worst offender is the bad-tempered fellow who gets angry at a small fish and tosses it as far as he can either up or downstream. It is far easier to free the fish at your feet with the minimum of harm. If fishing is to survive, the responsibility is on every fisherman to use care in releasing undersized trout. Just remember if you have to apologize for the size of the speckles in your creel, they shouldn't be there. Every year more men and boys are added to the great army of fishermen, hence the drain on the trout population is growing, so more thought must be given to perpetuating this grand sport. It's your fun, you are not only the judge and jury but also the man on trial. You will be the loser if the fishing is poor, so do your part and don't tolerate any waste or lawbreaking by four friends. It is far better too, to come home with a full heart than with a full creel.

A LOVELY CATCH — Norm Elliott (left) and Lorne Bateman, both of Peterborough, got this mess of speckled trout in the Bancroft area of North Hastings. None were under 15 inches, and the largest was 18 inches long. Both men report they are heading into the same area to start the season again this spring.

Water Conditions Said Favorable For Good Results On Opening Day Of Trout Fishing

District streams are flowing fast and clear, with scarcely any muddy water or flood conditions, a picture that will bring happy thoughts to the army of anglers who want to open the fishing season bright and early Saturday morning. That is the first day of the speckled and brown trout season, and it means too, that only 15 days remain until the pickerel fishermen can unlimber their casting rods and get going along the Otonabee River and the Trent River spots.

Enquiries from trout fishermen who have visited the streams to note conditions, reveal that heavy rains of last week pushed the Ouse river over its banks north of Highway 7, but few of the other streams appear to be noticeably affected. They were running full for a few days last week, and several were brought back temporarily to the spring flood conditions. It didn't take long for the waters to clear, and subside to near summer levels.

Arguments as to the merits of fly fishing against bait fishing have been raging along the line of lathes and milling machines in the DeLaval, CGE and Johnson Motors, and carpenters on city projects have hammered automatically while they waxed enthusiastic over the prospects of a good

TROUT STREAMS IN DISTRICT REPORTED TO BE AT SUMMER LEVELS

TROUT SEASON OPENS—Saturday, May 1, marks the start of speckled and brown trout fishing in Ontario, and district streams will be dotted with anglers, who have anxiously awaited this day of days. Jack Hayward, Peterborough contractor is shown trying to decide whether or not to change flies, as he works a deep pool on the Cavan stream. This stream with its clear, cold water and many inviting holes is one of the most popular trout fishing spots in the district.

Water Conditions

catch Saturday morning. Fortunately most of the city industries are on a five-day week, and production therefore won't suffer because of the trout season opening.

Anglers regard the conditions as normal, and trout catches should be good for both the fly fishermen and the worm-dunkers. The youngsters too should be quite happy over a Saturday outing for the suckers are still running in the district creeks, and a feed of these from a cold stream make a fine meal.

Fishing in all of the lakes in Peterborough county which are inhabited with bass, maskinonge or lake trout is forbidden until July 1. This means that although there may be speckled trout or brown trout in a lake, no fisherman may put a line in the water if the same lake has bass, maskinonge or lake trout. This regulation makes it illegal to fish in Mississauga or Eagle, although both have speckles and browns.

In the case of Jack's lake and Loon lake which have pickerel in them, the angler may fish for these from May 15 on, but must abide by the natural bait law from an anchored boat.

This ruling will probably surprise a lot of fishermen, but the laws in Peterborough county were originally framed for the protection of the main game fish, namely bass and maskinonge, and the presence of other species in these same waters are a temptation that must be passed up.

The provisions are set forth in regulation 30, page 2 of the summary of game and fisheries Act and Regulations, 1947, recently distributed by the Dept. of Lands and Forests. The section reads. "It is unlawful to fish in the counties of Victoria, Peterborough, Durham and Northumberland and the waters of the Trent rivers, Lake Scugog, Crow Lake, Crow River and Beaver Creek in any county from October 16 to June 30 inclusive, except that this does not apply—

(a) To the taking of speckled trout, brown trout, or rainbow trout during the respective open seasons in waters not inhabited by black bass, maskinonge and lake trout.

(b) To the taking of any fish, in respect of which an open season prevails, from an anchored boat, using other than artificial bait, or from the shore from May 15 to June 30.

This is quite clear, and Game Overseer Windsor when asked about this section explained it means no trout fishing in Eagle or Mississauga lake, or in Eagle lake creek before July 1.

GOOD LUCK IN '47 — This string of speckled trout was caught on opening day last year by three Peterborough anglers. In fact the trio was back in the city before ten o'clock with the catch. From left to right, Ray Pearson, Warren Smith and Wilbur Widdis. They fished in Cavan stream.

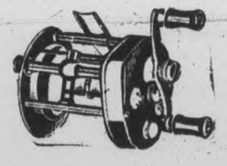
"SPINNING" TACKLE!



Introducing the Leighton NO. 1 REEL

We feel that we are offering an article that will add considerably to the joy of fishing and fill a long-felt want.

The general fishing seasons, most of which open this month, will see a whole army of employing radically different tackle; for spinning, that extremely productive method long popular in England, has finally shown itself solidly established in the United States. Almost every fisherman I've talked to has either already tried it, just purchased an outfit, or plans to shortly. Spinning is undoubtedly the most important and progressive step made in the field of fishing in many decades. It may be defined as the use of a specially-designed, long, flexible rod, stationary spool reel, and very fine, light line, for the purpose of casting lures too light for plug outfits, too heavy for fly outfits. This means, in very general terms, lures in the weight category of from one-eighth to three eighths of an ounce. Thus spinning fills an important and obvious gap in our otherwise modern angling methods. (Absolutely NO BACK LASH) (Cast further—no drag).

The Woodland Swamp...

Cool woodland swamps and open sunny marshes provide homes for waterfowl, beavers and muskrats. They help maintain the underground water-level, assisting the farmer through the dry summer months. The diagrams below show how the draining of swamps often causes wells to dry up, destroys vegetation, paves the way for spring floods. A soil expert should be consulted before a marsh or swamp is drained, to make sure that the project will serve a worthwhile purpose; drained land is sometimes useless for agriculture. Thorold Woman Gets $25,000 In Breach-Of-Promise Suit

OTTAWA, April 28.—(CP).—In a judgment rare in British Law, the Supreme Court of Canada today allowed an appeal by Mrs. Carrie M. Smallman of Thorold, Ont., by which she will receive $25,000 breach-of-promise damages from the estate of a fiancee who died before their marriage could take place.

Mrs. Smallman, mother of three children who operates a drug store in Thorold, was divorced from her husband in 1941 and was to have married Frank William Moore, also of Thorold.

The wedding, Mrs. Smallman said, was to have taken place Oct. 28, 1944, but was postponed because of illness in Mr. Moore's family. A similar postponement was made Feb. 24, 1945, the new date set for the wedding. On April 17, 1945, Mr. Moore died at the age of 62.

Mrs. Smallman sued the estate and an Ontario Supreme Court judgment awarded her $25,100 and costs. On appeal to the Ontario Appeal Court this judgment was set aside and action dismissed with costs on the ground there was lack of corroboration of the evidence given by Mrs. Smallman to support her claim that there actually was a break of the contract to marry.

The Supreme Court of Canada today allowed the appeal, reversing the judgment of the Ontario Appeal Court.

Net value of Mr. Moore's estate, as shown in the succession duty affidavit, was $113,893.

Vandenberg Hints Alliance Against Reds

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—Senator Arthur Vandenberg tossed out a fresh hint to Russia last night that the United States may join Western Europe in a military alliance against Communist aggression.

The Michigan Senator at the same time served this warning on Americans:

"We are suicidal fools if we do not root out and destroy any treason at home which may dream of bringing world revolution to the United States."

Above all, Premier Stalin should understand that "we shall not surrender to Communist conspiracies in the United States."

The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee made his pronouncements at a dinner given by Michigan Chambers of Commerce and Trade Associations. He declined afterwards to expand on his remarks.

Vandenberg appeared to be adding his own support to mounting indications that the United States will throw its military as well as its economic weight against Communist expansion in Europe.

There has been speculation that an American military alliance with the Western European union now being organized might take the form of a regional defence system under the United Nations. The union is being created as an adjunct of the European recovery program.

Ship Strikes Island Rock

FORT WILLIAM, April 28 — (CP). — One lake freighter was safe in port to-day after striking a rock near Passage Island, and 11 crew members voluntarily walked off another ship as full-scale navigation at the Lakehead was under way for the first time this year.

While rivalry between two seamen's unions was confined to picketing, the waterfront spotlight focused on the grain carrier Howard Hindman and the packet freighter Superior.

The 3,000-ton Hindman suffered minor damage Sunday when the stern plates scraped a submerged rock in the vicinity of the Emperor disaster. The carrier was creeping through blinding fog.

One of about 25 vessels to reach the Lakehead over the fog-shrouded week-end, the Superior lost 11 of her crew yesterday. The men quit their jobs in protest against what spokesmen said were unsatisfactory working conditions aboard the North-west Lines freighter. The company has a working agreement with Pat Sullivan's Canadian Lake Seamen's Union and the walk-off was hailed by the rival Canadian Seamen's Union as a "bloodless victory."

Thieves Break 4 Doors, Smash A Window Getting Into School, Take Only One Pen

LINDSAY, April 28.—(ENS).—A rural public school, two miles east of here, on the Peterborough highway, was broken into during the week-end, but police report only a fountain pen is missing. Miss Jean Hope, Lindsay, teacher at the school, discovered the entry Monday morning.

Prov. Constable Ray Lawson says the prowlers caused considerable damage gaining entry, breaking three doors and damaging a fourth. The officer said entry appeared to have been first attempted by way of the front door, and a window in the entrance was smashed. He said they smashed a door leading to the basement, another leading into a washroom, and a third to get into the school proper. The teacher's desk was rifled, but nothing was missing from it.

Eight were caught near Kirkfield when shooting fish from a bridge over the Talbot River with a .22 rifle.

Sylvester Sawyer of Rosedale was fined $0 and costs on Monday as a result of his apprehension while fishing near that village on April 19.

City Council Not Opposing New Civic Arena Ald. Dodds Tells Examiner

"Civic Arena Committee is not asking the council for any money for our secondary rink," said Ald. Hurrell Dodds today. "We won't need to. All kinds of people have said they would contribute $100 as soon as they saw the work started. We are not asking anything of the city. They provide a piece of property and we put a rink on it for them. There is nothing in it for any of the members of the committee, except the satisfaction of having a suitable rink for the youth of Peterborough."

"The reference in The Examiner to financing the rink has caused a lot of uneasiness. Many of the people who telephoned me last night were under the impression there had been a meeting of the council about this matter."

'Of course, there has been nothing of the kind. We have the promise of the Park St. land, and that is all the council has done, one way or the other."

Want No Failure

'My personal feeling in this undertaking is that it would be a great mistake if Peterborough permitted any talk of failure about this secondary rink. Not because of the building so much, but because a group of young people are trying to do something constructive for the community, and if we fail them in this effort we can't tell what effect it would have on the future interest and enthusiasm of our youth."

"So, we mustn't let them down. Help them to accomplish what they have undertaken, and there will be later on other things they will want to promote."

"It is all very well for Ald. Grant Miller to be impatient about the Memorial Community Centre, and if he can get anything started everybody will be happy. I don't think the Centre committee could get away from the terms of their trust. That is what members of the committee have intimated, and for that reason we don't know when work on the Centre will be under way. But, it won't be this year, and maybe not next."

Ald. Dodds said there was a great deal of support for the secondary rink. Many heads of industry and business men were sympathetic.

To Start In May

"We intend to get started next month and have the building up by November, and I hate to see anything suggested at this stage that might hurt the cause. Not that it would be hurt, because the rink is going ahead. Too many people are interested in it. As

Serious Loss Averted At New School

A serious fire at Confederation Public School was averted on Tuesday when smouldering tiling and wood beams were discovered adjacent to a steel girder that had been welded shortly before. Damage was estimated at almost $300.

The small blaze was discovered just before 6 p.m. after workmen had left for the day. Apparently heat from a plate that was being welded on a steel joint outside the building, crept along the girder into the interior of the second-storey ceiling. There it ignited the woodwork and the acoustic tiling.

Confederation School is at present having six rooms added to it, and the blaze broke out in one of the rooms that was almost completely decorated.

Joseph Emery, Park St., school caretaker, by chance happened to return to the building after previously going home. When he arrived he detected smoke and immediately turned in the alarm.

Cost of the damage will include replacement of a wooden beam, joist, a small section of tiling which was ripped away by firemen, and repainting.

Firemen had little difficulty reaching the source of the smouldering and they soon extinguished it.

SHORTAGE OF HELP

An acute shortage of men to work on extension of Hydro lines throughout Victoria and Haliburton exists at present, Ontario Treasurer Frost said in an interview at Lindsay. One hundred men are wanted to work on district power extension and on the new line being built from Coe Hill to Haliburton through the villages of Gooderham, Tory Hill and Wilberforce.

$3,500 For Dixon House Not Available In Budget

Peterborough Recreation Commission held a special meeting on Tuesday evening in the Council Chamber to determine its financial situation and decide how it could assist the various recreational organizations in Peterborough. The Commission has a total grant at present from the City Council of $18,000, with $4,000 already set aside for band purposes by the Council. A grant of $3,000 is expected from the Provincial Government.

Grants were made to the following organizations: Minor Lacrosse Association, $250; Trojan Athletic Club, $200; Minor Hockey Association, $300.

The Peterborough and District Football League (soccer) had applied for a grant of $100 for the purchase of new nets, explaining that their ground was used by the neighboring schools and the nets were now beyond repair, but it was decided by the Recreation Commission not to make the grant but to purchase the nets for the League at a cost of not more than $100.

The question of the operation of Dixon House was discussed, and it was adopted on motion by W. Bennett and seconded by R. Bolton that the Recreation Commission allocate for the operation of Dixon House the sum of $3,500, and that the secretary be authorized to advise the City Council that the allocation is over and above the estimated budget of the Commission as presented to the Council.

Recreation director, Jack Dane, submitted a report, originally made at the request of the chairman of the Parks Board and by the parks superintendent, Armar Butcher, and himself, regarding a playground in Dutton sub district with a recommendation that certain land be purchased for such a purpose. This report had already been submitted to the parks board and turned down by the board without consulting the recreation commission. A year ago, a similar report was filed with the city council through the recreation commission that the same piece of property be set aside but it was turned down. In rejecting the report for the second time, the parks board instructed the parks superintendent to place playground equipment in an area considered unsuitable by both the parks superintendent and the recreation director.

Mr. Dane said he felt that the attitude of the city council was that ground set aside for a park or playground was wasted ground, and that it was only willing to set aside land miles from anywhere. "I do not see why there is such a thing as the recreation commission," he said, "when recommendations are tossed out before the commission is consulted."

A motion by R. Bolton and Dick Ouimet that the chairman be requested to arrange a meeting with the city council to determine the duties of the recreation commission was passed.

W. B. Gordon, chairman, presided.

FIRST MEETING

The first meeting of the Salvation Army was conducted by William Booth in a disused burial ground at Whitechapel, London.

Plan To Equip New "Tot Lot" In South End

The "tot lot" sought for their small children by the residents of Dutton subdivision will be equipped as soon as possible with play accessories by the parks committee of the council.

When the area was laid out by Housing Enterprises a central plot was set aside for future use as a play centre. Women of the new housing section applied to the council for some playground action, and offered to supervise the children if the coucil would provide swings and slides and other details.

Parks committee with Ald. Herbert Young presiding decided Monday to encourage the neighborhood interest by promising to make a community play pen. It will be supervised by the Recreation Commission.

Few Lots Left

Ald. Douglas Miller said he felt uneasy about the lack of neighborhood playgrounds even in the planning of the new area of the city south of Lansdowne St. Discussion brought out a suggestion that an area for teenage boys and girls might be obtained in the vicility of Braidwood Ave. east of Park St. A definite place was not mentioned but it was felt that as the whole section steadily filled up with houses, the young people of tomorrow would be left with only the road as playground.

One of the comments was that property values had mounted south of Lansdowne St., but that fields were available on the west side of Monaghan Road. Possibly a survey of the entire section that came in with annexation may be obtained as a guide for playground enterprise.

No reference was made to Morrow Park, but it is understood from Jack Turner that the east side has already been offered for baseball games by the Exhibition Board, and a request would be made to them for a diamond in front of the grandstand. Mr Turner believes that some of the games will be played in the south end park this summer, and that with its complete accommodation for the public Exhibition Park will return to its place in the athletics of the city, and especially by the south end, as in the best years of the East Peterborough League.

MANY COMBINATIONS!

Early chemists thought that everything was composed of three elements—fire, water and air — mixed in different proportions.

Stony Lake Guides See Wolves Attack Deer Unarmed, The Men Save Victim With Shouts

Last Sunday Tom Drain, well-known Stony lake guide, took a car trip with his cousin Lou to catch suckers at Big Mountain Lake on the Kosh Lakes chain, north of Jack's Creek. They found a likely creek and caught a couple of dozen fish before lunch, ate a few fried ones with their sandwiches and, while Lou did some exploring, Tom had a nap in the warm sun.

Tom was awakened by his cousin shouting that he had just seen three large wolves, and he got up to have a look around, too. He topped a red granite ridge over a gulley in time to see three more large wolves tussling with a deer, one at its throat and one on each hind leg. By much shouting the beasts were frightened from the deer which scrambled away into the underbrush and escaped. These men, who are guides as well as conservationists, said that there should be more hunters organizing extermination programs on wolves in the Burleigh Game Preserve and that wolves are taking a far larger toll of game than is ever suspected. Tom claims he could have made a lot of bounty money, very quickly, if he had had a gun with him on Sunday.

Progressive-Conservatives Name Hon. H. R. Scott As Provincial Candidate

Hon. Harold R. Scott, Ontario Minister of Lands and Forests, will contest the Peterborough county seat in the Provincial House this year. The present member from this riding, he was the unanimouse choice of a packed Legion Hall meeting of the county Progressive Conservative Association. Representatives from all parts of the county endorsed the nomination with a standing cheer.

Speaker of the meeting was Hon. Leslie Frost, Provincial Treasurer. He spoke highly of Mr. Scott's work as head of the Department of Lands and Forests and urged a full vote and support in the coming contest, June 7. In connection with that department, he said that policy formulated by it was largely responsible for the expansion program being put through in the northern sections of Ontario.

Saying that the Drew government was "representative of all walks of life—a true cross-section of the people of Ontario," Mr. Frost stressed that membership of the party was the real backbone of the government. Terming it "the most democratic government the province has ever seen," he said that every decision was reached after full and careful Cabinet deliberation and consultation with the full membership. He said that in this way, the Government kept in close contact with the wishes of the people.

Detailing some of the effects of Drew policy, he gave as illustration the old age pension schedule changes. Five years ago, they were $20 a month; today, the Ontario administration has, by degress, "shamed" the Ottawa Government into advances which now give pensioners in Ontario $40 a month, with a right to have some extra income, he said.

Better Health Program

The present Government, he said, had greatly increased the health program by providing much more assistance to hospitals than had been given in the past.

"We have faced up to the situation in a practical way," he said, adding that efforts were being made to train more doctors, dentists and nurses.

"In this way we are advancing towards a safe, sane health program for all the people, when we have the facilities to provide it."

He charged that the suggested Federal health schemes were impractical, because there were not the facilities available to carry them out.

In the matter of education, he quoted figures which showed that five years ago (when the Drew government came to power), expenditures for that department amounted to $8,000,000. Today, school boards of Ontario receive $33,000,000.

Find Londoners Now Prefer To Go Home To Bed Early

By MICHAEL O'MARA

LONDON, April 28—(CP).—Transport Minister Barnes deplored "the decline in social activities in the West End during the evening" only to be told by shopkeepers and editorial-writers that Londoners prefer to go home early. Barnes was urging later closing of movie-houses and theatres and later store-hours to relieve London's peak-hour travel congestion. More than half the city's thousands try to hurry home between 5 p.m. and 6 p.m.

Although the hours of 94,000 central London workers have been staggered, Barnes said, it still was necessary to "spread the traffic load over a longer period."

To Ease Conditions

His conclusion: "I do not think it can be disputed that restoration of facilities for 'an evening in town' would probably do more than anything else to spread traffic over a longer period and so ease conditions of travel."

Strap-hanging shop-girls, ejected by tens of thousands into the worst of the melee for buses and underground trains at 5:30 p.m. daily, apparently like it that way, west end shop managements told Barnes after consultation with employees. The girls did not wish to close later for fear this would involve longer working hours.

The Star attacked Barnes' idea editorially: "Surely it would be a mistake to revert to the old midnight scramble for last trains home to the suburbs. The wartime custom of 'an early show and then supper' is generally preferred. . . ."

Still Keep Old Habit

London theatres used to raise their curtains around 8:30 p.m. But during the blitz adopted the custom of starting the show in time to get patrons home before the German raiders came over. Three years after the last bombs, they are maintaining the habit.

Most public-houses and restaurants close at either 10:30 p.m. or 11 p.m. and regular underground service stops about midnight. A few all-night buses meander through empty streets at irregular intervals. Taxis are scarce and their drivers frequently disregard standard rates to take advantage of stranded wayfarers.

A steady fall of water—even though it be only a succession of little drops—will wear away stone over the course of the year. In just such a way, a steady succession of minor ailments will wear away the stone that is your constitution. That is why you are well advised to consult your physician periodically for thorough check-ups. These examinations will enable him to re-inforce your good health and help you keep it against the inroads of disease.

Seeks To Abolish Appeals To British Privy Council

OTTAWA, April 28.—(CP).—F. E. Jaenicke (CCF-Kindersley) renewed in the Commons last night his attempt to abolish appeals to the British Privy Council.

He moved second reading of a bill which would designate the Supreme Court of Canada as the ultimate court of appeal within and for Canada. He introduced the same bill at the last session of Parliament but it did not win adoption.

Canada, he said, is a soverign nation and this alone should be sufficient for Parliament to pass the legislation. Canada's present position was "incomparable" with her status in the British Commonwealth and the United Nations.

He based his argument on a Privy Council decision last year that the Canadian Parliament had the power to vest the Supreme Court "with final and exclusive civil and appellate jurisdiction within and for Canada."

This decision, said Mr. Jaenicke, was an "invitation" to Canada to "assert its sovereignty."

The legislation simply would substitute "a final court of appeal of our own for another which is not our own," and about which Canada had no say.

Good Judges

Some persons might say that the interpretation of constitutional matters should rest with the Privy Council. But this would be an insult to Canadian judges, who were the best in the commonwealth and, being residents of the country, were best able to interpret the constitution.

Maxime Raymond (BP-Beauharnois-Laprairie) said Canada made her own laws. Her courts should be able to give final judgment on cases arising out of those laws.

He recalled that in 1927 the Privy Council had awarded Labrador, on the north-eastern Quebec boundary, to Newfoundland. This was one of several bad judgments.

Jean Lesage (L-Montmagny-L'Islet) said he supports fully the principle of the bill. However, he felt it should be amended in such a way as not to cut off entirely the right of appeal to the Privy Council.

Mr. Lesage, youthful Quebec lawyer, suggested that the bill be amended so that the Federal Cabinet, on the advice of the Supreme Court of Canada, could authorize an appeal to the Privy Council. This could apply in all cases where an appeal against a Supreme Court judgment was not involved.

He contended that the judgments of the Judicial committee of the Privy Council were actually those of the British government. The King's Privy Council—in other words the British Cabinet—acted on the recommendations of the Judicial Committee. That committee was made up of members of the House of Lords.

The Privy Council Tribunal "is in its very essence a colonial tribunal."

"To me that appears to be the principle reason Canada should stop taking appeals to the Privy Council.

U.S. Vice-Consul Claims Woman Forced The Pace

LONDON, April 28 — (AP)—Ernest Griffin, United States Vice-Consul, testified yesterday his British fiancee, Mrs. Imelda Price, was "forcing the pace" with an offer to go to bed with him before they were married.

Mrs. Price, blonde 40-year-old widow of an RAF bomber pilot, has denied making the proposal. She testified that she did take off her dress and go to bed in Griffin's apartment for a catnap because she was tired.

Mrs. Price sued Griffin, 39, for breach of promise. The case went to the jury to-day.

Griffin said their engagement was broken off by oral agreement.

He admitted authorship of love letters submitted by Mrs. Price's counsel, who asked:

"Are you saying now that it was this lady who was forcing the pace?"

"I think she did her share," Griffin replied.

"You were pretty enthusiastic yourself?" the cross-examiner demanded.

"Yes, I was very fond of her," Griffin said.

"Are you really asking the jury to believe that within three minutes of entering the apartment she took her clothes off?"

"That is so."

"And then ordered you into bed?"

"That is right," Griffin answered.

Asked if he was "fighting for your virtue," Griffin replied: "Not necessarily."

Griffin testified that, when Mrs. Price undressed and got into bed he went into the sitting-room to write some letters.

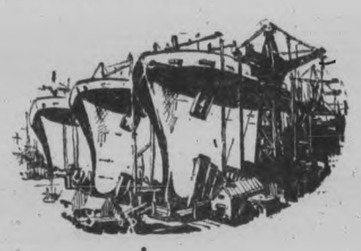
The World's 4th Maritime Nation



TODAY, Canada's merchant navy ranks fourth in the world—next to those of the United States, Britain and Norway. Our ocean-going tonnage is now four times as great as before the war. In 1939 we had only 35 regular ocean-going ships on our register. Now there are 153. The total of all our ships of over 1600 gross tons (including upper lakers, canal freighters and coastal passenger vessels) is now 386—representing over a million and a half gross registered tons of merchant shipping! That maritime achievement is typical of the tremendous industrial and commercial developments which have created new and greater opportunities for all Canadians right here at home in our own country today.

G. H. WOOD raised sufficient money in 1923 to buy a tiny Toronto soap plant employing two workers. Since then his energy, industry and consistent emphasis on salesmanship have built his company into the biggest sanitation products organization in Canada, manufacturing 176 separate items.

Mr. WOOD says: "I've always felt that business success comes from a combination of initiative salesmanship and harmony between labour and management; and nowhere is that combination more certain of achieving results than right here at home in our own country now".

Between the wars, Canada built no sea-going ships of any size. Today we have 17 major, fully equipped yards, with over 100,000 tons of shipping under construction, including vessels for European and South American countries.

Only one-eighth of the total cargo entered and cleared at Canadian ports was being carried by Canadian ships before the war. Last year our own ships were handling well over half of this tonnage.

Accident Victim Awarded $3,387 Damages

Damages of $3,387.30 were awarded to Nunziato Santomero, 56, Victoria Ave., against Leo Garvey, 21, Munroe Ave., on Tuesday afternoon by Justice Genest on the second day of the Non Jury Sittings of the Supreme Court. The plaintiff had originally asked for $15,000 to compensate for medical bills, hospital bills, loss of wages, while incapacitated, pain and suffering, and injuries believed to be permanent to his left shoulder and to his hearing.

Action arose out of a collision between Garvey's car and Santomero's bicycle which took place at Hunter St. and Armour Rd. on Sept. 18, 1947. It was charged that Garvey who was travelling east on Hunter St. turned suddenly up Armour Rd. and struck Santomero who was crossing the intersection.

Santomero said he remembered being struck by the car and being hurtled over the hood into the windshield. He claimed he was once again tossed into the air and lost consciousness.

Felt a Bump

On Tuesday afternoon Garvey took the witness box and claimed he did not see the cyclist and though he felt a bump and knew his windshield had been shattered he thought it was a stone that had struck his car. He said he had experienced trouble previously with children from the nearby King George Public School throwing stones.

The defendant claimed he slowed down and glanced back along the road but saw nothing, then he drove on to Armour Rd. about a block and a half away. Almost at the same time Defoe pulled up to the curb and informed him of the accident. He at first expressed disbelief but consented to drive back to the scene of the accident in Defoe's car and investigate.

Garvey claimed he saw no light or sign of a bicyclist and was unaware that any glass had fallen into the car.

He contended that the dent on the right front fender and the dent over the windshield were there previous to the accident and he also said that the dent on the right-hand door had not been there. In this his evidence was corroborated by three witnesses called by the defence—his two brothers, Clement and Robert, and his brother-in-law, Leo Gooley.

Justice Genest said he was convinced Garvey was guilty of negligence and in view of the serious nature of Santomero's injuries, his loss of earnings, and his permanent disabilities, he set the sum of $3,387.30 to be paid by the defendant plus costs and with a 15-day stay granted.

P. C. Claire McGillen testified that he arrived at the intersection about 11.35 p.m. and saw the defendant, Defoe, and other standing about with Santomero lying in a pool of blood on the pavement in the north-east quarter of the intersection.

Plaintiff's bicycle, lunch box and flashlight were lying on the roadway, and glass was strewn about. Constable McGillen said he was satisfied that some of the glass came from the windshield of Garvey's car; it was the same as that found in the car which suffered a badly smashed windshield on the right side.

Also found in the car was a pipe belonging to Santomero which was being smoked when the accident occurred. The witnesses added that the defendant admitted he had been drinking beer and that he was driving with a temporary licence which requires a licenced driver to accommpany the holder.

The witness said that he did not consider the driver drunk and related a conversation he had with the defendant who claimed he did not know he hit the plaintiff.

When Constable McGillen told the court that he had seen the car since the accident and it had no window in the right door, he was asked by Mr. Fair if the glass found in the vehicle could belong to the window as easily as to the windscreen. He said he could not say positively.

Lost 64 Days

Mr. Fair contended that the cyclist came down the hills on Hunter St. and crashed into the right-hand door of the car which was turning up Armour Rd.

Mr. Santomero was next called to the witness box and he told of the extent of his injuries at the time and the way these had affected him since. Apart from his injuries he said he lost 64 days pay totalling $466.05.

On the night of the accident he said he was riding home on his bicycle carrying a flashlight in his left hand. He saw a car (believed to be Defoe's) slow down in its left turn to allow him to pass. And he said he noticed another car coming from the west but it was travelling at such a speed that he believed it was going straight through the intersection.

Mr. Santomero said he had no time to avoid the accident and the front of the car struck him tossing him against the windshield where he hurt his head and again was tossed high into the air "like a football. When he regained consciousness several hours had elapsed, he related, and he was in the hospital.

Had Nervous Disorder

He said that he had undergone treatment for a nervous disorder two years previously but that he was feeling fine at the time of the accident.

In the examination for discovery Garvey was quoted as saying that he knew something had hit him, but he thought it was children throwing stones that had smashed his windshield. He said he slowed down and glanced back after turning onto Armour Rd. but saw nothing and continued on to his home.

Kennedy Widow Gets Pension

OTTAWA, April 28 — (CP).—The widow of John D. Kennedy, Kingston Penitentiary messenger slain in Monday's prison break at Kingston, will be eligible "immediately" for a pension amounting to half of what her husband would have received, it was learned yesterday. The amount involved was said by a government spokesman to be less than $500 annually, on the basis of half Kennedy's salary for the last 10 years multiplied by the number of years he served.

Kennedy, fatally shot in the temporary escape of Austin Craft and Harry Urquhart, had been employed by the Penitentiaries Branch since 1924 except for a six-year period when he served as messenger with the RCMP. His salary at the time of his death was $2,040.

VancouverGroup Highly Praised For Performance

By KAY REX

OTTAWA, April 28 — (CP). — Dominion drama festival enthusiasts yesterday heard the story of western Canada's march toward theatrical adulthood.

And last night saw a bit of it on stage.

Adjudicator Robert Speaight paid tribute to the Vancouver Little Theatre Association for a "brave, intelligent" performance of the "Silver Cord," by Sydney Howard. He described the three-act psychological drama as difficult to perform.

Singling out the acting of Joy Coghill, as "Mrs. Phelps," Mr. Speaight said "it would have done credit to any stage and any production."

Earlier in the day members of the D.D.F. heard Professor K. W. Gordon of the University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon, outline the activities of the Western Canada Theatre Conference, an organization which for the last five years has been working toward the improvement of drama in the four western provinces.

During a discussion on the possibilities of a national theatre, Prof. Gordon said he felt the time had come when the conference should be extended to include the eastern provinces.

Four more western plays are scheduled for the matinee and evening performances today in the Dominion drama festival.

Archbishop Stresses Marriage Instruction

HALIFAX, April 28 (CP). — Archbishop George Frederick Kingston, Primate of All Canada, addressed the 74th annual meeting of the Nova Scotia Synod in its opening session here yesterday. He stressed the importance of all clergy instructing their parishioners in the sanctity of marriage. "If we are to preserve marriage in the modern world, we must surround it with the atmosphere of holiness," he said.

The Primate emphasized four points: Marriages should be in the church; mixed marriages should be discouraged; no Anglican clergyman should marry a divorced person; and no rector should grant a divorcee permission to receive Holy Communion without first consulting the bishop.

BEVIN TAKES GOOD LOOK AT HIMSELF — British Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin, accompanied by his wife, looks at a portrait of himself in the second post-war Port of London Authority Staff Arts and Crafts Exhibition, which he opened at the Port of London Building. The Bevin portrait was done by W. T. Oliver, a PLA employe. The exhibit included oil and water colors, woodwork, metalwork, needlework and handicrafts contributed by all grades of employes.

Don't Want ERP To Cripple Deals

By The Canadian Press

A vital question of the postwar trading world has been whether individuals of the various countries retain the ability to go out and make a deal with one another.

It has been asked whether wartime controls and government-buying have taken away their initiative; and whether continuing controls fatally handicap them.

It is, in many ways, the $64 question; for unless trading aggressiveness still is there, such things as the European Recovery Program can give only a temporary life.

Several spokesmen, especially in the United States, have been inclined to take a gloomy view, but there have been recent indications that the way is gradually being cleared.

For one thing, the European Recovery Program is not one of dealing among governments as many had envisaged. The governments will try to see that the money is spent to the best effect and will arrange that payments can be made, but the buying and selling will be among traders.

Foreign Minister Bevin of Britain put it up to individuals when he said: "If Marshall aid is handled rightly by the manufacturers and workers, it will spread 20 or 30 per cent further."

Socialists Favor Federation But Shun Churchill Plan

PARIS, April 28.—In a three-day conference concluded here representatives of Socialists in fourteen of the sixteen countries benefiting from the European Recovery Program resolved to use their influence toward creation of a United States of Europe The conference, however, decided not to participate in the conference on forming a European federation called by other interested groups for May 10 at The Hague.

The Socialists who consider a federation essential to the recovery of Europe will create an information and propaganda bureau here to coordinate their efforts in talking their respective governments into action toward federation. A resolution by the conference specified that way to federation lay in the machinery set up by the sixteen-nation Conference for Economic Cooperation.

At a mass meeting held to mark the opening of the Socialists' conference Friday, Leon Blum, head of the French Socialists, and representatives of the Italian, Dutch and Scandinavian Socialists indicated that they were agreeable to joining The Hague conference called by Winston Churchill to discuss federation. At this meeting, however, the British Labor representative, Hugh Dalton, insisted that his party would not join the deliberations called by the Labor party's arch enemy.

Mr. Dalton's stand obviously won out during the closed sessions of the conference. Inasmuch as The Hague conference is to be completely unofficial so far as the governments are concerned, the ruling party in England would have been uncomfortable at a conference that would, no doubt, produce much criticism of the present governments in western Europe.

Evidence that a "deal" was made between M. Blum and Mr. Dalton was seen in the resolution's wording that the Socialists supported a United States of Europe open to countries whose politics were other than Socialist. Previously the British Labor party had specified that a federation could be considered only if composed of Socialist countries.

A delegate to the conference said that, although "it is a shame that we can not give added strength to The Hague conference, even the British Socialists are now ready to cooperate in the formation of a political economic and social superstate which will no doubt be much the same as that which The Hague conference will recommend."

Dictatorship Feared In Iran

TEHERAN, Iran, April 28.—A fear that military leaders plan a dictatorship for Iran has emerged in recent days, and is being exploited politically by several normally divergent groups. Teheran newspaper editors met today for the second time in eight days to discuss the trend toward a restriction of liberties, and political circles have been buzzing with various aspects of the question.

The suppression of newspapers, widespread arrests and enforced political exile were assailed by speakers at the editors' meeting. All shades of political opinion, except ardent Royalists, were represented at the meeting, including several members from the Tudeh Communist party and three Independent members of the Majlis (Parliament).

Representation at a similar protest meeting last week ranged from Said Ziaed-Din Tabatatai, former Premier and reputed to be an extreme foe of communism, to Communists.

An unconfirmed report that another strong and almost threatening Russian note has been received seems to be attracting less attention than the question of a possible suspension of Parliament and of rule by decree. Although there has been no actual move in that direction, sources both of the Left and the Right maintain that it is a real threat.

The general basis of their fear is the knowledge that some circles in the army believe that the country's problems could best be solevd and safety assured if Parliament, with its constant wrangling and frequent Cabinet crises, were suspended. Some believe the Shah would head a dictatorship, as his father did, while others think that real power would be in the hands of the army.

War Makes Former RAF Pilot Turn To Missionary Profession

LONDON, April 28 — (CP). — The war, pitchforking young men into many strange lands and experiences, made a missionary out of breezy, good-looking Peter Lillingston, 25-year-old former RAF pilot.

While in Canada under the Commonwealth Air Training Scheme in 1943, Lillingston attended a missionary meeting in Toronto and the same evening decided on his post-war career.

His ambition intensified the following year when, as a serving RAF Sunderland pilot, he flew down to Canada, West Africa, and chatted with the natives.

"I learned that Africa is still very much the dark continent," says Lillingston. "I decided to make my career in the agricultural field of missionary work."

Demobilized, Lillingston took a degree in agriculture at Cambridge University and offered his services to the Church Missionary Society in London. Now, after a short course in Bible study and comparative theology, he is leaving for Asaba, Nigeria, to work as assistant to Rev. Kenneth Prior, formerly of London, Ont.

"Two or three years" war service showed me what a world run without Christianity is like. I'm going to help Mr. Prior in the fine work he is doing to organize agriculture for the natives of Nigeria."

Mr. Prior, a graduate of the University of Alberta and Vermilion School of Agriculture, has since 1938 been working to restore rural prosperity to a large area threatened by soil erosion.

Besides trailing the natives in modern methods, he is trying to convince them that work on the land, by helping to relieve starvation among their fellows, is more satisfying than work in the cities.

Atomic Plant Labor Disputes Said Emergency

WASHINGTON, April 28 — (AP). — Labor - management troubles in the immense atomic plants at Oak Ridge, Tenn., have reached the point where President Truman has declared a national emergency.

Main causes of those troubles to date are differences in the labor policies of the various companies that come and go as operators of the Oak Ridge plants and rivalry between A.F.L. and C.I.O. groups.

The Atomic Energy Commission is urgently negotiating with A.F.L., C.I.O. and management leaders, trying to win agreement on an over-all atomic labor policy that would insure against work stoppages.

The wartime ban on recognition of unions at Oak Ridge was lifted by the United States Army two years ago. Instantly the C.I.O. and A.F.L. scrambled into a rough-and-tumble race for members.

Elections were held in three plants, now operated by Carbide and Chemicals Corp. At one plant the C.I.O. won, at another the A.F.L. and at the third workers voted in favor of "no union."

The unions signed contracts with the firms which at that time operated the different plants but relations have become strained as the new companies took over the plants in succession with different labor policies.

On March 5, Truman invoked the Taft-Hartley labor law emergency provision for the first time. He appointed a board of inquiry which found six main issues in the dispute but said all six were "manifestations of one central difference in objective."

Red Weekly Has Story Printed Telling Of Victory In Italy

ROME, April 28.—How sure the Communists were of winning the recent election was shown when some copies of the Communist weekly Vie Nuove with large headline "Popular Front Wins; de Gasperi Resigns" were delivered to subscribers. The Vie Nuove went to press Monday before the first election returns had been tabulated, and when the Communists were still certain that they would get at least a plurality.

As soon as returns began to pour in The Vie Nuove was hastily revamped but some copies of the original edition got mixed with others by mistake and were delivered to subscribers.

Among the amusing election incidents was one reported from the Island of Ischia. Two Communists formed part of the committee in charge of one precinct there. When the votes were counted it was found that only one vote had been cast for the Communists. Each of the two promptly accused the other of being a "traitor" and this gave rise to such a violent quarrel that they both ended up in a hospital.

Another somewhat similar episode was reported from Sardinia. When the votes were counted in the precinct where Emilio Lussu, founder and head of the Sardinian Action Party, had voted it was found that not a single vote had been cast for that party. This shows how strong the impulse was throughout Italy to neglect all minor parties and to vote either for the Popular Front or for the Christian Democratic party, the principal representative of anti-Communism.

Incidents that occurred in the last twenty-four hours included the throwing of a bomb at the barracks of the Carabinieri in Odria. The bomb, which obviously was intended to go through one of the windows into the dormitory where the Carabinieri was sleeping, struck the outside of the building and exploded harmlessly.

Will Use Arms To Keep General

SACKETS HARBOR, N.Y., April 28.—(AP).—This little village was up in arms today over reports the remains of Gen. Zebulon M. Pike would be transferred to Pikes Peak in Colorado.

And that's precisely what Mayor Carl Jackson promises to use —arms—to keep the famed soldier-explorer's remains in this community on Lake Ontario's eastern shore.

"We have taken a liking to the General, and we're going to keep him here," said Jackson.

"If anybody tries to move Gen. Pike from her, we'll have an armed guard waiting for them."

Gen. Pike, for whom the Rocky Mountains peak was named, was killed leading American forces in the fighting near York, now Toronto, during the war of 1812. He is buried here in a former military cemetery.

It was announced in Washington yesterday that steps had been taken to remove the remains to the peak he discovered in 1805.

ILO Prepares New Treaty On Labor Rights

MONTREAL, April 28.—(CP)—The International Labor Organization headquarters announced today that action is expected at its June conference in San Francisco on a new world convention guaranteeing freedom of association and the rights of workers and employers to organize.

The convention or treaty, would be subject to ratification or acceptance by each of the 55 member countries, and wherever ratified, would be backed by the ILO enforcement machinery.

The proposed text of the treaty, which has been circulated among the government, management and labor delegates to the conference, declares that "workers and employers, without distinction whatsoever, shall have the inalienable right to establish or join organizations of their own choosing without previous authorization."

It proposes that such groups shall have the right to draw up their constitutions and rules, elect representatives and formulate programs without any interference by the public authorities "which would restrict this right or impede the lawful exercise thereof."

The draft convention further stipulates that workers' and employers' organizations "shall not be liable to be dissolved or have their activities suspended by administrative authority" and shall have the right to establish federations and confederations and to affiliate with international organizations of workers and employers.

Canada Has Definite Place In Economic Aid To Europe

WASHINGTON, April 28.—(CP).—Canada will have a very definite place in the picture of United States economic aid to Europe, Trade Minister C. D. Howe said here today.

He took off at 5.50 p.m. EDT Wednesday afternoon in a special government plane for Ottawa, after 48 hours of conferences with numerous government officials.

"I have had very satisfactory talks with a number of people," he said. "But a great many details remain to be worked out."

He would not give any details of the results or subjects of his discussions, the prime object of which was to approach an understanding on the part Canada will play in the European recovery program, now called the "European co-operation administration."

At a dinner in the Canadian Embassy, and far into the evening the minister talked with Paul Hoffman, head of ECA, and Averill Harriman, who has just been appointed roving ambassador to the 16 European countries to be assisted under the plan.

Tuesday the minister received a Texas-California delegation which complained about the effects of Canadian import restrictions on fresh fruits and vegetables talked to civil aviation officials, lunched with State Department officials, met and later had a private talk with Robert Lovett, under-secretary of state.

He told the fruit and vegetables delegation why the import restrictions were put on—to conserve foreign exchange—and said he would be glad to carry their story back to his colleagues.

His talks with Garrison Norton of the State Department's civil aviation section had to do with possible etxension of the international agreement covering the pick-up of passengers in the United States by Canadian planes passing over this country to southern points.

A State Department official saaid there was no finality to the discussions.

The minister did not say what was talked about at his conference with Lovett but said it was not European aid.

Ship Sunk In Gale Reclaimed In Wales

PORTHCAWL, WALES, April 28—(CP)—The jagged Sker rocks wrecked the former liberty ship Samtampa during a fierce gale in April last year. Her crew of 39 were drowned and in attempting to rescue them the crew of the Mumbles lifeboat also lost their lives.

Now the Stamtampa is being reclaimed from the sea, piece by piece, and sent to the Port Talbot steel works for scrap.

Fred Winstanley and a little band of workers, including his father and mother, are using United States equipment for the job of salvaging an American ship.

Times Have Changed

● In Canada's earliest pioneer days, each family produced for themselves those goods and services needed. As individuals developed skill in specific lines, they found it advantageous to exchange the products of their labour with others, for things needed. From this specialization evolved mass production which contributes to a higher standard of living for greater numbers.

But mass production can seldom be financed by the individual. That's our job—to provide Bank Credit which will enable management to buy raw materials in quantity at opportune times—that will facilitate commercial credit and market development—that will provide ways and means of cutting costs—and, in general, help to expedite industry.

One-Man War Dance Staged In Detroit

DETROIT, April 28.—(CP). — Surrounded by a group of cheering palefaces, a 24-year-old full-blooded Mohawk Indian staged a one-man war dance in downtown Detroit today.

Spurred on by too much fire-water, Angus Dearhouse whirled and stomped up and down, clad only in a blanket and shorts.

"I don't know how I got there," he told police, "but I was doing an old tribal dance. I guess I had too much fire-water."

Dearhouse said his tepee is located in Pontiac, Mich., where he works in a steel plant.

Canada Advised To Steer Her Own Course

CLEVELAND, April 28 (CP).— Canada can be a better and stronger nation if she stands by herself without any direct political or economic dependence on the United States or Great Britain, Dr. Sidney E. Smith, president of the University of Toronto, said in an address prepared for delivery.

Dr. Smith spoke at the second annual dinner of the Canadian University Association of Ohio. The association, with representatives from the class of '96 to the class of '46, draws its membership from graduates of 12 Canadia universities.

"It may be harder and tougher for Canadians to rely on their own resources, human and material," he said. "Yet it is through labor and travail, through grit and gumption, that a nation as well as an individual develops the qualities of initiative and resourcefulness. In advocating this policy for my country, I am not preaching any doctrine of isolationism . . .

"As a good neighbor, Canada will differ with the United States without fear and agree with her without servility . . . In this battle of ideas, this conflict of ideologies. There is a special obligation laid upon us as university men and women. If we are true to the ideas and ideals held before us in our Alma Maters, we must be on guard against those forces that would paralyze the minds and asphyxiate the souls of mankind."

Dr. Smith declared that universities should know no territorial boundaries. He noted that American universities have frequently taken Canada"s ablest graduates. "But American universities also have sent some of their ablest graduates to Canadian universities."

Pioneer Rancher Senator Riley Dies In Alberta

CALGARY, April 29 (CP). — The colorful career of one of Alberta's early settlers and an ardent supporter of Western Canada's big ranching industry was ended today following the death in a Calgary hospital last night of Senator Daniel Edward Riley, 87, of High River, Alta.

The pioneer rancher remained active until his last illness. Since his appointment to the Senate June 25, 1926, Senator Riley had never missed a session and for many years was one of the most colorful figures in the Upper Chamber.

He took ill on the train while returning from Ottawa about three weeks ago and was taken from his home at High River to hospital here about 10 days ago. His condition had been serious for several days.

His death increases to three the number of Senate vacancies in Alberta. Edward Michener of Red Deer and William James Harmer of Edmonton died within the last few months. Still serving are William A. Buchanan of Lethbridge, A. Blais of Edmonton and F. W. Gershaw of Medicine Hat.

One of the intrepid band of settlers who endured the hardships of early frontier life to prove the possibilities of the West, Senator Riley came west to Winnipeg in 1881 and taught school there for a short time. At the age of 22, he came to the High River district in the spring of 1883, walking beside a Red River cart all the way and living "off the land." There was no railway into Alberta then.

He obtained employment punching cows and breaking horses, then served as a dispatch rider between Edmonton and Battle River during the Riel rebellion.

On demobilization he took up a homestead four miles from what is now the town of High River and later established a 20,000 acre cattle ranch in the foothills' district of Willow Creek.

Boy Aged Nine Steals Car And Crashes Into Bridge At 70 Miles Per Hour

BRAMPTON, April 28. (CP)— A nine-year-old Brampton boy who drove off with an automobile last night and crashed into a bridge after a 70-mile-an-hour chase said today: "It was a nice day and I wanted a drive in the country. If those people hadn't chased me there would have been no trouble at all."

The lad suffered only minor cuts and bruises after smashing an automobile owned by David Mullan into the abutment of a bridge at Huttonville. The engine of the coupe was driven back into the front seat by the collision.

As he lay in bed in a parked trailer here today, he sketched automobiles and admitted it was the first time he had ever driven a car. But he said he "enjoyed" the experience. He thinks he would like to do it again.

The young driver, barely able to see over the windshield, careened madly over a four-mile route, sideswiping a truck and forcing terrified motorists to take to the shoulder.

Jim Stanley, driver of the truck, said he chased the stolen coupe which was travelling at 70 miles an hour until it crashed into the bridge.

Police said the boy planned to make an extended trip. They found expense money littered over the road at the scene of the crash—50 pennies.

Norma E. Collins Is Bride Of William John Hickey

St. Peter's Cathedral was the scene of a pretty wedding Saturday, when Norma Elizabeth Collins became the bride of William John Hickey.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. A. Collins, Elm street, and the late Arthur Collins, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Hickey, Gilmour street.

Rev. G. Kay officiated at the ceremony. Mrs. R. Aman played the wedding music and accompanied Mrs. D. Campanaro when she sang "Ave Maria" during the signing of the register. The altar table was decorated with roses and fern.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. George Collins, of Lindsay, and was charming in a floor-length gown of white embossed organza, with a bustle back, and full skirt falling into a long train. The bodice of white net was edged with a scalloped ruffle. She wore long mittens of material similar to her gown. Her floor-length veil and train of white embroidered net was caught to a pointed headdress, trimmed with seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white calla lillies.

Miss Florence O'Toole, as bridesmaid, was frocked in floor-length blue taffeta, with a bustle back and full skirt, and short puff sleeves. She wore long matching mittens. DOROTHY DIX

Husband Should Arrange Weekly Respite for Wife

DEAR MISS DIX: Hasn't a woman any right to an evening out so that she can shed her cares and worries now and then? My husband is a hard worker, but he can always stop after work for a few drinks and stay out until all hours playing cards. But when it comes to taking the Little Woman out stepping, it's nix. Nor does he want me to go out alone or with a woman friend. I must stay at home and keep him company.

Dorothy Dix

I don't approve of married women going out to taverns, or with men other than their husbands, but I do believe we should be permitted to go to the movies, or skating, or bowling once in a while. It isn't that I want to escape doing my duty as a wife and mother. It is just that I want a little relaxation and change. Even a draft-animal slips the bridle now and then. Sometimes I feel like opening my door and just running and running and running as far as my legs can carry me.

L.C.C.

ANSWER: Millions upon top of millions of other worn and weary housewives will echo this woman's plea for a little freedom, a little diversion, a little change from the deadly monotony of domestic chores.

But they've got a slim chance of ever having their prayer answered, for while we recognize that the Tired Business Man needs amusement and change, the Domestic Slave is supposed to get all of the fun and excitement that she desires out of cooking and scrubbing and washing didies and spending her evenings watching the baby breathe.

Men's Greatest Mistake

Why men, who feel as if they were being made martyrs if they have to mind the children for a couple of hours, think that their wives never want to get out of the kitchen, or listen to anything except the squalling of brats, nobody knows. But they do, and it is husbands' greatest mistake, for most of the peevishness and fretfulness of wives, and their bad housekeeping is the result of the monotony of their lives. They are so bored with staying at home that they have lost interest in themselves and their families, and they are reduced to quarrelling to a new start in life.

If every husband would take his wife stepping once a week, it would do more than any other one thing to improve the domestic morale. And that is a tip I hand men for free.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a boy in my middle teens and am rapidly going insane from loneliness. I haven't any friends and in school I am just an outcast. I try my best to be friendly and well-liked, but it is positively useless.

I stay at home seven days and seven night a week and I can't stand it much longer. I have attempted suicide many times, but each time, just at the last, I have desisted from committing the fatal act, hoping that, somehow, life would be better.

Please tell me what to do before it is too late.

BEWILDERED, LONELY, and HOPELESS.

ANSWER: There is an old saying that whether life is worth living or not depends upon your liver, and that is one adage that I firmly believe in. So my earnest advice to you is to go to a good doctor and have him see what is the matter with you physically.

If your parents can possibly afford it, get them to send you off to a good military school, where you will be thrown with an entirely different set of boys from the ones you have been brought up with, and where you can get a ne wstart in life.

Get interested in something besides yourself. Quit brooding over not being popular. Cultivate a friendly spirit instead of an aloof one. Nobody is going to run after you. Just do a little of the chasing yourself and you will find that you will have plenty of friends.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am terribly in love with a girl who is 15 years younger than I am. We are very congenial in every way and feel sure we would be happy if married, but her friends tell her that she should look for someone younger. I don't agree with them. I think the husband should be older than the wife because women age faster than men do.

ANXIOUS LOVER.

ANSWER: Fifteen years is quite a gap in age between a husband and wife, but I don't consider it fatal. Dispositions count more than birthdays, and it is more important that a husband and wife should have the same tastes than it is that they should be of the same age.

Believe V.O.N. Can Fight Communism

OTTAWA, April 28 (CP)—The Victorian Order of Nurses is feeling the high cost of living just as much as individuals and other organizations, delegates attending the order's 50th annual meeting were told yesterday.

"We must carry on and as we must demand high type staff, the rising cost of wages and services has been severely felt by us," said Senator Norman Paterson, V.O.N. president.

Senator Paterson told the 300 delegates that the V.O.N. occupies an important place in keeping out discontent and the spread of Communism in Canada.

"Were the people more aware of this, perhaps our efforts would be easier to finance," he said.

Senator Paterson spoke of the generosity of big business in helping V.O.N. carry on its work. "That is the price big business must pay for freedom to pursue its course without interruption from agitators who take advantage of the discontent among those who cannot or will not work."

During the first of the two-day meeting, the delegates heard Undersecretary of State Dr. E. H. Coleman. He said the strength and efficiency of the V.O.N. is not to be measured by financial resources but by the character of the women who perform the nursing service.

COLORFUL AS THE EAST — A California designer sends us this unusual but not at all tricky two-piece frock which has beautiful coloring and a smart cut. The top of the costume is made of a handwoven, handblocked cloth imported from Persia, which has an Oriental pattern of rust, royal blue, pale blue and brown, against a pale beige ground. The skirt, nearly five yards around the hemline, is made of either brown or cocoa linen, and it has a new and attractive handling with the cord waistline, and cord hem edge, covered with the linen. It looks like wonderful country club wear . . . and even the gilt ballet slippers look pretty fine with this sightly exotic model.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, April 29

There is excellent forecast for shrewd and quick grasps on opportunities, with keen decisions and insight as to the benefits of change, new agreements or arrangements, in which the race is to swift and not the laggard A strange lure or romance or adventure may intrigue into more dramatic fields, thereby causing loss of opportunity, assets or support where the results may be more tangible but less productive. It is a, point for decision against thrills, impulse and practicality, with the unique and unpredictable intriguing.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, must depend upon the wisdom and character of their choices, whether this be in the practical every day affairs or in the realm of romance and adventure. In the former there are exceptional opportunities for particular accomplishment where quick moves, acumen, and keen grasp of the need for changes in routine, or procedures are important. A rather critical situation arises because of such play between the realistic and constructive against the strange lures of adventure and romances. The urge to the erratic and peculiar or irregular may work against the safety and soundness of major decisions

A child born on this day although having a brilliant mentality, sagacity and aspirations may be lured by sensation, romance and the curious.

YOUTHFUL GENIUS

Charles Francois Gounod, famous French composer, won the "grand prix" given by the French Conservatoire for composition when he was 21.

Of Interest to Women

WASHABLE AND RUBBER SOLED—You have probably seen these wonderful pin money play shoes by now, as they are all over the country ready for outdoor fun, and have been, since the winter resort season started in the sunny places. They are cool and comfortable too with their arched wedge sole, and that sole is ridged rubber matching the gay color of the sandal braid fabric. One can wear the shoes with dresses, or with shorts or slacks.

1—Births

CLEARY—Mr. and Mrs. Leo N. Cleary (nee Hilda Garvey), wish to announce the birth of their son at St. Joseph's Hospital, on April 27, 1948.

6—In Memoriam

FIFE—In loving memory of Victor A. Fife, who passed away April 28, 1944.
We do not forget you, nor do we intend,
We think of you often, and will to the end
Gone and forgotten by some you may be,
But dear to our memory you ever will be.
—Ever remembered by daughter Mona and Arnold Worboy.

GRAVELLE—In loving memory of Stephen John Gravelle, killed in action April 28, 1945.
When days are dark and friends are few,
Dear brother how we think of you.
Friends are friends if they are true
We lost our best friend when we lost you.
—Ever remembered by sister Kay and family.

MACPHERSON—In cherished memory of our grandmother, who died April 28, 1944, and grandfather, who died February 27, 1946.
Two little words not hard to write
But we will remember them all our life.
—Always remembered by Marsell, Jack, Regena and Marina.

MACPHERSON—In memory of mother, Annie MacPherson, who passed away April 28, 1944, and dad, Bruce MacPherson, who passed away February 27, 1946.
God knew that they were suffering
That the hills were hard to climb
So He closed their weary eyelids
And whispered "Peace be Thine."
—Constantly missed by Hazel and Jack.

McLEAN—In loving memory of Mrs. John McLean, who passed away April 25, 1942.
A wonderful mother, woman and aid,
One who was better God never made;
A wonderful worker, so loyal and true,
One in a million—mother was you.
Just in your judgment, always right;
Honest and liberal, ever upright;
Loved by your friends, all you knew
A wonderful mother—Mother was you.
—Sadly missed by her daughter, Mrs. Eva R. Stevenson.

THACKERAY—In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Private Roy Ivanson Thackeray, killed in action at Leer, Germany, on April 28, 1945.
Wide is the rolling ocean,
Heart-breakingly wide and deep,
It flows between us who love him,
And where he lies asleep,
A distant land is honoured with the glory of his clay,
But his spirit is in Canada,
His soul with God to-day.
—Ever remembered by dad, mom, sisters and brothers, and Evelyn and Earle.

WATKINS—In loving memory of a dear son and brother Albert Wallace (Bill), who died suddenly April 28, 1946.
Come to My Heavenly garden
And see in perfect bloom
The flower you loved so dearly
And thought that I plucked too soon.
Then you will know My reason
Though you will know it not to-day
Why in his promising manhood
I took your son and brother away.
—Lovingly remembered by mother, sisters and brothers.

WATKINS—In loving memory of my husband, Albert Wallace (Bill), who died suddenly April 28, 1946.
Though his smile has gone forever,
And his hand I cannot touch,
Still I have so many memories
Of the one I loved so much.
Though out of sight he's ever near,
Still loved, still missed, still mine.
He will live with me in memory
Until the end of time.
—Lovingly remembered by wife Wanda.

WATKINS—In loving memory of our darling daddy, Bill Watkins, who died so suddenly April 28, 1946.
When our dad was taken from us
It was hard to understand,
But we know that all is guided,
By our Heavenly Father's hand.
—Lovingly remembered by daughters Norma, Greeta and Dianne.

Belmont Couple Honored; Wed 50 Years

HAVELOCK, April 28—(ENS)—Married at Hastings on April 27, 1898, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Toms, of Belmont township, received many expressions of congratulations on their 50th wedding anniversary, celebrated during the week-end, so that members of the family from a distance might be present.

Two celebrations marked the event, both arranged as a surprise for the couple. A family dinner party was held at their home when Mr. and Mrs. Toms were presented with a purse of money. The presentation was made by Mrs. W. Ketchen. The dining room was attractively decorated wtih gold streamers. A three-tiered wedding cake, iced in white with gold trimming, occupied the place on honor on the dinner table.

Party and Dance Held

In the evening the stone hall at Preneveau was filled for the party and dance, when neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Toms gathered to extend best wishes to the couple. During the evening they were presented with two chairs, an Ottoman and a pillow. Mrs. W. Anderson made the presentation. Lunch was served from a table centred with a large four tiered wedding cake, iced and topped with 50 candles.

Mr. Toms was born in Dorchetshire, England, son of Edward Toms and Anna Burton and came to Canada with his parents, who took up residence at Hastings when he was three years old. He resided there until his marriage.

As a young man he worked at a saw mill and with farmers in the district.

In Belmont 49 Years

After their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Toms resided in Asphodel township for a year and then moved to their present farm in Belmont township, where they have resided for 49 years.

Mrs. Toms was formerly Susan Watson, daughter of James Watson, born in Ireland and Priscilla Toms of Michigan. After her parents were married they resided for a time at Old Havelock, moving from there to Cardiff, Haliburton county, where Mrs. Toms was born in 1877.

Reall Wedding

The bridesmaid at the wedding 50 years ago was Mr. Toms' sister, Elizabeth Toms, now Mrs. Charles Veibohn of Aitken. Minnesota. The groomsman was his twin brother, Frank Toms, who died a few years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Toms are in good health. Mrs. Toms is able to do her housework and sewing and her special hobby is knitting and making quilts.

Mr. Toms still does chores every day and keeps active.

Many Guests

Members of the family and friends at the dinner party were: Mr. and Mrs. James Hume (Lillian), Mr. and Mrs. John Varty (Vida), Mrs. Bert Graham, Miss Delores Post, Eugene Post, Mr. and Mrs. M. Munsey and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lindsay of Rochester, N.Y., Mr. and Mrs. William Palton and son Donald, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Toms and son David, Mr. and Mrs. T. McQuigge and family, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Clarke of Peterborough, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Toms, son Gordon and daughter Betty, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Phillips and daughter Darla, of Havelock, Mrs. Frank Toms, Mr. and Mrs. W. Ketchen and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Toms and family of Belmont township.

City Council

for the contractor, he is willing to carry on the work with the funds that will continue to come in after we get started."

"The elders of Peterborough have an opportunity of getting in behind the organization of young people who want to build a rink for the community and its youth, and quickly subscribe the $40,000 needed."

"If you want young people to feel that they have a real stake in the city, that they are a part of it, just let them do something concrete, like building a rink, and they will feel they are citizens. Don't let us disappoint them even in the time we take to respond. One dollar a head would make up the fund.

"But, did my telephone ring last night! They wanted to ask me whether the council had taken any action against the rink. That is the way some people get wrong impressions in their reading. I hope the Examiner will tell them there has been no such meeting, nor won't be. I feel sure every member of the council would like to see the secondary rink up. Besides, I think it will pay for itself when it is finished and in use."

Need Money for Arena

VICTORIA, B.C. (CP)—Another $250,000 is needed to complete Victoria's memorial ice arena seating 4,520, and civic officials are wondering where the money is coming from. Already $400,000 raised for the structure has been used up.

CAR JUMPS CURB — Out of control when the driver tried to avoid a collision with another car, a car driven by Delmar Payne jumped the curb in the southwest corner of Confederation Square on Tuesday evening and crashed into a hydro post.

Road Subsidies

Continuing, he contrasted the present $16,000,000 a year paid in road subsidies to the $3,000,000 paid before 1943.

Every cent of the additional gasoline tax, he reiterated, was returned directly to the municipalities for better roads and road maintenance. This amounted to $12,000,000 in the past year.

In discussing the general financial situation of Ontario, the Provincial Treasurer pointed out that all expenditures of the Drew administration had been paid for, and that an inherited debt of $500,000,000 had been cut by $27,000,000, with a surplus over that.

"We are not a government looking at the past, but we look forward to the largest development in the history of this province," he declared.

He termed the proposed Hydro expansion as a "tremendous undertaking which will prepare Ontario to meet the challenge of the future."

In reply to criticisms that the Hydro expansion program was not a proper basis for calling an election, he listed the governments in the province since 1900 which had "overstayed their welcome" by more than three years — all had been defeated at the polls.

"We want a mandate of the people to build for the future for the lasting prosperity of Ontario and her people."

Work In Forests

Mr. Scott, in expressing his thanks for the renewed confidence shown by the nomination, reviewed work carried out by the Department of Lands and Forests during his tenure.

Has One Worry

He mentioned changes in the regulations covering forests' operation and management. Many have already been put in effect, he said, such as the restrictions on the shipment of raw pulpwood to the United States. The general policy followed, he said, was not to cut more timber than could be replaced by annual planned regrowth. Many of the steps, however, he said, were of a long-range nature, and for that reason, he said he welcomed the opportunity of the election to see that the confidence of the people were behind the program.

The present Government, he said, assumed many previous commitments on road improvements when it assumed office, and planned to honor those first before undertaking new work.

Road Plans

Referring to recent delegations from the district which had visited Queen's Park regarding the improvement of the roads, he said that the Department of Highways had agreed to pay for the work in the county and township authorities concerned would provide the required supervision and labor. Included in this arrangement, he said, were the Havelock-Lasswade Road, the Stony Lake Road, and the Buckhorn Road. It was also hoped to make similar arrangements with others in the area, he said.

"I have one worry in the election," he said, "and that is that we may be overconfident."

"Too many people didn't vote in 1943," he said, warning of the "danger of having a Socialist government."

"We saw our danger in 1945," he said, "but that danger is still with us now." He urged a full vote to ensure victory.

Chairman of the meeting was James Juby, president of the County Progressive Conservative Association. Mr. Scott was nominated by Reeve Melville Johnston of North Monaghan and Lloyd Robinson.

Gordon K. Fraser, Federal member for Peterborough West, urged support of Mr. Scott in the coming provincial tests. He announced that the party campaign rooms would be opened the first of next week.

Mrs. Jack Cridland, president of the Women's Association of the party, also urged a full turn-out to defeat "the subversive elements of Communism."

Rev. Dr. Walter Brown Given Nomination

BRAITFORD, April 28.—(CP).—Rev. Dr. Walter T. Brown of Toronto, today was nominated by Brantford presbytery for the moderatorship of the United Church of Canada. Dr. Brown is president of Victoria College.

Each presbytery is allowed to make one nomination. The election will take place at Vancouver later this year when the General Council holds its biennnial meeting.

Rev. M. C. Parr of Galt, presided over this morning's session of the presbytery, attended by clerical and lay delegates from Galt, St. George, Paris, Lynden, Brantford, Burford, Glen Morris, Scotland, Ayr and Onondaga.

Youthful Murderers Taken To Kingston

WELLAND, April 28.—(CP).—The two youthful murderers whose death sentences were commuted last week to life imprisonment, left today for Kingston penitentiary.

The Federal government acted last Saturday to stop the hanging of 16-year-old Norman Kindy and his companion, 20-year-old Edwin Farrington. The youths were convicted of shooting James Bell, 57, at his home in Stamford township last September. Bell was an alleged bootlegger.

Today would have been the day for the hanging. The government commuted the sentences following a plea for clemency which accompanied the jury verdict in the case.

The pair were taken today to Kingston to begin serving sentence.

Nine Cars Derailed In Sudbury Division

NORTH BAY, April 28.—(CP).—Main line traffic on the Canadian National Railway's Sudbury sub-division was halted by the derailment of nine freight cars at Cranberry, 56 miles north of Parry Sound early today. C.N.R. officials at district headquarters here announced that the line would not be re-opened before this afternoon.

No one was injured when the nine cars—some of which were loaded with freight—left the track at Cranberry, just south of Key Junction. Passenger Train No. 3, bound from Toronto to Vancouver, was diverted via North Bay.

Car, Bicycle Collide

A scratched knee was the only injury to 16-year-old Gordon Casey, 246 Wolsley St., when his bicycle and a car collided at the corner of Hunter and Roger streets about 8:30 Tuesday night.

The car, driven by George Charlton, 23 River Road, was making the turn from Hunter to Regers. The youth, seeing the collision was coming, jumped from his bike. The bicycle was damaged. There were no damages to the car.

PC C. J. McGillen investigated.

PLAN PETITION

It was reported today that residents of the Rogers-Douro section of Ashburnham were planning a petition to the council to support the recent motion by the two native aldermanic sons, Swanston and Dodds, for an abatement of noises which they say are causing disturbance to the people and depreciation of their property in the vicinity of Colonial Coach barn.

NAME WAS OMITTED

The name of Mr. Alex L. Elliott, K.C., was inadverently omitted from the group of Liberals who are being considered for the nomination meeting Thursday night at Canadian Legion Hall. Mr. Elliott is a former representative of Peterborough in the Ontario Legislature. He was in the Army when defeated at the last elections.

Early on Tuesday evening firemen were called to extinguish a fire at the Rogers street dump, caused, it is believed, by spontaneous combustion. At 9.35 p.m. a chimney fire was reported at the residence of B. Vinette, 16 Lisburn St. Shortly after 1 a.m. a flooded oil burner resulted in an alarm from R. McMaster, 474 Wolsley St.

BLEACHER PRICES

Portable bleachers to seat 1,500 persons at Riverside Park will cost $4,800 as quoted by a Canadian company to the parks committee Monday night. One advantage of them is that they could be moved to Nicholls Oval for rugby games and other events.

D-FOR-DOG DAY

Friday night is the deadline for more than income taxes. It is also the final date for purchase of 1948 dog tags in the city. With less than 500 tags sold to date (there were 1,000 sold during 1947), the authorities warn that errant owners will be fined promptly—unless they act promptly.

Car Jumps Curb Levels Shrubs, Trees

About $200 worth of damage resulted to the car of Delmar Payne, 490 Edison Ave., when it crashed over the curb and into a flower bed of the park at the corner of George and Murray streets about seven o'clock Tuesday night. Payne told police he had swerved to avoid collision with the car of Aubrey Crowley, 289½ George St.

The Payne car received a blown tire, damaged knee action, crushed fender and broken bumper when it plowed into the flower bed. It cut and broke a three-inch diameter spruce tree, crushed number of shrubs and ruffled up the bed.

PC Donald Mackay investigated.

Farm Tractor Upsets Immigrant Killed

ORILLIA, April 28 — (CP). — Stefan Hollet, 29, was killed instantly yesterday when a large farm tractor somersaulted on top of him while he was working on the farm of Ernest Barnhardt, Hawkestone, 10 miles south of here.

Hollet, a Polish immigrant who arrived here last year, was trying to get the machine out of a mud hole. He operated the tractor while Barnhardt stood on the front end, to hold it down. When the clutch was released, the front end reared up; the machine turned over, pinning Hollet underneath.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

LESS STRENGTH NEEDED

MOST bridge books prescribe a fixed amount of high-card strength as a minimum for an informatory or takeout double. Usually it is about three and a half honor tricks, or a 15 count if the hand is valued on the basis of ace 4, king 3, queen 2, jack 1. But nothing like that amount is required by any fine player for such a double if the preceding two players had passed and his own pass would close the bidding. Then a double of an adverse suit bid, which can be answered by a suit bid of one or two, requires just about an average hand unless its distribution is very unfavorable.

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
1 ♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

What was the worst bidding by South—or lack of bidding—at five tables of a duplicate game where the opening of 1-Spade by West was passed by the next two. West was permitted to play the deal at his not-doubled contract and went down four, or a score of 200 by North and South.

Each player thought that South should have [illegible] and his partner pleaded "I didn't have anywhere near three and a half tricks."

Another South, who bid 2-Hearts in that position, was allowed to play it at that and made exactly three for a score of 90 plus part-score bonus of 50, total 140.

A third South bid 2-Hearts and his partner 2-No Trumps, made on the head for a score of 120.

The two Souths that doubled, to protect a possible strong pass by their partners, perhaps a trap pass, earned a tie for top score. In one case North's pass was followed by East's pass and it was set four doubled, for 700 points. In the other East essayed a rescue of the doubled 1-Spade with 2-Clubs, which North also doubled, and it likewise was beaten four tricks for 700 points. They showed the strategic value of a double in this position with about an average hand.

Maritimes Fish Are Not Snooty

HALIFAX, April 28—(CP)—Remember that big one that got away last year?

You caught him with that special wiffendooper fly, custom-made especially to attract him. You tried in vain for hours to get another bite—but no luck. And yet the kid down the river bank a short way caught a lovely 12-pounder, and a string of smaller fish.

And he was only using a tree branch for a rod, a piece of string for a line, a dingy old worm for bait.

With the 1948 fishing season already opened in many places, it is only fair to warn you, Mr. Fisherman, that all that expensive gear — and the large assortment of flies — is going to get exactly nowhere, a least if you fish in one of the many Nova Scotia lakes or streams.

Listen to what the experts have to say. In this case, the experts are groups of survey parties sent out last summer by the Nova Scotia department of industry to fish to their heart's content.

Here's what they reported to the Nova Scotia government:

1. No relation could be observed between weather and angling success; wind, rainfall and sunlight being even.

2. More fish were caught within 100 feet of the shore than farther out in the lake.

3. No difference in fish response could be observed between flies and worms; nor could any one fly be shown to be better than any other.

4. Noise did not appear to interfere with results as evidenced by the operation of an outboard motor in the tailrace of which fish could be caught.

5. The fish appeared to bite in cycles. Thus, after a disappointing interval, nearly everyone scattered over a lake would begin to get bites at once.

6. Initial experiments with barbed hooks showed the losses amounted to some 30 per cent. On filing off the barbs the loss was reduced to about one per cent.

Reports said the Arabs were evacuating Jerusalem, fearing a Haganah coup like that at Haifa last week, when the Jewish forces captured the great port city.

Tattered Flour-Bag Truce Flag Returned To Irish Republicans

By MICHAEL O'MARA

DUBLIN, April 28—(CP)—A tattered flag of truce—fashioned from flour bags—was handed across a Dublin dinner-table and another sore spot in Anglo-Eireann relations was healed.

The flag had been hastily put together by members of the 3rd Battalion, Dublin Brigade of the Irish Republican Army, when that rebel force gave up its Eastern rising of 1916 by surrendering at Boland's Mills on the outskirts of Dublin to members of the 5th Lincolnshire Regiment.

The British officer who accepted the surrender of 117 exhausted Sinn Feiners was Captain E. J. Hitzen of Coventry. The Irish officer who led the defence of Boland's Mills, and taken captive before the surrender, was Colonel Eamon de Valera, later Prime Minister of Eire and now Opposition Leader.

Return Flag

At a recent banquet here, Hitzen returned the flag and paid tribute to the gallantry of De Valera's stand in the burning mills. De Valera, absent on a visit to the United States, was unable to attend but his son, Major Vivion De Valera, accepted the trophy on behalf of assembled I.R.A. veterans.

Both Eireann and English speakers emphasized the increasing spirit of co-operation between their two countries.

Death of Patriot.

During the same week, Eireann patriots mourned the death of 59-year-old Gearoid O'Sullivan, a civil servant who also fought in the '16 rising. He had been a long-time friend of the national hero of later years of "the troubles," the late Michael Collins.

There was no braver heart nor cooler head in the councils of the nation's army . . . Surrounded by excursions and alarms . . . he had many hairbreadth escapes but was always cheerful; nothing broke his spirit or weakened his resolve. He was a tower of strength in those hard, if thrilling days."

Women's Guild Tea Nets $65

MILLBROOK, April 28 — (ENS).—The "daffodil tea" sponsored bp the Women's Guild of St. Thomas' Anglican church Saturday afternoon was a decided success, well-attended, and added at least $65 to the funds.

The atmosphere within doors was most attractive, with golden daffodils, tulips and snapdragon centring the lace-covered hostess table, and bud vases of the spring blossoms adding to the beauty of the individual tea tables.

Mrs. F. Lowery, president of the Guild, received at the entrance door of the waiting room, with Mrs. C. M. MacLean. The rector, the Rev. M. MacLean added his word of welcome.

In charge of the table were Mrs G. F. Harrington, Mrs. G. Rapel and Mrs. D. R. Fowler. Some aprons, babies' wear and other articles were also sold in this section.

Mrs. H. A. Turner poured tea from a silver service. Tall golden candles burning in crystal holders flanked the floral centre.

Mrs. T. A. Campbell was convener of the afternoon tea; and in charge of individual tables were Mrs. J. E. Allen, Mrs. Howard Lancashire, Mrs. J. Shannon, Mrs. Alee Harkness and Mrs. R Palmer. Assisting Mrs. Campbell of refilling plates were Miss Anne Faair and Mrs. A. Sloan, while Miss Kent made the tea. Miss M. L. Collins provided piano muisc during the afternoon, and accompanied Mrs. G. A. Spicer, soloist.

Honor Norwood Lady For Wartime Services

NORWOOD, April 28—(ENS)—Mrs. W. F. Gilson, who some time ago had been awarded the MBE for services overseas in the recent war, has received the official document and medal from the King.

Mrs. Gilson was in England when war broke out, and was on duty at the First Aid post near Croyden, from October, 1939.

Later she went to Canadian military headquarters in London where she remained on duty during the Battle of Britain, and later was in charge of the Convalescent Home at Digswell Place in Herts, near London. Mrs. Gilson is also a holder of the RRC for services in England, France, Fussia, and in Germany with the army of occupation during 1914-18 war.

Mrs. Gilson is the widow of Col. W. F. Gilson, DSO, and a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs J. L. Squire of Norwood.

Have you $10.00 in UNITED STATES Money?

- Existing regulations make it illegal for any Canadian resident to retain in his possession more than $10 in United States cash.
- You are required to turn in to your bank, for exchange into Canadian money, any amount you have in excess of $10 in United States funds, without delay.

THERE'S A REASON

- The reason is that Canada must have the U.S. dollars spent here by tourists, in order to make them available for the payment of imported goods and services needed to keep production and employment at a high level.

RED RIVER GOES ON RAMPAGE—Basements and first floors of business buildings on the main street of Emerson, Manitoba, were well under water though the Red River of the North, far out of its banks because of spring thawing, is now reported to be receding. In top picture boat volunteers back their craft into a doorway to deliver a second floor resident. The Rev. D. A. Green, lower, wades through flood waters also in Emerson, one of the hardest hit of several prairie province communities.

Sealing Steamship Rescued 28 Sailors Trapped On Ice

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., April 29—(CP).—Twenty-eight seamen, who abandoned the ice-crushed sealer Norma Conrad in the Strait of Belle Isle Tuesday, were being rescued today by the veteran sealing steamship Eagle, it was reported here. The Eagle crunched her way through the grinding ice floes to the side of the Conrad and began taking the marooned men off the ice.

The men abandoned the Conrad when jagged ice pans sliced through her timbers and rafted her out of the water. Since then they awaited rescue in impoverished shelters on the ice.

The Eagle, which has gone to northern waters to join in the seal hunt every spring for 55 years, managed to punch her way within eight miles of the marooned hunters before she herself was stopped yesteday.

She lay helpless overnight, only eight miles from her destination, but with a morning change of wind the ice in which she was encased began to slacken. The sturdy vessel immediately resumed her snail's pace to the Conrad.

There was no immediate information as to the condition of the Conrad crew but no one was believed injured.

Meanwhile, another sealer, the Catalina, damaged in the Labrador ice floes, was being towed south by the steamer Codroy.

Rock Slide Kills Two Trainmen

KAMLOOPS, B.C., April 29—(CP)—Two trainmen were killed today when a CNR freight train struck a rock slide 50 miles north of here.

The dead: Fireman E. Witt, and Brakeman T. W. McKnight, both of Kamloops.

The slide occurred near Barriere in the North Thompson valley.

A third member of the train crew, Engineer J. Home suffered leg injuries.

The engine and 11 cars were derailed as tons of rock crashed down the mountainside.

Auxiliary work trains have been sent from Gossett, B.C., and Jasper, Alta. It was expected to take from 12 to 15 hours to clear the tracks.

Forestry officials, among the first at the derailment, aided in the rescue work and recovery of the bodies.

Elect Army Officer Vice-President China

NANKING, April 29—(AP).—Gen. Li Tsung-Jen, new "Lion of the North," was elected vice-president of China today. The office is without power except the right of succession to President Chiang Kai-Shek.

Li, a reform candidate who has bucked Chiang on more than one occasion, roundly defeated the incumbent, Dr. Sun Fo, 1,438 to 1,295. Sun originally was supported by Chiang but the President, during the election, told the National Assembly delegates to vote as they chose.

Li's election, in a measure, was a minor defeat for the strong right wing of the Kuomintang, its first such political defeat in 20 years.

The resignation of the National Cabinet and a general reorganization of the government is likely before the formal inauguration set tentatively for May 5, of Chiang and Li.

Renew Demands For National Policy On Coal

OTTAWA, April 29 (CP)—Demands for a national coal policy for Canada were renewed here last night. They were highlighted by a British industrialist's offer to bring 3,000 engineers from Britain and begin strip-mining Alberta anthracite.

The offer came from Sir Albert Braithwaite, a British coal operator until his mine was nationalized, now engaged in strip-mining in India. It was dependent on satisfactory financial arrangements being completed.

Sir Albert explained he had already been refused permission by the Bank of England to export capital for the purpose.

The dinner was organized by a group of Liberal, Progressive Conservative, Social Credit and C.C.F. members of parliament, and by Mervyn Brown, owner of extensive coal development rights in Alberta. At the head table were Agriculture Minister Gardiner and Premier Manning of Alberta. Attending were about 300 people, including representatives of both railways, other industrials and mayors of several cities.

Sir Albert told the gathering he sent a group of engineers to Canada two or three years ago to explore the possibility of developing coal resources. They reported that in six months production could reach 3,000,000 tons and by the end of 18 months 10,000,000 tons a year.

Mining engineers estimated Alberta anthracite could be laid down in Ontario for $12.50 to $13.25 a ton compared to the $20 American coal was costing here, Mr. Brown said.

Fire 30 Rifle Shots At Teacher's Home

NEW YORK, April 29—(AP)—The telephone rang in a Brooklyn high school teacher's home last night. An anonymous feminine voice left this message:

"If she doesn't pass everyone in mathematics tomorrow something will happen. She'll be pushing up daisies."

A few minutes later, 30 rifle shots fired from a passing car riddled the home of the teacher, Miss Margaret Jokiel, 24. No one was injured.

Miss Jokiel, a Fort Hamilton high school faculty member, was not at home at the time. The call was taken by her mother.

Labor Party Will Probe Nenni Telegram Incident

LONDON, April 29. —(Reuters)—The Labor party is expected to probe the Menni incident and other alleged acts of policy-flaunting by some of its members when the annual party conference opens at Scarborough, Yorkshire, May 17.

An investigation is considered certain even if, as seems possible, the 21 Labor Members of Parliament who yesterday were censured for signing a good wishes telegram to Pietro Nenni, leader of the Italian Majority Socialists co-operating wtih the Communists, bow to the national executive's seven-day ultimatum.

The ultimatum orders them to promise adherence to the party line in future or be expelled from the party like the leader of the "Nenni" signatories, John Platts-Mills.

The annual conference is the final arbiter of policy. It is likely to reflect the anxiety of many members at the recent succession of clashes between the parliamentary party leaders and groups of rank-and-file members.

The Hague incident; caused by the decision of 40 members to attend the United European Conference in the Netherlands next months against expressed official disapproval, will undoubtedly be raised.

There may be criticism of the National committee for what some members consider a short-sighted attitude in discouraging this conference when a strong body of European Socialist opinion is in favor of it.

Large Egyptian Army Sent to Border; Iraq Moving Troops

JERUSALEM, April 29.—(AP).—British forces struck wtih artillery and diving planes today at the battered Manshieh quarter of Jaffa, which Irgun Zvai Leumi captured yesterday after four days fighting with the Arabs. The promised British counter-attack developed as officials of Egypt and Iraq said large parts of their armies were moving on Palestine.

Sharp skirmishing occurred in the Jordan River valley opposite Trans-Jordan.

The Jews claimed capture of Beisan, 15 miles south of the Sea of Galilee. Beisan is a way station for Arabs filtering in from the east for the battle over partition.

The Arab Legion informed King Abdullah in Amman it had occupied Gesher, a Jewish collective settlement in the Jordan valley, and killed hundreds of Jews. The Legion said the fight started Tuesday night when Jews killed a Legion sentry inside Trans-Jordan territory.

Forces at Border

The Egyptian communications minister, Dessouki Abaza Pasha, said in Cairo large Egyptian army forces had been sent to the southern border of Palestine. Regent Abdul Ilah of Iraq said in Amman his country's army had started moving toward Palestine and would pass through Trans-Jordan.

British authorities employed a battalion of Irish Fusiliers to support their pledge not to permit the Jews to occupy Jaffa, the Arab port adjoining all-Jewish Tel Aviv. The reinforcements brought the British force available to about 3,000 men.

Planes with RAF markings circled and dived repeatedly shortly after midday over Manshieh. There was no indication they had dropped bombs or fired. Dusk yesterday, a flight of Spitfires machine-gunned Magama positions in Bat Yam village just south of Jaffa.

Irgun Will Fight

As far as was known, Irgun appeared determined to try and hold the Arab quarter. Throughout the night, Irgun forces dug into defence positions and brought up fresh troops.

British shells fell in the Manshieh quarter. Early damage and casualties were reported small.

The news of a cease fire for the old walled city of Jerusalem was received here with optimism. Neither the Jews nor the Arabs, however, had received instructions by early afternoon to cease fighting, as their spokesmen agreed before the United Nations.

To-night a cease-fire was ordered until 9 a.m. to-morrow. It

70 Guard Of Honor At Kennedy Funeral

KINGSTON, April 29 —(CP)—Hundreds of people lined streets and filled St. Mary's Cathedral to capacity this morning for funeral of John D. Kennedy of nearby Portsmouth, former messenger at Kingston Penitentiary and a brother of Dr. M. J. Kennedy of Peterborough.

Mr. Kennedy was fatally shot Monday when Austin Craft, 46, Brantford, and Howard Urquhart, 21, Toronto, escaped from the penitentiary in a prison car which Kennedy had been driving. They were recaptured and returned to the prison four hours later.

A guard of honor of 70 officers from the penitentiary lined up on the steps leading to the cathedral as the body was carried into the church by the fellow officers.

Portsmouth Separate School was closed for the morning to permit pupils to attend the funeral accompanied by their parents.

Mr. Kennedy was a member of Portsmouth village council for some years and his father, the late Michael Kennedy, was reeve of the village at one time.

Negro Shoots Police Chief With Own Gun Stands Off Officers For More Than Hour

ADAIRVILLE, Ky., April 29—(AP)—An insane Negro early today shot to death police chief Rufus Barrow, 60, with the officer's own pistol, then for more than an hour stood off officers before he was overpowered.

The Negro, listed as Ed Burkes, 20, had been adjudged insane and was in custody of the officer, awaiting a bus to take him to an institution. The prisoner seized the officer's gun, felled him and fired shot after shot into his body.

Then the man, waving the gun, took up a position over the officer's body and defied police and sheriff's deputies to approach him.

The officers refrained immediately from attempting to seize him lest he start shooting into the crowd of several hundred which quickly gathered.

After nearly 1½ hours, the officers kept the man's attention while another Negro, Capers Crumbaugh, 45, slipped up behind Burkes, flattened him and disarmed him.

Gov't Can't Stand Idly By While Meat Prices Rise; Martin Foresees Controls

OTTAWA, April 29—(CP).—Chairman Paul Martin told the Prices Committee today he thought the Government could not "stand idly by" and watch meat prices continue to rise. A moment earlier he had suggested to Reginald Munn, general manager of Burns and Company, that the packing industry might get together and say to itself: "We may have to go back to a system of controls—it's time to exercise a little business statesmanship."

He had suggested that the packers could co-operate to keep prices down.

Mr. Munn said that the packers could do little to reduce prices to the consumer without lowering cattle prices to the producers.

Mr. Munn said the packing industry could only lower prices to the retailer without lowering them to producers as well, by paying the losses from its reserves and then going out of business. The loss involved in cutting beef prices by one cent a pound would be heavy unless cattle prices were correspondingly lowered.

Mr. Munn said he expected that beef prices would drop in July when cattle deliveries increased. He thought pork prices would not go down as long as the bacon contract with Britain is in effect.

"We are also in the squeeze," Mr. Munn told Mr. Martin. "We are merely the processor and there's a limit to the effect we can have on the price either to the producer or the retailer."

Mr. Munn told the chairman that he would not like to see ceiling prices re-imposed on meat unless a general system controls were re-established for everything, including wages.

He attributed higher meat prices to heavy consumer demand and agreed with committee members who suggested that the position arose through the operation of the law of supply and demand.

Final Attempt Made To Prevent Railway Strike

CHICAGO, April 29—(AP)—Federal conciliators came here from Washington today to make a final attempt to avert a United States-wide railroad strike called for May 11 by two operating brotherhoods.

Representatives of the carriers and three operating union involved in a lengthy wage dispute were summoned to a meeting by Chairman Frank Douglass of the National Railway Mediation Board.

The official strike notice was announced yesterday by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and the Switchmen's Union of America. The walkout, which would cripple the country's 225,000-mile railroad system, was set for 6 a.m. a week from next Tuesday.

Wage negotiations between the carriers and the three brotherhoods, representing about 150,000 members, collapsed Tuesday night. The unions had announced a strike call would be issued yesterday.

Before Douglass left Washington for the Chicago meeting he said failure of the unions and carriers to reach an agreement "represents a serious threat to the economy of the nation in that a stoppage of all rail transportation in the country may follow."

Douglass said he saw "no reason why the Railway Labor Act cannot be made effective to adjust this present dispute." The board first entered the controversy last December but withdrew when mediation efforts failed.

770 Immigrants Arrive

QUEBEC, April 29.— (CP).—The liner Beaverbrae, first Canadian ship assigned to immigrant traffic, docked here today with 770 Polish, Ukrainian and German immigrants, the majority of them bound for western Canada. The group, which included more than 170 children, sailed from Bremerhaven April 19. All have Canadian relatives.

Parliamentary Parley To Be Held In Autumn

LONDON, April 29 — (CP). — The first post-war parliamentary conference of the British Commonwealth will be held in London next autumn, Prime Minister Attlee announced today.

Attlee suggested at a meeting of the United Kingdom branch of the Empire Parliamentary Association that the date for the meeting would be some time in October. The Prime Minister said that all branches are being invited.

International Police Force To Safeguard Jerusalem Rejected By Arab Heads

Jews Accept Plan For 1,000-Man Force To Safeguard Holy Places; Arabs Object To Foreign Troops Being Sent

LAKE SUCCESS, April 29—(CP).—The Arabs today rejected a French proposal for an international volunteer police force for Jerusalem. The Jews agreed to the proposal for a 1,000-man elite force to safeguard Jerusalem's holy places under a proposed truce, but the Arab rejection dashed hopes for its establishment.

Jamal Husseini, vice-chairman of the Arab higher committee for Palestine, told the trusteeship council the Arabs "object to foreign troops being sent to our country." He said the term troops also meant police.

Husseini added that the Arabs would not resist the proposed police force but would never agree to it.

Moshe Shertok, head of the Jewish agency's political department, said the Jews definitely agree to setting up a UN force for Jerusalem.

The United States renewed its appeal meanwhile for quick UN approval of the American plan for UN trusteeship over Palestine.

Philip C. Jessup, US delegate, told the 58-member political committee he felt the American views could be summed up this way:

1. The UN must be prepared to accept full responsibility for Palestine when the British mandate rule ends May 15.

2. A temporary trusteeship appears to be the proper way for the UN to discharge these responsibilities.

Agree On Truce

A truce for the walled section of Jerusalem where many of the places holy to Christians, Jews and Mohammedans are situated, was agreed upon yesterday in the 12-man trusteeship council by representatives in Lake Success of the Arabs and Jews.

But the Arab stand today ruled out hopes this truce would be achieved.

The reply to the telegram sent by Moshe Shertok, head of the political department of the Jewish Agency, to his headquarters in Palestine, was expected to bring good news. In his telegram, Shertok outlined terms of the truce for the restricted area.

Ask New Labor Code Have Teeth In It

OTTAWA, April 29 (CP)—The Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) today urged the Commons Industrial Relations Committee to put "teeth" in the government's new labor code to "deal with companies which defly the law."

This submission came as the committee opened clause-by-clause discussion of the proposed legislation, which has received second reading in the Commons.

A telegram from T. G. (Jerry) McManus, secretary-treasurer of the C.S.U., asked the committee to tighten the law against employers violating the law.

Mr. McManus referred to the C.S.U.'s current dispute with some Great Lakes shipping companies who have refused to sign contracts with that union.

He declared their defiance of the existing law was "a serious threat to labor conciliation."

From the Canadian Construction Association the committee received a letter commending the bill as having "sound basic principles."

At the outset of clause-by-clause consideration of the code, the committee ran into a snag on the definition of a "collective agreement."

David Croll (L—Toronto Spadina), former Ontario minister, and Claire Gillis (CCF—Cape Breton South) led a contingent calling for widening of the definition to include specifically such terms of employment as union security and the check-off.

Oshawa Parley Called By UAW

WINDSOR, April 29 — (CP). — Delegates from every Canadian local union in the United Automobile Workers (CIO) will meet at Oshawa, May 1-2 for a regional skilled trades council meeting, it was announced here today.

Recommendations of a committee appointed at last November's international convention in Atlantic City, to work out an agreement of journeyman-upgrader problems among UAW skilled tradesmen, will be reported to the council.

Standardization of wage rate for skilled workers throughout UAW shops in Canada will be a "top item," union spokesmen said.

George Campbell, international director of the union's skilled trades department; and William C. MacDonald, newly-appointed educational director for the Canadian region, will speak.

Stock Exchange Men Vote To End Strike

NEW YORK, April 29. (AP)—United Financial Employees (AFL) today voted to return to work at the New York Stock Exchange and four brokerage houses and end their month-long strike.

The union acted at a special meeting after Mayor O'Dwyer requested them to resume work at wage increases offered by the exchange pending city investigation of the wage issue.

There was no immediate announcement of when the strikers would return to their jobs.

Australia To Be Main Base In Pacific

Five-Year Defence Plan Will Develop Commonwealth Security

CANBERRA, April 29 (Reuters). — Defence Minister John Dedman to-day announced to Parliament that Australia would become a main base of the British Commonwealth in the Pacific under an Australian five-year defence plan.

Australia would maintain contact with Britain and New Zealand on this policy, which related not only to the armed forces but to the strategic development and distribution of the forces of the British Commonwealth, he said.

Montgomery Talks

Dedman said the importance of ensuring that "first things came first" was discussed with Field-Marshal Viscount Montgomery, Chief of the Imperial General Staff, when he was in Australia recently.

The Field-Marshal's view was that there should be a peacetime army which would provide the base on which mobilization could be carried out in an emergency.

His government's aim was a comparatively small, well-trained and well-equipped force, rather than large numbers with only limited training. The cost of the army's five-year program was £62,500,000 ($250,000,000).

Highest priority had been given to labor and materials for the long-range weapons project in which Australia was co-operating closely with Britain. Aeronautical research and the highly skilled technicians were being made available from aircraft factories to help in developing long-range weapons.

Main Base

(According to Radio Australia, Dedman said the immediate aim of the defence program was to develop Australia as a main base of the British Commonwealth in the Pacific not only in armed forces but in regard to the strategic distribution of resources.)

Sixteen air squadrons would be organized for home defence and a task force, Dedman said.

Australia's first new aircraft carrier was expected late this year and a second was due by 1950. The present naval strength of 11,000 would be raised to 14,750 although there was a shortage of trained officers.

Deadline On Income Tax Extended To May 31 Due To Weather Trouble

Problem Of Distributing All Tax Forms Chief Reason For Extra Month; Quarterly Payments Not Affected By Change

OTTAWA, April 29—(CP).—A month's respite for thousands of Canadians busy with income tax forms was announced Wednesday in the Commons. Revenue Minister McCann said the deadline for filing 1947 individual returns has been extended from April 30 to May 31. He cited "extreme weather conditions in various parts of the country" as one reason for the extension. This apparently was a reference in part to the serious floods in Western Canada.

The decision applies to most individual taxpayers, including farmers, but not to those required to make quarterly or other instalment payments. Nor does it apply to corporation or estate tax returns.

Two Progressive Conservative members asked Monday for government consideration of a deadline extension. C. E. Stephenson (PC—Durham) and A. L. Smith (PC—Calgary West) mentioned weather conditions and the stepped-up activity at rural tax offices. Mr. McCann said at that time that he would bring the matter to government attention.

During the war tax deadlines twice were hoisted under emergency powers since relinquished by the government.

Can't Get Forms

Announcing the postponement today, Mr. McCann said problems of delay in distributing tax forms are the chief reasons for the 31-day breathing spell.

The minister said weather conditions in some areas made it difficult for individuals to get forms.

He added:

"In addition there is a substantial increase, particularly in rural areas, in the number of taxpayers over the previous year. This has added greatly to the problem of distributing the various forms.

"For these and other reasons, many taxpayers throughout the country are finding it extremely difficult to complete and file their returns on time.

"As a consequence, the government has decided that the time for filing 1947 individual income tax returns will be extended from April 30 to May 31, 1948. This applies only to those returns known as T.1 General, T.1 Special, T.4-T.1 Employees, T.1 Farmers and T.1 Praairie Farmers.

"The penalty for late filing will be assessed if the taxpayer fails to file his return on or before May 31, 1948.

"Individual taxpayers who ordinarily would be required to pay the balance of their tax on or before April 30, 1948, must now make payment of that balance on or before May 31, 1948. If they fail to do so, interest will be charged from that date."

Police Seeking 2 CSU Officers

TORONTO, April 29.—(CP).—Another official of the Canadian Seamen's Union has been arrested in connection with last week's attack on the collier Glenelg at Thorold, it was announced today.

He is Aage Antonsen, the union's business agent in Thorold, who was arrested at his home last night and charged with conspiracy to assault and beset.

His arrest brings to 37 the number of seamen in custody awaiting trial on varying charges arising out of the attack.

Warrants still are out for Kenneth Corrigan and Basil Dawson of Owen Sound, CSU officers sought on conspiracy charges.

Two other C.S.U. men wanted on the same charges, which arose from the Great Lakes Seamen's dispute over work contracts, surrendered to police yesterday. They were Michael Jackson of Montreal, C.S.U Great Lakes director, and Louis Schmaltz of Thorold.

The warrants accuse all four of conspiracy to assault and beset the Glenelg's officers and crew.

Jackson and Schmaltz, together with 35 other C.S.U. men and a free lance photographer, will appear in court at Thorold tomorrow. The 35 sailors and the photographer, who swarmed aboard the Canada Steamship Lines vessel Glenelg in the Welland canal a week ago and fought with its Canadian Lake Seamen's Union crew, face charges of trespassing as well as six other charges.

Meantime investigation is continuing into an attack early yesterday on Mrs. Andrew Allen, 55, of Sarnia, the wife of the captain of the C.S.L. freighter Lethbridge.

Parking Space Along River Out Of Question

A riverside parking strip at the east end of Simcoe St. is not practicable, Ald. H. Dodds said at the meeting of the Board of Works Monday night.

He reported a railway hazard from shunting trains crossing Simcoe St. at the approach to the area which was built up during years of use as a city dump. It would also have to be surfaced, at considerable expense estimated by City Engineer Chalmers, and finally it would require to be fenced in with heavy cable to prevent the possibility of cars rolling into the river.

Peterborough's parking problem has been in and out of council attention for at least ten years. The main interruption to planning and consideration was the outbreak of the war. Since then available space has remained unchanged, but the number of automobiles in the city and coming into it from the district has been steadily increasing.

The problem has not diminished in any respect. In James Dutton's years in the council, the built-up area down by the river at the end of Simcoe St. used to be mentioned as a promising parking site. Another prospective use was as a yard for the board of works and other departments of the council, shifting from Townsend St.

A snap summary of this parking question is simply that nothing has been accomplished since permission of the federal government was obtained for the use of its property on Charlotte St. at Louis St.

Mr. Fred Revoy offered $50 a month for rent of part of the property at the northeast corner of George and Sherbrooke Streets for sale of used cars. City Clerk Outram reported recent enquiry and some prospect for purchase of that corner as a hotel site. For that reason it was decided to inform Mr. Revoy that the property is not for rent. In the meantime its use as a parking area will continue.

Jamal El Husseini of the Arab higher committee said he would send a telegram to the committee naming the hour and the day for the cease-fire to begin as soon as the Jewish Agency replied.

No Broadening of Pact

There appeared little hope of broadening the agreement, however. The Arabs said they could accept a truce covering the larger new area of Jerusalem only if it is widened to take in all of Palestine. Repeated efforts to enforce a country-wide cease-fire order have stalled on the issue of partition.

The Arabs stress that no overall truce is possible unless the partition scheme is dropped. The Jewish Agency emphasizes that it will accept nothing less than the partitioning of Palestine.

The 58 members of the political committee applauded when told of the truce agreement but failed to make progress themselves in further consideration of the future government of Palestine."

Finn Moe of Norway urged that the only workable solution of the Palestine problem was a "temporary suspension of implementation of partition."

Craig Acquitted In Stabbing Case

WINDSOR, April 29.—(CP).—Robert Craig, 37, of Windsor, found innocent of murder, in Supreme Court today by a jury that deliberated 50 minutes.

He had been charged with the murder of a wartime buddy, William Franklin Solomon, 32, with a German commando knife during a scuffle following a drinking bout.

In dismissing the jury that acquitted Craig, Mr. Justice G. A. Urquhart voiced his agreement with their verdict, observing that there "was a very considerable amount of doubt, to say the least."

Prairie Floods Subsiding; Death Toll 14

WINNIPEG, April 29 — (CP) — Flood waters continued to subside today in most of the prairie provinces with the death toll through the 11-day-old flood period now standing at 14.

Latest victim was 2½-year-old Donald Smith, who was drowned when he tumbled into a water-filled excavation in Regina. His death was Saskatchewan's third from the floods, while Manitoba has had a similar total against eight deaths in Alberta.

Farmers in western Canada were reported giving consideration to a suggestion that spring seeding be done from the air. Such aerial seeding was advanced as a possible method to overcome the fact that flooded land might dry out too late this year to permit a normal growing period for crops.

Manitoba's flood situation still was reported serious although the main troublemaker — the Red River—had receded nearly four inches at Emerson on the Minnesota border. Emerson had been one of the hardest hit of all prairie communities by the floods.

No More Evacuation

At Winnipeg, the Red had risen 3½ inches in a 24-hour period but no more families were forced to evacuate their homes. City officials declined to estimate when the crest of the Assiniboine River, which flows into the Red here, would reach the city.

In Alberta, where close to 3,000 persons had been forced from their homes, the worst appeared over. Many of these who had been evacuated in the Drumhiller Valley have been able to return. Railway officials reported line conditions improving as work gangs repaired tracks damaged by the floods.

In Saskatchewan, Agriculture Minister Nollett said the provincial government would aid flood-stricken municipalities to locate seed grain as is being done in Manitoba.

was proposed by W. Fuller, British District Commissioner, so he would arrange a meeting with the Jews. British authorities seek to prevent the Jews from occupying the predominantly Arab port.

Jewish reports to Jerusalem were that the Jewish militia Hagana routed Arabs in a five-hour battle to-day and took a police station near Samakah which the Arabs had occupied. Samakah is at the southern tip of the Sea of Galilee.

Down the river valley almost half way to Beisan, the same reports continued, Hagana also occupied a police post and a police fortress, evacuated by the British ofrces near Gesher.

The Jewish press charged that Arab Legionnaires coming from Trans-Jordan joined other armed Arabs in yesterday's attack on the Jewish collective settlement of Gesher, but there was no official confirmation.

People fleeing the troubled Holy Land are streaming southward across the Egyptian border while soldiers, guns and vehicles move northward toward the frontier.

Army Gathering

Foreign correspondents noted evidence of both movements on an automobile trip into Jerusalem from Cairo. Before they left, they got unconfirmed reports that half or more of the Egyptian Army had been or would be gathered just below Palestine.

North-west of Jerusalem on the coast, Jews striking from all-Jewish Tel Aviv showed determination to go ahead with their attack upon neighboring all-Arab Jaffa in the face of British opposition.

In Amman, Trans-Jordan, Regent Abdul Ilah of Iraq told a reporter last night all Arab countries are "agreed to rescue Palestine" and their regular armies will act soon. Trans-Jordan's foreign minister said the armies will take action long before May 15—the day Britain gives up the Holy Land mandate. The two men met with Trans-Jordan's King Abdullah, the Secretary-General of the Arab League, and others.

RCAF Jet Plane Crash Lands In Swampy Field

WAGAMING, Ont., April 29—(CP)—A Royal Canadian Air Force jet plane made a crash landing yesterday in a swampy field near this northwestern Ontario village and the pilot—only occupant of the lightning-fast aircraft—escaped without serious injury.

Air force officials in Winnipeg said that Wing Cmdr. J. D. Somerville of Vancouver, the pilot of the jet which was on its way to British Columbia from Toronto, made a "beautiful landing" in a field about 200 by 300 yards. They said he was shaken up but not otherwise hurt.

Somerville was flown in to Winnipeg aboard a plane that had been dispatched from the Manitoba headquarters of the R.C.A.F. to survey the situation.

Air force men who made the flight from Winnipeg said that Somerville had set down the plane near railway tracks and that it would be comparatively simple matter, therefore, to salvage the damaged Vampire jet plane.

The wing commander took off from Toronto on Tuesday on the first leg to Kapuskasing. He had left Kapuskasing yesterday with Armstrong as his next stop.

Air force officials said the jet's engine had cut out at Wegaming, a flag stop on the Canadian National Railways transcontinental line, near Armstrong.

3-Day Storm Damages Ships

HALIFAX, April 29.—(CP)—Ice and the dregs of a three-day storm that charged across the Maritimes, Newfoundland and Labrador continued to play hob with shipping along the entire length of the Canadian Atlantic seaboard.

One ship already has been destroyed. Another was towed to safety. A line was about to be put aboard another. Still four others were trapped in ice floes off Cape Breton.

Twenty-eight men still were awaiting rescue on an ice pack off Battle Harbor near the southeastern tip of Labrador. Their ship, the sealer Norman Conrad, was destroyed by the grinding ice Tuesday.

Another sealer, the Eagle, managed to punch her way within eight miles of the marooned hunters before she herself was caught in the grip of the pack. The Norman Conrad's crew was not believed in danger as they had taken supplies, lifeboats and provisions with them when abandoning ship.

PERRTH, Scotland.—John Sullivan, President of the 700,000-member Scottish Trades Union Congress, said Britain would have accepted Marshall Plan aid or its equivalent from Russian just as eagerly as from the United States if it had been offered.

Hydro Commission Stuffed With Tories Oliver Charges In Cobourg Address

COBOURG, April 29 (ENS)—Premier Drew, in violation of his election 22 point program had stuffed the Ontario Hydro Commission with political followers, had snatched wartime tax measures as soon as the federal government had relinquished them and had involved the province in a spending spree that could only lead to financial disaster, charged the Liberal leader, Farquhar Oliver in addressing a large Liberal meeting here Wednesday night. The ticket list had been limited to 200 members and the 200 in attendance represented every part of the riding of Northumberland. The opposition leader said that the Hydro cycle change over was not the real issue. The opposition had endorsed it but Premier Drew had been "hearing voices"—voices that seemed to come from "away out in the hinterland" and that in order to give everyone a chance to register his opinion on the change from 25 to 60 cycle, an election was being called.

Got Shaken Up

"Don't let him fool you," advised the speaker. "Mr. Drew predicted a walk-over in the Huron by-election last winter but when he saw the previous 2,000 majority dwindle to 600 it shook him up. I realized and predicted then that he would stage a provincial election next spring if he could find an excuse for one. Mr. Drew realized his prestige was slipping, that his party was losing favor and that he must get a mandate from the people before his Tory party slipped too far. And so we see the spectacle of Mr. Drew casting about for an excuse. But when the matter of changing that island and municipalities using 25 cycle in the centre of the province to 60 cycles power, we didn't oppose it. He still searched in vain for an excuse to call an election. Then on the last day of the session, he got up and stood with that superior air he knows so well and began to read a typewritten document. It started out 'The stage has been set'. He could not have uttered truer words for indeed the stage had been set. Mr. Drew admitted that the Liberals supported the change over but he remembered somebody away out in the hinterland who opposed it and from somewhere else he heard another voice and therefore he says that those who oppose it shall have a chance to register their opinion. That is not the reason for the election, this matter of the change in the cycle, it is but the excuse. Never in all my career have I seen an election on such flimsy excuse," he declared.

Mr. Oliver went on to say that in the coming election debates his party would not argue the change in the Hydro frequency but would have much to say on other phases of Hydro matter, including "the responsibility of the Drew government for the Hydro shortage and the creation of a Hydro Commission with poltical stripes as never before."

"If you read Mr. Drew's 22-point platform you will find that he promised to take Hydro out of politics. But what did he do. He fired Tommy Hogg, a man who is an engineer, not a politician and put ex-Mayor Saunders of Toronto, in his place, a man who is being groomed to take Mr. Drew's place in Ontario when George goes to Ottawa to take Mr. Bracken's place. And then you have George Challies as vice-chairman, a full-blooded Tory if there ever was one. Then there is the other members, Ross Strike, who was a defeated Conservative candidate. As a Liberal party we say that the day is coming when we'll have to hand Hydro back to the people and take it out of politics. One of the first things we would do is ask the Ontario Municipal Electrical Association to name a man of their own choice. We'd say to the municipalities, pick your own man as is your right, and a step in the right direction," Mr. Oliver told his listeneres.

Remove Gas Tax

"We will remove the three cent gas tax. It was a wartime tax and when the war was over, the Federal government removed it and Drew grabbed it. You cannot lower taxes if, when the Federal government removes a tax, the province slaps it back on the backs of the taxpayers. Eleven cents is too high a tax, more than 40 per cent. We can collect more in the long run by an eight cent tax than 11 cents. With too high a tax you run into the law of diminishing returns," he declared further.

Speaking of the amusement tax, he pointed out that Mr. Drew had a plan all ready to receive this tax when the Dominion government withdrew from this field.

"Mr. Drew would create the impression that the proceeds would go to hospitals providing the Dominion government would permit the Ontario government to enter this amusement tax field. In other words he would try and imply that if the Dominion government wouldn't acquiesce in that regard, the hospitals would be the losers. We know that hospitals need financial assistance but we will help the hospitals whether the government gives up the amusement tax or not. The Province can afford it. We would not tie it up in the nefarious way Mr. Drew would attempt. Provincial taxes have more than doubled in the past five years. You will recall the 38 million deficit the Liberal party had to shoulder from the Henry government. The day is not far off when we will again have to put our financial house in order."

Gas Tax Steal

If revenues become less buoyant we cannot maintain our financial pitch because we are putting nothing away for a rainy day. The 25 million dollar surplus of the Drew government—half of it was from the gas tax which they stole from the Dominion government. They have failed to increase old age pensions. Of the $28 pension, $25 was a participatory plan of Dominion and Province and the Province of Ontario contriubted $9.25 in the $28 pension. Although the Dominion raised it to $30, the Province pays only $7.50 on this $30 oasic maximum pension, reaping a dividend represented by the difference between $9.25 and $7.50. Certainly it is not a contribution worthy of the resources of Ontario. We asked Mr. Drew the extent of the $10 supplement and I can assure you to get the supplementary amount you have to be flat on your back and unable to wiggle a finger. We finally learned that 1,900 people get the $40 pension and this is out of 70,000 people on pension," Mr. Oliver said.

The speaker declared that royal commission after royal commission had been appointed and nothing had come of their findings. In connection with agriculture, whenever a question was asked in the House, the reply was that a royal commission was sitting on it.

"They haven't sat for two years and that is needed is the necessary farm legislation, fearlessly put into effect. Royal commissions under Drew have cost this province one-third of a million dollars and nothing to show for it. If elected we will place the responsibility on cabinet ministers not on commissions not responsible to the electorates," he said in conclusion.

T. T. Rodger Heads Children's Aid Re-elected At Annual Meeting

Children between the ages of seven and 13 are a relatively unknown age group said Professor William Line, University of Toronto, and Research Director of the National Council on Mental Hygiene who spoke at the annual meeting of the Children's Aid Society held on Wednesday evening.

He said that the problems of both the pre-school child and the adolescent had been explored more thoroughly than that of the seven-to-thirteen age group, and he claimed that the statisics that do exsit are mainly based upon the behavior of those children who have run afoul of society and have been included in the general class of "juvenile delinquents."

In a family including three children—an infant, a seven-to-thirteen-year-old, and an adolescent—he declared that a severe crisis which arose in the family would bear most heavily on the middle child.

"How the personality is integrated into society is largely determined by that middle period of childhood," she said. At that stage the subject might become a shy,

Presbytery Requests Clemency For Indian

BRANTFORD, April 29—(CP)—The Brantford Presbytery of the United Church of Canada passed a resolution urging that the death sentence imposed on Maynard Jonathan, 17-year-old Indian, be commuted to life imprisonment.

Jonathan is sentenced to be hanged June 22 for the murder of Isaac J. Hill, 71-year-old Indian trapper. In the resolution passed last night it was held that Jonathan had not received the benefit of home training and sound environment. It was forwarded to Norman E. Lickers, Brantford solicitor, now in Ottawa appealing the death sentence of his client.

Sentence Ivers Kelly To Two Years In Jail

TORONTO, April 29.—(CP).—Ivers Kelly, Toronto newspaperman, today was sentenced to two years less a day definite and one year indefinite in Ontario reformatory for assault causing bodily harm to his wife.

Kelly, 41, was acquitted yesterday of a charge of attempted murder of his 29-year-od wife, Verna, but was convicted of the lesser charge.

Mrs. Kelly was found unconscious here last Dec. 22, suffering head injuries inflicted by Kelly. She still is under medical care and doctors said she appears to be half-blind and partly paralyzed from her injuries.

During the trial, Kelly admitted that due to financial troubles he had decided to kill his wife and himself. He said he thought this would be in the best interests of their three children. He knocked his wife's head on the floor but could not go through with his plan, he said.

Decide Not To Alter School Rental Rules

WINDSOR, April 29.—(CP).—Windsor Board of Education decided no change would be made in its present policy of renting school facilities it was announced today.

It did not have to deal with the Labor-Progressive party request for Patterson Collegiate April 30, when the LPP withdrew its request yesterday.

After reviewing its policy of renting school facilities, the Board last night decided to make no change in its present policy of rentals and fees. Any group may continue to apply for rental of schools, although the Board must give its approval in each case.

Pet Skunk Raising Profitable Hobby

KAMLOOPS, B.C., April 29—(CP)—Douglas Dodd, 25-year-old taxi driver, raises skunks as a hobby—to sell as pets and to market the fluid which the little animals use so effectively as a defence weapon.

The fluid is used as a base for perfumes and commands a high price. A vaccum syringe is used to extract it from two muscular-walled glands at the base of the stomach. The "milker" uses a mask, gloves and a rubber hat.

"Skunks make real pets," Dodds said. He hopes to have about 20 baby skunks by late summer on his "farm" at Kamloops' outskirts.

Daily Broadcasts Help Tuna Fishers

VANCOUVER, April 29—(CP)—The British Columbia fishing fleet will receive four broadcasts a day to assist them in catching tuna.

Temperatures, position of fish and other information will be put on the air by the fisheries patrol boat Laurier. An expert biologist will be on board.

The patrol boat Howay will also aid in patrolling fishing grounds. First aid men and medical supplies will be available and patrol craft will be equipped for towing boats in trouble.

Elections A-Hoy!

And now will come the campaign slogans, the wooing of voters, the blandishments to the wavering, the denunciation of the opposition. Campaign committee rooms will be opened, "literature" distributed; phones, platforms and club chairs will buzz-buzz as the election machinery and political machinations of a democratic populace in a democratic province come into operation. We have already heard political speakers refer to 'your' (never our) government, 'this historic city', 'this historic county of Peterborough', 'this historic province', 'the grand old Province of Ontario', 'when I am elected' (never an 'if'!). So the old catch-phrases, the venerable slogans which poured into Dickens' ear, are revived. Elections are looming and we can expect May and June to be punctuated by little cries homely as the twitter of sparrows but—we hope—more exciting.

• • •

The campaign in these parts really does not promise to be monstrously invigorating and brilliant. The science of baby-kissing seems to have declined, a phlegm has got into the bosoms of our campaigners, the party orators seem to have lost the art of rousing audiences to a frenzy of feuding. Instead of the accusing raised fingers, the pounding of fists on tables, and the high-falutin phrases of reverberating if empty eloquence, we have speakers with calm voices, a certain amount of unstimulating logic, and hands nonchalantly deposited in trouser pockets. The hectic hustings of Sir John A's day are no more; gone is the mellifluence of Laurier.

• • •

Perhaps a reason for the dullness which we fear will mark the campaign is the security of tenure which the Drew Government seems to have and the lack of rip-snorting campaign issues. However, there are still five weeks before June 7th, and startling issues may be unearthed in the queerest corners. Mr. John G. Morton has been nominated as the C.C.F. candidate, the Honourable Harold Scott is the Progressive Conservatives' chosen man, and the Liberals will nominate their flag-bearer this evening. A contest is assured, but its liveliness is not. That is to be regretted for can we let this great and historic Province of Ontario be put to shame by mere Italian elections? Further, lively campaigns bring more people to the polls. The more people there are who vote, the stronger is the indication that our democracy is valued and will prevail.

Are The Dogs Of War Unleashed?

Palestine is rapidly going to the dogs—to the dogs of war. The braying is in accelerando and crescendo as the climacteric of 15th of May nears. On that date the British surrender their mandate. It has not yet been decided how or to whom. Arab countries are reported to have "war" plans drawn up and to have armies poised for a three-front invasion of Palestine as soon as the British give up the mandate. There are stories that Egyptian troops have already crossed the southern frontier, that forces of King Abdulla of Trans-Jordan are on the move. There is disorder in populous centres throughout the country. No armistice terms have been agreed to and the U.N. Assembly at its special meeting has not reached any decision on the proposal to abandon the partition plan.

Who has let slip the dogs of war? U.N. by its impotence? The U.S.A. by its volte face on the partition plan? The leader of Jews and Arabs themselves? This at least can be said: Whatever was done and whoever did it, whatever plans U.N. may make and whoever will be charged with implementing them, there could not have been peace in Palestine in this third year of peace.

The United States was not the first great power to take up and then drop a partition plan for Palestine. In 1939 the Chamberlain government accepted the Report of the Peel Commission and then abandoned it in an attempt to keep the Arabs friendly in the event of war with the Axis powers. The American renege of paper promises has been dictated by strategic interests. Standard Oil, the service departments and the red Russian shadow have proved to be stronger policy moulders than the six million Jewish voters in the U.S.

We must anxiously hope that in the next two weeks U.N. and cool sense have sufficient control of the leashes to call off the war dogs. The conciliatory voice of Dr. Judah L. Magnes, president of the Hebrew University at Mount Scopus, near Jerusalem, should be heeded. He warns that if a truce is not arranged, the Holy Land may be doomed for destruction. He is now in the United States as spokesman for the Ihud (Union) Association of Palestine whose policy is to urge an interim government under a trusteeship plan, with political parity for both Jews and Arabs. He has said with sweet, though perhaps unrealistic, reasonableness, that Jews and Arabs can live together, that they "do live together and will live together tomorrow".

A consideration which must not be overlooked is that Russia is in favour of the partition plan. If war were to sweep over Palestine, foreign intervention on behalf of one side or the other could precipitate a vastly greater conflict.

From Adaline To Woodland

A large billboard on one of our central streets tells us to buy our clothes at Blank's, "The Smarte St. Shop For Men". We wondered where Smarte Street was and why it was spelt with a final 'e', so instead of shopping we consulted the street directory and got a solution to neither puzzle. In fact, more puzzles teased us. Why is Adaline Street spelt with two 'a's' instead of the simple Adeline? Thumbing through the directory to the end we wondered why Woodland Ave. has no house numbers. Perhaps because there are only two houses on it.

How do you say and spell McDonnel Street? Ah—but we have given the secret away. Well then, what is our longest street? We used to say Water Street because it was the only one in town where the house numbers rose to 1,000. That is a poor way to decide now because of the renumbering of certain streets. Grandview Ave. numbers run from 1193 to 1227. Kenneth Ave. has one establishment numbered 12 and five between 1193 and 1227—all on the same side of the street. No, the numbers are deceiving in their inconstancy. We can gladly report, however, that the convenient principle is still being followed of having all houses on west and south sides of streets numbered in odd numbers, and those on the east and north sides numbered in even.

Are there any southern Ontario towns without their King, Queen and George streets? Are there any which do not commemorate General Brock and Governor Simcoe? Peterborough shows its British ancestry by having a 'High Street (though not a long one) and its un-American tendencies by having no Main street. It has a Rubidge Street on which are located half the chief churches in town, but no Church Street, though St. Andrew's Church with old Scottish Presbyterian determination, has Kirk Street on its northern boundary. Why have we a First Ave. when there are no houses on it and we haven't succumbed to the dull western and American habit of numbering streets?

New streets and street-names are coming into being: are Moir, Mona and Morphet Ave. among them? The directory says they are "Not built on". Is there any tendency to break the tradition of naming them after princes, generals and Governors-General? By the way, why is Dalhousie given its strange local 'house' pronunciation when it is Lord Dal-whose-ie? One of the new names in the directory is Fagan Avenue, an encouraging sign that democracy and Ireland are alive in Peterborough. It is good that our civic officers have not succumbed to gentility and come out in a rash of renaming (as was done when Smith Street became Park Hill Road). It would be a pity to lose such a good name as Cricket Place to Roselawn Boulevard.

P.S.: We would not have become involved in this discussion had we been smart and read the sign SMARTE ST SHOP FOR MEN as SMARTEST SHOP.

NOTE AND COMMENT

An African cure for arthritis is to wear a snake wrapped round the neck. With us, this would merely mean exchanging arthritis for paralysis.

The leader of the Italian Communists says that his defeat in the recent election was attributable to American interference. Well, well! What could have put such a notion into his head?

The Eatanswill Elections

By CHARLES DICKENS

(Ed. Note: The rising provincial election flurry in Peterborough recalls to mind the Eatanswill election campaign described by Dickens a century ago. The following excerpt may send our readers back to the delights of the Pickwick Papers.)

IT appears, then, that the Eatanswill people, like the people of many other small towns, considered themselves of the utmost and most mighty importance, and that every man in Eatanswill, conscious of the weight that attached to his example, felt himself bound to unite, heart and soul, with one of the two great parties that divided the town — the Blues and the Buffs.

Now the Blues lost no opportunity of opposing the Buffs, and the Buffs lost no opportunity of opposing the Blues; and the consequence was, that wherever the Buffs and Blues met together at public meeting, townhall, fair, or market, disputes and high words arose between them. With these dissensions it is almost superfluous to say that everything in Eatanswill was made a party question. If the Buffs proposed to new skylight the market-place, the Blues got up public meetings, and denounced the proceeding; if the Blues proposed the erection of an additional pump on the High Street, the Buffs rose as one man and stood aghast at the enormity. There were Blue shops and Buff shops, Blue inns and Buff inns—there was a Blue aisle and a Buff aisle in the very church itself....

MR. PICKWICK, with his usual foresight and sagacity, had chosen a peculiarly desirable moment for his visit to the borough. Never was such a contest known. The Honourable Samuel Slumkey, of Slumkey Hall, was the Blue candidate; and Horatio Fizkin, Esq., of Fizkin Lodge, near Eatanswill, had been prevailed upon by his friends to stand forward on the Buff interest.

The Gazette warned the electors of Eatanswill that the eyes not only of England, but of the whole civilized world, were upon them; and the Independent imperatively demanded to know, whether the constituency of Eatanswill were the grand fellows they had always taken them for, or base and servile tools, undeserving alike of the name of Englishmen and the blessings of freedom. Never had such a commotion agitated the town before.

IT was late in the evening when Mr. Pickwick and his companions assisted by Sam, dismounted from the roof of the Eatanswill coach. Large blue silk flags were flying from the windows of the Town Arms Inn, and bills were posted in every sash, intimating, in gigantic letters, that the Honourable Samuel Slumkey's committee sat there daily.

A crowd of idlers were assembled in the road, looking at a hoarse man in the balcony, who was apparently talking himself very red in the face in Mr. Slumkey's behalf; but the force and point of whose arguments were somewhat impaired by the perpetual beating of four large drums which Mr. Fizkin's committee had stationed at the street corner. There was a busy little man beside him, though, who took off his hat at intervals and motioned to the people to cheer, which they regularly did, most enthusiastically; and as the red-faced gentleman went on talking till he was redder in the face than ever, it seemed to answer his purpose quite as well as if anybody had heard him.

THE Pickwickians had no sooner dismounted than they were surrounded by a branch mob of the honest and independent, who forth-with set up three deafening cheers, which being responded to by the main body (for it's not at all necessary for a crowd to know what they are cheering about), swelled into a tremendous roar of triumph, which stopped even the red faced man in the balcony.

"Hurrah!" shouted the mob, in conclusion.

"One cheer more", screamed the little fugleman in the balcony, and out shouted the mob again, as if lungs were cast-iron, with steel works.

"Slumkey for ever!" roared the honest and independent.

"Slumkey for ever!" echoed Mr. Pickwick, taking off his hat.

"No Fizkin!" roared the crowd.

"Certainly not!" shouted Mr. Pickwick.

"Hurrah!" And then there was another roaring, like that of a whole menagerie when the elephant has rung the bell for the cold meat.

"Who is Slumkey?" whispered Mr. Tupman.

"I don't know", replied Mr. Pickwick, in the same tone. "Hush. Don't ask any questions. It's always best on these occasions to do what the mob do".

"But suppose there are two mobs?" suggested Mr. Snodgrass.

"Shout with the largest", replied Mr. Pickwick.

Volumes could not have said more.

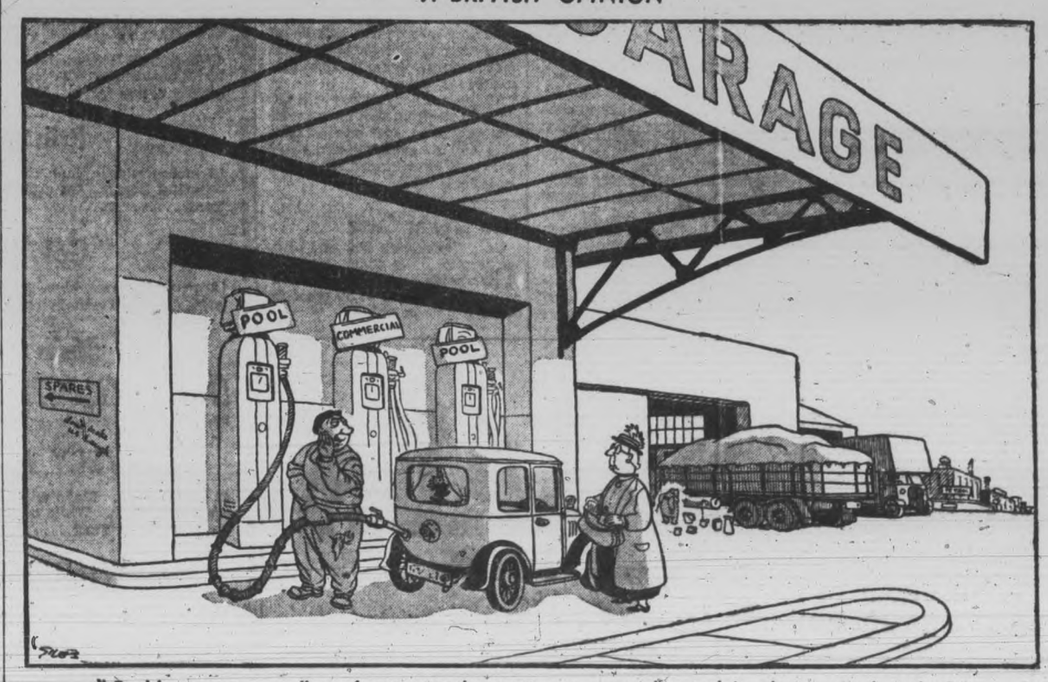
Our Good Fortune

Illicit immigrants now on the point of deportation to Germany, are reported to have asserted that they might just as well "jump into the ocean as go home" They had entered Canada illegally. Discovered, they will now be sent home. One of the group thought he would be better off in a Canadian jail than as a free man in his native Germany.

The despairing voice of these people who know both Germany and Canada, and are in a position to compare conditions, might serve as a reminder to those of us who are sometimes tempted to rebel at certain things. We don't know how well off we really are. We should be grateful to a tender destiny which has ordained that we should spend our existence here and not in post-war Europe. We have a number of minor worries, but in a large way we are free, and comfortable, with very little to complain about.—London Free Press.

'STILL IN TIME FOR THE... ER... MAIN ATTRACTION?'

Canada's Part



(A LEADING ARTICLE IN THE MANCHESTER GUARDIAN)

CANADA shares Western Europe relief that the Marshall Plan has gone through. Yet it is questionable whether either in Britain or in the United States there is general understanding of the circumstances which led the Dominion into her present grave difficulties. Certainly Mr. Walter Lippmann had lately to take an American newspaper severely to task for saying that the Plan proposed to spend American money in Canada for supplies to Europe, and that the United States was thus to assume Canada's part of the burden of European reconstruction. The truth is that Canada, in the words of her Ambassador in Washington, has been "at the head of the line in giving assistance to Europe." The figures speak for themselves. Her population is one-twelfth that of the United States, her national income one-eighteenth, yet her contribution has been one-fifth Canadians doubt whether British people realize this and at what risk to herself their country adopted this policy. For while she has been paying cash to the United States for steel, oil, cotton, coal, and machinery, she has been supplying Europe, and notably Britain, with wheat, meat, timber, and metals on credit. In 1947 her adverse balance with the United States, on merchandise account alone, totalled $918 millions.

Canadians long ago saw whither they were heading. Early in 1947 the Governor of the Bank of Canada warned Parliament that matters could not go on indefinitely, though at this time the British Treasury still believed that sterling could be made convertible in mid-July, which would have gone a long way to solving Canada's problem. But it was not till June, 1947, by which time she had dipped very heavily into her reserves, that Canada set a limit to Britain's use of credit. Even then she did not check her own purchase of United States goods. This was largely because she set great store by the Geneva trade negotiations and would do nothing to imperil their success. Her objective was—and is—a world-wide lowering of tariffs and a general removal of trade barriers. In November, 1947, however, she was driven to her present "austerity" plan. It includes import prohibitions and restrictions, a general licencing of capital goods in order to ensure the import only of those capable of earning or saving United States dollars; the negotiation of a $300 million loan from the United States, and a programme of Canadian development aimed at earning United States dollars. This was the less drastic of two plans discussed with Washington. It was adopted on the assumption that the Marshall Plan would make United States dollars available for expenditure in Canada.

It is clear, then, that Canada "went out on a limb" in her anxiety to help the reconstruction of Britain and of Europe and the re-establishment of general world trade. Now Canadians are beginning to wonder what are the long-term implications of their policy. On the one hand it became apparent when Britain's 1948 purchasing programme was being negotiated that there was a considerable divergence of view between the two countries, particularly over the British desire for a "selective" purchasing policy. On the other, the Canadian austerity plan includes a declared attempt to integrate industrial development across the United States border. The next move may well be for a lowering of United States tariffs to facilitate the sale of Canadian manufactures. In return the United States might require reciprocal Canadian action, but at the same time she might be reluctant to extend these concessions to all countries under the Geneva agreement. Thus it is that the idea is being ventilated once more (as it has been in the past) of some kind of United States-Canadian "Customs union." The idea would encounter sharp opposition in Canada at the present time, as has been shown by the reaction to an ill-judged article recently published in "Life." But it does not follow that it can be consigned to everlasting limbo or that it has no advocates in the Dominion as well as the United States. And so Canadians to whom their nationhood means a great deal feel that it is timely to consider whether in such a partnership there could be genuine equality of status. Could Congress, for example, continue to let Canada determine her own tariff policy or her agricultural price policy? In a word, the question is being asked whether at the end of the road which Canada is now following there does not willy-nilly lie a much closer relationship, ecoomic and political, with the United States than has existed hitherto. The future still lies in Canadian hands. Marshall Aid will make it possible to maintain Canada's trading position between pound and dollar until British trade recovers and sterling can be sold for dollars again. Canada has done her part well. The future depends on our own recovery.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And, behold, they brought to him a man sick of the palsy, lying on a bed: and Jesus seeing their faith said unto the sick of the palsy; Son, be of good cheer; thy sins be forgiven thee. And, behold, certain of the scribes said within themselves, This man blasphemeth.

And Jesus knowing their thoughts said, Wherefore think ye evil in your hearts? For whether is easier to say, Thy sins be forgiven thee; or to say Arise, and walk?

But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power on earth to forgive sins, (then saith he to the sick of the palsy,) Arise, take up thy bed, and go unto thine house.

And he arose, and departed to his house.

But when the multitudes saw it, they marvelled, and glorified God, which had given such power unto men. (Matt. 9: 2-8.)

Letter To The Editor

TAXIS SHOULD NOT OPERATE AS BUSES

Sir: Your editorial on The Taxi Bus, and the letter on the same page regarding taxi service interested me very much. As the reader says, it is bad enough to land in Peterborough at 2 o'clock in the morning, and have to sit with five strangers and drive all over the city before you reach your destination, but the other day I arrived from Toronto on the noon train, and the same thing happened. I was piled into a car with five strangers, and was charged 50c, to drive from the C.P.R. depot to the post office. The thing that irked me was that the same morning I had driven from the Park Plaza Hotel to the Union Station in Toronto, in a beautiful car (taxi), for 60c, and had the car to myself.

It is about time the Police Commission regulated taxis, and made them operate as taxis, and not as buses.

Yours very truly,
A CONSTANT TRAVELLER.

Wilberforce Uranium Mine Given New Impetus As Atomic Controls Lifted

By PETE McGILLEN

Action of the Atomic Control Commission in mid-March of relaxing controls on radio-active ores in Canada to private enterprise has focussed attention on what is believed to be one of the richest known deposits of uraninite in North America. The deposits are located near Wilberforce in Haliburton county and are owned by Fission Mines.

The Commission not only released control but set a price of $2.75 a pound for uraninite which has a minimum content of ten per cent. uranium. Miners are also allowed to recover all other associated minerals principally radium. Assay of samples from the Wilberforce mine reveals a grade in excess of 40 per cent. uranium according to Mr. Gerald Pitt, resident engineers.

Hon. Leslie Frost, Provincial Treasurer and Minister of Mines in whose constituency the mine is located, said he knew of the existence of this project, and was watching it with interest. "We are certain the Haliburton area offers great mining opportunities and it has been the policy of the Government to give every encouragement to development, particularly in Eastern Ontario.

B. Douglas Weaver, Lakefield manager of the Nepheline Products, which operates a mining research laboratory and is a subsidiary of Ventures Ltd., has been retained as consulting engineer. He said, "In view of the recent establishing of a price by the Atomic Energy Commission, this property which previously was only a prospect has now now become one which should be developed. From the results of the exploration program, a commercial ore body has been indicated. The size of this ore body warrants the erection of a mill and the grade indicates profitable operation may be expected. A definite price has been guaranteed for five years and it is probable that further exploration will reveal the presence of even larger ore bodies than those already uncovered by trenching and diamond drilling."

Now a Magic Word

Uranium has displaced that magic word "gold" in the minds of present-day prospectors who are now seeking the elusive black mineral across Canada. Two veteran prospectors are already in the Haliburton district working for large mining companies, and searching for uranium, using the Geiger counter. This is a small-box-like electrical device with an ear-phone attachment and records the presence of the valuable ore by rapid clicks. These clicks are given out by the instrument when electrons thrown off by the radio-active ore-body strikes the instrument.

At several places on the Wilberforce property the Geiger counter clicks come so rapidly it is impossible to count them. One spot an old bin containing tailings from a development 20 years ago is particularly rich and the clicks become a continuous wave of sound.

Natives in the area are taking the discovery in their stride, and seem not the least bit excited at the fact that outside interests are buying up all the available property. The only consideration apparently in the minds of the natives is the fact that if a mine gets going, it will mean steady jobs for them.

Mr. Gerald Pitt, resident engineer at the mine, said that in 1930 the research department of mines at Ottawa published a report on a 30-ton mill run of ore from this property which showed 4.56 pounds of uranium per ton. This report was prepared by Dr. Hugh S. Spence, senior geologist of the Resources Department of Mines. This 31-page report published by the Department of Mines and Mineralogy, showed that a commercial ore body existed. At that time the government had no control of the property as it was privately owned.

Formed Company

Five years ago the property of 350 acres was purchased by three men: R. L. Saunby, A. R. Willard and Fred Birkenhead, all of Toronto. It was purchased from the Richardson Estate and the old Ontario Radium Company.

In the spring of 1946, they hired Gerald Pitt to make a survey. When the survey was completed, on his recommendation they began a program of exploration and development of indicated ore. On Sept. 6, 1946, they incorporated a company known as Fission Mines, Ltd., which took over the original 350 acres and an additional 6,000 acres adjoining which had been purchased since 1946.

There has been 12,000 feet of diamond drilling completed, and underground work on the first level at present totals 720 feet tunnelled with a single cage shaft 55 feet deep.

Twenty years ago on this same property a mill was built and the framework is still standing. The company at that time was known as the International Radium Company. They did considerable mining of uranium which at that time in commercial importance was the parent ore of radium. After the mill was in operation it was found they had a profit figure of $20 a ton.

"The mine failed because the separation process required equipment which they did not have but which is now available," Mr. Pitt said.

Mr. Pitt also explained that an American - Canadian investment firm has optioned 400,000 shares which will net the treasury of the company $480,000, which is sufficien to build the mill, purchase mining machinery and provide enough capital to carry on development work and pay operating expenses for one year.

Much Diamond Drilling

To date approximately $190,000 has been spent in development work, diamond drilling, pitting, trenching and assessment which has produced a proven commercial ore body of uranium and fluorspar.

The plans of the company for the immediate future is to erect a mill with a capacity of 200 tons of ore a day with such attendant facilities as are necessary such as cookhouse, staffhouse, warehouse, bunkhouse, machine shop and two-cage shaft with headframe to 200 feet with two working levels.

There are two developed veins one of which is 4,000 feet long. The other is 1,000 feet long and has above the 200-foot level upwards of a million tons of commercial fluorspar.

The secret regulations of the Canadian Atomic Control Commission does not permit the publishing of proven tonnage of uranium ore.

The known world supply of fluorspar will last only eight years, according to Mr. Pitt, and it is vital as a flux in the steel industry. Fluorine, derived from fluorspar, has many potential uses, one being in the oil industry where it can be used as a lubrican in jet propulsion engines permitting an unheard of degree of efficiency. This lubricant will permit the running of machines at much higher speeds and temperatures. It is also used in the paper and rubber industries.

At present metallurgical grade fluorspar is worth $45 a ton and Canada produces practically none of this mineral. Mill run tests taken on samples from the Wilberforce mine by the North American Cyanimid Company shows 92 per cent. recovery of fluorspar and a grade of 97 per cent. This would bring approximately $64.50 a ton and would show a substantial profit.

Want 'Mighty Atom' To Get An Education

INDIANAPOLIS, April 29. —(AP)—James Dawson of Indianapolis was under a court order today to bring his gospel-preaching ward "Little David" Walker into juvenile court May 14 for a hearing on a petition to dissolve the guardianship.

The 13-year-old boy evangelist billed as "The Mighty Atom" has appeared in big tabernacles of Akron, Cincinnati, Columbus, St. Louis, Indianapolis and in Carnegie Hall, New York.

Jack and Gertrude Walker of Chicago, parents of the youth, petitioned yesterday to end Dawson's guardianship. Walker said he fears the boy's "God-given power to preach the gospel is being commercialized" and his health and education are being neglected.

Five-Year Search Ended For Police

WINDSOR, April 29.—(CP).—A five-year search by Windsor police ended last night with the arrest of Joseph Twamley, 68, Hamilton, at a local carnival.

Twamley, alias Trombley or Twandy, was wanted by police since his disappearance in 1943 with $1,000 belonging to Gus Petrakos, then proprietor of a local restaurant.

Employed as a night waiter in the restaurant, Twamley was in charge of the cash. In April, 1943, Mr. Petrakos came to the restaurant in the morning to find the cash till rifled and Twamley gone.

Last night, one of the restaurant employees saw a barker at the carnival who resembled Twamley. Mr. Petrakos was notified and identified the carnival man as the missing Twamley.

Twamley will appear in court today to answer a charge of theft.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Manager Stew Richardson figures he is back where he was with De Laval in the men's softball setup two years ago. Which, as it turned out, wasn't such a bad spot after all. In the spring of '46, it looked to be Legion all the way. Like a certain cigarette, the Big "L" outfit was round and firm and fully packed. De Laval on paper looked like tail-enders. But they kept coming through a hot schedule and eventually won the city championship. Last year, many established stars flocked to De Laval and they looked like a shoo-in, while Knights appeared the weak sister. Yet, the K. of C.-ers edged out De Laval for the city crown. This spring Stew is in a stew as some of his '47 stars have moved to other squads.

* * * * * *

But the team that won the city title two years ago and then last year—when forced to go into senior "B" playdowns—went right into Ontario semi-finals ere being ousted, aren't likely to curl up. They still have such aces as Jack Mackness, George Walton and several more, and they're planning to add new blood. Including ex-junior stars, same as Knights built up with last semester. They have an open workout tomorrow eve at 6.30 in King Edward Park and invite former City Loop players, newcomers to the city and younger prospects to attend and try for places. Everyone as welcome as a raise in pay.

Girls' Closing Date

A final reminder of the Girls' Softball League meeting at 7.30 tonight in the YMCA, called by Prexy Dot Millar. Entries will close at this time so all interested teams had better be represented. Umps, opening date and various other angles to settle. Probably the girls will obtain the same nights for play at the Bowl as last year, and the men softballers seem satisfied with a similar setup to 1947. Parks committee of the council will settle these points, also rental, at a Monday meeting.

* * * * * *

This from Scribe Carver's column in the Belleville sheet: "Ed Murphy is willing to call a meeting to be held in Belleville on Sunday if baseball officials show any interest in an entry. We have said before in this column and repeat it that we are of the definite opinion that a revival of senior baseball here would draw like bees to a honey pot. The village is red ripe for baseball of the better calibre, especially with its floodlighting facilities. It seems a shame that with Oshawa, Kingston and Peterborough in line, Belleville, which formerly fielded some of the best squads in the COBL, is not able to afford an entry." There is a chance that, failing Belleville, a Batawa entry might help form such a loop.

Hefty Diamond Entry

Some 20 squads will go this season in the City Baseball League, it was shown at a "Y" meeting last e'en. Lot of interest in the real young classes and probably six peewee clubs will face the barrier. These include the four city zones, the Trojan AC and the new Crawford's Grove entry. Four bantams and four midgets certain, too, and likely four juveniles. Enough players for at least two junior teams. Ages are, by May 1: Peewees, under 13; bantams, under 15; midgets, under 17; juveniles, under 19; and juniors, under 21. Dit Clapper and Dave Wilson have been added to the executive. Next meeting is Tuesday at seven p.m. in the "Y", and the intermediate chaps might get together and send a delegate or two to see what can be worked out for them.

* * * * * *

Industrial Softball League was re-organized at a meeting last p.m. in the "Y" with five clubs in now and the way left open for others interested. The loop will probably start off with eight teams, but entries may be made at another meeting on Monday night at eight in the YMCA. Officers elected for the coming campaign are: President, Deb Hillier; vice-prexy, Jack Stuart; secretary, Joe Dunkerley; treasurer, Bill Gunn; and executive committee of the team managers. This shop circuit should go over well this year, and it is blessed with the fine new Quakers diamond this summer.

Earl Beaten By Gong

A pair of draws—we're not speaking of underwear—is all Earl McCready has gained in grappling with the Mask here yet, with the Marvel taking the odd bout. Earl had him last eve but the timer's gong beat him in the hour match. Many fans missed the bell or something as they tried to lynch Referee Ernie Marcheesi and he needed two husky cops to get him out safely. A hot match, but we don't know why they blamed the ref as time was up without a deciding fall. Nor are we nutty enough to interview an enraged mob! Nick Vichiarelli, local wrestler, has offered to take on the referee, a former pro matman, anytime here and he might do okay, too. Though giving away some weight. Henning beat Gotch in the semi-final, as Singh proved too tough for Sibthorpe in the prelim.

Electrics And Petes Draw 3-3 As Local Soccer Season Opens

The local soccer season was officially opened Wednesday evening when CGE and Petes battled to a 3-all tie at King Edward Park, before a good attendance. Ald. Dick Raine kicked off the ball and wished the Old Country newcomers every success. Unfortunately three players were ordered off for ungentlemanly conduct.

There was no choice in the selection of goals and CGE made tracks for the Petes' goal, to be held in check. After five minutes of play Strong rattled a hot drive on goal where Petes' goalie failed to hold, to allow Welland to score. Keen tactics held sway until a faulty clearance by Murduff, full back, permitted Byers, Petes, to register the equalizer with an oblique shot. Encouraged by their success the Petes concentrated in a steady attack that brought out the defensive tactics of the Electrics to perfection, although D. Downer's shot was diverted over the bar by Greenhorn, CGE goalie.

Players Chased

On resuming, CGE took the initiative to force the issue and confine play to the Petes' goal where Lane, half back, gave away a penalty kick that was saved by the custodian—Woodcock—in a spectacular fashion from the foot of Strong. A little later W. Post caught the Electrics off-guard when he picked the inside of the upright. This was offset within the next minute when Murduff scored from the penalty spot to make it 2-all. Tempers crept into the game that resulted in the referee sending two players—Byers, Petes, and A. Wilson, CGE, to the showers. Quickly, on mid-field play, W. Wilson passed to Strong who beat three men to put the ball into the centre of the goal where CGE centre-forward, Welland, jumped high in the air to hoist the ball into the net with a beautiful header.

Petes got this one back immediately when the referee declared that the ball had gone inside the upright to make it 3-all amidst protests. From the kick-off Welland broke through the defense to test Woodcock in goal. Wolf went in to get the loose ball that finally rested in a heap of players. Fists went flying and it terminated in Wolf getting the finger for the rest of the game, with only two minutes to go.

Goal scorers—CGE, Welland 2, and Murduff. Petes, Byers, Post and Foster.

City Ball Loop Is Planning Over 20 Entries

Probably 20 teams will comprise the City Baseball League this season, it was disclosed at last night's meeting in the YMCA. At present it appears as if there will be six peewee teams—the four local zones, plus the Trojans, and Crawford's Grove—with four bantams, four midgets, four juveniles and two juniors. It was the feeling that the loop could not handle any intermediate players.

The age limits are: Peewee, under 13 by May 1; bantam, under 15; midget, under 17; juvenile, under 19; and junior, under 21. The executive is working out the teams available in each zone and the coaches who can be obtained. Practices will be called early to facilitate this job. It was emphasized that the East City zone is all of East City and goes right south to Rice Lake, if necessary.

The Exhibition Board has given permission for use of the diamond at the east end of the fair grounds, but application is also being made for use of the diamond in front of the grandstand in this park. President Phonse Brioux and Treasurer Gord Young were named to attend the parks committee meeting Monday night to seek use of Riverside Park for the summer.

Big Track Meet Here On May 15

The Harriers Club will hold its first annual city and district track and field meet in Morrow Park on May 15. Events for junior and senior boys are lined up with trophies for the first three winners. Juniors (under 18 before last Oct. 31) compete in these events: 100 yard dash, 440 race and the 880 run, as well as running high jump and a 440 relay for boys doing 110 each.

In the senior or open class—with valuable trophies up—are: 100 yard dash, 220, 440, 880, one-mile and two-mile race, as well as running broad, standing high jump and 16-pound shot put, along with a mile relay for four boys.

Local and district athletes are invited, including school and members of the various clubs. Entry forms may be obtained May 1 at P. Domink's store, Examiner, YMCA and at 417 Dublin St. Further information can be had by phoning 6834.

Tournament Notes

Two Belleville teams competed in all events in the tournament last night at Duffus Alleys. The teams were Belleville Golf Club and Belleville Recreation No. 6. The latter squad rolled 3535 for fifth place in the standing.

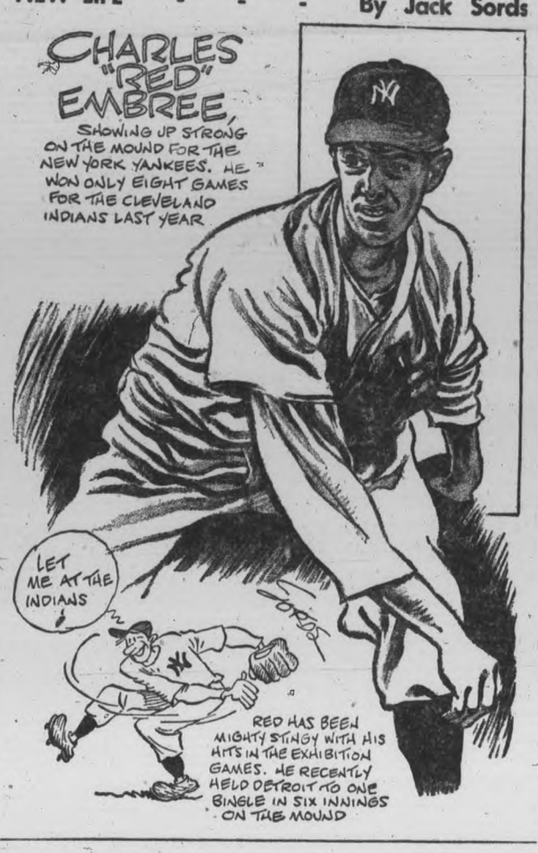
Harold Legrow rolled 883, just one pin short of tieing Irv Hanes for top spot in the singles.

Lucky Strikes, a team made up of Holly Mowry, Jack Barnes, Irv Hanes, Roy Suddards and Norm Gordon rolled 3547 to take over fourth place in the team standing.

C. Hardwick of Belleville moved into third place in the singles when he rolled 864.

Phil Pryde and Frank McCormack turned in a 1619 mark in the doubles to place them third.

Joe Legault, who rolled the perfect game last Saturday, was in action again last night. He turned in an 817 mark for sixth place in the singles.



Alf Mattucci rolled 890 and 810 in doubles but neither of his partners could give him much support rolling small scores.

Good single games rolled last night included Jack Wade 788, Gene Reynolds 776 and Doug Abraham 765.

With just three more nights to go heavy entries in all events are expected. Some out-of-town teams have yet to roll.

Jersey City Trips Rochester

By The Associated Press

Almost within home-run range of the Polo grounds, Jersey City's Little Giants of the International League are following the power pattern of the parent club. They are hitting the long ball and they are winning.

Jack Harshman, the Giants' hope as an ultimate successor to Johnny Mize, hammered a two-run homer in yesterday's 6-4 win over Rochester. He's the first baseman the Giants bought from San Diego.

Sal Yvars, who spent his spring training days with the Giants, lashed a two-run triple during a three-run uprising in the eighth innings. When Lloyd Gearhart followed with a single, the Little Giants were home with their fourth straight win.

Manager Bruno Betzel now has his defending champs pressing Toronto's youthful club for the league lead with Montreal in third place.

Eddie Sawyer's Toronto gang, youngest in the league, had another day off yesterday when rain and cold weather erased all the league schedule except the Jersey City-Rochester game.

McCready In Draw With Mask As Police Escort Referee Out

Earl McCready and the Masked Marvel grappled to a draw in an hour time limit main bout at the Brock Arena last night. Earl had the big Mask beaten and out of the ring and was scrambling back himself when the time-limit gong went. Some of the big crowd apparently didn't hear the gong and went after Referee Ernie Marcheesi for calling it a draw, and he required police protection to get out.

It was a typical Mask-McCready scrap, full of hot action between powerful and well-matched opponents. Earl won the first fall in 25 minutes with his rolling cradle scissors after slams and after yanking the Marvel's mask askew so he couldn't see. He went 240 pounds to the other's 257 but was just as aggressive and practically as strong, though the Mask pulled a lot of villainous stuff. There were few waste motions by either but a lot of hair and hood pulling with the referee busy.

Evened It Up

The Mask won the next fall in 24 minutes as he clambered back into the ring to beat the count when both were mixing in the crowd outside. He had kicked Earl out and then Earl yanked him out as the fans scattered. McCready didn't get back in time and claimed Marcheesi pulled a fast count. The bout was hard and rough again with Earl generally looking better, after each in turn had used a towel for strangling early in the session. The Marvel frequently used the ropes for leverage and for escape, while the crowd made a lot of noise throughout.

They made the most of their 11 minutes in the final round, a red-hot session, and Earl went agressive early to finally throw the big fellow out of the ring. He then jumped out and rammed his head against the ring boards. Climbing in again, he waited till the Mask's return and repeated the dose outside the ring. He had the Marvel groggy on the arena floor and was turning to climb back in before the count when the gong went, and it was declared a draw. Angry fans swarmed about the ring and wouldn't let the referee out for several minutes and then they pushed at him as two policemen piloted him through. Nick Vichiarelli, local matman, later challenged the referee, a former pro wrestler, to a match here.

Henning Won

Lee Henning, scaling 249, pinned Jan Gotch in 22 minutes of the semi-final with a front rolling headlock. He had previously used a strangle of the same type but it wasn't allowed. Gotch, who was 230, proved the more popular, though he also got away with a lot of illegal tactics. But big Henning pretty well threw the book at him, as a sweaty referee tugged and yanked and warned him repeatedly. It was a lively affair with Henning out of the ring once after being tied up in the ropes, but he finished stronger to earn the duke.

The turbaned 228-pound Nanjo Singh hadn't too much trouble in the prelim with Jack Sibthorpe, at 217, filling in for the injured Jimmy Sims. The replacement did his best and at times looked good in a fair tussle to open the card, but Nanjo had it over him in strength, experience and rough tactics. He paid no attention to referee's warnings, even of disqualification, but went his hectic Hindu way. And he won it in just 14 minutes with his specialty, the "cobra hold," an unconscious grip.

Concrete FOR THIS NEW HIGHWAY
• The Queen Elizabeth Highway Toronto-Oshawa extension — marks another step in the modernizing of Ontario's main traffic routes. Dual-lane control, with cloverleafs at strategic points, provide greater safety on this much travelled highway.
Concrete was the choice for this important highway and for good reasons:
1. Concrete is lower in first cost than other pavement of equal load-carrying capacity.
2. Concrete costs far less to maintain.
3. Concrete gives long years of uninterrupted service.
4. Concrete reflects a relatively high proportion of light — its treated surface makes it a safer highway.
5. Concrete cuts driving costs — saves on gas, on tire and car repairs.

Good Pitching Inspires Braves Whitewash Philadelphia 7-0

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Things are looking up for Billy Southworth and his Boston Braves after a week of disaster. Excellent pitching jobs by Warren Spahn, Red Barrett and Bill Voiselle, have lifted the would-be contenders from the cellar gloom.

Spahn's first win of the season yesterday marked the return to normal of Manager Southworth's gang for Spahn and Johnny Sain, as 20-game winners last year, were expected to lead the Braves toward the 1948 flag. Spahn missed his first time out and Sain failed twice.

It was Voiselle's three-hit shutout of Brooklyn that yanked the Braves off the floor Monday. Barrett followed with a six-hitter Tuesday. Then came Spahn's two-hit gem against the Phillies.

In three games this oft-maligned staff yielded only 11 hits and two runs. Billy never had to call on his bullpen.

Real Sparkler

Spahn's job was a real sparkler. He faced only 28 Phillies in his 7-0 victory, walked none and fanned four. The only Phil hits were singles by Dick Sisler in the fifth and by Blix Donnelly, the opposing pitcher, in the sixth. Del Ehmis, who reached base on an error, was the only other runner.

While Spahn was blanking the Phils, his catcher, Bill Salkfeld, ruined Donnelly. He collected a triple and two singles in the 13-hit barrage.

Johnny Vander Meer made it a lefthanded day in the National by stopping Chicago with six hits while his Cincinnati mates clubbed Johnny Schmitz and Don Carlsen for 12 hits.

The Reds' southpaw reversed the trend of his first outing when he walked 12 men. Yesterday he passed only two assuring himself of wh No. 1 by an 8-1 score. Red Stallcup, rookie Red shortstop, helped his cause with a double and two singles that drove in three runs.

Cooper Injured

The New York-at-Brooklyn game was rained out but both clubs provided disturbing news. From the Giants came word that catcher Walker Cooper, who has hit four homes, has a chip fracture on his left knee. He will be out several days.

Pitcher Harry Taylor of the Dodgers learned that he may have to undergo an appendicitis operation.

Cold weather postponed the scheduled night game between St. Louis and Pittsburgh in the National. In the American Washington at New York, Boston at Phliadelphia and Cleveland at Chicago were called off because of cold, rain or wet grounds.

Detroit took the sole American League game 9-4, over St. Louis with a 15-hit assault on four Brownie pitchers.

Eddie Mayo, Pat Mullin and Root Evers led the attack that ended the Tigers' five-game losing streak. Mullin had a homer, double and single. Mayo had three singles and Evers a triple.

NEW CATCHER FOR LEAFS

Toronto Maple Leafs of the International Baseball League have obtained catcher Vince Plumbo from Chicago White Sox of the American League. Plumbo will be second-string catcher on the Leafs, relieving regular Stan Lopatag.

Edmonton Beats Ottawa In First Allan Cup Final

REGINA, April 29.—(CP). — Some of the spectators thought it was a wrestling match but it went into the books as a 6-2 victory for Edmonton Flyers over Ottawa Senators in the first game of the Allan Cup final.

They punched and shoved and elbowed—collecting a total of 14 penalties—for a full 60 minutes before 3,670 fans, with the Flyers never in danger after Billy Maher tipped in Johnny Black's pass in the opening minutes of the game.

Senators' coach George Boucher said it was "the worst we've played all season."

Bing Merluk scored twice for Edmonton while young Doug Anderson, winner of the 1948 rookie award in the Western Senior League, got a goal and two assists. Billy Maher, Alex Pringle and Doug Lane got the rest of the Edmonton goals.

Emile Dagenais and Eddie Emberg scored the Ottawa goals, both in the final period, while 17-year-old Larry Regan assisted on Emberg's score.

Plenty of Action

Flyers scored in every period of a game marred by a succession of high sticks and near flare-ups along the boards. Twice Referees Danny Cox and Frank Elliott pried struggling knots of players apart.

Neither team could take advantage of penalties. Black scored his goal while Frank Mathers served a tripping penalty, but both teams tightened defensively during the other penalties. Senators, however, gave Al Rollins in the Edmonton nets his heaviest workout of the night while two Edmonton and one Ottawa player were in the box during the second period.

With the second game of the best-of-seven series scheduled for Edmonton tomorrow, both teams left Regina early today.

Believes Radio Good Training For New Actors

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 29. — (AP). — The movie industry is able to get together to protect itself against outside attacks such as censorship and anti-film legislation. But when it comes to taking offensive action, that's another matter.

Recently, theatre men became aroused by their poor business and asked for an industry-wide short to tell the public the wonders of forthcoming pictures. The idea was to put clips of 34 future films in a one-pool subject. Producers thought the idea was fine, then complications arose.

Independent studios want to get their films into the act. Who was going to select the 34 films? How could color and black-and-white be combined in one reel? Who was going to pick up the tab for the reel's cost?

So the idea was drooped. Meanwhile, theatre business gets worse.

Times Changing

Most old-timers bemoan the loss of the stock company and repertory companies of yore. "Where will the new actors get their training?" they rant. I've got an answer for them—radio.

Stock company to soap opera is the trend for development of new talent. Look around Hollywood and you'll find lots of folks who cut their acting teeth on a microphone (what a metaphor!) People like MacDonald Carey, Joe Cotten, Orson Welles, John Lund, Ronald Reagan, John Hodiak, Audrey Totter, Dane Clark, etc.

But then I bring up my Johnny-One-Note topic: Where can comedians get training, now that vaudeville is dead? I'm afraid radio is not the answer. About the only film possibilities among the comics native to radio are Henry Morgan and Jack Paar. And they have yet to prove themselves on the screen.

Profit Cashing Is Overcome

By The Canadian Press

Stock markets Wednesday overcame the profit-cashing of the last two or three sessions (following five successive weeks of rising prices) and resumed the upward trend, but in a slower tempo and with considerable irregularity.

The news affecting the financial world was mixed. Reports from the oil industry in the United States showed profits in the first quarter of 1948 sharply above a year ago.

And President Truman's council of economic advisers said defence and foreign aid spending should bring "several years" of business prosperity. But, warned chairman E. G. Nours, it also may mean continued high prices, a possible "disturbing" tax increase, some temporary shortages, over-employmemnt and inflationary pressure.

Counteracting this threatened inflationary pressure in the United States, is the spread of steel price cuts and rejection of union demands for further wage increases. Bethlehem Steel refused to grant higher wages and reduced prices by $10,000,000 yearly This followed the example set by U.S. Steel Corp. last week when it rejected a wage increase demand and cut prices by $25,000,000 annually. Other steel companies are said likely to follow suit.

MOTHERS BLOCK TRAFFIC — A group of aroused mothers form a protective barrier to allow school children to cross busy and dangerous intersection in Philadelphia, Pa., during the noon recess of two nearby schools. Their action in forming the "roadblock" to protect the children followed the death of a 10-year-old boy who was struck by a speeding auto at the intersection. Bewildered motorists tooted their horns impatiently, but the housewives stood their ground until all the children were safely across.

Scientists Into Arnhem Land Skilled Bushmen Guiding

By LESLIE BRODIE
Canadian Press Correspondent

SYDNEY, Australia, April 29 (CP)—The United States-Australian scientific expedition now in Arnhem Land, North Australia, to probe the mysteries of the Australian aborigines in their natural surroundings, are to be guided by experienced "bushmen" of the Northern Territory.

A number of these men have been enlisted by the Native Affairs Department to act as guides for the expedition. They know as much of the land as any white man, and are respected — and in some cases feared — by the natives.

The expedition is sponsored by the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, the (U.S.) National Geographic Society and the Australian government. Charles P. Mountford of the Adelaide Museum is leading the expedition.

Mountford has established a transit camp eight miles from Darwin, and the first base will be set up on Groote Eylandt in the Gulf of Carpentaria. Journeys from from this base will be guided by Fred Grey a former trepang fisherman who has lived many years in the area and knows the native dialects well.

In 1934 he helped stop a minor war between the natives and white men when he persuaded the nortorious Caledan Bay tribesmen to meet the white men for a peace conference. He guided the police party that went out to search for the tribesmen after they had murdered a Constable McColl of the Northern Territory Mounted Police. McColl was investigating the massacre of a number of Japanese trepang and pearl fishermen when he was murdered.

Used Smoke Signals

Grey used the traditional message stick and smoke signals of the natives to contact the wanted men.

The Groote Eylandt natives have the finest physique of all the Arnhem Land natives. They are a treacherous and ferocious tribe and will go on the warpath at the slightest provocation. Grey's knowledge of their habits will be of great assistance to the scientists.

When the expedition moves further inland, Gordon Sweeney of the Native Affairs branch will take over from Grey. Sweeney has spent 20 years in the Northern Territory and is said to be the first white man to move in as far as the Havelock Falls on the edge of the vast, mysterious escarpment of Arnhem Land proper.

The Royal Australian Air Force will fly all men and equipment between bases.

Deputy-leader Dr. Frank Setzler, chief curator of the Department of Anthropology at the U.S. National Museum, hopes to establish the "time sequence" of the natives. He told a reporter that the scientists expected to find that the tools the Arnhem Land natives use today are the same type as their forefathers used 1,000 years ago. To establish a time sequence, said Dr. Setzler, it would be necessary for them to start from what they know now and work backwards.

Dr. Setzler said the Australian aborigines are a mysterious group without trace of the characteristics of the Mongolian or negroid groups. Some anthropologists believe they are developed from a primitive white man.

Ottawa Group Performance Praised By Adjudicator

OTTAWA, April 29 — (CP). — A Dominion drama festival audience last night giggled its way through a couple of lively comedies, and roundly applauded the adjudicator when he praised both of them.

Regnard's "Le Legataire Universel" (The Legatee), proved the prime chuckle-raiser, and Robert Speaight termed this production by Ottawa's Le Caveau the "piece de resistance" of the evening.

In his adjudication Mr. Speaight said the French-Canadian players had given a most admirable performance. And the reaction of the audience just went to show that there was plenty of entertainment value in classical comedy.

While Mr. Speaight was not as enthusiastic about "Maitre Pierre Patelin," by workshop 14, Calgary, he said the farce had been "extremely well produced."

Describing the play as "mediaeval hi-jinks," it was not the type he particularly liked.

He summed up the rambunctions bit of slapstick as "a very workmanlike and finished production."

Wins Praise

Presentation of "John Doe," the first Canadian-written drama of the festival, brought both praise and criticism from the adjudicator.

Produced by Winnipeg's University of Manitoba Dramatic Society, it was written by Bernard Dryer, a former professor at the University of Alberta.

The play is set at the door of heaven where six souls await judgment. The trance of a seventh, Joe Doe, creates a storm of protest from the others. In him they see the person who has driven them to their death. John Doe represents the apathy of mankind in general, which is responsible for the wrongs of the world.

Mr. Speaight said he was glad to salute the work of a Canadian writer. Quite clearly it was a dramatic play and inspired by an idea.

Doug Rain, as "John Doe," lacked that appearance of "Rebirth" so necessary in bringing the play to its proper close.

Poorly-Written

In his remarks at the close of yesterday's matinee, Mr. Speaight said Bocaccio's 'Untold Tale,' presented by the Theatre Guild of Saint John, N.B., was "the least satisfying" of the afternoon show.

He regretted that the troop had chosen to produce such a poorly-written play.

Cercle Moliere of St. Boniface, Man., was praised for its presentation of "La Donation" (The Will). Mr. Speaight said the French-Canadian group had given an excellent performance.

On the other hand Eugene O'Neill's "The Rope" which was the Saskatoon Little Theatre's vehicle, had been spoiled by a "disastrous slowness."

Wind Up Penny Bank

Margarine Issue Still Unsolved By Senators

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, April 29 — (CP). — The third batile of oleomargarine still held sway in the Senate today.

More warfare raged yesterday without bringing the upper chamber to a vote on a bill to remove the ban against importation, manufacture and sale of the butter substitute.

It saw Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader, fight through frequent interruptions in a 100-minute speech. He said the world shortage of fats and oils means no significant amounts of margarine could be produce or sold in Canada for three years anyway.

It also saw Senator James Murdock (L—Ontario) protest that the speaker, Senator J. H. King, was putting on "a Communist demonstration" in the way he handled his motion for adjournment of the debate while other Senators still wanted to speak.

The bill got support from Senator Gustave Lacasse (L—Ontario) as an aid to the poor but was opposed by Senator L. M. Gouin (L—Quebec), who said Senator Robertson had "converted" him.

Debate was adjourned to today by Senator N. M. Patterson (L—Ontario) and indications were that at least three more speakers wanted to be heard before a vote.

Wrong Ideas

Senator Robertson charged that the press had joined "in a conspiracy of silence" on the facts about oils and fats; that "consciously or unconsciously the consuming public had been misled to believe that passage of this bill would give them margarine immediately."

A heavy importer of the ingredients vital to margarine, Canada received a quota of fats and oils —including her own — under international agreement and was bound to import no more. If she wanted to use part of her quota for margarine, it would have to be at the expense of butter, shortening or other foods in which they were used. Even imported margarine would be charged against the quota. And the world shortage was going to last several years, he added.

Labor Loses Old Enemy When Patts-Mills Expelled

By JAMES McCOOK.

LONDON, April 29 (CP)—John Faithful Fortesque Platts-Mills, 41, New Zealand-born barrister who in his youth was a coal miner, farmer, sailor and airman, is the first Labor member of the present parliament to be expelled from the party for defying party leaders.

Usually dressed in morning coat and striped trousers, the sober-faced Platts-Mills long has been an irritation to Prime Minister Attlee, Foreign Secretary Bevin and other ministers.

In his harsh, clear voice, he has challenged policies he considered unfavorable to Russia. In recent months he has been looked upon as the rallying point of the critical Left wing element in the Labor party.

Platts-Mills was edu[illegible] New Zealand, Australia a[illegible] liol College in Oxford. He became a barrister in New Zealand in 1928 and moved to London four years later. He now occupies a law office in the Temple district among the select legal profession.

Joined RAF

Platts-Mills interrupted his legal career to join the RAF in 1940. He was among the most active of the younger Labor supporters before the 1945 general election when he was elected for Finsbury, London constituency, with a 2-1 majority over his Conservative opponent.

His continued membership in Labor party came to head April 19 when he said in the Commons that he supported a telegram of good wishes sent to Pietro Nenni, pro-Communist Socialist leader, on the eve of the Italian election. The Labor party specifically opposed the Nenni group's ambitions.

Last week he rode a bicycle to Transport House to face a Labor party committee of inquiry. The party executive today ordered his immediate expulsion although other members, reported to have signed the telegram, will have time to declare their adherence to party policy.

Traffic Blocked

WELLAND, April 29—(CP)—Traffic in the Welland Canal was blocked here last night after the freighter Goderich nosed into a mudbank and swung crosswise in the canal. The vessel was turned into the mud to prevent it from striking a railway bridge. A cable burned out on the bridge just as it was about to be lifted to let the ship pass. Tugs, sent from Port Colborne, cleared the Goderich four hours later.

No Foreign-Born Canadians Threatened Says Ilsley

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL

OTTAWA, April 29.—(CP).—Canada's foreign policies will be brought into the Commons limelight today.

The policies will be up for scrutiny in the first major debate of the session on Canada's role in international affairs. The debate will be on the 1948-49 estimates of expenditures for the External Affairs Department. Discussion of any matter within jurisdiction of the External Affairs Department will be permissible, but the threat of Communism is expected to loom largely in the debate.

Communism was referred to frequently in the major debate in the Commons yesterday.

Justice Minister Ilsley indicated there is little evidence that Communists are threatening foreign-born Canadians with reprisals against relatives living abroad if they do not contribute to Communist funds.

RCMP Pensions

He spoke during clause-by-clause study of a bill setting up a new pension plan for the RCMP.

Before turning to the RCMP bill, members adopted a measure increasing the benefits to unemployed persons insured under the Unemployment Insurance Act.

Later, two minor bills dealing with Northwest Territories were adopted. One would confirm the government's authority to build a power plant on the Snare river to provide electricity to the Yellowknife gold mining developments. The second would establish authority of the Northwest Territories Council over the game resources of the territory.

In the RCMP's debate, Mr. Ilsley said several Opposition members had stated foreign-born Canadians were being threatened with reprisals against relatives abroad if they did not contribute to Communist funds.

He said he had inquired and had found that "occasionally in conversation there is some reference to relatives of the displaced person or other persons of foreign parentage in the home country or Communist country."

Mere Reminders

"These references are not threats," he added, "they are merely reminders, I suppose, or hints rather than threats."

However, he saaid he was having his department determine whether the criminal code could be strengthened to take care of such cases. He warned the House not to have "too high hopes of anything of much value being done" because it was difficult to see how a reference to a family could be made the subject of a criminal prosecution.

John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre) asked Mr. Ilsley to make a statement on what the RCMP was doing to combat Communism. Mr. Ilsley said he would make such a statement later, if this could be done without hindering the police work in the anti-Communist field.

The minister said it was well known that for years the RCMP has been "keenly alive to the possibilities of subversive action and I think they are as much alive today as they ever were, perhaps more so."

Striking Carpenters Aid Homeless Vet

CORNWALL, April 29 (CP). — Carpenters at Cornwall who have been striking all week for more pay, yesterday began working . . for nothing.

An amazed war veteran, Gerald Rabin, his wife and two-year-old son, watched a group of the carpenters complete the structure of his new home. He had been burned out in the Pitt street fire Dec. 24 and had been living in cramped quarters for the last four months.

The carpenters had heard of his predicament and "had stepped along" to do a "fellow a good turn" without charge.

There was no indication when the strike of 600 carpenters and laborers would be settled. The majority of outdoor construction in Cornwall has been halted since last Tuesday.

Discussion On News

MONTREAL, April 29—(CP)—The gathering and distribution of Canadian news featured discussion as members of the Canadian Press central circuit region held their annual meeting here yesterday. J. A. Fleming, Toronto Globe and Mail, and Norman Hull, Windsor Daily Star, led a panel discussion on the subject "Have we gone too far on Canadian news?"

3 Years To Get Medals

OTTAWA, April 29 — (CP) — It will be three years before Canadians receive all of the 3,140,000 war medals due them, W. C. Ronson, master of the mint, estimated yesterday. He explained that much time is required because the medals are made entirely by hand.

Ex-Mayor To Contest Kelley For Election

DUNDAS, April 29 — (CP). — D. P. Cliff, a former mayor of Dundas, last night was chosen Liberal candidate for Hamilton-Wentworth in the provincial general election. He will contest the seat currently held by Health Minister Kelley.

Harry Nixon, former Ontario premier who represented Brant in the 22nd Legislature, contended the issue of hydro frequency conversion is "a smokescreen to hide the real difficulties (Premier) Drew is facing in hydro matters." He predicted the provincial power shortage would last until 1952.

"This election is absolutely uncalled for," he said. "But we were not surprised . . . "

Has New Gun Sight

TORONTO, April 29—(CP)—Wartime ace George (Buzz) Beurling of Montreal claims to have developed a new type of gun sight for combat flying. Interviewed on a visit here, he said he estimates the sight will cut down the "human element" in sighting from 90 per cent to about 40 per cent.

Lay Groundwork For New Italian Gov't

ROME, April 29.—(AP).—Premier De Gasperi began laying the groundwork today for the first government of the new Italian republic. He will head it, as premier, barring unforeseen upsets.

The Christian Democrat leader passed up a visit to Milan's 26th International Fair to talk with Provisional President Enrico De Nicola.

Government sources said formation of a new cabinet must begin with Nicola's decision to accept or refuse the presidency of the republic. The new Italian parliament meets May 8. In a joint session May 10 it will elect a president.

While there is no official information on De Nicola's plans, Naples sources close to the 70-year-old president said he had decided to accept the office.

De Gasperi's present cabinet, his fourth under the provisional administration, will hold its last session May 4. Ministers then will submit their resignations pending formation of the new government.

The executive committee of the Socialist party, part of the Communist-led Popular Front beaten by De Gasperi's Christian Democrats in the April 18-19 elections, attacked the forthcoming De Gasperi government last night.

It said concentration of anti-front votes in the Christian Democrat party had deprived it of party characteristics and "conferred upon it . . . the characteristics of a new clerical-capitalist dictatorship, annulling the efficacy of a parliamentary institution."

Cocktail Bar Issue

BRANTFORD, April 29.—(CP).—The Brantford Presbytery and the United Church of Canada passed a resolution urging that in view of the forthcoming Provincial election, the following questions should be addressed to members of the various political parties: "Are you in favor of cocktail bars being established in cities of less than 50,000 persons without a vote first being taken in those cities?" and "Are you in favor of shorter hours of operation of cocktail bars in larger cities where they are already established?"

CANCER RESEARCH—Authorities report successful use of radioactive iodine and radioactive phosphorus in combating cancer of the thyroid and leukemia, a form of cancer of the blood. Research worker (left) is using this complex apparatus to extract radioactive phosphorus isotopes from sulphur which has been irradiated in the atomic pile at Canada's Chalk River atomic centre. After extraction the radioactive isotopes are placed in a 350-pound container (centre), which is being moved by overhead crane to a Chalk River storage bin. Container holds iodine isotopes, used in treatment of cancer of the thyroid. A bottle of radioactive phosphorus isotopes (right) is placed inside a stainless steel container, which in turn is tucked into heavy metal shield casing before being shipped from Chalk River to research centre. Phosphorus isotope has an active "life" of only 14.3 days, so it must lose no time en route.

Hundreds Seek New Homes But Very Few Available

A survey of the housing situation in the city shows that there will be an estimated 400 to 500 new houses built in Peterborough and its rapidly expanding outskirts during 1948.

This amount of building, although considerable for a city of 35,000, will not fill the existing demand for housing, as reflected in the amount and nature of inquiries to real estate dealers here.

There are 770 applications for homes now on file with the local office of the Central Mortage and Housing Corporation, a crown company. The Corporation plans to have 200 homes built by fall. Its officials say that the balance includes 500 familes in the city whose present living conditions be described as "desperate."

The pinch of increased building costs—up an estimated 20 per cent from 1947—is being felt chiefly among would-be private builders. Real estate men, who handle the financing of many such projects, report a general decrease in this type of planning.

Senior partner in one of the type in Peterborough said that the rising costs of material and labor makes for a situation which "put the little fellow right behind the eight-ball."

Largest centralizing body in the parts of Canada, is Central Mortbuilding project here, as in other gage and Housing. A government body it arranges financing of some homes under the Integrated Housing Plan, by which private local contractors erect the building, with their mortgage companies arranging financing and borrowing if needed through Central.

Plan 100 Homes

Sands and Bateman, real estate firm of the city, are planning construction of more than 100 houses in sub-divisions of the city. These will be completed by the autumn. There are about 85 other houses either under construction or on the drawing boards of two other companies here, one which plans for about 75, and a second with 10.

Another real estate office reports that an average of 10 inquiries a day are received there from people wanting to rent or buy. With the mentioned jump in prices—and resultant dampening of enthusiasm in the build-it-yourself planners—many of the queries are from young married veterans trying to change unsatisfactory living quarters in rooms or small apartments for self-contained homes of their own. For most, the answer has to be "no." The houses are not there for them.

The situation in regards to apartments available, answered with uniformity by every real estated office contacted, could be summed up in one word: hopeless. One firm, handling nearly 100 apartment rentals, said that it had handled only five turnovers of tenants since 1945.

Use Summer Cottages

The dissatisfaction of many with their present accommodations may be seen in a growing tendency mentioned by several realtors along the line of thought of making "summer" cottages and homes suitable for winter use. One dealer, who owns a number of cottages near the city, said that he had had many clients (and would-be clients) suggest that the buildings be "winterized" for year-round use. The sincerity and number of these applicants—with concrete suggestions for extending the scope of the cottages—has made the proposed step a definite possibility for the summer.

"Project type of building, with government supervision and backing, and building by the Government itself seems to be the only type of construction going on now," said one.

"That's about the only type of scheme which can bear today's costs . . . despite the terrific need for the new homes."

Seize 60 Rifles

ROME, April 29 — (Reuters). — Some 500 Italian Carabinieri and police raided Milan's Communist quarter of San Giuliano Milanese yesterday and seized 60 rifles, two machine guns and many hand grenades. The raid was in anticipation of possible disorders during the May Day celebrations. Seven arrests were made.

Canada Needs Political Faith

LONDON, April 29 — (CP). — The chief responsibility for mending a war-torn world rests on North America and the challenge to Canada is the greatest in her history, John Bracken declared yesterday in an address to the Canadian Club.

The national Progressive Conservative Leader asserted the people of Canada have two main tasks in world recovery—to find an adequate economy and "to develop a political faith to follow."

He said the political shape of the world has changed from multi-power to bi-power, and those two powers were the United States and the USSR.

"We are living in the twilight of a Second World War and the challenge to us all is to prevent a third."

Raps Pensions

John Bracken, national Progressive Conservative Leader, last night criticized present old-age pensions as "penurious gratuities" which he said were insufficient to keep old people respectable.

CLEVELAND, April 29 — (AP). — The pilot of an American airlines said he put his plane into a 3,000-foot dive to blow out flames streaming from a burning engine and save 48 passengers and a crew of four from possible disaster yesterday as the plane passed over Toledo at 21,000 feet altitude.

Barrie Flyers Downed 5-4 Demand Referees Changed

TORONTO, April 29 — (CP)—There may not be a fourth game in the Memorial Cup final series unless there is a change in the referees.

Barrie coach Happy Emms threatened to pull his team out of the series after Port Arthur West-end Bruins defeated the Flyers 5-4 last night for their third straight victory in the best-of-seven series for the Canadian junior hockey championship.

Emms said his team will not play Bruins in the fourth game on Saturday unless new referees are assigned to replace Vic Lindquist of Winnipeg and Ken Mullins of Montreal. These two have handled the officiating in the first three games.

"If they don't give us different referees, we won't show up on Saturday," he said. "They can suspend me or do anything they want, but we won't play."

The CAHA will make its decision known on the ultimatum today.

Following their victory last night, the Western Canada winners now can capture the Dominion title Saturday in four straight games. Previously they had taken two soft 10-8 and 8-1 decisions.

Surprise Fans

The Eastern champion Barrie team surprised 11,555 fans by coming up with their best game of the series to date. They matched Bruins almost throughout the entire tilt and came from behind three times to tie the score. Flyers, however, did not have the extra scoring punch or drive to take over the lead at any time.

Scoring was well distributed over the winners as five different players each scored twice. Fred Baccari, Alfie Childs, Danny Lewicki, Pete Durham, and Bucko Forslund each counted singles. Gil St. Pierre was the big gun for the losers by firing two goals and assisting on another. Whit Mousseau and Rusty Aikin connected for singles while Billy Barrett picked up three assists.

The final period was scoreless and also the most closely-fought as both teams had numerous scoring chances.

DAI REES LEADS

Dai Rees, British Ryder Cup golfer, led 5 qualifiers into the final stages of the Daily Mail's £2,500 ($10,000) tournament at Sundridge park, England, yesterday. He shot a 139 for the first 36 holes on the 6,528-yard course.

"THIS TIME IT'S FOR KEEPS"—Lovely Lana Turner looks up at her groom of just a few minutes after their Hollywood marriage. The blonde screen beauty married Bob Topping, wealthy socialite, who was recently divorced by Arline Judge. It was a fourth marriage for both Topping and Turner, but the bride exclaimed, after the ceremony, "This time it's for keeps." Shortly afterward she collapsed but recovered in time to greet guests at the "emperor-size" reception.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS

By The Canadian Press

Canadian athletes who will compete in the Olympic Games at London this summer will be housed at Uxbridge R.A.F. station, about 12 miles from the heart of London, the largest of 21 centres set aside for Games competitors. The Canadian will have Americans and other English-speaking athletes as companions. Women athletes will live in hostels and schools, taken over during the summer holidays, at various spots in the capital.

Cost to national Olympic committees for accommodation, food and transportation works out at 25 shillings ($5) a day for each man and woman. About $1 of this is set aside for transportation. Uxbridge station, covering about two acres, will have a movie, post office, recreation rooms, table tennis, library, bank, cafeteria, radio and television sets and plenty of grounds for exercise.

Ned Irish, executive vice-president of Madison Square Garden, said at New York yesterday he would shut boxing out of the Garden rather than give ring managers a slice of television profits. "We can do without boxing in the Garden if the managers continue their unreasonable demands."

The statement came as the Twentieth Century Sporting Club, sponsor of fights at the Garden and at the St. Nicholas Arena, continued conferences with the Boxing Managers' Guild on the matter of television spoils.

The Ontario wrestling championships will be held at Toronto West End Y.M.C.A., May 7-8, it was announced last night.

Only winners and runners-up will be eligible to compete in the Olympic trials for the central Ontario A.A.U. branch. At least four wrestlers will be sent to the Olympic Games at London this summer.

The Canadian tennis championships will be held at the Toronto Lawn Tennis Club this year, probably in the last week of July. The club has also announced it will concentrate on development of junior players this year and arrangements are being made for tennis clinics for juniors throughout the summers.

Babe Ruth was honored yesterday at Tokyo in all Japanese professional ball parks. Four Japanese players who hit home runs were given 1,000 yen ($20) each by Sekai Nippo, a Tokyo newspaper. Sotaro Suzuki, vice-president of Japanese professional baseball, delivered a talk on "Babu Rusu."

Winnipeg Paulins squared the western Canada senior men's basketball final series at Winnipeg last night wtih a 68-58 overtime victory over Vancouver Clover Leafs in the second game of their best-of-three round. Third game is set for Winnipeg tonight.

Phillies Show Amazing Form

NEW YORK, April 29.—(AP).—You'd hardly recognize the Phillies of today as the same club you saw in Florida early in March ....Not only have 20 names been lopped off their original roster and a half dozen added, but right now they have only one shortstop in action instead of five or six....The other and more important one, Eddie Miller, is due to return when the Phils start west next week and Ben Chapman still is high on doing Granville Hammer.

Another youngster they like very much is speedy, tow-headed Richie Ashburn, whose favorite stunt seems to be teasing opposing pitchers into trying to trap him off first base, then streaking to third when they finally throw wild.

Dirty Dig Dept.

Alfred Vanderbilt, watching his horse, Miess Cook, fade out of the money at Jamaica: "He has early speed, that's all; just like the Giants." (Al is a Dodger fan, of course.)

Joe Palmer, airing the preliminaries to the Derby trial: "The horses are better looking than the photographers, but they're badly outnumbered."

Hole In One

After Garvin Smith of Los Angeles City college negotiated the 20-foot rope climb in 3.4 seconds in last year's amateur Athletic Union gymnastic championships (the old record was 4.0) officials ordered a gun start on the theory he must have anticipated something....But Gene Wettstone, director of this year's meet, insists Smith will beat his own record Saturday....This led one humorist to ask: "Gene, hadn't you better provide an opening in the ceiling for that fellow?"

McFadden Wins Calder Cup With 50 Points

MONTREAL, April 29.—(CP)—The only native-born Irishman in the National Hockey League is the rookie of the year.

Jimmy McFadden of Detroit Red Wings, used his stick with such skill during the 1947-48 season that he outdistanced a small field to win a preponderance of votes in polling for the Calder trophy.

McFadden, born in Belfast 27 years ago, collected 50 of a possible 54 points in balloting by 18 hockey writers, three in each NHL city.

His closest competitor was Pete Babando of Boston Bruins who polled only 22 points.

With the trophy goes $1,000 from the league. In Winning, the 180-pound centre became the first Red Wing to capture the rookie award in its 12-year history. He also broke Toronto's virtual monopoly on the mug. Last year Howie Meeker of the Maple Leafs won and three other Toronto players have copped top honors in the last six years.

The trophy, a memorial to the late Frank Calder, president of the NHL from its formation in 1917 until his death in 1943, is awarded to the "player selected as the most proficient in his first year of competition."

Only Six Considered

Of 34 eligible rookies, only six were considered. Red Kelly, rugged Detroit rearguard, got 14 points to place third. Centres Don Raleigh of New York Rangers and Ed Sanford of Boston got eight points and defenceman Bill Barilko of Toronto four.

Although born in Ireland, McFadden has long made his home at Darlingfordo, Man., where he owns and operates a wheat farm.

He finished the regular season with 48 points—24 goals and 24 assists — which put him in 11th place among the scorers. In the Stanley Cup playoffs (which do not figure in the voting) Jimmy notched five goals and three assists to place fourth.

Finish School Clancy Urges

OTTAWA, April 29. — Frank "King" Clancy thinks he has been in hockey too long. At least he said so when he addressed the Westboro Kiwanis Club.

"I have just completed my 26th year in the NHL, 17 as a player," he sighed.

But he didn't fool 50 boys who played in the Kiwanis Midget League last winter, and who were also guests at the dinner.

"He looks good for another 20 years," one boy said.

"King" spoke directly to the boys. Looking back on his career, he drew from his vast store of experience and gave them a "straight from the shoulder" summing up of how to be a success in professional sport.

"Get a full education. It is a stepping stone to sport and besides it gives you something to fall back on when your usefulness in sport is gone.

"I wish I had taken my chance to finish school. But when I got into professional hockey with the Ottawa club I figured I was a big shot and quit."

Reduce Staff At VLA Office

CAMPBELLFORD, April 29 (ENS).—After April 30 the VLA will maintain only a sub-office and six employees in the present location over the post-office. The rest of the staff, with the exception of the regional supervisor, E. R. Donaldson, is to go to Kingston. Mr. Donaldson is going to Toronto.

Four field men, Howard Wilson, C. W. Hoard, J. E. Patterson and J. A. Wickett; a building inspector, J. Stocker; and a stenographer, Miss Jacquelin MacEachern, will carry on from the sub-office here.

Those moving to Kingston are Arthur Lloyd, Donald Lloyd, Stanley Gay, Miss Fay Poulton, and Miss Marcia Keller.

At the present time the field men are handling about 100 accounts each and with an average of 20 application during March and April they anticipate 150 accounts per man, soon. They will continue to carry on in their previous districts: counties, Haliburton, Peterborough, Victoria, Northumberland, and five townships of southern Nipissing.

This shift of personnel is due to a government plan to amalgamate all VLA offices with district DVA offices. The VLA offices opened here in October, 1944.

Canadian Espionage Reports Studied By British Missions

By JAMES McCOOK

LONDON, April 29.—(CP). — Copies of the Canadian Royal Commission report on espionage have been sent to British missions throughout the world to be placed in hteir information services' libraries, Prime Minister Attlee has told the Commons.

Authorities said the report probably has become the most widely-circulated document of its kind ever issued by a Commonwealth Government.

Sales are made through His Majesty's stationery office and officials said more than 4,000 copies imported from Canada had been sold at 7s. ($1.40). This total is small compared to the distribution of smaller, less expensive British Government publications, but officials said the Canadian report was "unique."

By placing the report in information services' libraries, the Government makes it available to residents of many countries who may wish to study Communist methods.

New Publicity

The report received new publicity when Attlee said in a recent debate that the Canadian espionage cases were "a vivid illustration" which showed how Communists and fellow-travellers worked and how "the innocent person was brought into the net —dragged in a little way first of all and his loyalty undermined."

Results of the Canadian inquiry were kept in mind when the British Government recently decided to remove Communists, fellow-travellers and Fascists from secret work where they could endanger security.

Digest Refused

The Government has refused repeatedly to issue an official digest of the bulky Canadian commission repotr issued June 27, 1946 and 733 pages long. It is sold in Britain as printed by the Canadian King's Printer.

"In our view it would be inappropriate for the United Kingdom Government to publish an abbreviated version of a publication issued by another Commonwealth Government," said Glenvil Hall, financial secretary to the Treasury.

Trapper And Beaver Co-operating On Dam

THE PAS, April 29 (CP). — Of interest to residents of Thicket Portage, the centre of Manitoba's revitalized beaver industry, is the report of last summer's study by J. B. Nash, University of Manitoba biologist, who described a strange engineering partnership between a trapper and his beaver.

The trapper was the late Joseph Hermansky, who died suddenly last fall. Mr. Nash describes how Mr. Hermansky built portions of a dam on this trap line on MacLaren's Crook during the day, and the beaver finished his work each night.

So closely did the trapper and the beaver work together that Mr. Hermansky finally built just the heavy cribbing portions of the dam, confident that next morning all the chinking and filling would be done by the beaver. The plan worked and the dam still stands.

Japan Stiffens Attitude On Labor's Demand

TOKYO, April 29.—Two developments on Japan's labor front within the past fortnight indicate that the Government and the industrialists have decided to take a rougher attitude toward workers' demands.

First, the Government is actually sending police to evict workers who have seized plants. Second, the Toho Motion Picture Company is proceeding vigorously with its plan to discharge excess employes and make its books balance. This perhaps is the first move toward large scale production rationalization in Japanese history.

"Workers' control of production," a device imported from pre-Mussolini Milan, has long been a strong Communist weapon here. It began shortly after the surrender and gained strength. The unions took over plants, evicted the owners and managed things to suit themselves. The Government held this action illegal, but felt that it did not have enough strength to enforce that opinion, especially since Gen. Douglas MacArthur's labor officials did not seem inclined to give it any backing.

Recently, however, labor excesses and obvious public disapproval of them have stiffened the Governmental backbone. The Government has declared that "workers' production control" is illegal and then has proceeded to get court orders.

The Japan Typewriter Company union declined to honor such an order so a hundred police went to enforce it on Thursday last. Two hundred workers met and ejected them, injuring seventeen policemen. The police thereupon returned 300 strong, and arrested 250 union members.

The first principle of Japanese business management since feudal days has always been that the worker had the right of job tenure. Hardly ever did employers lay off anyone even when losses became important. The occupation, however, liberalized the labor laws and encouraged unions. Employers generally, with the Government the sole important exception, have been granting almost every labor demand as soon as it has been made, with the result that many companies are in difficulties.

ANTI-MOSQUITO—Commander of this modified Wasp flame-thrower, Sgt. D. J. Read, fires a burst of insecticide into one of the mosquito breeding grounds on low-lying fringes of Camp Borden. It's part of a spring offensive to curb the winged terrors with a mixture of DDT, kerosene and waste oil. This prevents adult mosquitoes emerging from their breeding grounds.

Steelworkers Seek Pension Plan

PITTSBURGH, April 29.—The United Steelworkers of America, CIO, is seeking a pension of $150 a month for its 375,000 members as part of a broad social insurance program that has been presented to the steel industry, according to reliable sources in the union.

The program would cost 9.65 cents an hour per employee. It is understood to be one of four plans that have been outlined for study as the result of a joint agreement, a year ago, between the union and many of the steel companies.

The social insurance proposal was submitted to the industry at the beginning of negotiations for a "substantial wage increase" earlier this month. Since United States Steel, traditional bellwether of the industry, has taken the lead in rejecting the wage rise demand. It is expected that other companies will follow suit.

Thus, the social insurance program might accord some relief to the union in the negotiations since the understanding is that some sort of arrangement could be forthcoming.

Other than the pension proposal, other highlights of the proposed industry-financed program include: Sickness and accident benefits of $35 a week for fifty-two weeks; a $1,500 life insurance policy, hospitalization (to include maternity benefits, and surgical fees) for each employee and members of his immediate family.

The hospitalization set-up is said to call for $8 a day, and up to $80, for services and extras in maternity cases. The surgical expenses would be on a standard $225 scale. Accident benefit payments would start immediately but in the case of sickness claims would not be considered until after the first four days.

The report by the United Steelworkers, based on a joint study in conjunction with United States Steel, stated that "it is obvious no comprehensive social insurance or social benefits plan now exists." It continued that "only in the field of group life insurance is there substantial coverage for the employees. Even here, approximately 20 per cent. of all employees do not participate, and 85 per cent. of the cost is paid by the employees." The report maintained that the contribution by the employer was "insubstantial."

5,000 Employees On Holidays After July 23

More than 5,000 regular employees at two of the largest plants in the city, Canadian General Electric Company and Outboard Marine Manufacturing Company will be taking summer vacations during the period from July 23 to August 3. Many too will also be out on the following week ending August 10.

This means a mass exodus to the summer resorts across the Kawarthas and Haliburton Highlands and will also result in a terrific demand for housekeeping cottages during that peak period. Actually 700 workers from the Johnson Motor plant will relax from July 23 to August 10, and only a skeleton staff of about 50 employees will be on duty at the plant. This is to ensure continuity of service to customers, and to take care of any unusual demand at that time.

The huge CGE plant will be almost deserted and unusually silent during the period July 23 to Aug. 3. At that time 4465 of the 4700 employees will be on holidays. On the week following and the week immediately before July 23, those entitled to two weeks holidays with pay can have their choice, and this will mean a large number will be away in those two periods as well. All employees who by virtue of long service are entitled to three weeks holidays take the two weeks in the stated period, but can take a third week at any time they wish. This is a special concession to people who have been with the firm a long time. During the war when Genelco plant was operating, the total note that at present the payroll elco was 4900, and when it is note thta at present the payroll embraces 4700, the decline is scarcely noticeable.

BUILD TOURIST TRADE—This oversize trailer is being loaded with 22,000 copies of the 1948 Canadian Vacation Guide and destined for Ohio and Pennsylvania, where they will go on the news stands. 4,000 more will go to New York this week. This is the new name for Vacation Editions of other years.

City Planning Beach Patrols; Aid Life-Guards

Organization of junior and senior swimming beach patrols was planned by the outdoor swimming committee of the Recreation Commission Wednesday night. For that purpose a patrol school will be provided for training of prospective aides before the season opens. As a qualification, intermediate life saving awards will be necessary.

Patrol members will be equipped to assist the life guards in many respects, such as first aid, maintenance of discipline, general conduct on the beaches and generally in helpful service with the lifeguards.

Among those attending the meeting were: Mrs. (Dr.) Howson, from the Red Cross, and vice-president of the water safety committee; Mrs. V. R. Currie, YWCA; Mrs. J. Forbes, Mr. Cook Munro, Mrs. R. Whalon, Mrs. Wilf Langan, N. Fletcher, F. Jennings, Gordon Minty, D. Barringer, G. Hopcroft, Jack Dane.

Another safety idea which is being planned is the placing of swimmers in different and progressive categories, depending on ability. The proposed branches are: Junior Red Cross; elementary life saving; intermediate Red Cross; intermediate life saving; senior Red Cross.

Red Cross Plan

Mr. Dane explained to The Examiner that swimmers could graduate from one category to the next on the basis of their improvement. The plan is according to the standards of the Canadian Red Cross. It is intended that blank cards will be provided to school children who will be asked to take the forms home for the signature of their parents, expressing consent to children participating in this swimming project.

Beaches at Inverlea and Riverside will be equipped for beginners in all stages, and it may be that the Optimists will develop another beach on the Nicholls Oval shore.

The swimming committee arranged for other phases of supervision. Cook Munro was asked to head a group to take charge of checking stations at the beaches, as a means of preventing loss of clothing and other articles. Mrs Whalon is in charge of registration, and Mrs. Forbes directs all instruction. The Red Cross is cooperating in publicity including films which may be shown at theatres and schools. Gordon Minty was asked to organize the junior patrol, and all plans are expected to be completed for operations at June 1.

Examiner Vacation Guide Distributed In 3 States

For the past 12 years, the annual holiday edition of the Peterborough Examiner has been referred to as the Vacation Edition. This year, an entirely new departure will be noticed by those purchasing this issue. It has been called "The Canadian Vacation Guide"; it has 24 pages of rotogravure, with a very distinctive two-color cover. In addition to this, there are five sections, each with a different color on the front page, featuring the five sections of the country covered by this edition. The edition is, this year, more replete with photographs, and fishing and holidaying information than ever before. On Saturday, April 17th, one of the largest trailer trucks ever to leave Peterborough, left the Examiner building, with 12½ tons, or to be more specific, 22,000 copies of the Canadian Vacation Guide, consigned to destinations in the United States. The reception for this edition in the United States is growing by leaps and bounds every year, and this popularity has been built solely on its able presentation of the vacation story with the excellence and authenticity of its pictorial content.

In addition to the distribution in the United States, there will be a further consignment to eastern New York State, of about 4,000 more, leaving the distribution in Canada at 6,000.

The Canadian Vacation Guide goes on sale today in Peterborough, and may be purchased at any newsstand, or from your carrier boy.

It is necessary this year, on account of the terrific costs involved in newsprint, rotogravure, and other features, to increase the price. But it is certain, once the edition is seen, that the additional cost will be considered quite in keeping with the enlarged edition being offered.

Jas. Hawthorne In New Show

James Hawthorne of Peterborough is in the cast of "Inside the U.S.A." which moves into the New Century theatre, 7th Ave., New York, Friday, after four weeks of top business in Philadelphia, Boston and other cities in the east.

This show features two former Toronto stars, Beatrice Lillie and Jack Haley. Peterborough contributes at least a third Canadian in Mr. Hawthorne of Antrim St., whose father died in the Whitaker fire early in July last year. He served in the Canadian Navy during the war. A Toronto comment on the show's approach to Broadway is that Jim Hawthorne of Peterborough will probably be a little nervous Thursday on the eve of the New York opening "Inside the U.S.A." has been doing "smash business" according to Variety, and predictions are that it will be a hit in New York

Mr. Hawthorne's mother left Peterborough this morning to visit friends in Illinois.

Houses Scarce But Many To Move May 1

Lads and lasses dancing around the Maypole on the village Green, mass demonstration parades of the might of workers and household moving signify the First of May. This year in Peterborough as many families will be moving as ever before regardless of the acute housing shortage and of course they all have somewhere to go or there would be very little sense in even thinking of it. One of the best ways to find out about this mass migration period is to talk to experts who do the moving. Ed Reid, at George and Parkhill Road, is better informed than most moving men in the city for he has been in business for the past 35 years.

Mr. Reid started first with a horse and cutter, turned later to a delivery service for retail merchants, and for the past 19 years has held license for inter-city moving anywhere in Ontario and Quebec with his fleet of seven trucks. Sons Donald, Howard and Maxwell are with their father, together with five other men.

"Our moving program is booked solid for three weeks this year," said one of the sons Thursday. The speaker knows a lot about the moving business and has taken trips from Port Arthur to Lac St. John. He thinks the new Trans-Canada Highway west of Sudbury through the Algoma wilderness is one of the finest scenic routes in Canada.

People who move do all sorts of silly things such as trying to move pianos from present homes into new and smaller dwellings. Mattresses, too, seem to expend in size while being fitted into new quarters. They are also inclined to be fussy with moving men, at first, for fear these muscular men will scratch furniture, and gouge plaster out of walls, and so forth. Movers are much happier if householders would leave them alone for they are actually very capable men. It is no new experience, for instance, for moving men to have to wash dishes left in the sink before they can be packed for moving and unmake beds before taking them apart.

Must Exercise Care

The burly type of mover in striped jersey and battered derby disappeared years ago and he has been replaced by men who are more endowed with brains than brawn. Their labor class shows a large turnover because, according to employers, they find the work too strenuous, they are too careless and they are not able to meet the public graciously. Piano moving is not the most difficult thing but office safes are the objects that give the most trouble. The Reids have a special aversion to a six-foot safe that they have moved from the second floor of the Kresge Building, up into the Lansfield Building and yet again to Barrie's. Its dead weigh, and its smooth surfaces made it a dangerous and tedious undertaking.

Mr. Reid took his first vacation a few months ago and went to visit a brother in Oregon and was gone for five weeks. It is the type of work whereone can use a holiday now and then, and a good long one, too. On the eve of the big moving day there will be several 24-hour shifts before it is all over.

Even though there will be a large migration this year in Peterborough among people who are lucky enough to find new quarters to go to, there are a lot of families who have only been able to do half a moving job. The Reid storage warehouse contains complete household furnishings for almost 300 families who have been unable, through various adversities, to find a place to live. Some effects have been in storage since 1939. On the other hand, Reids take the unexpected in their stride. Two weeks ago they did a complete packing and forwarding job from the city for a family who have moved to Peru. They have formed one general philosophy in that the general public is very decent to deal with.

HEAVY WAR DAMAGE

During the war 4,000,000 houses were destroyed or damaged by enemy action in Britain.

REV. IVAN C. MORGAN

Ministers Name Rev. I. C. Morgan President For '48

Peterborough Ministerial Association met this week to hear the Rev. W. J. Gallagher, MA, DD, General Secretary of the Canadian Council of Churches. Dr. Gallagher presented a clear and concise picture of the World Council of Churches and of the Canadian Council of Churches. He traced the influences and gatherings which have led toward the formation of a World Council until 1938, when a provisional committee was set up for carrying it forward. The first gathering of the World Council, delayed by the war, is scheduled to meet in Amsterdam this spring. There will be a Canadian delegation of 41 representatives.

The Canadian Council of Churches is an organization quite separate from the World Council, being an organization for assisting all church interests that are common to the Canadian churches. There are 10 member-churches and 3 member organizations, the YMCA, the YWCA, and the Student Christian Movement. The four departments of its activity include: Evangelism, Christian Education, The Christian Social Council, and the Department of Ecumenical Affairs.

Archdeacon W. P. Robertson expressed the appreciation of the association to Dr. Gallagher for his fine presentation. There was some discussion on the formation of a Local Council of Churches for Peterborough, which would be an officially representative body, as contrasted with a Ministerial Association, which is not officially representative. This matter was left for future consideration.

The nominating committee reported, and the following elections were made: President, Rev. I. C. Morgan; vice-president, Dr. D. B. Gordon; secretary, Rev. H. Douglas; treasurer, Rev. M. J. Aiken; executive members, Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite, Rev. C. G. Boyd, Major Watt.

The meeting was closed with prayer by Major Watt.

Want Lake Trout Season Opened May 15

A motion to open the lake trout season on May 15 instead of the existing date of July 1 was approved at a meeting of the Peterborough Fish and Game Association. A recommendation that this proposal be carried out will be sent to the Department of Fish and Game.

Present regulations forbid lake trout fishing in waters of Peterborough County containing bass and maskinonge. As these are the prevalent game fish of this county it practically puts a complete ban on this form of fishing.

The situation became more complicated when the secretary of the Association wrote to the Department previous to the meeting asking for a definite date to be set. A reply from the Department couched in general terms said no person could fish in local waters "previous to the 15th of May." The secretary understood this to mean that it was legal after the 15th and stated so in the bulletin which has wide circulation.

It was also decided to ask the Department to put a road through the Crown Game Preserve. This, it was claimed, would make the Reserve more accessible to tourists. Th motion had been voted down at the previous meeting but members after further consideration changed their minds.

Two truckloads of brook trout were deposited in Cavan stream and in Eel's creek on April 21 and 22 as part of a restocking program.

Application has been made to the Department for a shipment of as many trees, assorted varieties, as can be spared. It was said that the local Boy Scouts had agreed to help the Association in starting reforestation. The exact location has not been decided upon.

Entertainment for the more than 50 members included three movies. Robert McCabe presided.

Each of them was asked to bring in an other interested person to swell the membership which now stands at 572.

CNR Diversion On Bethune St. Will Be Studied

Members of the City Council and the Town Planning Commission met on Wednesday afternoon with representatives of the Canadian National Railways. Representing the railway were J. F. Pringle vice-president of the Central Region, N. A. Walford general superintendent of the Sarnia-Ontario District and E. H. Lacke superintendent of the Belleville Division.

The Faludi Plan as it refers to the CNR was presented and discussed with the representatives. This plan calls for discontinuance of the line entering the city from the northwest from Lindsay and re-routing it around the north of the city and entering the city through the Quacker Oats property. Other suggestions were also made whereby a new entrance to the city around the north and through Ashburnham might be affected.

Mr. Pringle who had not had sufficient time to made a study of the project replied for the CNR and intimated that he believed the cost of such a diversion would be very heavy. He promised that he would send engineers to the city to make a study of this suggested plan and also study other ways of eliminating the line through the centre of the city.

The question of a union station was also suggested for study and met with very favorable reception from the CNR officials. Mr. Pringle also suggested a plan of subways under certain of the crossings where the motor traffic is heavy. However several members of the committee felt that this plan would not overcome the effect of creating a blighted area along the railway, as it rapidly developing at the present, and retarding the business growth of the city to the west.

May Cut Airmail Cost

OTTAWA, April 29 —(CP) — The reduction of domestic airmail postage from seven to four cents an ounce is included in a postal scheme now before the cabinet, a postal department official said last night. "There is no indication what the decision of the cabinet will be," he said. It was questionable whether the scheme, if approved, would be brought in by July 1.

Battle With Clubs

MEGANTIC, Que., April 29—(CP)—A family quarrel which led to a battle with clubs between two brothers resulted last night in the death of 57-year-old George Duval at St. Leon de Val Racine, 20 miles from this eastern township town. Dr. Serge Boisvert, district coroner, said Duval's 50-year-old brother, Louis, was being held for questioning.

Says Constable Struck Him Several Times

TORONTO, April 29 — (CP) — William J. Abraham testified in magistrate's court yesterday that constable John Trimble struck him repeatedly and threatened to kick him after his arrest April 17 on a charge of causing a disturbance. The policeman is charged with assault occasioning bodily harm.

Abraham spoke through clenched teeth, wired to permit healing of a fractured jaw which he said he suffered at the hands of the constable.

Abraham is the fifth person within a month to charge policemen with unnecessarily rough treatment. The board of police commissioners, investigating charges last month that Jean Poitras was beaten and kicked in a police station following his arrest, exonerated the officers charged.

Abraham said he and a companion, LAC Jack Wilks, an airman stationed at Trenton, were arrested at a Toronto dance hall and taken to police station.

Not Intoxicated

"I had a few drinks," Abraham said, "but I was not intoxicated."

He said he protested when a policeman struck Wilks with his knee. When Constable Trimble and Abraham were left alone, the policeman had asked what his "beef" was.

"I told him I didn't know why the police had to beat up young kids on the street," he testified.

He said Trimble then struck him (Abraham) repeatedly with the back of his hand and knocked him from a chair to the floor.

"He said if I did not get up he would give me the boots," Abraham declared. "I knew I was in for a beating. I couldn't honestly say how many time he beat me after that. He did slap me around."

Wilks testified there was fighting "on the steps and all over" but he did not remember who was fighting or what blows were struck. He said he was "pushed around a little" in a room at the station.

Says Steel Shortage Hampers Hydro Plans

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., April 29—(CP). — Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, yesterday urged continuing saving of electricity and said a steel shortage was hampering expansion work.

Addressing the Ontario division of the Canadian Manufacturers Association, he said the Niagara river was being tapped to the limit as a power source and another plant would be of no help.

The commission needed 1,800 tons of steel a month for the erection of towers to keep its program up to the mark but at present was receiving only 650 tons.

Has Formula For Keeping Right Of Appeal

OTTAWA, April 29 — (CP).—Jean Lesage (L-Montmagny-L'Islet) proposed in the Commons Tuesday night a formula for retention of Canadians' right of appeal to the British Privy Council.

He suggested such appeals to the Throne, which are very rare, might be directed to the Governor-General, who would act on the advice of the Supreme Court of Canada.

Mr. Lesage, a Quebec lawyer, was speaking in support of a bill to abolish Privy Council appeals and make the Supreme Court of Canada the last legal resort for Canadians. The bill, introduced by F. E. Jaenicke (CCF-Kindersley) was "talked out" for the time being before receiving second reading.

While declaring he supported the principle of the bill fully, Mr. Lesage said he thought some persons might consider it necessary to provide a substitute for the existing right of appeal to the King in the case of certain court judgments from which there is no further appeal.

By substituting the Governor-General for the King, Mr. Lesage suggested, the ancient privilege would be fully preserved.

(The Canadian Press Tuesday night quoted Mr. Lesage incorrectly as saying the Federal Cabinet, on the advice of the Supreme Court, might authorize appeals to the Privy Council. Mr. Lesage said he fully supported outright abolition of appeal to Britain.)

retiring introvert or an impetuous extrovert. At that age the child first learns failure, he said; if he goes wrong in his choice he is labelled as a delinquent.

He claimed that because the data on this age group was limited to case histories where the child had done wrong, with perhaps a broken home, poor housing or a poor adult pattern, an exact study of the average child of this age was missing.

In the age bracket under discussion he claimed that the child gains "the sense of belonging" to a larger social body than that of his family. When he gets beyond the infant stage he must expand his allegiance to include a larger social unit.

"Anyone who in adulthood 'belongs' because of whose son he is, what colored skin he has, and so on, is not a secure citizen. In the adult sense it is what you are: what you can contribute to the team."

Educate Parents

Every skill must be viewed from two aspects, he said: from the standpoint of social responsibility and social freedom.

Professor Line then emphasized the point that it was necessary to educate the parents as well. It is no good, he contended to teach children good English, good literature, and the esthetics if the home ignores these things. Too often parents look at children through the wrong eyes, he said, and stifle the new found freedom of the educational system which could benefit both home and community.

One of the more unfortunate aspects of Children's Aid work he pointed out was that the economic level of the majority of the foster parents was not very high. He said that the wealthier classes seemed willing to adopt but not to look after a foster child.

The speaker was introduced by Bruce Sargent and thanked by Mrs. F. J. Lynch. Mr. T. T. Rodger presided.

More than 90 persons were in attendance at the YMCA for the dinner meeting when Mr. Rodger rose to commend the staff and directors of the Society. Volume of work was higher than previously, he said, but this was offset by the competent staff and adequate personnel. He said the Family Court had proved a boon to the Peterborough district and stated that the problem facing the association was that of didened interest and suitable family foster homes.

Among the other speakers who paid tribute to the work of the Children's Aid Society were Warden James Humphries, Miss V Franck, Dept. of Child Welfare and Mayor William Ovens. Mayor Ovens thanked the Society for its work on behalf of the citizens of Peterborough, and he said that despite original doubts from some quarters the Family Court [illegible] to five social workers and two stenographers. In 1938 the Society looked after 21 families, 103 children in care and 40 unmarried mothers. This year there were 376 families receiving attention. 220 children in care and 135 unmarried mothers.

In her opening remarks Miss Young said "Until environmental factors show a greater improvement so that wars will cease economic and social insecurity be no longer with us, inadequate housing be unknown, and the individuals who live in the environment aspire to successful living in terms of true happiness rather than dependance for happiness on external factors alone—until then, indications are that our work will increase."

One trend very noticeable in the work of the Association was said to be "the lack of knowledge by parents of what their children are doing and the inadequacy of supervision."

"Parents do not know what grades their children are in at school; do not know the names of their children's teachers; send youngsters out baby sitting at a tender age—sometimes to homes they know little or nothing about. The home does not provide the supervision and guidance so necessary to these youngsters.

"The stimuli for enthusiasms in school, in church and recreation is not there; children try to assume an adult role and not being ready for it, they become delinquent."

Rejection of a child by his parents was singled out as one possible cause of delinquency as well as lack of adequate food, clothing and shelter. On the subject of housing Miss Young said, "We do a great deal of talking about the value of home life but housing is preventing such home life for even those who desire it. Houses with rentals within the range of average incomes are needed urgently needed."

Statistics for the year include 376 families contacted; 13 investigated for DVA, and 34 for Family Allowance; number of children in care of Society 220; number admitted to care 79; number discharged for various ceasons 65. number of unmarried parent cases known 136; office interviews 1,610; and visits 6,824.

Miss Young reported an increase of 35 per cent in unmarried parent work; of these cases 27 per cent were requests to secure maintenance from the alleged father. More than a third of the girls kept their babies, 22 per cent were placed for adoption, four per cent married, and 10 per cent are awaiting confinement.

THIS IS THE THIRD OF A SERIES OF "REPORTS TO THE PEOPLE" ANNOUNCEMENTS

Travelling A Long Way Yet Staying In One Place

From Winnipeg to Halifax is a long distance, 1,932 miles to be exact. Did you know that your city busses travel more than that each day on the city streets? Our fleet of busses in conveying you about your business and pleasure run up an average mileage daily totalling 2,103 miles. You will agree that this is a considerable distance in a city of 35,000 population.

As proof of the extension and improvement in the company's services in the past few years, our records show that in 1937 the total daily bus mileage was 969.

Not only do our busses run up a big mileage in serving Peterborough, but their engines consume pools of gasoline. Consumption of gasoline in the month of January this year totalled 10,991 gallons. Last year the total of gasoline used by the bus fleet was 104,748 gallons. At the present price of gasoline to the motorist this represents a gas bill for one year of more than $40,000.

Gasoline is only one of the items of cost in the operation of the city bus system which has increased greatly in recent years. The cost of busses of the type we use in Peterborough has doubled since 1937.

Cost of parts, engines and all maintenance equipment has doubled and trebled in recent years. We have increased our employees' labour rates almost 100 percent. At the same time that our daily operating costs were mounting so steeply, the company was severely limited by Income Tax and Excess Profits Tax from setting up required reserves for properly financing needed expenditures on maintaining and expanding our growing service to Peterborough citizens.

Most companies experiencing similar high increases in operating costs simply added these costs to the selling price of their products. We are happy to state that in the face of mounting operation costs we have not advanced our fares. We know also that our service in Peterborough will compare favourably with the service given in those Ontario cities where bus fares have been increased.

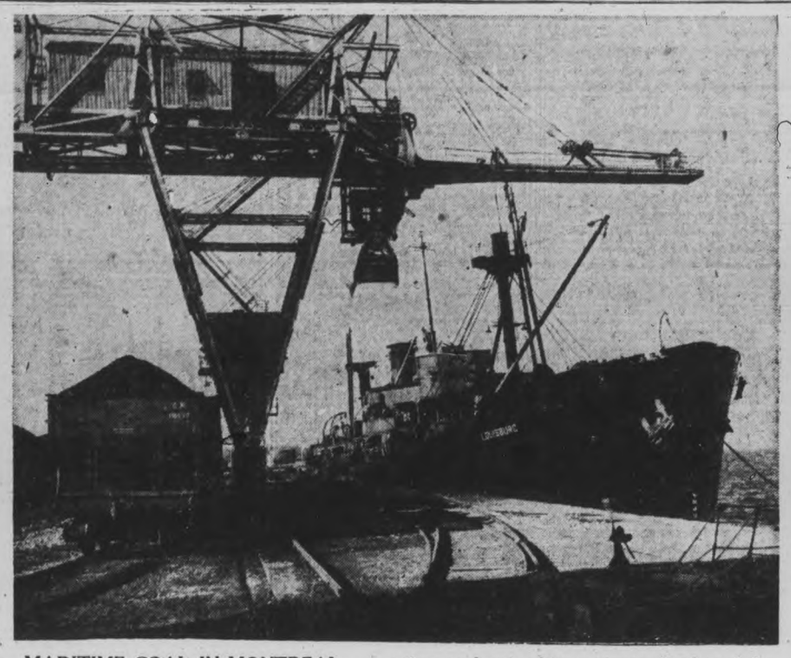
IODE Chapters Seek Funds In Cancer Drive

CAMPBELLFORD, April 29 (ENS).—Representatives from the IODE chapter and the Rebekah lodge were present at a meeting in the Public Library Tuesday night. The meeting was called by George Palliser, who has been appointed chairman of a campaign for funds to aid the Canadian Cancer Society.



Mrs. Jake Cowell, IODE Regent, and Mrs. Edison Wynne, Noble Grand of the Rebekahs offered the chapter and the lodge to do the house to house canvassing. The IODE will do Wards 1 and 2, while Wards 3 and 4 will be done by the Rebekahs. This work will begin at once and is to be completed by May 15.

The Rev. Oscar E. Wagar, Belleville, chairman of the campaigns in Hastings and Prince Edward counties was present at the meeting to impress upon the people the need of this province-wide campaign, and also to advise the local chairmaan on organization.

"Last year more than 14,000 Canadians died of cancer," he said, "but three out of ten of those doomed to die of cancer can be saved if their symptoms are recognized and treated in the early staages."

While the Ontario branch of the Canadian Cancer Society takes no part in research and treatment, he explained, the funds derived will be used to further educational and service programs concerning the early detection and prevention of cancer.

The campaign for funds is in the form of a membership drive with a minimum fee of one dollar for a membership of one year. This entitles the member to information about cancer supplied by the Canadian Cancer Society to help protect the subscriber and his family. Canvassers should endeavor to obtain large enrollments rather than large donations, said Mr. Wagar, and in this way more people will derive direct education in the matter.

MARITIME COAL IN MONTREAL — For the first time since before the war, Maritime coal arrived in port recently aboard the Louisburg, shown here unloading.

Prison Institute Vocational Work

WINNIPEG, April 29 (CP). — The Penitentiaries Branch of the Justice Department will extend to Western Canada this fall its program of vocational training and education.

The Collins Bay institution at present is the only penitentiary given over solely to this training. But this fall the Saskatchewan Penitentiary at Prince Albert— it serves both Saskatchewan and Alberta — will become the second Federal institution to provide training for selected convicts.

Joseph McCulley, a Deputy Commissioner of Penitentiaries, said in an interview, no one is sentenced directly to Collins Bay. All convicts are sent to Portsmouth Penitentiary at Kingston, where the classification officers screen them. Those readily adaptable to new vocational and educational program then are transferred to Collins Bay.

Similarly, only those whom it is possible to "reclaim" for society will be imprisoned in Prince Albert. These younger prisoners will be offered such courses as mechanics and woodworking to prepare them for their release. Each man will be assigned the type of training for which classification officers consider him best suited.

Mr. McCulley said the program being undertaken will go far towards breaking down the anti-social attitude of many released prisoners. They will be prepared for a place in free society—"and it is the duty of the public to accept the man at face value as having paid his debt."

Student To Attend Athletics Course

BONARLAW, April 29—(ENS) —Hedley Barlow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morley Barlow of Bonarlaw, student at Stirling High school, has been selected to attend a two weeks' training course this summer at the Ontario Athletic Training Commission training camp at Orillia.

The Ontario Department of Education has made this course available by asking high school principals and physical education staffs to select the student who is outstanding in athletic and leadership qualities.

He will receive practical training in the administration, officiating and coaching of team games, individual games and recreation. There will be four courses of two weeks duration with instruction in all sports.

Millbrook Oddfellows Attend Church Service

MILLBROOK, April 29 — (ENS). — Headed by the Millbrook Community Band, more than 50 members of Millbrook Lodge IOOF, No. 308, marched to St. Thomas' Anglican church on Sunday evening for its annual church attendance. Officers and members of Golden Sheaf Rebekah Lodge, No. 176, joined them for the service.

Lay readers for the lessons were members of the Order, L. M. Fallis, PDDGM, and Gordon Might, N.G.

Special music by the choir included a solo, by Mrs. G. A. Spicer and an anthem by the choir. Miss M. L. Collins was at the organ.

Welcoming the visiting Lodges to the church, the rector, Rev. C. M. MacLean, based his message on the Parable of the Good Samaritan.

Chrysler Union Sets Strike Date Friday

DETROIT, April 29 —(AP)—A date for a strike by 75,000 Chrysler Corp. employees will be set Friday by the United Auto Workers (CIO) top policy committee, the union announced yesterday.

The U.A.W. said a walkout "will be called on the date set unless an agreement is reached by that time."

The announcement came as negotiations continued on the union's demand for a 30-cent hourly wage increase and other concessions. Chrysler only offer to date —six cents an hour—was rejected April 17 and later was withdrawn.

The union meanwhile served formal notice on General Motors Corp. of its intent to terminate the G.M.-U.A.W. contract, which expires today.

This action was in accordance with instructions from the union's 100-man General Motors conference. These delegates also voted Tuesday to ask G.M. locals to conduct strike votes among the corporation's 225,000 employees in about 90 plants.

Elderly Vagrant Gets 7 Days; In Ill-Health

Roy Wright is going to the jail "on the hill" for the next seven days. The 57-year-old vagrant, a resident of Peterborough with "no fixed address" willingly received the sentence from Magistrate W. B. Philp, KC, in police court yesterday morning. Obviously in ill-healt, the old man will be brought to the attention of medical authorities at the jail.

Taking to the witness stand, with the aid of a police officer, Wright told the court that "I am willing to work but can't do any," because of an injury to his stomach when he had been kicked by a horse.

The magistrate suggested that some medical attention at the jail might set him on his feet.

"If you keep on this way, you might never get better," he was told.

"That's just what I need," Wright agreed, "but I've been there before and the doctor wouldn't even look at the sore on my stomach. You can ask them at the jail . . . they found me on the floor twice.

"All the doctor would do was take my name, and age, and how long I was going to be there, and stuff like that. If I could get fixed up, I'd be all right."

PC Vern O'Donoghue testified that the accused had been found at the rear of an apartment building among lumber and loose straw. He had been eating refuse from a garbage can behind a cafe, he said. The accused had no home and no place to go, the officer was told.

Magistrate Philp and Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry assured the accused that his condition would be brought to the attention of the prison doctor. Wright said he thought seven days should be long enough. . .

"If," he added, "they'll do something for me this time."

The city of Quebec was founded by Champlain in 1608.

Canadian Fruits, Vegetables Never Far Behind Spring

By MARY MOORE

My sister is in California and in this morning's mail her letter raved about romaine and tomato and avocado salads; broccoli with Hollandaise, new potatoes; fresh strawberries, King oranges.

And you and I still have to wrestle with last year's potatoes and onions and dried prunes, and at the same time keep our families loving us, because we are such wonderful cooks!

How can we do it?

I managed to get a flurry of interest out of my crowd with

Broiled Sliced Potatoes With Cheese

These are worth a try.

Boil 4 large potatoes with their skins on in salted water until about three - quarters tender. Drain, peel, cut in ½-inch slices and place on greased broiler. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, brush with melted butter and broil under hot broiler until they blister. Turn over, sprinkle lightly with old grated cheese, and paprika, and broil until cheese melts and browns a little. Serve on a platter as a border around a creamed meat or fish dish or some such thing as fricassee of kidneys and onions, or beef or ham hash.

Cheese seems to tbe getting into everything I am suggesting today, but all of these dishes are included here for a good and sufficient reason, so give them a trial at least once.

Onion And Cheese Souffle

Cook enough onions in boiling salted water until tender, to make 2 cups pulp when they are drained and forced through sieve. Reserve ¼ cup of the cooking liquid for the sauce. Melt 2½ tablespoons butter, add 2½ tablespoons flour an dadd ¼ cup onion water, ¼ cup evaporated milk or cream, the onion pulp and ½ cup old grated cheese, and stir over heat until nearly boiling. Season onion mix with salt and pepper to taste. Beat 2 egg yolks until thick and stir them into the onion mixture. Beat 2 egg whites until stiff and fold them in too. Turn into greased baking dish and bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for about 30 minutes. Serve as soon as posible after removing from oven.

(If you are trying to make an economical meal look rather impressive serve mock filet mignons (hamburg cakes wrapped with side bacon and broiled) with this dish, and baked potatoes.)

Oriental Cream (with prunes

One tablespoon gelatine, ¼ cup cold water, ½ cup milk, 2-3 cup sugar, 2 eaten egg whites, 1 cup cream beaten stiff, ¾ cup stoned chopped prunes, 2 chopped figs, 1 teaspoon vanilla, chopped nuts for garnish. Soak the gelatine in the cold water 5 minutes, then dissolve it by stirring over hot water. Add the milk and sugar, and beat with rotary beater until it begins to thicken. Fold in the beaten egg white, and beaten cream, the chopped prunes and figs and vanilla. Turn into moistened mould which is decorated with slices of prunes in the bottom. Chill. Turn out on fancy serving plate, garnish with stiffly beaten whipped cream and sprinkle with chopped nuts.

Selfridge's Banbury Turnovers

While these are quite economical to make, they are so melting-in-the-mouth good they should be reserved for special occasions.

Mix together ¼ cup lemon juice, ½ cup seeded raisins, softened by steaming, 1½ cups finely chopped, pared, tart apples, ¼ cup chopped walnuts (optional), 2 tablespoons orange marmalade, 1 cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon each cloves and ginger, ¼ cup melted butter. Roll out rich plain paste and cut into 4-inch squares. On each place 1 tablespoon of the filling. Dampen edges with water, then fold each over from corner to corner to form a triangle. Crimp edges together with floured fork. Prick top to allow steam to escape. Brush tops with milk and bake at 450 deg. Fahr.

WIDE AND SHORT

The osprey, or fish hawk, is usually about two feet long, with a wingspread of about six feet.

DIRECTIONS

For the Rhubarb and Prune Upsidedown Cake place in square cake pan about 8"x8" 2 cups raw rhubarb cut ½" pieces, ½ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, 1 cup stoned, stewed prunes and 2 tablespoons melted butter. Spread over plain cake batter—a one-egg batter is all right. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 45 minutes. Turn out at once on cake plater and serve with whipped cream if available.

For our one-burner dinner the macedoine of vegetables can be heated, in the liquid from the tins in which they were canned, in the bottom of the double boiler; thus the cream of tomato soup may be heating over them in the top of the double boiler. The color combination of these three canned vegetables is very striking, but be sure you drain the vegetables well before serving and add butter (or cream) and salt and pepper to taste.

To make the syrup for the cornstarch pudding in one-burner dinner thicken 1 cup syrup from canned plums with 1½ tablespoons cornstarch (made into a paste with a little cold syrup and then stirring into hot syrup until thick). Flavor with a little rum cooking flavoring and nutmeg. It makes a delicious topping for plain milk pudding, especially if the pudding is carefully turned out from individual moulds. Any leftover red juice from canned fruit may be used this way.

Study Clubs End Season

At a social evening this week at the home of Mrs. J. Henry, Gordon Ave., Study Club activities of the Catholic Junior League of St. Peter's Cathedral Parish were brought to a close for this season. Commencing in October, two study groups, each consisting of 15 members, under convenership of Miss Rita Young, have met separately each week at the homes of members. They were under direction of the Rev. G. Kay and the Rev. P. P. Butler, each of whom was presented with a gift by Miss Doris Strickland, on behalf of the members. Group leaders were Misses Rita Young, Gladys Perdue, Barbara Hickey and Doris Strickland. The subject studied this year was "Grace and the Sacraments". For next season members have chosen "Social and Moral Problem" as their subject. Lesson for the joint meeting of the study clubs was directed by Father Butler. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Misses Florence O'Toole, Rita Young, Barbara and Helen Hickey, and a social hour was enjoyed.

Scriver read the scripture lesson.

Isadore Duncan Dance Form Taught By Sister

NEW YORK, April 29 (CP). — The "Dance of Life" which many people thought would stop with the tragic death of its originator, Isadora Duncan, 20 years ago when her trailing scarf caught in the wheels of a moving automobile, today has many adherents.

Miss Elizabeth Duncan, sister of Isadora and co-founder of the Duncan form of dancing said recently that in New York alone 2,000 pupils are studying its movements, which is based on Greek classical forms and the grace and meaning of nature. Duncan schools also flourish in many United States cities and some of the largest are in Europe.

Miss Duncan came to the United States from Europe in February to establish a National Foundation of the Dance based on her sister's beliefs and dedicated to her.

She is a tiny, wrinkled woman with a bright bird-like face and a small-girl voice, but with definite ideas on dancing. "Everything in dancing must come from the middle and the arms and legs follow," she said, stretching and bending in a surprisingly agile fashion.

Wears Loose Gown

Because she maintains anything binding hampers the essential centre of gravity, she wears a loose, one-piece, ankle-length woollen dress which had been made by a pupil.

Isadora spent hours studying nature and strove to incorporate in her dancing the rhythmic movement of wind and wave and the flight of the bird and bee. She sat for hours contemplating the Greek vases in the Louvre and evolved many of her dances directly from them.

Since Isadora's death, her sister has been carrying on her dancing precepts. The new National Foundation to be established here will stand for practical ends, Miss Duncan said. It will pay young girls' tuitions through the period when they are choosing careers.

"They don't all have to turn out dancers or dancing teachers," she said. "Dancing, lifting up from the centre of gravity, should equip them for anything — cooking, housekeeping, taking care of babies. It ought to keep many from getting into jobs they really don't want."

WATCH PUPILS' HEALTH

An assembly of young people, as at large educational institutions, creates a danger of spread of infection, health authorities say. Schools are becoming increasingly aware of their duty to create a healthy environment.

Posters in humorous vein that brought out the theme "Spring-time as it affects the lives of nurses," were an added attraction. These were done by boys at Christie St. Hospital, Toronto, and sent to the nurses just in time for the tea. Witty comments below each cartoon picture gave a clue to the situation depicted for the benefit of those unfamiliar with hospital life. Guests found the drawings particularly interesting and made it a point to see them all before leaving.

THE ROGUISH ROLLER—Young, blithe and full of verve —that's the roller, a hat that typifies youthful appeal. Here is a version of this popular hat, a model in natural straw with a deep crown and softly cushioned brim. Navy blue grosgrain band and streamers punctuated by a spike of cherries tells a sprightly trimming story.

Civic Nurses Make Nice Sum To Aid Children of Europe At Springtime Bazaar, Tea

"We are so thrilled" student nurses of the Civic Hospital exclaimed Wednesday evening as they realized their bazaar and tea was a huge success. It was indeed a splendid effort, well deserving the co-operation of citizens who thronged the Argyle St. residence from seven to nine. Unselfishness and a desire to help others, true characteristics of the nursing profession, prompted the girls to arrange the event and raise money that will soon swell the "Aid to Children of Europe" fund. Their only reward is the "credit line" they receive when the substantial sum is donated. Miss E. Crawford and Miss K. Black, co-conveners, were outstanding workers toward making a worthy showing.

Latecomers to the bazaar room found home cooking and apron booths looking like Mother Hubbard's cupboard. The fish pond was still operating but at low ebb, and miscellaneous articles and children's wear lasted just until the closing hour. Many of the articles on display had been donated by patients in the hospital and friends outside, and the rest were mostly made by the nurses. Cakes and other dainties had been brought in by friends and added to the tempting foodstuffs baked by the girls themselves.

Sale of the attractive aprons was handled by Miss I. Camelon and Miss R. Bushey, and home cooking was attended by Miss S. Curtis and Miss E. Watson. Miss D. Hanna was at the miscellaneous table and Miss B. Palmer sold knitted baby clothes. Fishermen were "caught" by Miss A. Townsend and Miss D. Seeney "loaded" their lines with odd "catches". General conveners of the bazaar tables were Miss E. Rosenburgh and Miss H. Wupori.

Soft pink in color and life-size is the cuddly hand-made lamb that went to Miss M. Renwick when Miss A. L. Thomson drew her ticket at the close of the bazaar. The raffle was conducted by Miss M. Hockaday and Miss M. Bulmer. Keeping an eye on proceedings from the mantelpiece, "Bambi" was just a decoration.

Posters in humorous vein that brought out the theme "Spring-

Receptionists at the bazaar were Miss C. Elliott and Miss K. Quirt. The tea room was arranged in the lower classroom where Miss M. Dancey received at the door.

Corsages of dainty sweet peas were presented to the tea pourers, Mrs. R. Williamson, Miss V. Heyes, Mrs. M. B. Pringle and Miss A. L. Thomson. They presided at a centre table on which tulips and daffodils were the springtime keynote, highlighted by yellow tapers. Lace mats were laid for each guest at small serving tables, where a lighted candle was the centrepiece. The refreshments were served by Misses N. Spring, J. Deyell, V. Fallis, I. Everson, J. Cavano, J. Werry, M. Dawson, M. Rogers, B. McGee, J. Metcalfe, W. Lobb and I. Bott, under convenership of Miss A. Bowler. Miss A. Woidnik supervised the replenishing of plates, and tea-making.

Soft recorded music was played during the tea hour by Miss M. Parks, using the radio-gramaphone recently received from the Hospital Auxiliary.

'If You Want To Be More Energetic, Active, Take Syntona,' She Says

Tells of Her Own Experience as Proof — Found Relief from Overtired, Listless Feeling. Appetite and Digestion Im? proved as She Began to Feel Better.

Whether you are 16 or 60 you may at times begin to feel overtired, listless and rundown. Digestion is impaired, appetite is lost, nerves on edge, and sleep is neither sound nor restful. In times like this, Syntona Herbal Compound has proved extremely helpful to thousands of men and women of all ages and usually after taking only a short treatment you are feeling like your old self again.

Here, for example, is the recent experience of Miss Doris Campbell, Komoka, Ontario, who said: "I'm certainly sold on Syntona, because I know how much better I feel since I've been taking it. Why, I used to be so tired and listless I didn't care whether I did anything or not. My appetite was poor and what food I did eat gave me indigestion. I became irritable and nervous and my sleep was not restful, so I felt awfully fatigued in the mornings.

"It almost seems impossible that a little medicine could make such a difference in anyone, but since I've been taking Syntona, I have a wonderful appetite and enjoy every meal with no indigestion at all. I am not tired, irritable, or nervous and I feel ever so much better right from the time I get up in the morning.

"I would say to anyone wanting to be more energetic and active, try Syntona. It is realy a fine medicine."

Syntonia is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store. (Advt.)

WMS Unique Sunbonnet Tea Fills George St. Tea Room

Sunbonnets were on parade Wednesday afternoon in a flower garden setting created in the tea rooms of George Street United Church. They becomingly framed the faces of WMS members in Mrs. Kerneghan's group and each wore a matching apron over her summer frock. Made up in all the bright shades, with a few in two-tone, the bonnets had full crowns gathered into wide stiffened brims with ribbons to tie under the chin, and the aprons were edged with small frills. Each member was wearing a pastel shaded crepe or cotton dress that either matched or contrasted the colors of her sunbonnet and apron.

Delicate pink was the shade of an Irish linen tablecloth with a design woven in silk threats, that made a most charming tea table setting.

For the centre spring flowers arranged in a china bowl were daffodils, cottage tulips, narcissus and stocks, and [illegible] figurines were wearing sunbonnets too. A most attractive note was added here in deep mauve candles that matched the hand-made bouquets of heliotrope mixed with springtime greenery gathered in the woods. Prettily decorated window boxes held potted African violets and corner baskets were filled with pussy-willow branches and yellow daffodils.

Home cooking was displayed in an auxiliary room decorated with giant-size spring garden flowers in vivid hues. Sunbonneted saleslades, Mrs. Lorne Richardson, Mrs. Robert Pierson and Miss M. Cooper were selling baking.

Mrs. Max Kerneghan, group leader, welcomed a host of guests during the tea hours, assisted by Mrs. E. Wand, president of the WA. Mrs. H. S. Powers presided at the treasurer's table. Hostesses in the tea room who served a very large crowd with quiet efficiency were Mrs. A. Fitzgerald, Mrs. [illegible] Jeffery, Mrs. [illegible] Cox, Mrs. [illegible] more, Mrs. G. Dormer and Mrs. F. Burnham. Mrs. A. Metheral was in charge of replenishing plates and Mrs. G. Wilson assisted.

DOROTHY DIX

Which Is More Important Mother or Housekeeper?

"I HAVE A PROBLEM that I do not know how to solve," writes a correspondent. It is whether it is more important that I should be a perfect housekeeper or a model mother.

"If Nature had made me a centipede and provided me with a hundred feet and an equal number of hands, I could keep a house that would be the envy of all the neighborhood, and rear children who were always clean and well-behaved and ate with their forks, and who were perfect examples of what youth should be.

Dorothy Dix

"Unfortunately, however, I am possessed of only two feet and two hands and no servants, and I find that no matter how hard I push them they are inadequate to their jobs, and that when I am taking a prize for my housekeeping my children are running wild, and that when I devote all of my time to my kids the house looks like a shambles.

"So what's to do when I am not ambidextrous in either body or mind, taking it from the point of view of what is best for the children as well as myself? For, as Mr. Cleveland justly remarked, it is a condition and not a theory that confronts me.

"Take these everyday happenings as examples: If I meticulously wash all the dishes after supper and put them in their proper places, I don't have to get up to an untidy house in the morning, but I will have had to skip reading a bedtime story to the youngsters, for which they clamor. Which would they like more to have—a well-kept house, or a mother who snitches a few moments to have fun with her kiddies, and maybe to whisper a little precept into Johnny's and Sally's ears as they fall asleep that will influence their conduct to the longest day they lived?

Home or Children

"But—and here comes in that awful problem of whether it is better to force children to walk the straight and narrow path, or to make it so attractive they want to do it of their own accord. If the house is messy, will the girls grow up to be good housekeepers, or slovens? If a boy isn't taught good manners in his childhood, will be ever get over being a roughneck? Yet how is a mother going to find time to polish up her rough diamonds when she has the cooking and washing and baby-tending and a million other chores to do?

"Most times I let the work go, but when I do I feel rotten about it. It seems such a little thing not to sing the baby to sleep, or not to sit up half the night making Mary a pretty dress, or not to help Tommy with his homework, or give Junior a birthday party like the one some other little boy had, even though I am so tired that I am ready to drop in my tracks, and even though I know I am giving my husband a raw deal by not being the kind of a housekeeper his mother was.

"But, unless a woman is just a born domestic genius and as strong as a horse, she cannot be both a model housewife and a model mother. When she attempts it her nerves crack under the strain, and she becomes cranky and irritable, and the children don't like that. Neither does her husband. So the question arises as to which is more important for a mother to be—a gay and understanding friend and companion to her children, or a crackerjack housekeeper who makes them a comfortable home?"

Who knows the answer to this question?

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, April 30

It is probable that intimate or strangely private matters may dictate, incite, or determine the general state of affairs and their manipulation and ultimate solution. In this, the mental aspects of underlying difficulties may not be depended upon, since confusion and complication abound, and as well the emotions may be wayward, erratic and liable to heighten commplexity and eccentricity. Postpone action until the vision be clearer and the impulses less demanding, as estrangement and sudden crashes are "in the air."

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves submerged in a sea of doubt, confusion, and complication of all sorts, since all ties, contacts and attachments seem to be "under a cloud."

This situation is largely incited by suspicion, riotous imagination, erratic and unrestained feelings and emotions. There is faint hope of a solution by any logical or studied rationalizing. Impulse and emotions being dominant, wild moves, intemperate and reckless behavior are forecast, with further prosect of strife, scandal, separations and estrangements. During such harrowing situation there might be found escape and solace in solitude and "lofty contemplation."

A child born on this day may require early discipline and training in restrained feelings and impulses, with all emotional demands or erratic urges submitted to be court of reason.

WMS Planning Spring Tea, Sale

BETHANY, April 29 (ENS).—Mrs. Clarence Rowan was hostess for the April meeting of the Women's Missionary Society on Wednesday evening, with Mrs. (Rev.) Henderson presiding. The treasurer, Mrs. Jackson reported that the Easter Thankoffering had amounted to $20.40. A letter was read from Mrs. Henry Jakeman thanking the ladies for flowers sent during her stay in hospital, also a letter from Frances Bonwick advising that the motion picture slides, "The Bible For All The World" would be available for the annual Spring Tea and sale of home baking which will be held in the Sunday School room, May 6. Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Henderson and Mrs. Waddell were appointed a committee to make further arrangements for this event. The WMS wil have charge of the evening church service on May 9, and it was decided to use the regular Mother's Day program with the Junior School Choir to provide the special Mother's Day music. Mrs. Waddell read the report of the Bay of Quinte WMS executive meeting held in Cambridge St. Church, Lindsay. Mrs. Rowan gave some suggestions on Christian Stewardship and Mrs. Jackson told about some of the missionary work being accomplished in Korea. Reading from the Study Book was in charge of Mrs. Henderson. Donations of $4 and a collection of $1.50 was received, after which refreshments were served by the hostess.

6—In Memoriam

JAMES—In loving memory of a dear mother, Mrs. John James, who passed away 17 years ago April 29.

Mother has gone across the river
To the shore of ever green
And I long to see her dear face
But the river flows between
Nothing but memory as I journey on
Longing for a smile from a mother who has gone
God knows how much I miss her
Never shall her memory fade
Loving thoughts shall always wander
To the spot where she is laid.

—Sadly missed by daughter, Mrs. W. Wilson.

Supreme Court of Canada Allows Shook Appeal

The Supreme Court of Canada has handed down a judgment allowing the appeal, with costs, of the plaintiff Kenneth Shook, executor of Mrs. Sarah Catherine Shook, and reinstating the judgment of the Hon Mr. Justice D. P. Kelly which the Appeal Court of Ontario had reversed.

The matter arose when on June 17, 1944, Gordon H. Munro and Laura Jane Davidson, executors of the estate of Charlotte Dickson, deceased, through their solicitor the late James F. Strickland, K.C., obtained a distress order in landlord and tenant proceedings against Kenneth Shook and in executing same had the sheriff enter upon No 176 McDonnel St., Peterborough, the premises of the late Sarah Shook of whose will her son Kenneth Shook was executor, and removed all the household goods and furniture and placed them on the street in front of the house where they remained until late that night when they were removed by Kenneth Shook. The Sheriff in executing the warrant locked the house which has been shut against the Shook Estate and has remained vacant since June 17, 1944.

Kenneth Shook commenced action against the Dickson estate for damages to property and trespass.

The defendants in explanation of their acts claimed their right so to do by virtue of a mortgage given by Mrs. Shook on July 17, 1923 to the three sisters, Mary A. Hazlitt, Charlotte Dickson and Martha Dickson (all now deceased) to secure a loan of $4,000.00. From July 17 to the date of the distress and seizure all parties agreed that neither Sarah Shook nor Kenneth Shook her executor paid any interest or principal on account of the mortgage. It had in effect been provided in the wills of both Charlotte and Martha Dickson that no effort should be made to collect the money or bring pressure to bear on Sarah Shook for payment during her life. She died on October 8, 1943.

Kenneth Shook replied to this claim of right by saying that since nothing had been paid on the mortgage nor any acknowledgment of the debt in writing by his mother within ten years after the mortgage became due the mortgage was void and therefore under the laws of limitation of actions all rights under the mortgage no longer existed.

While waiting for trial another difficulty arose. The taxes had not been paid and in fact the arrears had accumulated in the amount of several hundred dollars. The city had taken proceedings and sold the property for arrears of taxes and on the last day to redeem Kenneth Shook left a cheque with the tax collector for the amount required. On that day it was questioned whether the cheque would be honored on presentation since it was then after banking hours. On the following day the cheque was returned to Shook without having been presented to the bank and he was advised that he had lost his rights to redeem. A law suit resulted in which at the trial the Hon. Mr. Justice Plaxton found that the payment was good and the sale set aside and the city was ordered to pay the costs of the action.

The trial on the trespass and damage action was heard by the Hon. Mr. Justice Kelly and judgment was handed down March 20, 1946, in which he found that the mortgage was void and that Gordon H. Munro and Laura Jane Davidson were wrongly in possession of the premises and had illegally and wrongfully damaged the goods and property of Sarah Shook to the extent of $500.00 which they were ordered to pay, they were to vacate the premises and pay the costs of the action.

They appealed against this judgment and the Appeal Court of Ontario divided on their reasons for judgment. Messrs. Justice Henderson and Hope agreed in favor of allowing the appeal and the third Justice the Hon. Mr. Justice Hogg wrote a dissenting judgment. The majority of the Court rules and so the judgment of Justice Kelly was set aside.

Kenneth Shook then appealed to the Supreme Court of Canada and the appeal was heard in Ottawa November 27, 1947, by a court of seven justices and the judgment was handed down on Tuesday, reversing the judgment of the Appeal Court of Ontario and reinstating the judgment of Mr. Justice Kelly with costs to be paid by the Charlotte Dickson estate. So the property returns to the Shook estate with the mortgage declared void.

W. J. Arthur Fair acted for the Shook interests and the late J. F. Strickland, K.C., and John C. N. Currelly, his successor, have acted with G. T. Walsh, K.C., of Toronto for the Dickson estate.

Palestine War Last For Years Experts Believe

LONDON, April 29.— (Reuters).—Military experts here who have studied the prospects of all-out war between Jews and Arabs in Palestine believe it would possibly last for years unless the United Nations eventually step in with a workable plan —or sufficient force—to end it.

Strategists forecast that the war —if it comes—will be pointed with few major battles unless the Jews, knowing it would be to their advantage, could force the Arabs to stand still.

It is thought the Arabs, with vast stretches of territory behind them in which they can come and go at will, would employ the elusive guerilla tactics in which they are adept. Treating Palestine as a fortress to be beleaguered, they would depend on the strategy to wear out the nerves if not the resources of the Jews over a long period.

The long line of desert communications the Arabs would have to maintain would place them at a considerable disadvantage in pitched battles, however.

Can't Match Jews

General opinion among military men here is that an Arab army could not, at least in the early stages, match the Jews in training and battle experience despite a strong backbone of well-drilled regulars from Trans-Jordan, Iraq and Egypt.

The armies and gendarmeries of Egypt, Iraq, Trans-Jordan, Syria and the Lebannon are thought to total about 120,000 men, but probably only a portion of these could be sent to Palestine.

Jewish strategy now is becoming plain.

Their first target is to seize the three big ports of Palestine—Haifa, Jaffa and Acre—in the hope of receiving equipment and reinforcements from overseas.

Command of the roads linking Palestine's biggest towns—the highway from Tel Aviv to Ramleh and the airport of Lydda, and the road from Ramleh to Jerusalem —also is an early objective.

Jews here believe that with new strength constantly pouring in from overseas their well-trained Hagana and Irgun Zvai Leumi forces said to number about 100,000 will be able to beat off any Arab assaults, however unexpected.

Combine cocoa, sugar, salt. Add milk and corn syrup; then add butter. Cook over low heat until mixture boils, stirring constantly. Continue boiling, without stirring, until a small amount forms a very soft ball in cold water (232 deg. F.). Remove from heat. Add vanilla. Beat until mixture begins to thicken and loses its gloss. Turn at once into greased pan 8 x 4 inches. When cold, cut in squares. Makes 18 pieces.

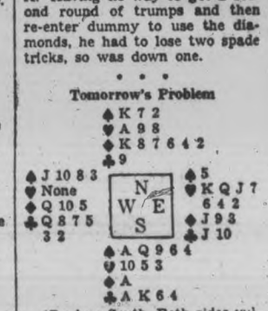
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

PRINCIPLES IN REVERSE

PRACTICALLY every rule and guide to sound tactics in this funny game should be reversed in certain unusual situations. Perhaps the firmest of rules about leading is that which warns a sound defender away from opening the suit bid by the eventual dummy. The reason is definite. Leading that suit is likely to help the declarer get discards of losers in his other suits before the defenders pick them off. But if that suit is marked as being tremendous in length and solidity, a lead of it may break contact between the declarer and dummy before he can get the trumps out. If it does that, the low-card remainders of it may go to waste.

(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
1 ♣	4 ♥	4 ♠	5 ♦
Dbl.	5 ♥	Pass	Pass
Dbl.



This hand was bid a number of different ways in a big duplicate. That in the sequence above developed at two tables, the contract being made in one case and beaten in the other. The opening lead decided the outcome.

At one table West laid down his spade A and, getting the 2 from his partner, switched to the club 10. South ruffed that, pushed out the heart A with the K and then cared not what East returned. He could win it, pull out trumps and so just walk home with a solid hand.

In the other case, West led his diamond 9, feeling that the earlier double of 5-Diamonds by East indicated the desirability of his leading that suit. It did no such thing, but surprisingly the diamond lead put the blocks to South's contract. South won that with his 10, used his heart K to remove the A and took the returned diamond 5 with dummy's A. Having no way to get a second round of trumps and then re-enter dummy to use the diamonds, he had to lose two spade tricks, so was down one.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

If East had made a heart overcall, West had doubled a club bid, and West doubles ultimate 6-Spades and leads the club 5, how should South play?

Oshawa Teachers Given $100 Raise

OSHAWA, April 29.—Board of Education this week approved a report of the management committee recommending that "the maximum salary for all teachers be raised $100 per year in effect September 1, 1948; the annual increment for 1948-49 only will be $200 instead of $100."

This, in effect, means that teachers will automatically get a $100 increase on September 1 with another $100 "unscheduled" increase.

The report was made by the management committee following a proposal for salary adjustments submitted by the Oshawa Teachers' Council at a meeting with the board on April 19. The teachers had requested a raise in the maximum of $100 for all teachers, and a $300 increment for all teachers for the year 1948-49. The local still prefer the $200 annual increment for all teachers.

MARMORA, April 29—(ENS)—Rev. E. M. Cadigan, pastor of St. Andrew's United Church for the past four years, announced to the congregation on Sunday morning that he had accepted the invitation to become pastor of Kingsway United Church, Ottawa.

In his pastorate here, Rev. E. M. Import System Abolished; Failed To Work

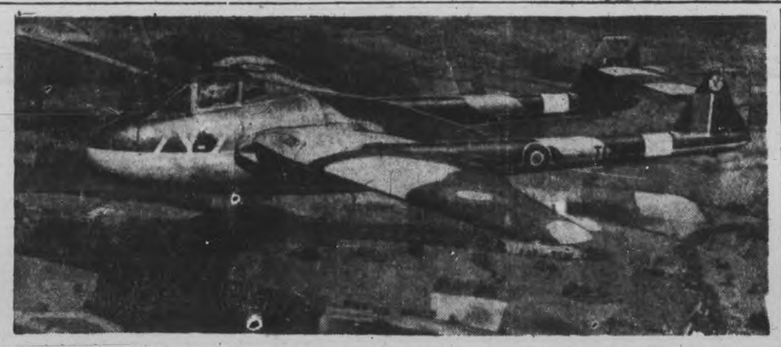
PARIS, April 29—The French Government has just taken an important decision to abolish the system of so-called imports without payment. By virtue of a notice issued Feb. 13, the Government had accorded to French holders of capital concealed abroad the right to repatriate this capital in the form of goods.

The measure sought to procure for France some supplementary imports without having to disburse foreign exchange held by the state.

It was because they were made through use of private funds and consequently without affecting holdings of the French Exchange Office that these imports were described as being "without payment."



Another object of the measure was to bring back to France capital held abroad and thus contribute to the success of the policy adopted by Rene Mayer, finance minister, with a view to restoring confidence in the franc.

The system failed to work well. After a short time it gave rise to black market operations in foreign exchange, principally in dollars. Importers purchased foreign exchange at high prices in France, in which case they smuggled the funds abroad, or else from persons living in France but who possessed holdings abroad. With this exchange they imported goods that they resold here on the black market. This was done especially with chocolate and sugar. As a result of this speculation the dollar rose ten days ago to 390 francs on the black market.

To put an end to this the Government announced its decision to abolish the system of imports without payment. The decision was not well received in business circles. They say that system as it operated was not entirely bad. Although there was some trouble with regard to chocolate and sugar there also were some advantages in the matter of imports of cotton goods, tires, office equipment and automobiles. It would have been better, in the opinion of these business circles, to abolish the system as regards to those products in which it increased black market deals.

Fireman Dies In Cochrane Derailment

Say Passengers Flee Burning Coaches; All Escape Injury

COCHRANE, April 30 —(CP)— Fireman Ernest Eaton of Cochrane was burned to death and five other persons injured in two derailments last night between Senneterre, Ont., and Cochrane on the Canadian National Railway east of here.

The first derailment was about 8:10 p.m. at Senneterre. A freight train was involved and no one was injured. The railway was blocked when the No. 11 passenger train from Quebec City to Cochrane arrived.

In order to get passengers from the freight derailment to Cochrane, a train was made up there and sent out to the other side of the freight train.

Passengers from the No. 11 were picked up in the special train and were 50 miles east of Cochrane when the engine was derailed, turned partially on its side and burst into flames.

Passengers Escape

All passengers were able to escape from the coaches before they caught fire. But three passengers were bruised They did not require hospital treatment.

Engineer W. T. Quirt of Cochrane was taken to hospital with several broken ribs and bruises. He was able to crawl from the overturned engine cab.

Brakeman John Eaton suffered severe burns to his face and hands but his condition is not considered serious.

The special train was made up of two passengers coaches and a caboose as well as the engine. One coach was empty used as a buffer between the engine and other coach.

There was an explosion after the engine turned over, believed caused by gas pressure.

The fireman was severely burned by the fire and escaping steam. He was dead when removed from the cab of the engine after the steam died down.

Detective's Testimony Brings Downfall Of Fellow Workers

TORONTO, April 30 — (CP), — Further disciplinary action may be taken by police commissioners who yesterday dismissed three officers, found guilty of beating a prisoner.

A police official said today that other officers may be demoted as a result of brutality charges laid by Detective William French.

Detective William French is said to have formally requested that the matter of beating Norman Jack Wilkins be reported to headquarters, but this was not done.

Earlier, Wilkins' counsel said civil action would taken against the three officers.

Wilkins is still in jail here and no decision has been made when he will be returned to Burwash prison where he is serving a term for armed robbery.

Other developments are pending in the series of events which started nearly five weeks ago with the accusation by Jean Poitras, former Ottawa area laborer, that "Toronto's finest" beat him and kicked out three of his teeth. Poitras has brought a damage action against two officers who were cleared by the police commission.

Judgment has been reserved until May 7 in the case of Constable John Trimble, tried in police court yesterday on a charge of assaulting William J. Abraham and breaking Abraham's jaw. Abraham claimed he was beaten, threatened, knocked off a chair twice and had his jaw broken while under arrest for causing a disturbance outside a dance hall.

Two more special meetings of the police commission have been ordered to clear up two other irregularities reported by Detective William French. Charges by French brought about yesterday's commission inquiry which resulted in the dismissal of Det.-Sgt. Frank Cradduck, Detective Robert McCandless and Constable Douglas Stephens and the indefinite suspension of Inspector George Crawford.

Unjustifiable Assault

The police commissioners found Cradduck, McCandless and Stephens guilty of "unjustifiable assault" in the beating of Norman INSPECTOR

Flood Damage Million

REGINA, April 30—(CP). — Flood damage to Saskatchewan highways was estimated at nearly $1,000,000 today by Highways Minister J. T. Douglas. "Road grades have been eroded, gravel washed away and literally dozens of bridges washed out or severely damaged," Mr. Douglas said in a statement.

Will Set Up German Gov't During 1948

LONDON, April 30 (CP)—Diplomats reported today the United States and the five countries of the Western European Alliance have agreed to set up a Western German government this year. It would have broad control powers over domestic affairs.

Defence ministers of the alliance—Great Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg—today started planning their action together should war hit the split continent. British government sources said their secret agenda was based on the assumption of substantial support soon from the United States.

The plan for western Germany was reported tentative. Diplomats said a two-branch congress would be established by Sept. 1 to take over law making.

This would be followed by a assumption of authority over internal affairs within western Germany The occupation powers, Britain, the United States and France, would retain supervision over German foreign policy, exports and imports, the informants said.

Informed quarters said that in general terms, the defence ministers here will discuss standardization of arms, development of a network of air bases with common equipment, fixed quotas for training and maintaining a defence force, and the creation of a high command to blueprint defensive action.

The five countries signed a 50-year military, political and economic treaty in Brussels March 17. The meeting here is the first on military co-operation. Financial and economic problems already have been discussed.

Hagana Isolates Jaffa Makes 2-Pronged Attack Near Southern Jerusalem

Jaffa-Tel Aviv Truce Talks Carried On Under Guarding British Guns; Ask For Truce To Move Out Arab Dead

JERUSALEM, April 30—(AP).—Hagana virtually isolated the Arab port of Jaffa today, and threw a two-pronged attack at Arab positions in the strategic Katamon quarter dominating the southern part of Jerusalem. Hagana captured Salama, toughest Arab stronghold village in the ring of Jaffa's outer defences. A Hagana force said a number of foreign Arabs, mostly Syrians, were captured.

The Hagana fighters swept into the town during the night, cutting the Jaffa-Lydda road. The operation left only the main Ramle road open into Jaffa, and that passes through a belt of Jewish guns. British forces keep it open.

(Reuters News Agency said Hagana forces claimed in a broadcast to have blown up the Jerusalem-Jericho road, cutting off road communications between Jerusalem and Trans-Jordan.)

Meanwhile, Jaffa - Tel Aviv truce talks began under guarding British guns.

Take Strongholds

In Jerusalem, Jewish sources said Hagana captured a number of Arab strongholds in the Katamon assault with a loss of two dead and 25 wounded. Arab casualties were not known, but British sources said the Arabs asked for a truce to permit them to bring out their dead and wounded.

Near-isolation of Jaffa and the capture of the Manshieh border zone of the city by Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground organization, brought rumors that the truce talks might end in virtual surrender of the Arab port under conditions of mutual non-aggression.

British troops stood between Jewish Irgun and the Arab forces as the talks started. RAF Spitfire fighters circled the battered border zone between Jaffa and Tel Aviv.

If the British forces leave Jaffa at the end of their mandate May 15, Jaffa would be left cut off from all but the sea and with its defence line pierced and its defenders outnumbered.

The area was quiet during the night under the temporary cease fire order arranged by the British authorities. A Jewish delegation to the truce talks was headed by Amos Ben-Gurion, son of Jewish agency chairman, David Ben-Gurion.

Jewish sources said Hagana captured a number of Arab strongpoints on the southern outskirts of Jerusalem, where the chatter of small arms and explosions of mortars and mines were heard from midnight until morning. Private sources said two Jews were killed and 15 wounded. No report was available on Arab losses.

Potato Rationing Ends In Britain Strachey Orders

LONDON, April 30.—(CP). — Potato rationing will end in Britain at midnight tonight, Food Minister John Strachey announced today. Householders hoped bread also will soon be taken off the ration, but food authorities said they must be patient.

Potato rationing was imposed last November on the basis of three rounds a person each week.

Strachey warned at a press conference that he could not guarantee that potato rationing would not be reintroduced. It had been possible to end the rationing because of the unusually early season of the new English crop, because consumption had been well kept down and because of imports.

If there were another drought and crop failure like that which made potato rationing necessary last year, Strachey said, then the controls might be reimposed.

He was asked if ERP assistance would permit import of North American products like dried fruits which have not been counted among essential purchases in the dollar area.

"Top priority in dollar food purchases must be given to supplies like Canadian wheat and bacon," the food minister replied.

He indicated that only after supplies of essential foods were assured could additional purchases be considered.

Labor Retains Seat With Lower Majority

LONDON, April 30 (Reuters). —Labor retained Southwark Central in yesterday's by-election with a slightly reduced majority.

Roy Jenkins, 28, was elected in the Labor stronghold with a majority of 4,121 votes over his Conservative opponent James Greenwood. Results were announced to-day.

Jenkins received 8,744 votes and Greenwood 4,623.

At the general election of 1945 the Labor candidate, J. H. Martin, polled 9,336 votes, a majority of 5,682 over Sqdn. Ldr. W. A. Steward, Conservative.

Pan-American Nations Sign Security Pact

BOGOTA, Colombia, April 30. —(AP).—The ninth Pan-American conference, which survived a bloody revolution, comes to a close today with the signing of a 21-power pact pledging united efforts toward Western Hemisphere peace and security.

Resolutions against international Communism and foreign colonies in the Americas also will be signed at the formal closing ceremony at 4 p.m. EST in the historic residence of Simon Bolivar, South American liberator.

Most delegates agreed that the results of the month-long conference were satisfactory. Canada, while taking an interest in the discussions, is not a member of the union.

Eduardo Zuleta Angel of Colombia, conference president, declared the results "surpassed our fondest hopes."

William D. Pawley, United States delegate, told reporters: "I will be glad to challenge anyone who attempts to define this Bogota conference as anything but a magnificent success and a great achievement in the spirit of American solidarity."

The new 5,000-word treaty creating new Organization of American States contains --2 articles. They define the principles of Pan-Americanism, the rights and duties of the member states, and provide for united action against aggression against any one state.

Freighter Runs Down Ship Five Men Believed Lost

HALIFAX, April 30—(CP).—Death loomed out of the fog-bound Atlantic last night for five crew members of the Newfoundland motorship Administratrix. Those missing and presumed lost were Capt. Chesley, Forsey, Nfld., Chief Engineer George Welch, Second Engineer Archie Rose, and Seamen Harvey Keating and Robert Lee, all of Grand Bank, Nfld.

The 120-ton vessel was cut down by the 3,805-ton Norwegian freighter Lovdal off Cape Race, the southeastern tip of Newfoundland. As the tiny craft went to the bottom the Lovdal rescued the two other members of the seven-man crew. They were Mate George Barnes and Cook Charles Fizard, both believed to be Newfoundlanders.

The Lovdal signalled marine radio station here that she was continuing the search for the missing men. There was slight chance, however, that the men had survived the collision and were presumed lost.

This terse message from the Lovdal told the grim story: "Searching in vain for survivors. Still moving through debris. Using searchlights. Darkness and dense fog."

The Norwegian waited for dawn for further search. It was probable that all she would see would be a few bits of wreckage—a life preserver, a food crate or a splintered lifeboat.

It was the first fatal accident of the North Atlantic shipping lanes since the British merchantman Langleecrag piled aground Nov. 15 on Great Sacred Island at the northern tip of Newfoundland. Two men were lost.

Fly Sandbags To Aid Prairies

WINNIPEG, April 30.—(CP).— Eastern Canada came to the assistance of the flood-buffeted Prairies today by providing thousands of sandbags for the construction of dykes. The floods have taken 15 lives since they first reached the serious stage nearly two weeks ago.

Two Royal Canadian Air Force planes landed here in the early morning darkness, carrying approximately 44,000 empty sand bags rounded up by the army in Montreal. Army spokesmen there said a third plane might leave with additional bags this morning, weather permitting.

Some of the sandbags are to be distributed in Saskatchewan, where floods have created a serious situation at the Qu'Appelle River village of Lumsden near Regina and the northeastern town of Kamsack near the Manitoba border.

At Lumsden, with its 500 population, flood waters threw a terrific strain on a make-shift dyke. Level of the water was within seven inches of the top of the dyke after a 16-inch rise in 24 hours.

An odd chance almost resulted in Lumsden disappearing under eight feet of water. Officials disclosed that a muskrat had gnawed a hole in a dam. Engineers noticed the break just in time and the necessary repairs were made.

Pre-May Day Riot Smashed In Trieste

TRIESTE, April 30.—(AP). — Civilian police used pistols and fire hoses last night to break up a pre-May Day Communist demonstration in the heart of Trieste.

Several hundred Communists massed to protest an Allied military government order that pro-Yugoslav and pro-Italian groups confine their May Day celebrations to their own sectors. The Communists want to celebrate in the city's main square.

Police moved into action, firing over the crowd, then soaking it down with fire hoses. Motorcycle patrols were busy breaking up little knots of demonstrators more than an hour after the first disturbance.

The Allied military government all but sealed off the British-American zone as a precaution against threatened Communist May Day disorders.

Soft Coal Terms To Be Discussed

WASHINGTON, April 30 (CP). —John L. Lewis today asked United States soft coal operators to meet with him May 18 to negotiate a new contract.

The United Mine Workers' present contract expires June 30.

Lewis, UMW chief, said in letters to all coal companies and associations which had signed the current agreement last July that he is ready to start negotiations in Washington May 18.

He said the meeting would be "for the purpose of negotiating a successor contract" to the present one.

The letter was labelled "notice" and was dated today.

Russians May Enforce Harsher Rail Ban

BERLIN, April 30.—(AP). — The Russians hinted today they may enforce even harsher restrictions on rail traffic between Germany's eastern and western occupation zones.

Maj.-Gen. P. Kwaschnin, Soviet transportation chief, was quoted in Taegliche Rundschau, Soviet military newspaper:

"The possibility of making more precise certain technical details in connection with traffic through the Soviet zone in the future is not excluded. For example, it would appear useful to make more exact the concept of 'military freight' as well as the question of train personnel travelling to Berlin, and to revise certain points on the exchange of freight cars at the demarcation line on the Soviet zone."

Labor Party Demands Troops Out By May 30

LONDON, April 30.—(AP). — Nine Labor party members began a move in Parliament today to speed withdrawal of British troops from Palestine so that "no man shall remain after May 30."

The government's time-table calls for surrender of the League of Nations mandate in Palestine May 15 and withdrawal of troops to be completed by Aug. 1.

The Labor party motion, reflecting increased concern here over the strife in the Holy Land and public unwillingness to sacrifice more British lives, demanded the disposal of all government stores and material in Palestine "as soon as possible."

USE MINE DETECTOR

KINGSTON, April 30—(CP)— Officials were using an army mine detector today as they neared the end of the greatest search for weapons ever conducted at Kingston Penitentiary.

Pork Gets Go-By

—OTTAWA, April 30—(CP). —Consumers have switched from pork to beef as the result of last January's increase in pork prices, L. W. Pearsall, meat board chairman, told the Commons price committee today. But the "unprecedented" sharp increase resulting from the new pork contract with Britain had driven Canadian consumers from that product.

Labor Shortage Equals 1947

OTTAWA, April 30 —(CP). — With agriculture and the construction industry swinging into a seasonally active period, the labor department today forecast labor shortages this summer "at least as great as those which occurred in 1947."

The department's monthly manpower analysis found marked improvement in employment conditions during the month ended April 15, with about 15,000 fewer workers looking for jobs than a month previously.

There were 184,000 unplaced applicants registered at employment service officers, including 140,000 men and 44,000 women. Against this, there were 43,000 unfilled vacancies at the latest date—9,000 more than at March 18.

While there are still more workers looking for jobs than a year ago, the month under review saw the difference narrowing considerable. At March 18 there were 13,000 more persons applying for jobs than at the same time last year, while the figure had dropped to 9,000 by April 15.

Canadians Seek Island Shelter From Atom Bomb

SYDNEY, Australia, April 30 —(CP). — A leader of a group of Canadians seeking a South Seas island shelter from atomic bombs arrived by air yesterday from Vancouver.

He is Terence Jacobs, 23-year-old merchant navy radio operator from Ontario, and he is here to buy a 60-foot schooner capable of holding 15 persons.

Jacobs told a reporter that he and the 14 other men and women would begin searching for an island on which to found a colony "somewhere in the South Seas." He said they believed atomic bomb effects would be so devastating that only a small island would be safe from their blast.

He said he became interested in the proposed colony after talks with Mark Price, 23, of Sydney, aboard the freighter Cliffside six months ago. He and Price talked it over and later Price put an advertisement in a Vancouver paper to see if anyone wanted to come along.

"He got 60 replies and will select 13 persons, preferably single men and women from among them when he returns from England next August," Jacobs said.

"Then, he will join me here at Sydney. Those selected will put in an equal amount of money to buy the schooner and get the colony started."

Subsidize Cotton

LONDON, April 30—(Reuters).—The Commons today finally approved a Government scheme to subsidize to the extent of £12,000,000 ($48,000,000) the modernization and re-equipment of the British cotton spinning industry. To encourage amalgamation of small units, a grant of one-quarter of the cost of new machinery will be made to groups with at least 400,000 spindles.

Robertson Davies' Play Only One To Qualify For Sir Barry Jackson Drama Award

OTTAWA, April 30. —(CP).— Only one play, "Eros at Breakfast," by Robertson Davies of Peterborough, will qualify for the Sir Barry Jackson award in this year's Dominion Drama Festival, Charles Rittenhouse of Montreal said today.

Mr. Rittenhouse, who is one of the DDF governors, said that the play, "John Doe," which has been publicized as the work of a Canadian, does not qualify for the trophy given the best Canadian-written presentation of the festival.

The one-act play was presented Wednesday by Winnipeg's University of Manitoba Dramatic Society. It was written by Bernard Dryer, with whom Mr. Rittenhouse was a student at Yale University The latter said he and Donald Haldane, of Edmonton, were in the original production of "John Doe," at Yale. When Mr. Haldane returned to Canada he produced the play in Alberta and later had it published Evidently that was the way the impression got around that it was a Canadian play.

Ottawa Drama League Workshop will present "Eros at Breakfast" at tomorrow's matinee. The one-act play was winner of the Workshop's national playwriting contest a year ago.

TOWEL LEFT INSIDE HIS STOMACH—We have had stories "Inside Europe" and "Inside Asia," but the story of "Inside Jefferson" has 'em all stopped. The Jefferson is Arthur K. who is holding a towel bearing the brand of the medical department, U.S. Army, which he avers was left in his stomach by army surgeons after an operation in an army hospital. The veteran is suing the U.S. government for $100,000 for the oversight. The towel was removed from Jefferson's stomach in an operation at Johns Hopkins hospital in 1946.

Sees Union Of Free Nations In Security League Bulwark Against Reds

St. Laurent Says Canada Must Be Prepared To Avoid Indifference; Such Defensive Group Peace Guarantee

OTTAWA, April 30—(CP).—Canada looks to union of free nations as the best bulwark against war and against Communist expansion. External Affairs Minister St. Laurent, warning of the dangers of "aggressive Communist despotism," said Canada is ready to join "any collective security league" which the free states of the world may form to ward off war and to stop the advance of Communism.

John Hackett (PC—Stanstead), External Affairs spokesman for the Progressive Conservative party, said Canada should have armaments and allies. But he warned that in international affairs she should be "extremely careful lest we be imposed upon."

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, said his party believes the first principle of Canadian foreign policy should be active support of the United Nations and its specialized agencies.

Leading off the foreign affairs debate, Mr. St. Laurent said free states may soon find it necessary to consider how best to establish a collective security league.

Collective Security

Without acrificing the universality of the United Nations, it is possible for free nations to form their own closer association for collective self-defence under the charter of the United Nations, he said.

Purpose of the security league would be to "create a dynamic counter-attraction to Communism — the dynamic counter-attraction of a free, prosperous and progressive society as opposed to the totalitarian and reactionary society of the Communist world."

"The formation of such a defensive group . . . would not mean that we regarded a third world war as inevitable; but that the free democracies had decided that, to prevent such a war, they would organize so as to confront the forces of Communist expansionism with an overwhelming preponderance of moral, economic and military force."

The security league would see to it that there was sufficient unity to prevent the free nations from being defeated one by one.

"No measure less than this will do," he said.

Face Facts

"Our foreign policy today must, I suggest, be based on a recognition of the fact that totalitarian Communist aggression endangers the freedom and peace of every democratic country, including Canada.

"For us there is no escape, even if we wished to seek one, in isolation or indifference.

Mr. St. Laurent also made these statements:

1. Almost every international event now is of interest—"often of direct and immediate interest" — to Canada.

2. The ranks of the democratic peoples must not be divided.

3. No regime in Europe or elsewhere has the right to assistance merely because it proclaims itself the only barrier to Communism. It must show that it can act to meet Communism.

4. Canada feels that a Japanese peace settlement can be prepared only in a broadly-representative conference.

5. Canada continues to "insist" upon the right of effective participation in any general German peace settlement.

6. There is no threat to "the control of our own affairs" in joint Canadian-American defence arrangements.

7. The U.N. should not attempt to undertake administrative responsibilities and police avtivities around the world until it has been given the means.

8. Canada's dollar reserves still are "far too low" to allow her to contribute "further substantial direct financial assistance" to western Europe.

9. Canada, before expressing judgment, will await "some clear indication" that the Palestine proposals now before the United Nations can and will be given effect.

This, he said, was Canada's position in the United Nations:

"In the first place, we shall not encourage or foster any activity which at this moment might provide any state with a legitimate—I emphasize the word 'legitimate'—"excuse to withdraw from the United Nations.

"On the other hand, we shall not refrain from action which we know to be right merely because it displeases certain other members of the United Nations."

Inspector

J. Wilkins, 42, last Dec. 22 following Wilkins' arrest. Wilkins spent nine days in hospital, where he was treated for a fractured rib, a broken breast bone and other injuries.

Inspector Crawford was found guilty of "neglect" in not reporting the beating to a superior officer.

A plea for confidence in the Toronto force was issued after the hearing by senior magistrate R. J. Browne, a commission member. He said the police carried out "difficult and trying" duties in protecting the lives and property of citizens.

Drinking Whiskey

It was the testimony of Detective French which provided the main facts on which the board acted. The slightly built officer, pictured by other witnesses as a man "nobody likes to work with," gave a detailed account of what he saw and heard in the late afternoon of Dec. 22. He told of seeing Cradduck in his office pouring whiskey from one bottle into a smaller one; of seeing Cradduck, McCandless and Stephens kicking Wilkins, swearing at the prisoner, and abusing him.

French said Wilkins was pushed down a flight of stairs. Cradduck and the other defendants said the man slipped while feigning intoxication. They denied laying a hand in violence on the prisoner and they attributed his injuries to the fall. Cradduck denied the liquor episode and, when asked why French should say such a thing, he shrugged his broad shoulders.

When the hearing concluded and before the decision was announced, French stood by himself in the small ante-room. He was ignored by his fellow officers. No one spoke to him.

He was the loneliest man at headquarters yesterday. Later, when he heard the board's verdict, Det. French explained: "I feel I was doing my public duty. That sort of thing cannot continue in the police department. I never saw a more brutal assault. As I told the commission, I have no malice in my heart toward the officers who have been dismissed and suspended. But, believe me, when I take that Bible in my hand, an oath to me means something."

Describes Beating

Norman Wilkins, a convicted criminal with a record dating back to May, 1932, was brought from Burwash reformatory to testify. Wilkins said he was punched and kicked, grabbed by the hair and stood up against a wall while the detectives smashed at him, and thrown down a flight of stairs. He said he repeatedly told the detectives that he did not know anything about a gun he was supposed to have used in holding up a second-hand store at 183 Queen St. E.

'McCandless told me: 'Don't tell me that, you lying . . .' and then he hauled off and hit me," Wilkins said. "Then Cradduck came in and they both went at me."

Becoming excited as he recalled the events at the police station Wilkins jumped up several times from his chair to illustrate what had happened. He credited Det. French wtih bringing about his removal to hospital after he had been placed in a cell.

There is no appeal against the decision of the board but one course open to the dismissed men is to apply to the supreme court for an injunction restraining the board from firing them. This would bring on a legal action, with the board in the role of defendant.

POLES VISIT YMCA

Polish war veterans, now working on local farms, visited the YMCA on Thursday evening, which marked the close of English classes they have been attending at the Collegiate held once a week by Don Crawford. Before visiting the YMCA, where they bowled and swam, they spent a few minutes at the Armouries and were extremely interested in the heavy anti-aircraft guns there. The classes, which began last November, are ending as the men are now busy with spring work on the land.

Predict Cut In U.S. Meat Production Soon

CHICAGO, April 20.—(AP). — Empty cattle lots dot the mid-western landscape today, a ghostly reminder of last summer's short corn crop. They provide a sad warning to Americans who like to eat meat.

Market analysts said today the empty feed lots mean a tremendous reduction in meat production, starting in about 30 days.

At this time of year, mid-western farms normally are jammed with cattle undergoing a grain diet prior to being shipped to market. It's that grain, mostly corn, which puts weight on the animals to provide tasty meat. But it isn't that way this year.

H. J. Gramlich, agricultural agent of the Chicago and North Western Railway, said 'many cattle feeders have temporarily folded up."

Mark Pickell, secretary of the Corn Belt Livestock Feeders Association, was equally pessimistic.

However, Arthur Large, agricultural agent on the Rock Island Lines, said there was a substantial decrease in cattle on feed but added, 'I do not consider it alarming."

Large said cattle numbers run in cycles. "We are now on the downside of the cycle and it will no doubt run its course before it starts up again. The drop in the 1947 corn crop accentuated the downside of the cattle cycle."

H. M. Conway, market analyst for the National Livestock Producers Association, said, "cattle feeders are not refilling their feed lots. They are putting in about 50 per cent of the number which went in last year. It means a tremendous reduction in meat production starting in about 30 days."

Predict 30,000 Arab Regulars To Attack Soon

AMMAN, Trans-Jordan, April 30 — (AP). — Official Trans-Jordan sources predict Arab states will send at least 30,000 regular troops to Palestine before May 15, when Britain gives up rule over the Holy Land and its embattled Arabs and Jews.

These sources said yesterday Trans-Jordan's King Abdullah will be titular commander-in-chief of forces from Trans-Jordan, Iraq, Egypt, Syria and Lebanon, each under its own national leader and represented on a supreme military council based here in Abdullah's capital.

(Jewish sources estimate the Jews' strength in Palestine, actual or potential, at 60,000 to 70,000 in the Jewish Agency's Hagana, 2,000 to 5,000 in Irgun Zvai Leumi and 5000 to 2,000 in the Stern group)

Trans-Jordan government quarters said that of the five Arab states, Trans-Jordan, Iraq and Egypt will supply 90 per cent of the invasion troops. They said Saudi Arabia will provide mainly arms and money. They did not mention Yemen.

High Arab sources said Gen. Ismail Safwat Pasha of Iraq probably will be overall chief of staff.

Lebanese Premier Riad Bey Es Solh, who arrived here yesterday, was reported to have told Abdullah the Syrian and Lebanese parliaments voted Wednesday for invasion of the Holy Land, and in Syria, special war taxation and censorship were approved as well.

A meeting is scheduled today among an Egyptian army commander and the defence ministers and chiefs of staff Trans-Jordan, Iraq, and Lebanon.

No Hong Kong Warning Attlee Confirms

OTTAWA, April 30 — (CP) — Prime Minister Mackenzie King, reviving the Hong Kong controversy in the Commons, yesterday quoted Prime Minister Attlee of Britain to support the government's contention it had no warning of imminent Japanese aggression before the Hong Kong expedition sailed in October, 1941.

But his disclosure of a recent exchange of telegrams with Mr. Attlee immediately touched off a Progressive Conservative cry that it only made more necessary the production of still-secret key messages received from Britain before the sailing.

Mr. King read to the House two cables, in one of which he outlined to Mr. Attlee the Canadian government's denial that it had received full warning between Oct. 16 and Oct. 26, 1941, the expedition's sailing date. He asked the British prime minister for his opinion on the truth of this denial.

Mr. Atflee replied:

". . . I understand that the question which has been raised in Canada is whether these telegrams or any one of them gave warning that early hostile action by Japan against the United Kingdom or the United States was expected after the change of government in Japan on Oct. 16, 1941, and before the Canadian expedition sailed for Hong Kong on Oct. 27, 1941. . ."

"I can confirm that any suggestion as has been mentioned in entirely contrary to the facts, and that none of the telegrams contained any warning that action by Japan of the kind was expected."

TORONTO, April 30 —(CP)— Premier Drew said last night he stands by statements he has made declaring that Prime Minister King received warning of a possible war with Japan before Canadian troops sailed for Hong Kong.

Tourist Travel Between the U.S. And Canada

The State of Maine Hotel Association recently adopted a resolution urging Congress to make some regulations restricting American travel in Canada. This was in retaliation for the Canadian Government's regulations limiting the amount of money Canadian travellers could take to the United States. Any American restrictions, even a publicity campaign urging Americans to spend their holiday money at home rather than in Canada, would have a disastrous effect on our tourist trade, even on Peterborough's, which has now become so important.

• • •

The Director of the Canadian Government Travel Bureau, Mr. Leo Dolan, properly viewed the situation with alarm and immediately took up the cudgels. Yesterday he addressed the New England Hotel Association meeting in Boston, and gave them straight facts which should set at rest the Maine Hotel Association's fears and scotch their anti-Canadian ideas.

• • •

Our Government's restrictions are not really severe. A Canadian can take $150 into the States for pleasure travel. If he travels by train he can pay his return fare beforehand in Canadian dollars. If he travels by car he can use gasoline credit cards which he has paid for in Canadian funds. A family of four can take a total of $600 into the States. That should give them a good little holiday. As a matter of fact, few Canadians could afford to spend that much money even if there were no government limits.

• • •

Canada is the U.S.'s best customer and a cash customer at that. In the first ten months of last year we purchased 745 million dollars more in goods and services than the U.S. did from us. Every American dollar our tourist trade earns us goes right back to the States for the goods we need from them. We are also the States' best customer from the point of view of travel. Since there are more Americans than Canadians, the American tourists spent in this country last year 230 million dollars and the Canadians spent 152 millions in the United States. However, on a per capita basis, each Canadian spent $220 in the U.S., compared with $12 spent in Canada by each American.

• • •

No wonder that one of the restrictions which the Government felt it must impose in its "austerity" program to conserve American dollars was on pleasure travel. But like the other "austerity" measures, the regulations are not onerous. We hape that Mr. Dolan has convinced the Maine Hotel Association and other Americans that their alarm has been unfounded and that our motives are good. We are glad to note that advance reports indicate that the tourist business this year will be very great and many exceed last year's record.

The Croon Is Defeating Mr. Petrillo

We have occasionally and reluctantly got around to admitting that individual crooners like Mr. B. Crosby have their good points—his being clarity of enunciation—but by and large and in the mass we could speak no good, hear no good and think no good of them. Now we may have to change our tune.

It seems that the gramophone record makers, despite their frantic stocking-up of master discs before the Petrillo ban on instrumental recording came into force last December 31st, have been losing sleep over some new song hits which they are prevented by the Musicians' Union from recording. Then somebody in Hollywood had the temerity to try recordings without instrumental accompaniment. He called in a band of crooners who put in closed voicefuls of harmony to the obbligato of the soloist. The method is working and the records are reported to be selling like crazy. Mr. Petrillo is reported to be dismayed beyond words. His czardom is threatened, unless he can extend his ban to prohibit arrangers of tunes from concocting the harmonies for the crooners.

The crooner (in octet or drove) is circumventing the Musicians' Union. Perhaps we should therefore be thankful for crooners. What, we must ask, is the product of all this cleverness? The Andrews Sisters do "Sabre Dance" to a vocal twang-twang. A Hollywood hermit called Eben Ahbez (he wears that name and jeans, long hair and sandals) has written a hum-dinger (so they tell us) called "Nature Boy" and humming crooners have substituted for the instruments. These are the types of song being produced. On second thought and of course without hearing the songs, we must withhold our approval. Even if the crooners are defeating the autocrat Petrillo, we cannot admit that the means (the croons) justify the end (Petrillo's defeat or "Nature Boy"). For that matter, the end does not justify the means, not even one mumble of them. We shall stick to our tune of not liking a croon.

Deadline Deferred

A hard-working neighbour of ours stayed home from work the other day (he is an undertaker) to undertake the task of filling out his T-1 General, T-1 Special, T4-T1 or whatever form he had to fill out. Little did he realize that the great-hearted Department of National Revenue would postpone the deadline from April 30th to May 31st, because of "extreme weather conditions in various parts of the country", as Mr. McCann, the Minister, explained. Our neighbour stayed home, laboured agonizingly to beat the deadline, and did not finish his T. He can now have another bout and know that, provided the next thirty days are sufficient, he will not be charged interest for making a late return. Floods and bad weather in the prairies have unexpectedly benefitted easterners.

We shall not refrain from moralizing that our neighbour, like thousands of people, was guilty of procrastination. Tax forms are the most insidious agents of procrastination that we know of, real thieves of time and, moreover, thieves of money. A man stays home from work to complete his tax form—that wastes his time and therefore money. He could seek the assistance of officials whom the Department of National Revenue has provided to assist the perplexed (there is an official in Peterborough), but those gentlemen are costing the country money and spending their entire working day at the job.

The simplest way out would be for the Government to abolish the tax or the income. Then nobody would have to fill out forms. If there were no tax, we should be happy as kings; if we did not work for wages but for the love of the state, we would surely all be as happy as Russians. Then we should not have to meet tax deadlines—a sinister word, anyway. Deadline!

The Dominion Air Immigration Plan

The Ontario scheme of bringing British immigrants to this country by air ended abruptly a few weeks ago when Mr. Drew and Mr. Howe could not come to terms. The Ontario government's pioneer plan was good and useful while it lasted, but it was showing signs of having less of each quality when it ended. Premier Drew was probably not chagrined to have an excuse for dropping the plan. Some of his immigrants have not been too successful in getting jobs to suit their abilities or their aspirations and immigration properly is a federal responsibility.

Immigration by air has not been abandoned. Some 7,000 people came to this country under the Drew scheme; the Federal Government has undertaken to expand the service and bring in 10,000 Britons this year, using T.C.A. service. The cost to each individual immigrant will be $287.50. This is slightly higher than the cost under the Drew scheme, but air travel costs have risen and the T.C.A. service will give better accommodation and security than the American company's service which was provided by the Drew plan.

The new Ottawa plan provides for the biggest air migration in history. In addition to air transportation, the immigration by surface methods will continue and be extended. The limit of 20,000 D.P.'s formerly set has been raised to 30,000. This is good news for the homes and industries which have jobs available but no workers to fill them. It is an encouraging sign that the Government is really developing an immigration policy aimed at securing the large numbers of people of which this country's economy stands in need.

Sawdust is now being converted into cattle feed, we are told. For the production of planked steaks, no doubt.

On Parliament Hill

By A. J. THOMAS

THERE has been little excitement in Parliament during the last forthnight. Outside the house there has been much activity. The National Conservative Association held its annual meeting. At the same time as the Prince Regent of Belgium paid a visit, a motely large delegation of women from The Consumers' League milled about, attempting to get a hearing with cabinet ministers; the Parliamentary Prices' Committee continued its hearings, and the Veterans Affairs committee is in session. The Conciliation Board heard the demands of the railway workers for increases in pay, and recommended a seven-cent an hour increase, which would completely absorb the seventy million dollars increased revenue expected from the higher freight rates.

TWO motions before the house met with filibusters. One filibuster, engineered by the C.C.F., was against its own motion condemning the twenty-one per cent. freight rates increase. The vote was delayed for three weeks so that the matter would still be before the Commons when the seven Provincial Premiers had assembled in Ottawa last Monday to protest the freight rates. (Ontario and Quebec were not among the protesters.) On Tuesday, April 27th, the C.C.F. motion was put. Three weeks ago there was some expectation that the C.C.F. and Conservatives combined could defeat the Government on this motion. However, the Liberals were rallied, and the vote was 110 to 78 against the C.C.F. motion. The other filibuster was against the bill to increase the capitalization of the Bell Telephone Company from $150,000,000 to $500,000,000. The bill has been talked out for the last month, chiefly by the C.C.F.

The debate on human rights was concluded and the Committee was authorized on April 16th. The main reason for forming the Committee is that the International Bill of Rights prepared by U.N. may be studied by it. Mr. Diefenbaker (Conservative) is the chief supporter of a Canadian Bill of Rights. The matter will be discussed by the Committee. Mr. Ilsley ended the debate by quoting an earlier speaker, Mr. Hansell (Macleod—Social Credit):

"You can write these things into a constitution, but putting them on paper and making them law does not preserve them. They are principles of life, and they operate as an organism operates; as life operates. This government is not going to take them from us; perhaps no one in this house is going to take them from us. If you want to write them into law, all right; but that does not preserve them and it does not give them to us."

◇ ◇ ◇

A BILL to amend the Unemployment Insurance Act of 1940, (extending and bringing up to date its provisions) was introduced by the Minister of Labour, Mr. Mitchell, and debated from Monday, April 19th. The extent of increased employment and wages can be gauged by the growth of the fund from 42 million dollars at the end of the first nine months of operation (by March 1942), to 268 million by 1945 and 372 million by 1947. The fund now totals 441 million dollars and there are 3¼ million workers insured under it. Mr. Fraser (Peterborough), who received support from other quarters, asked that the waiting period before an unemployed man could draw insurance be reduced from nine to six days.

Mr. Sinclair's private bill to amend the Dairy Act so as to end the ban on margarine was given a long and informative introduction by Mr. Sinclair, its sponsor. Mr. Sinclair is a Liberal. A similar bill has been introduced in the Senate (which resumed its sitting on April 19th after a holiday which began on March 24th) by Senator W. D. Euler, a Liberal. It was supported by five other Liberal Senators. The Senate bill has a better chance of getting through the Senate than Mr. Sinclair's has of getting through the Commons. The Liberal Party has not adopted it, neither has the Conservative, and it is unlikely to be put to a free vote. Margarine is too slippery a political issue. Even in the sedate Senate last Wednesday, the debate was sharp.

TWO other private bills which will probably not be put to a vote are a C.C.F. proposal to abolish appeal to the British Privy Council, and a bill sponsored by a French-Canadian member who wants the word "Dominion" dropped out of all official references to Canada. He thinks that the phrase "Dominion of Canada" indicates that Canada is subservient to Britain.

An important bill before the House is that to amend the Prairie Assistance Act of 1939. This bill is proof that the western farmers are not contributing millions by selling their wheat at controlled prices and getting nothing in exchange. The Act provides the wheat farmer with very chunky crop guarantees and subsidies. The Bill has been under consideration since last Friday. On the same day the Federal Air immigration plan (to carry by T.C.A. planes 10,000 Britons to this country) was announced.

Mr. Claxton, National Defence, announced that the National Defence Board of 14 members had been set up. Its function is "to advise the government of Canada and the Minister of National Defence on all matters relating to the industrial war potential of Canada".

The bill to amend the Dominion Elections Act, discussed in committee last Tuesday, is a lengthy and detailed one. Some C.C.F. members want the voting age reduced to 18. The C.C.F. and Conservatives have suggested a new kind of voting—single transferable vote (long used in Alberta) whereby electors give on the ballot their second and third choices. They say this would prevent a minority government from securing power.

◇ ◇ ◇

AN occasion of congratulation and parliamentary concord came on Tuesday, April 20th, when Mr. King equalled the record of Sir Robert Walpole, Prime Minister of Great Britain from 1721 to 1742. On that day Mr. King had been Prime Minister of Canada for 7,620 days. (This columnist did not do the counting.) Sincere congratulations came from all sides of the House and from heads of governments abroad. Mr. St. Laurent's speech in French was the finest; somehow French seems to be the most graceful and adequate language for such happy occasions.

The answer to one question asked in the House shows the multifarious activities of government departments. The question was about publications distributed by the Department of National Health and Welfare. Mr. Martin, the Minister, in reply gave the interesting information that its publications include a 232-page book "Canadian Mother and Child", over 800,000 copies of which have been distributed. Pamphlets distributed include: "Mother! The School Lunch", "Obedience: How Can I Teach My Child To Obey?", "Bed-Wetting: How Can I Correct My Child's Habit?", "Temper: How Can I Control My Child's Outbursts?". There are film strips like "Mother and Her Child", and "Nine To Get Ready".

RIGHT ON OUR HEELS

Letters To The Editor

BASIC TAXI FARES TOO HIGH?

Sir: I was glad to see Miss Palin's letter in the Examiner about the poor taxi service, especially the crowding. What about the high basic fares? A person who lives two miles from the station gets good value for his fifty cents, but the other people who live only two dozen blocks, or who only want to take a short trip certainly pay through the nose.

It looks as if the smaller the town the higher the basic fare. In New York city it's only twenty cents. In Montreal it's 25 cents. In Toronto it's 40 cents. In Peterborough it's fifty (50) cents. The cost in Peterborough is so high for ordinary short trips that most people can't use taxis unless they are really stuck. It's time something was done about the taxi-bus business and about the high basic fares. Yours,

DISGRUNTLED TAXI USER.

NO GRANT FOR PIPE BAND

Sir: I notice by this evening's paper that the City Council has allotted $4,000 to the Recreation Commission for band purposes, but it does not specify the names of the bands getting grants. I think it only fair that the public should know that the Peterborough Pipe Band will not receive any part of the four thousand dollars. We have a letter to that effect, and we are wondering why. Doesn't this ex-servicemen's band rate a little consideration? Hoping you will publish this letter.

Yours truly,
H. KEITH, Ass't Sec.,
Peterborough Pipe Band.

Asleep In The North

In Montreal on Monday External Affairs Minister St. Laurent expressed regret that lack of transport hindered Canada from taking her fair share of control of joint U.S. and Canadian posts in the North. "Our control is far from satisfactory."

The Minister said he hoped for more transport, but added that "with the men and material now available we could perhaps do more than we are now doing in the Arctic and thus at the same time gain valuable experience and perform services now undertaken by our neighbour".

Last July when the Nascopie foundered on rocks in Hudson Strait a Journal writer asked on this page where was the RCAF. The Hudson's Bay Company was being asked to fly planes to the stricken ship, the Transport Department was despatching a ship from the far-off Atlantic. But the RCAF was grounded by lack of equipment, lack of imagination and lack of landing fields or fuel depots. Yet we'd been led to believe it was an air age and that our North was now merely a long front lawn.

The Journal's article suggested at the time that a quick RCAF flight would furnish valuable experience, would refresh the spirits of a peace-dulled service. It also found shocking the RCAF's confession that Ottawa was the nearest station in operation. Apparently the fogs and mists of the Arctic had swept down again and reclaimed our boasted spearheads.

We wish Mr. St. Laurent luck. He'll be accused, as we were, of seeing Russians under his bed; of wishing to fasten on Canada a fantastically expensive air force; of wanting to over-do the business of mercy flights. We hope he'll think no more of the apologists than we did and that as a senior Cabinet Minister he'll follow through with his idea that "we could perhaps do more than we are now doing and thus gain valuable experience and perform services now undertaken by our neighbour".—Ottawa Journal.

Britain is not the first country to abolish the death penalty for a trial period of five years. This was abolished in Switzerland in 1874. Five years later the individual cantons were empowered to restore the death penalty. A number speedily took advantage of the concession.—Winnipeg Tribune.

A Bible Message

And when he was come into the temple, the chief priests and the elders of the people came unto him as he was teaching, and said, By what authority doest thou these things? and who gave thee this authority?

And Jesus answered and said unto them, I also will ask you one thing, which if ye tell me, I like wise will tell you by what authority I do these things. The baptism of John, whence was it? from heaven, or of men?....

And they answered Jesus, and said, We cannot tell. And he said unto them, Neither tell I you by what authority I do these things.

But what think ye? A certain man had two sons; and he came to the first, and said, Son, go work today in my vineyard. He answered and said, I will not: but afterward he repented, and went. And he came to the second, and said likewise. And he answered and said, I go, sir: and went not.

Whether of them twain did the will of his father? They say unto him, The first Jesus saith unto them, Verily I say unto you, That the publicans and the harlots go into the kingdom of God before you. For John came unto you in the way of righteousness, and ye believed him not: but the publicans and the harlots believed him: and ye, when ye had seen it, repented not afterward, that ye might believe him. (Matt. 21:-23-25, 27-32.)

Canadian Army Official Story To Be Published

By ROSS MUNRO

OTTAWA, April 30—(CP). — The official story of the Canadian army in the Second World War will be published May 5 in a 180,000-word book written by Col. Charles Stacey, director of the historical section of the general staff.

Issued by the Defence Department, it is described as a "historical summary" and simply entitled "The Canadian Army, 1939-45," the first printing is 10,000 copies ($2.50).

In the preface, Col. Stacey emphasizes that this is an interim report on the army—a summary, not a history. A four-volume official history proper is being prepared, with 1950 the target date for completion.

This interim book, with 12 colored paintings by Canadian war artists, 15 maps in color and three in black and white, is a painstaking, detailed work covering the Canadian army through its training, its build-up and its campaigns.

Amazing Speeds

It is an immensely worth-while record and the speed in which it was compiled — exceptional for any comprehensive official book — is a tribute to the determination and diligence of Col. Stacey and his historical section.

The author had access to all relevant official documents in the possession of defence headquarters and has produced a book that rings with authenticity through its 312 pages.

Highlight is the account of the Dieppe raid of Aug. 19, 1942. Col. Stacey in this lengthy Dieppe chapter provides a series of hitherto undisclosed facts, important to a full understanding of that bloody operation. This is undoubtedly the last word on Dieppe.

The campaigns in Sicily, Italy and northwest Europe are described in detail, as well as all secondary Canadian operations.

Under Canadian Control

OTTAWA, April 30 — (CP). — Northern defence work undertaken by the United States in Canada will be fully under Canadian control, Defence Minister Claxton said in the Commons yesterday. G. K. Fraser (PC-Peterborough West) had asked him what supervision his department had over the proposed U.S. expenditure of $611,000 at Frobisher Bay, Sask., and Fort Chimo, Que.

WOMAN FLYER — Natalya Meklin, Moscow, shown with her son (above is a flying hero of the Soviet Union. Natalya flies in a women's light bomber regiment and has 980 combat missions to her credit.

FAMED POET'S SON ARRESTED—Arrested after an arsenal of arms and ammunition, destined for Palestine, was seized by police in a loft building of the New York fur district, 19-year-old Joseph Untermeyer, son of famed poet, Louis Untermeyer, is shown (centre, with glasses) in a New York police station, where he was held on charge of violating the Sullivan law. Arrested with Untermyer was Isaiah Warshaw (right foreground), a watchmaker's apprentice. In background are other prisoners en route to the lineup at headquarters.

Varsity's Great Elms Fall As City Widens Streets

TORONTO, April 30 — CP). — Modern town planning has taken its toll of two rows of stately elms, on either side of mid-town St. George Street here.

The giant trees which provided a leafy canopy for generations of Canadians on their way from fraternity and boarding houses to lectures at the nearby University of Toronto buildings have been hacked to pathetic stumps by efficiency-minded city engineers.

Before the students came the trees shaded the brownstone residences of Toronto's most fashionable society. The old street—once bright with shining harness and ladies' parasols—is now littered with the ugly roots of the trees that were once its pride. Standing ironically amid the ruins is the University's Forestry Department building.

The fate of the old elms was mapped on drawing boards of the city's Planning Department. From College Street to Bloor the street must be widened by 16 feet to accommodate the upstart horseless carriages that have replaced the more graceful vehicles of another age.

One block east of St. George, in the shadow of Varsity Stadium the sidewalk curves respectfully around the biggest elm of them all. Torontonians see this as a hopeful sign.

Told Contracts Let

WINDSOR, April 30 — (CP). — William Griesinger said last night he had been told contracts had been let for generators of the $21,000,000 steam electric plant here. The Ontario Liquor Commission and minister without portfolio made the statement after he had been nominated Windsor-Sandwich Progressive Conservative candidate for the Ontario general election.

Find Canadians Best Tourists For England

By JACK SULLIVAN

LONDON, April 30 (CP). — Canadians who visit London for the Olympic Games or any other reason are more than welcome — they spend an average of $500 a head, $100 more than American tourists.

"Canadians stay longer than anyone else and they spend more than their American cousins," an official of the British Tourist Board said in an interview.

This Olympic year about 100,000 Americans and 20,000 Canadians will visit Britain. For a mixture of austerity, culture and sport they will empty their pockets of about $50,000,000, the Americans spending about $40,000,000 of that sum.

Ready to Handle Visitors

The Board and the Olympic Accommodation Bureau are geared to handle an estimated 40,000 visitors for the Games alone, mostly from the Scandinavian countries and the United States. Sports-minded tourists from Canada will represent between 8,000 and 10,000 of that number.

Officials are searching frantically for rooms from the swank West End hotels to "dormitory" accommodation in schools. Hotel accommodation is their big problem, but they find it "comparatively easy" to place visitors who prefer a more "homely" type of shelter with British people who have offered rooms in private residences.

Prices ran from £3 ($12) a night in first-class hotels to 10 shillings sixpence ($2.10) for bed and breakfast in private homes. In camps, hostels and schools, preferred by overseas students and nationals in countries where currency dictates semi-camping conditions, price depends on the location and the number of each party.

Amazing Pupil

TORONTO. April 30 — (CP). — Nine-year-old Eleanor Glidden writes, weaves, swims and plays with the gang—which would not be unusual except that Eleanor was born without arms. A pupil at Wellesley School for Crippled Children here, the only orthopaedic day school in Canada, she is an excellent student.

APPLE BLOSSOM QUEEN—Miss Gretchen Van Zandt Merrill (above), national ice-skating champ, was crowned Queen Shenadoah by Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, new U.S. air force chief of staff, when she took office as queen of the apple blossom festival in Winchester, Va., on Thursday. Gretchen is shown framed by a bough of "pinks" during her two-day tour of Washington, D.C.

General H. G. Crerar Private For A Day

OTTAWA, April 30 — (CP) — General H. D. G. Crerar, Canadian Army commander in the Second World War, will step down to the rank of private for a day.

He will march in the ranks with other members of the Royal Military College Club when RMC graduates gather at Kingston for a two-day annual memorial service and dinner May 8 and 9.

The oldest member of the club will be in command of the memorial parade.

Threw Tea On Mother

OWEN SOUND, April 30 — (CP). — Jacob Woyce, 52, partially supported by his 85-year-old mother, pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge he threw boiling tea over her. She sobbed in court, "I cannot stand it any more; keep him away from me if you can." Magistrate E. C. Spereman sentenced the man to two months in jail, bound him over to keep the peace for one year and ordered him to stay away from his mother's home.

New Nazi Party

BERLIN, April 30 — (AP). — Britain and the United States protested in the Allied Kommandatur yesterday that Russia is permitting reorganization of the Nazi party in her zone under a new guise. At the same time Gen Lucius Clay, American military commander, told reporters in the Frankfurt that a new "Rightist totalitarian" movement is growing in the United States zone.

Native Stowaways Make Long Voyage

EAST LONDON, South Africa, April 29 —CP). — Because they are not South Africans, three Somaliland natives, who stowed away on the S.S. Mertan will probably ahve to travel more than half-way round the world before they are returned to their native land.

The Merton made an emergency call at East London after she had put out from Durban, but the immigration authorities refused the men a landing.

The Merton resumed her interrupted voyage and, after calling at Buenos Aires, she will go to England. It is expected that arrangements for the men's return to their homeland will be made there.

CANADIAN BULWARKS OF DEMOCRACY

The Free Man's Right
. . . TRIAL BY JURY.

"No Man Shall Be Taken Or Imprisoned, Or Disseized . . . Or In Any Way Harmed . . . Save by Lawful Judgement Of His Peers . . ."—Great Charter, 1215.

News Note from another land: "A woman, native of —— was taken at night from her home, kept four months in prison, sent for four years to —— labour camp, in a cattle car. She was released without explanation, hearing or trial."

Since the beginning of recorded time, man has labored unceasingly to protect himself from despots and tyrants. It is self-evident to the Canadian that everyone is entitled to equal protection under our laws. The laws of our land state that no citizen shall be subjected to unwarranted interference with his privacy, family, home or form of religious beliefs. No one shall be deprived of his personal effects without due process of law. No one can be held in bondage or servitude. Anyone arrested has the right to demand that charges be laid before the proper authorities and that he be brought before a representative of the Crown. No person shall be convicted or punished, except after public trial by law.

These are the basic laws of a just, freedom-conscious people . . . a people with a consistent, proven faith in the dignity, rights, worth and integrity of their fellow men. Under our law, a man is innocent until proven guilty. In these perilous days it might be well to ask: Have we become too complacent about our rights under law? Too unappreciative of the enormity of the problems that confronted the founders of our judicial system? Certain it is, that in this period of history, the rights we take for granted have been denied millions, elsewhere . . . in these many cases, liberty for millions has been swept away overnight. By totalitarian liquidation, these rights which are ours, have been flaunted, ridiculed, violated. Let us ever bear in mind this: "The price of liberty is eternal vigilance . . ."

Our rights to a trial by jury are based on English common law, one of the greatest achievements of the human mind. They were won by the strength, tenacity of purpose and high moral courage of our fathers, to whom justice before law was the greatest goal of free men. Let us give long, serious thought to our rights under law. Basic, obvious, vital it is that we stay alerted to our blessings.

4 Brave Colts Will Oppose Calumet's Entry

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 30.—(AP).—Frankly, there's not much important left to be said about the 1948 Kentucky Derby until the cream of the three-year-olds go out and get it over in a couple of exciting minutes tomorrow afternoon.

It still looks like only four colts will dare tackle the Calumet farm bundle of double trouble, Citation and Coaltown. The answer will come when the entry box opens and closes today. All the owners have to do is punk down $1,000 each and take a shot at the best part of $100,000.

With only six probable starters, all indications point to a restriction on the betting. Officials at Churchill Downs will decide today if they will eliminate place and show bets.

Jammed trains, planes and busses keep coming with people in them, all eager to get sardined into the dest of the crowd and find out what's going on.

Prices are taking the expected upward curve, yet nobody seems to mind. The Derby comes just once a year, so it's fun while greenbacks and strength hold out.

Crowds increase daily. This warms up the colorful place for the 100,000 guests Col. Matt Winn plans to entertain.

It isn't difficult to determine the ones they're going to sink the bankroll on. The visitors clutter up the premises around the stalls of Citation aid Coaltown, Warren Wright's Derby darlings. The two are the only ones who don't know they are destined to be the shortest-priced favorites in Derby history.

Out of an expected $1,000,000 handle on the Derby, $800,000 may be set on Warren Wright's favored race.

Leafs Trip Paulins Will Defend Title

WINNIPEG, April 30 (CP). — Vancouver Clover Leafs today are en route to Montreal to defend their Dominion senior men's basketball title against Montreal YMCA Blues, eastern representatives. The best-of-five final opens Saturday. Leafs, who last year captured the Canadian crown under the name of Vancouver Meralomas, defeated Winnipeg Paulins 66-44 here last night in the deciding game of their best-of-three western final.

King George Wins

King George took a 16-6 School Softball League victory over Queen Alex with some heavy pounding in all but one inning. They banged in six runs in the second, added five next time up, two in the fourth and three in the fifth. Queen Alex came through with three in the initial inning, got two in the third and one in the fifth. The teams:

King George: Davis, Ferguson, Galley, McConnachie, Withers, McImoyle, Bertrand, Clapper.

Queen Alex: Rogers, c; Stewart, p; Seabrook, 1b; Bebee, 2b; Harrison, 3b; Reid, ss; Nicholls, lf; Withers, cf; Oliver, rf.

LEARNS NEW GAME—Jean Francois Jouin, one of the ten children from France, Italy, and Greece who were brought to New York as official emissaries for "the 26 in 1 appeals" for the children of Europe and Asia, gets a few pointers in the game of baseball from Mel Ott, manager of the New York Giants. Jean's dad helped the first American paratroopers when they landed in France during the war. The foreign children were guests of the Giants at one of their games against the Philadelphia Athletics.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

This year's edition of the Petes' senior "B" lacrossers are being sponsored by Ostrander's, and the prospective players are drilling regularly now. Fans are invited to the workouts, one being at seven tonight in Miller Bowl. Pads will be worn—by the players, that is, not the fans. Practices probably nightly next week. Nearly all of last year's squad have been turning out and looking like the champs they were as the 1947 season ended. But there are seven or eight classy newcomers on hand, too, so the Petes apparently haven't any intention of relinquishing their provincial crown without a rousing fight. Coach Red Creighton has plenty of okay material with which to fashion his 1948 team.

* * * * * *

Rowan Chute, no lacrosse stranger here, is back in town. Played for the Quebec senior "A" champs last year. A good junior goalie is reported in town, and Don Smith — most promising Fergus junior last season—is showing a lot so far. Red Gordon of Orillia is another sure thing and ditto with the Orillia leading scorer of '47, J. J. Hill. He is one of the rare athletes always called by his initials—just plain "J.J.", believe it or not. Curly Warren, Scarboro defenceman, will be bumping 'em on the local rearguard comes this campaign. Another chap named Hill is said to be in line, too. Maybe one or two more newcomers, but that'll give fans an idea for now.

Petes' Ballsters Set

Manager Eddie Murphy is calling an open practice of the Petes' senior baseballers for tomorrow aft at two in Riverside Park. Everyone welcome, including last year's provincial finalists, new guys in town and younger local players. Likely regular workouts henceforth as the diamond season will soon be with us again. At this writing we hadn't heard anything new on the COBL revival, but the club will likely be operating in one setup or another. All positions are open and prospective players should attend this first drill.

Which reminds us of a colorful major leaguer who passed up spring training this year and, despite his 40-odd years, won his opening game for New York Giants. Bobo Newsom is the character—and we've often seen him in slab action. The most travelled big leaguer of them all, he asked for his release from the Yanks after the world series, sat back and waited for offers, and settled with the Giants for 20 G's this season. According to the Windsor scrivener, the talkative Bobo insists the Yanks didn't cut him loose. Says he asked for his release as "I didn't want to stay with them. When a club didn't think more of you than to give you only three-quarters of a world series share, you don't feel like breaking your back for them. But it's all over now. What do I care?"

Bowling For The Deaf

Ontario Bowling Association of the Deaf holds its annual bowling tourney in Kitchener tomorrow afternoon. Good prizes up for competition, followed by banquet and dance at Preston. Bowlers and visitors from any province and the States are welcome. They enjoyed a successful tournament last year in Peterborough. President J. Meyette, Secretary Wm. Mayfield and Treasurer F. Meyette are lining up two local teams of girls and men to make the trip to Kitchener. Good luck to them.

Eight teams in the Girls' Softball League following their "Y" meeting last eve: Westclox, Marines, Ashby's, Woollens, Quakers, CGE, Lock Co. and Lakefield. Latter is a new entry and will play all home games in Lakefield. A Lindsay application is being considered as the Scugog lasses are willing to play all games here. Several umps have applied and these will be dealt with later. The schedule will probably open May 26, as soon as nights of play are ascertained. Mrs. Ashby and Bill Bennett taking in the meeting of sports' delegates with the city council Monday p.m. Attending the PWSU annual in the Royal York at two Sunday aft will be: Mrs. Ashby, Karl Dorrington and Bill Bennett. Loop will affiliate for intermediate and junior playdowns.

Charge Or Pass Hat?

Last year, with floodlights available from the start at the Bowl, both the girls' and the men's loops levied a charge—a quarter entitling two persons to see a double-header. The men's circuit will continue that this season, but there was much discussion last p.m. by the girls' officials on whether to charge at the gate or take up a silver collection. Many of those present wanted more time to go into the question, so it was left over till the next meeting. Calibre of play should be higher in this league the coming campaign with but seven local teams and one or two outside entries.

Fergus Added To OLA In Senior "A"

TORONTO April 30 — (CP).—Number of teams in the Ontario Lacrosse Association senior "A" circuit was boosted to seven last night when the entry of Fergus Thistles was approved by a meeting of the senior teams committee at suburban New Toronto.

The Thistles were OLA senior "B" champions in 1946 and finalists last year.

Other senior teams are Owen Sound Crescents, Hamilton Tigers, Brampton Excelsiors, Weston West Yorks, Mimico Mountaineers, St. Catharines Athletics.

An application of a Peterborough team to play senior "A" was withdrawn. Peterborough will remain senior "B".

The committee adopted a 30-game schedule after a bid by Owen Sound for a 36-game series was voted down. Probably Owen Sound, Fergus, Brampton and Hamilton may play a home-and home series which would offset the six-game deficit. St. Catharines, Hamilton, Weston and Mimico would do likewise.

Clubs were limited to a roster of 20 senior-age players, then were given authority to sign on an additional 15 junior age players.

Mimico and Owen Sound will open the season May 18 at Owen Sound.

The schedule is expected to wind up in August. Current plans are for a six-team playoff series.

George Carver Heads Lakeshore League

BELLEVILLE, April 30. — George H. Carver of Belleville, has been elected president of the newly formed Lakeshore Softball League. Fred Hempstead of Cobourg is vice-president, with Harry Knott of Belleville, secretary-treasurer. Orval Ward, Trenton; N. H. Haggarty, Wooller; FO Jim Caton, RCAF Station, Trenton, and Frank Sedore of Point Anne, were also elected to the executive.

Six teams have definitely entered the loop which will get under way on or about May 24. They are: Belleville, Point Anne, Trenton RCAF, Trenton, Wooller and Cobourg.

8 Teams Enter Girls' Loop To Open About May 24

Eight teams entered the Girls' Softball League last evening at a general meeting in the YMCA. They are: Westclox, Dominion Woollens, Ashby's, Outboard Marines, Quakers, CGE, Lock Co. and Lakefield. An application from a Lindsay delegation was left in abeyance, though the feeling of the meeting seemed to be favorable toward including Lindsay.

President Dot Millar conducted the well - attended session and, after Secretary Marg Selkirk read the minutes, the call came for entries. There was some discussion on Lakefield's application, but Bill Bennett said he felt the team, which he had seen in action, would be an asset and the Lakefield grounds could be put in proper shape. The team will play home-and-home games during the schedule. All managers voted for the Lakefield entry.

Lindsay Applies

Lindsay delegates said the team would be willing to play all games in Peterborough and could be here at seven p.m. when required. They assured the executive they would field a strong squad. It was decided to wait until the league was assured of sufficient playing time at the Bowl to handle nine teams before taking in Lindsay, and the club will be notified later of the executive's ultimate decision.

Several applications from umpires were discussed and left over for the time being. Other details concerning balls, scoreboard, etc., were dealt with briefly. The general feeling was that the schedule should open on or about May 24. Bill Bennett, Mrs. Ashby and Karl Dorrington were appointed to attend the PWSU annual meeting in Toronto on May 2, when affiliation will be made in intermediate and junior. Mrs. Ashby and Bill Bennett will attend the council meeting Monday to arrange for grounds.

There was much discussion on whether to continue charging admission at the gate—as the men's loop will do this season again—or to revert to the 1946 system of a silver collection. The gathering was pretty well divided upon this and when a vote was called only a few would declare themselves, the rest preferring more time to check into it with sponsors and to think it over. The matter was finally left over till the next meeting.

Boudreau Leads Cleveland To 5-2 Win Over Browns

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lou Boudreau, batting .519 for his unbeaten Cleveland Indians is a solid argument for the survival of the player-manager in the majors.

As last of the big leaguers who still combine the two difficult jobs, Boudreau almost lost his portfolio last fall. Only a flood of mail from aroused fans induced owner Bill Veeck to call off a tentative trade with St. Louis.

Instead of a trade, Boudreau was signed to "virtually a two-year contract," according to Veeck. Now he probably wishes he had made it 10 years.

The "cares of bossing the Indians to six straight wins have weighed so heavily on Lou that he has been able to hit safely only 14 times in 27 at bat. This is tops in the league. His shortstop work remains unchallenged.

In Fine Fettle

Boudreau pounded out four straight hits, including a double and home run, in yesterday's 5-2 victory over St. Louis Browns. The team now need only three more triumphs to tie the modern day record for wins at the start of a season.

New York Yankees got their Joe DiMaggio-Joe Page combination working for a 5-4 edge over Washington in 10 innings. The result moved the Yanks into second place, going into the important three-game series with the Red Sox at Boston starting today

Homers by George McQuinn, Charley Keller and Yogi Berra weren't enough for the champs. They had to go 10 and finally won on DiMaggio's long fly with the bases loaded and none out, defeating rookie Forrest Thompson.

Page releived Frank Shea, in trouble again, by giving seven walks. Lefthanded Joe picked up his first win on four hitless innings.

Boston cut loose with a barrage of homers—one each by Ted Williams, Sam Mele, Joe Dobson and Jake Jones—to smother Philadelphia 11-5. Earl Johnson required bullpen help from Dobson to get home with win No. 1. Bill McCahn was the loser. Williams' homer was the 200th of his career.

Eddie Mayo's error on Don Holloway's grounder enabled Chicago to down Detroit 5-4 for their second victory. Catcher Aaron Robinson had a perfect day for the Sox with three hits including a homer and double.

Smash Giants

Ebbets field proved to be the same old unhappy hunting ground for New York Giants. Brooklyn smashed the leaders' six-game win streak with a 17-7 shellacking. It was strictly no contest after a free-swinging start.

Ralph Branca, third Dodger pitcher, finally came up with a victory and Thornton Lee, second of six Giant tossers, was the loser.

Pittsburgh climbed into second place on another fine mound job by the veteran Elmer Riddle. He scattered seven Chicago hits for his second win, 4-2.

Rookie Hank Sauer enjoyed a field day in Concinnati's 14-inning, 5-4 nod over St. Louis. Sauer tied the score in the eighth and won it in the 14th with a single. Harry Gumbert won his third relief decision at the expense of Ted Wilks, loser of his first game since 1944.

Homers by Dick Sisler and Harry Walker enabled the Phillies to edge Boston Braves, 4-2. Schoolboy Rowe took the nod over loser Johnny Beazley.

KRAMER DEFEATS RIGGS

Big Jack Kramer slammed out his 54th victory over Bobby Riggs in their professional tennis tour at Montreal last night, winning 7-5, 7-9, 6-4. Riggs has won only 19 matches in the series.

Marx Brothers To Make 2 More Films

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 30 (AP) —The Mark Brothers, who periodically announce their retirement from film appearances together, now say they'll make two more films.

The famed comics are slated to make another comedy, now called "Hearts and Diamonds," in June. Brother-Manager Gummo says they'll make one more film after that, and it will be the life of the Marx Brothers.

After the Marx biography is filmed, Groucho, Chico and Harpo will go their own professional ways. At least that's what they say now.

Frozen Funds

John Payne may go to England to make "Lorna Doone" for Edward Small. The picture, which will be an expensive affair in color, will be one of the first attempts to use frozen funds for picture making under the new United States-British film deal . .

Jack Carson, pride of Carman, Man., will get a chance to show his dramatic abilities when he takes over the lead in "Born Yesterday" on Broadway this Summer. He's tired of being a song-and-dance man at Warners and passed up a two-week stand at London's Palladium for the New York offer.

Wayne Must Reduce

Wayne Morris joins the "Girl from Jones Beach" case. He's jumped from 195 to 212 pounds and will have to shave some poundage for his bathing-suit role . . . Latest to hop on the anti-Russ bandwagon is "Rogue's Regiment." Its setting, post-war Indo-China, permits the film to take some pointed digs at Red activities.

Dinner for Winner.

Hollywood's troupers gathered at the Masquer's Club for the first annual "Dinner for the Winners" celebration in honor of Ronald Colman and Edmund Gwen, this year's Academy Award victors The two veteran British actors heard themselves lauded and spoofed.

In replying to the tributes Colman cited an incident on film location in New York. He said a fan asked him "May I have your autograph, Mr. Baxter; I've always enjoyed you in the 'Thin Man' pictures; it must be swell leading the parades up and down State Street." Colman said he signed his name "Leo Carrillo."

Behrman Leads Royals To 7-0 Victory

By the Associated Press.

Hank Behrman, lanky right-hander of Montreal Royals, is off to a good start in his bid to return to the major leagues.

Behrman, 25, made his second start of the International League season last night and pitched the Royals to a 7-0 four-hit victory over the Orioles in Baltimore.

In his first outing on opening day, Behrman limited the Newark Bears to four hits in 10 innings before leaving the game for a pinch-hitter in the eleventh. The Bears won the game in the bottom half of the second extra inning.

While Behrman held the Orioles to four singles, the Royals collected 11 hits off Johnny Wittig and Fred Wolpert. Al Gionfriddo, Dodger star in the 1947 World Series, led the attack by driving in two runs on two triples and a single.

Jersey City stretched its winning streak to five games by nosing out the Rochester Red Wings 7-6. Jack Kraus, with help from Bob Cain in the ninth, received credit for his third win of the season.

The Syracuse Chiefs downed the Buffalo Bisons 7-3, with Bud Bebber giving up only five hits.

The scheduled game between Toronto and Newark was postponed because of wet grounds.

Suggest Budding Playwrights Be Jack Of All Trades First

By ALBERT HUNTER

VANCOUVER, April 30 (CP). —Here's a tip to budding playwright: Take a turn at being a miner, logger, soldier, cowboy, railway builder and deputy sheriff Then start writing.

The tip doesn't come from Alexander Ramsay — but that's what he did. And here's how it paid off.

The 64-year-old Vancouver author's one-act love-drama—"The Red Cloak" — this week won top honors and $100 in the 10th annual competition of the Ottawa Drama League Workshop.

It wasn't this first success. In 1934 he won the Barry Jackson award for a one-act drama "Coercion," acclaimed the best Canadian play in the Dominion Drama Festival that year.

The following year, his three-act play "Salt Justice" was judged the best Canadian play entered in the B.C. Drama Festival.

Although Mr. Ramsay has had a colorful career, he still is modest and publicity-shy.

"That was very nice of them," was his only comment when told this week that he topped Canada's playwrights in a Dominion-wide contest.

Varied Life

Born in Delhi, India, Mr. Ramsay came to Canada in 1907 and began a life of mining, logging, hunting and riding the ranges of Saskatchewon's Weyburn district as a cowboy.

After aiding in consruction of the Kettle Valley Railroad in the Okanagan District, he broke into front-page news in 1912 by capturing a gunman named James. The bandit was wanted for robbery and murder of a policeman at Penticton, B.C.

James and an accomplice escaped from custody at Kelowna, B.C., and for three days a posse hunted them. Mr. Ramsay, sworn in as a special deputy, captured the pair and James later died on the gallows.

As a field officer with the 54th Battalion during the First World War, he was severely wounded at St. Eloi, Belgium, in 1916. He was not released from hospital until 1921 after undergoing 16 operations.

But with three more plays in the "polishing up" stage, he still is on the "active" list.

Football Team Introduces Spring Drill

NEW YORK, April 30.—(AP). —Steve Owen and stream-lined Tim Mara were fumbling about the office television receiver, looking for a baseball game that wasn't there...."I'd like to see a few innings,' Steve groused. "I have to go up to Columbia for my one-man spring practice."... One-man spring practice, isn't that something new?...."It sure is,' Owen assented. "It probably is the first time a pro football team ever had spring drills. Actually I have two men, Paul Governali and Joe Saluaitis, but Governali is doing most of the work ....We're going to use a lot of winged-T stuff this year now that we have the men for it," Steve added: "I think Governali is the one who can make it....We're going to have a good passing team....The line won't be big, a lot of 210-215 pounders, but they can move."

The "L" Of It

"You might say that we have signed 15 of our first draft choices," interjected Mara, "and I don't think we offered them so much more money than the all American Conference ...Of course, Admiral Ingram says they don't need to sign players this year because they have all the good ones. But what are they going to do in Chicago?....They have Ed McKeever there and they're already feeling sorry for George Halas and his 'old men.' All he has is Luckman, Lujack and Layne. I've learned you should never feel sorry for Halas —especially not with those three fellows."

Handle With Care

When the Red Sox visited Philadelphia the other day, a writer phoned Joe McCarthy to ask his starting pitcher....Joe gave the name, but five minutes later he called the writer back at his office...."Just checking," McCarthy explained. "This is my first trip this year and I didn't want somebody to be pulling a fast one on you or me."

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

"It sounds interesting," commented Barbara Ann Scott yesterday on reports that the Canadian National Exhibition is planning to invite her to star in its grand stand show this summer. "But what I'd like to know," she added, "is how are they going to keep ice frozen outdoors in the summer time. Knowing Toronto I know how hot it can be at exhibition time." Elwood Hughes, general manager of the CNE, said that would be a minor problem. "We are considering a combined ice and water show, but the expense of installing the equipment would be so great that we would have to be assured of a top star—like Barbara Ann — before we would go ahead with it." Thus far, he said, the CNE had presented no offer.

The fourth game of the Memorial Cup final will be played at Toronto on Saturday as scheduled, G. S. Dudley, CAHA secretary, announced last night. He said the same referees who handled other games in the series of the junior hockey playoffs—Vic Lindquist of Winnipeg and Ken Mullins of Montreal—will be the officials. Coach Hap Emms of Barrie Flyers has said his team would not take the ice unless a change were made in the officials. Port Arthur lead the best-of-seven series 3-0.

Some 3,000 Canadian and United States five-pin bowlers are expected to compete in the 22nd annual Canadian Bowling Association tournament, which opened at Toronto last night. Play continues to May 15. Ten championships are at stake.

The Ontario Fencing Association will hold its annual championships in Toronto May 7 and 8. Winners will automatically qualify to compete in the Dominion tournament and Olympic trials to be held later in May.

Sault Collegiate Grads took a commanding lead in their Eastern Canada Intermediate A basketball finals with Montreal last night. They shellacked the Eastern champions 55-24 in the first game of a total-points series at Sault Ste. Marie.

Bobby Locke, the chubby, knickered South African, fired a seven-under 65 yesterday to grab a first-round lead in the Washington open golf tournament. The round gave Locke a two-stroke lead over a quartette of par-busters.

My Babu, winner of the 2,000 Guineas on Wednesday, became a firm favorite for the 1½-mile Epsom Derby at a betting call-over last night. The Derby is June 5. The Maharajah of Baroda's three-year-old was quoted at 5 to 2.

Twenty-three horses are expected to run to-day in the second classic of the British season —the Thousand Guineas for three-year-old fillies. The winning purse in the mile race will be $50,076.

Moose, Maskinonge Going Same As Wild Pigeons McGillen Tells Sportsmen

COBOURG, April 30—(ENS).—While conservation was preached on one hand there was the paradoxical situation on the other hand where spears and gaff hooks were sold over the hardware counter, petty fines were imposed on violators of the fish and game laws and there was on the part of many a lack of common sense in appreciation of how to conserve, Pete McGillen, 'lunge authority and city editor of the Examiner, told the annual meeting of the Northumberland Fish and Game Association.

Casting an appreciative eye over the tousled-headed youngsters in the front rows whose ages ranged from six to 12, and their presence lent emphasis to his observation that a lad who likes to go fishing seldom, if ever, lands in juvenile court. The County Fish and Game Association has heard many speakers but the consensus of the audience afterward was that it was the most thought-provoking and earnest address that the Northumberland Fish and Game Club had ever listened to.

The new officers elected are: Bill Arnott, who suceeeds H. O. Taylor as president; Secretary, Murray Smith; Treasurer, Win Fisher, and five directors from various parts of Northumberland county.

Vital To Economy

The importance of the muskie to the economy of the province of Ontario was not sufficiently realized, he said. The grocer, the hardware man, every man in business reaped some financial benefit from the money that followed in the wake of those who come to the fishing grounds of the muskie. It was realized in Wisconsin and Ohio where large sums were being spent to restock with 'lunge in order to keep their sportsmen's dollars in their home states. The 'lunge was the most fabulous fish in Canada.

"There have been some stories told about the muskie. I have written some of them myself. But when you see them come up from the States, you realize how fabulous that fish has become, as some of them bring deep sea tackle, automatics under their shirts — one fellow had a baseball bat with him, in order to subdue that fish once they hooked them. Regardless of what the writers from Toronto and other places may say, we have more muskies in the Kawartha system than anywhere else. There are bigger ones elsewhere but we have more of them. The muskie is the fastest swimmer in the water and he is afraid of nothing that swims," Mr. McGillen declared.

Strong Experience

He related the story of one US visitor whose wife caught a 'lunge. The craft shipped six inches of water in hauling the muskie in. The woman fainted.

The dog jumped out of the boat and the little girl cried. The head of the household swore the fish snapped at him, as hook free, it tore up and down in the small pool in bottom of boat. The man threw the fish back in, pulled the dog back in the boat, quieted the child, revived his wife and put into shore and departed in haste for anywhere that would put distance between his family and those monster huskies.

"No wonder the muskie is a fabulous fish," the speaker said. He went on to describe the spawning habits of the fish and dispelled some of the bunkum that has been told of the muskie.

Can Sell Spears

It is illegal to have a fish spear yet it is legal for a hardware store to sell spears. The hardware man will sell the very things that will hurt the sale of his fishing tackle. They should refuse to sell spears or gang hooks larger than will hang on a plug bait. We need more game wardens. We have no more game wardens than we had 25 years ago and we haven't the lunge. We need stiffer penalties in our courts.

A $100 fine instead of a $10 penalty will teach a lawbreaker that it is cheaper for him to be honest, and we need more co-operation from the public. Let us not kill the goose that is laying the golden eggs. We need an enlightened citizenry who will realize that so far we have not learned the lesson of the extinct wild pigeon, lest the lunge and the moose, two of Canada's greatest sporting attractions go the way of the carrier pigeon," he said.

Margarine Issue Said Dynamite For Government

OTTAWA, April 30 — (CP). — Dynamite if ignored, the margarine issue could explode into government defeat, the Senate was warned yesterday.

It also heard an attack of a government bill, already passed by the Commons, to widen the scope of the Vocational Training Coordination Act. This gives training to persons not eligible for unemployment insurance in the event they become jobless. Progressive - Conservative leader, Senator John T. Haig, opposed it strongly. It was sent to committee for study.

Senator Norman M. Paterson (L—Ontario) voiced the warning of government defeat as he entered the heated debate on the butter substitute. Of the proposal to lift the ban on margarine, he said: "It was dynamite to do nothing about it."

He suggested the chamber give the bill lifting the ban on the importation, manufacture and sale of the butter substitute second reading, that is, approval in principle.

Still Unsettled

However, adjournment of the debate by Senator Salter Hayden (L—Ontario) left the troublesome issue still unsettled. It will be carried over into next week's sessions, when other speakers will be heard before a vote is taken.

There was doubt in Senator Paterson's mind that certain statements made by Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader, were true. The government leader had said the world shortage of fats and oils meant margarine would not be available in Canada for another three years at least, even if the ban were lifted.

Senator Paterson contracted this statement with the fact that "the greatest lobby in history is going on" to prevent the bill being approved. Either the Senate was "being misled by figures or there is something we are not being told."

Toronto Rabbi Condemns Jewish Legion

TORONTO, April 30.—Formation of the Maple Leaf Legion for Palestine was condemned by Zionist Leadership yesterday, according to Rabbi Maurice L. Perlzweig. The project, he said, is absolutely unauthorized by any representative Jewish body.

"We particularly deplore the fact that an appeal for funds in support of the Maple Leaf Legion has been made at a time when the whole Jewish community is engaged in the work of the Jewish Appeal," said the Rabbi, who is co-chairman of the National Public Relations Committee of the United Zionist Council of Canada. The grave and urgent needs of the Jewish people in Palestine, in Europe and elsewhere, can only begin to be met if every Jew does his duty by the United Jewish Appeal."

Rabbi Perlzweig stated the Zionist movement regards all such unauthorized projects as especially damaging at the present moment.

"We cannot help but regard it (the Legion) as an irresponsible act, and one calculated to affect adversely the Jewish position," he stated, "to launch without the slightest vestige of authorization either from the United Nations or the Jewish Agency, a project which purports to be a contribution to Jewish security at this time.

Restock Trout Streams In Big Operation

TORONTO, April 30 —(CP)— Come Saturday and Ontario's ardent anglers are almost certain to start talking abcut the big one that got away.

The equally interested officials of the Lands and Forests Department will be thinking of the scores of thousands of little ones that are still there.

They know, because of weeks they have been stocking streams, creeks and lakes with year-old members of the species of brown, speckled, rainbow and Kamloops trout. They won't be ready game for some years yet, but the department is taking the long view.

The open season for brown and speckled trout opens tomorrow, and to the devotees, the Oxford concise decision of trout as "freshwater fish esteemed as food and game" would seem pretty casual.

For to them, the opening of the season is the beginning of another year.

Well Stocked

They will probably not be thinking, either of the constant work of the lands department and voluntary conservation bodies in helping to balance trout mortality, both natural and man-made.

In past weeks, young fish by the thousands have been poured into waters in the Brantford area, in the London district, in Stayner, Alliston, Niagara Falls, Toronto and Hamilton areas, and the Bruce peninsula.

To indicate the scale of the restocking—a week ago, 10,000 fingerlings were placed in the Brantford area.

The department is not worried about that big one. It is concerned with maintaining angling as the great sport it is.

Four firms submitted tenders.

It is estimated the cost of the bridge will be about $99,000 and Mr. Weldon explained that the difference in the estimates is due to the fact that the County intends to provide a portion of the construction materials.

Fly-Tying... For Better Fishing

The art of fly-tying is one that has brought no end of delight to fishermen in their leisure evening hours. The thrill of making lures to suit a favourite stream — the trial of skill by quiet pools and rushing white-waters — all combine to make this a fascinating pastime.

Strangely enough, fly-tying is a much simpler and speedier art than most men imagine. Good flies can be made in but a few minutes time after a little practise. The materials are few, and inexpensive—a small fly-tying vice, or monkey wrench, a couple of small hackle pliers, some fine silk yarn, cobbler's wax, celluloid varnish, turpentine, acetone or amyl acetate, hackle feathers of various colours, some bits of fur, tinsel, and hooks.

When you begin tying your own flies, you will be surprised how many friends become devoted to the same hobby — and the rivalry that develops is a great deal of fun. Several good books are available on fly-tying, but for the benefit of beginners, we offer an easy-to-follow booklet, free:

"How To Tie Trout Flies"

Write for a copy — it's mighty interesting to fishermen.

Lindsay's Four Vagrant Goats Go Home; Police Chief Rewords Poem In Their Honor

LINDSAY, April 30 — (ENS). — Lindsay's four vagrant goats have found a home, and the mystery surrounding their nocturnal escapades has been solved.

Mrs. E. W. Jennings, who lives a mile from town on the Fenelon Falls highway, claimed them at the police station today. The goats were "arrested" on the main street by Constable John Hunter around 3 a.m. Wednesday, after they had consumed a number of morning papers and one had become stuck in the revolving door of an hotel.

Mrs. Jennings says the animals escaped from their pasture Tuesday evening. There's an old Irish ditty concerning a policeman who arrested a goat, and Chief of Police R. H. Lawler has shown his poetic ability by revising the rhyme to suit the local situation.

Western Europe Snubbing Communists On May Day

LONDON, April 30 — (AP) — The Communists will have to celebrate May Day on their own this year in most of Western Europe's democratic capitals.

Socialists and moderate labor groups are giving the Communists the cold shoulder as never before in planning for the traditional labor celebration Saturday.

May Day was established as an international labor holiday in 1890 at a Socialist Congress in Paris. In most countries it has become labor day. The Russians have made it a national holiday, and this year plan one of their biggest celebrations in Moscow.

Huge pictures of Lenin, Stalin and other Bolshevik leaders have been placed on buildings, and the city is going al-out in decorations. The Russians are combining celebrations, since May 1 is the third anniversary of the entrance of Russian troops into Berlin.

In Western Europe, however, the Communists generally find themselves snubbed.

Separate Celebrations

Separate celebrations, in some cases for the first time, were called by Communists and non-Communists in London, Oslo, Paris, Berlin, Amsterdam, Brussels and Copenhagen.

Even in Finland, which recently concluded a mutual assistance pact with Russia, Social Democrast and Communists called for separate rallies in Helsinki and some other communities.

Police throughout Europe, with the possible exception of Italy and Trieste, took a calm view of the coming celebrations. In prior years May Day has often led to sharp disorders.

Italian troops and police were ready for possbile trouble, especially in industrial Milan and along the Yugoslav border. There were reports of hidden arms in Milan, and police seized some in a raid on a Milan suburb.

The Allied military government in the free territory of Trieste closed 10 blockposts and restricted travel in six more, as reports were spread that Communists might try to filter across the border and stage May-Day demonstrations.

Pro-Italian and pro-Slav groups were ordered to celebrate in their own sectors only. The Communists objected.

The British Labor Party arranged to furnish a May Day speaker for every district held by a Labor member of parliament. The Labor Party of London called its own demonstration, with Herbert Morrison, leader of the House of Commons, as main speaker. It snubbed the rival parade and meeting of the London Trades Council, whose secretary and featured speaker is Communist Jules Jacobs.

Australia expects to spend about £24,000,000 ($76,800,000) on her navy in the next five years.

Sewer Cave-In Deaths Becoming Numerous

LONDON, Ont., April 30 — (CP).—A complete investigation into the latest sewer cave-in fatality here was indicated today when Crown Attorney Claude Savage said that inquest into the death of John Welch, 58, may not be held for "some time."

Welch was killed Monday in a slide at an allegedly uncribbed eight-foot sewer in which he was working at a housing project north of London.

It was the third sewer-building fatality here this year. In January two workers died in a similar cave-in at another housing development.

Mr. Savage said reports of three investigations into Welch's death will be studied closely before an inquest date is announced. They were conducted by the city engineer's department and the Ontario Construction Safety Association.

TORONTO, April 30—(CP)—Twenty witnesses were due to appear today before the Toronto Board of Police Commissioners' inquiry into charges made by City Detective William French that he saw Jack Wilkins beaten in a police station after his arrest last December. Wilkins was brought here today from Burwash Reformatory.

Rural Church Work Stressed To Synod

HALIFAX, April 30—(CP)—The church's task at the present time is to be "steady while the world is in difficult times," Most Rev. G. F. Kingston, Archbishop of Nova Scotia and Primate of all Canada, told the closing session of the 74th annual diocesan synod of Nova Scotia here yesterday.

He thanked his colleagues of clergy and laity for their work at the synod and urged that all "return to their parishes with harmony in heart and mind, determined to work together to further the life of God's church."

The importance of the rural ministry of the church was emphasized in an address by Rt. Rev. R. H. Waterman, coadjutor Bishop of Nova Scotia.

"It is impossible to attach too great importance to any move that would help promote its efficiency," he added.

Efforts will be made to raise the stipends paid members of the clergy, now receiving "low-scale returns," the synod decided.

Demolish Historic Pen

HALIFAX (CP)—A 107-year old penitentiary building here is being demolished. It was from this penitentiary the infamous "Saladin" pirates were taken July 29, 1842, to their execution on a small hill where the Victoria General Hospital now stands.

He is reported to be doing very well after the operation.

Thieves Get $15 Ignore Pelts At Jopling Shop

Thieves who broke into the fur shop of Harry Jopling at 248 Murray St., early this morning made off with $10 to $15 in cash, but ignored a number of beaver pelts and a portable radio which could have been lifted.

The break-in was discovered shortly after five o'clock this morning by PC Malcolm Bassett. Time was placed at after three o'clock. Entrance had been gained by prying open the bottom half of a window looking out on a side lane. In the office, they pried open several desk drawers. Only loot was a cash box containing the small amount and some game pelt permits.

BACKED INTO BICYCLE

The bicycle of Patrick Tharley, 459 Arndon Ave., was damaged by a hit-and-run motorist late Thursday morning. Parked at the curb on a kick-stand in front of a George St. store, he found the front wheel bent when he returned to it. A passerby told police he had seen a car back into the bike. The driver, he said, got out to see the damage — and then drove on.

Urge More Rural Children Receive Higher Education

An address "Cream of the Crop" was given at the Thursday luncheon of the Kiwanis Club by A. H. Martin, Department of Agriculture, at the YMCA. With 50 regular members in attendance with 52 guests, most of them representatives of the Junior Calf Club and parents, the club heard Mr. Martin say that the most important product of the farms was still the boys and girls who will make up the future agricultural community.

He said that in Ontario alone there were between 2,600 and 3,000 enrolled in the Junior Calf Club. This organization teaches farm juniors the management, feeding and general care required in looking after stock.

He told of the meeting of Boys' and Girls' Clubs in Guelph and at the Royal Winter Fair; at the latter, he said, they came from all across the Dominion and exhibited much fine stock. The national body is made up of one director from each province, three from the Dominion, and other representatives from country-wide industries and services.

Club work is meeting with increasing enthusiasm, he said; 41,000 are already enrolled in Canada.

Two reasons were stressed as of chief importance in this work. First, and most important, is the education and development of club members. It interests the youth of rural communities in agriculture and farm life. Second, is the improvement of livestock and grain products.

Must Raise Education

Mr. Martin told of the work being done by the Junior Farmers' Association in Ontario which consists of 225 clubs and an estimated 8,500 members. In his opinion Ontario has the best agricultural system in America, but he said the standard of formal education must be raised.

Out of 100 children in Ontario only 58 get beyond primary school, the speaker said; 21 receive their Junior Matriculation and 13 Senior Matriculation. And only about four reach university.

He pointed out that in rural areas the percentages would drop considerably from the provincial average, and he contended that this was not good enough.

At the present time with the increased use of technical equipment, complicated marking systems, and the business-like handling of high-priced property he felt that public school education was not enough.

The speaker was introduced by Gordon Hancock and thanked by Don Milburn, president of the Junior Farmers' Association of Peterborough county. Mr. Milburn pointed out to the Kiwanians that the "cream of the crop" of farm youths was now going into the cities rather than remain in agriculture. If this trend continues, he warned, there will be less food produced in Canada, and the only alternative would be to bring in immigrants to fill the vacancies.

If boys and girls remain on the farm there will be a sure source of food, he said, and business men will have a market for their goods.

Visitors were welcomed by Fred Stenson of the Agriculture Committee. Edward Pridham presided.

At the head table were Ernest McWilliams, Mr. Milburn, Mr. Hancock, Mr. Pridham, Oliver Dalrymple, agricultural representative for Hastings county; William S. McMullen, Dominion Department of Agriculture; Stanley Northrop, Ralph Standish, John Lewis and Ronald Frankish.

150 UE Delegates Here Saturday

One hundred and fifty delegates of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America from Ontario and Quebec will meet in Peterborough Saturday and Sunday for the quarterly District Council meeting of that union.

The two-day session will take place in the Legion Hall and will include discussion of the union's program for wage increases, roll back of prices, labor legislation, civil rights and general advancement of the working people.

It will be under the chairmanship of C. S. Jackson, Canadian president of the UE. The announcement of the meeting was made by Mervyn Chambers, vice-president of District Five, UE-CIO and president of Local 524, UE, and Duncan Drummond, president of Local 527, UE. The two Peterborough locals will be hosts for the meeting.

The delegates will be entertained at a social evening Saturday at the Legion Hall. A banquet will be held Sunday noon with catering by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Legion Branch 52.

Start Water Main

A petition for a water main on Howden Ave. received prompt attention from the Utilities Commission Thursday. It was placed on the list of work with King George, Braidwood and Rose Avenues.

"We might as well clean up that area while we are down there," Mr. R. L. Dobbin, manager suggested to the Commission. That means inclusion of Howden Ave. with the streets which have already been approved for water main extension. When that area is completed, the program probably moves to the Brookdale subdivision of Sands and Bateman.

George Curtis Brickmaker Dies At Age 86

Last of the second generation of the family owners of Curtis Brothers' brick manufacturing business, George Curtis died at St. Joseph's Hospital Thursday afternoon. He was 86.

Mr. Curtis had been in gradualling declining health for the last two years. He was born in Douro township, son of Mark Curtis and his wife, Sarah Dunning.

The brick business was founded by Mark Curtis who was succeeded by a partnership of three of his sons, Charles, Albert and George. It has been one of the continuous industries of Peterborough for approximately one hundred years. Mr. George Curtis retired to private life ten years ago. He was widely known in the ceramics industry of this province and in recognition of his long interest and active participation in its affairs he was made two years ago a life member of the Canadian Ceramics Society. About that time he was preceded in death by his wife. He leaves two brothers, David and Edwin, his daughters, Mrs. George Cole of Leamington, Miss Alma Curtis of New York City, Miss Mildred Curtis of Geneva, NY, Miss Muriel Curtis at home, and two sons, Stanley and Floyd.

Mr. Curtis was a member of St. Luke's Anglican Church and the Canadian Order of Foresters. The body is resting at the Curtis residence, Park Hill Road east. The funeral Saturday afternoon will be to St. Luke's Church for service at 2 o'clock, conducted by the Rev. Walter J. Gilling.

Burial will be at the Little Lake Cemetery.

County Seeking New Engineer

A special session of the County Council meeting is being held today at the County Court House. The meeting got away to a slow start with Warden James Humphries presiding. He started proceedings by welcoming Ross Humphries, former Deputy-Reeve of Smith township who has been elevated to Reeve due to the death of the former Reeve, Gilbert McIlmoyle, and R. Tully, who is now Deputy-Reeve.

The most important issue of the morning was the rereading by the County Clerk of the formal resignation of J. A. Fletcher, County Engineer and Road Superintendent, effective May 31. It was moved by Melville Johnston that the resignation be accepted and moved by Reeve W. Grant that a new engineer be advertised for at a salary of $4,000 a year.

John McCall, County Forester, invited Council members and others to go to the County forest in Belmont township to assist in the planting of 10,000 new trees in the very near future. He pointed out the necessity of doing something immediately about more adequate fencing of the forest to protect seedling trees from ranch cattle grazing on the west side of the property. James Gifford moved that the forestry committee interview the county solicitor for advice as to whether it was the council's or the neighbor's duty to erect such fencing as required. Mr. McCall also advised that there was a quantity of balsam and poplar cordwood for sale on the forest limits, the results of a thinning program.

It was moved by Reeve Grant that it be ascertained if the Department of Highways was not responsible in assuming maintenance and running repairs to all bridges in county villages which are situated to form a link in the existing highway chain. He was referring especially to the Lakefield bridge which is showing signs of disrepair.

Due to the death of the late Gilbert McIlmoyle, several committees were carrying gaps that were filled today by other members as follows: Children's Aid Committee, Reeve Melville Johnston; Finance committee, Reeve C. Flynn; Foley Estate committee, Deputy-Reeve R. Tully; Health committee, Reeve W. W. Dawson; and Hospital Governor, Reeve J. Mahoney. Reeve Gifford wished to withdraw from the Educational committee and his place was filled by Reeve Johnston.

LIBERAL CHOICE — Charles H. Elliott, fuel merchant, and former car dealer, was named Liberal canndidate for the Peterborough riding at an overflow meeting in the Legion Hall Thursday evening. He is a brother of Alex. L. Elliott, KC, former member for this riding in the Ontario Legislature.

Enumerators To Start Canvass Monday

D. J. Lawrie has to hustle these days through the first phase of preparing for the balloting June 7.

As returning officer in Peterborough riding his electoral headquarters are on the third floor of the Barrie building. Stationery, instructions and all the rest of the election kit had arrived promptly yesterday, but housing a flock of ballot boxes will eventually create something of a squeeze and space problem.

Next comes appointment of enumerators, and they should be on their rounds by Monday to complete the listing of the names of all the qualified voters in the city and county by next Friday.

Then the manuscript lists have to be converted into print for use at the polls, particularly by the deputy returning officers on election day.

Enumerators going from door to door compiling voters' lists are being paid a minimum of $8 a day for the first three days of the compilation. In addition, they will receive eight cents a name for every name over a quota of 250. It is possible that this amount of eight cents will be increased to 10 this year, but definite advice on this point has not as yet been received from Toronto.

Road conditions in the county are reported as "generally satisfactory," with no roads impassable even in the more remote parts. This will mean the enumerators will be able to get around the rural areas without difficulty and have a good chance to keep up to schedule.

Vote Ordered To Pick Union

TORONTO, April 30 — (CP) — The Ontario Labor Relations Board has ordered a vote to be held at the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Company to choose between two unions which are competing for the job of representing the employees.

Employees are currently represented by the United Carpet Workers' Association and a contract has been in force 10 months. The Textile Workers Union of America (CCL) is claiming right as collective bargaining agent.

The Labor relations Board decided against taking a vote solely on acceptance of the Textile Workers Union.

"We believe that the necessary assurance is not obtained by requiring a majority showing in favor of individual bargaining representatives but by the taking of a representation vote in which the employees are offered a choice between the competing employees' organizations," the Board's ruling said.

Charm Expert Dislikes Paying Parking Fine —Resent Answering Questions, Too

Pasquale D'Angelo, noted Toronto "charm" expert doesn't like Peterborough's parking regulations. A written plea of guilty to an overtime parking charge—with $2 fine and $1 costs—was received in court this morning. With it came a note from the celebrated photographer of glamor gals.

"I was in Peterborough helping to raise money for your civic arena," the note said.

He said he parked his car for a few minutes and had no change with him to feed the meter. The ticket was there on his return.

"Is this typical of Peterborough hospitality?" the communication ends.

On the back of the information sheet, where space is provided for information required for police records—name, address, age, religion, where born, etc.—there was another sentence scrawled across the form, but no data was answered. It read: "What does religion have to do with pleading guilty?"

Name Charles H. Elliott Liberal Candidate; Drew Farm Policy Rapped

Charles H. Elliott, 28 Manning Ave., was nominated provincial candidate of Peterborough Liberals at their convention Thursday night in the Canadian Legion Hall. He was proposed by Dr. Ralph Honey of this city and Herbert Tucker of Apsley. Mr. Elliott is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Elliott, and a brother of Mr. Alex. L. Elliott, KC, a former Peterborough representative in the Ontario Legislature.

Others proposed from the floor of the convention, attended by several hundred men and women, were: Arthur H. Lewis, Col. John A. Dewart, W. W. Dawson of Otonabee, T. J. Carley, KC, Vernon Campbell of Douro township, Alex. L. Elliott, and Ralph O. Standish.

Mr. A. H. Lewis, president of the association, was chairman of the meeting, and the guest speaker was Hon. P. M. Dewan, who was Minister of Agriculture in the previous Liberal government of the province. The assembly included groups from the outlying sections of the county, including the villages of Lakefield, Norwood and Havelock.

In the opening phase of receiving nominations, with Mr. Melville N. McIntyre as secretary, seven of those who were proposed for nomination asked that their names be withdrawn. The eighth was Mr. Standish, who was not present. Mr. Lewis suggested that the meeting proceed with the address by Mr. Dewan, giving the prospective candidates time to reconsider their position and immediate response.

Vern Campbell Retires

At the conclusion of the address the seven men were asked to retire to an ante-room to discuss the situation among themselves, and it was nearly midnight before Mr. Lewis returned with the announcement of Mr. Elliott's acceptance. It transpired that the final decision rested between him and Mr. Campbell.

By that time most of the women and some of the men from the townships had left for home. Mr. Elliott was warmly greeted as he made a modest little speech.

"I know you are all keenly interested in the cause of Liberalism or you would not have waited so long," he said. "I think there are others more qualified than I to be candidate, but I have decided to let my name stand, and I promise you that I will do all I can to win the election. I know that I will have the support of all those who are here. I have received splendid encouragement, and I am counting on the same kind of support from all those men and women in the city and county who believe in the principles and the policies of Liberalism."

Dr. Honey said he presented the name of Mr. Elliott to the convention in deep conviction of his qualifications as a candidate of the people of this riding. "He was educated and grew up in Peterborough, and is widely known both in the city and county. He has taken an active part in civic and other community affairs, and especially in welfare and charitable organizations, all of which he has belonged to. I have never known him to be a member of any organization without having been president or an executive officer. That willingness to do his full share speaks for itself. It is also proof of the confidence and the admiration of his fellows. Through the years he has steadily gained in the number of friends and supporters in all political faiths. I propose the nomination of a man of high and worthy ideals, and I am certain that, if given the opportunity, he would do an outstanding job as the representative of Peterborough riding in the Legislature.

Noted For Sincerity

Mr. Elliott is known for the sincerity of his efforts. He was

Adjourn Without Vote

LAKE SUCCESS, April 30.—(CP). — The Security Council argued nearly two hours last night in attempts to avoid a Russian veto in the Czechoslovak case but adjourned without going to a vote. Andrei Gromyko left little doubt that he intended to exercise Russia's 24th veto to stop a Council investigation of the Soviet Union's role in the February Communist coup in Prague.

Windsor Builder Ready To Start 500 New Homes

WINDSOR, April 30. — Windsor's new 500 homes for veterans' project, under an agreement with Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, will be started shortly.

Make Announcement

Officials of the housing corporation announced in Ottawa today that Sterling Construction Company, Windsor, has been awarded the contract for building all 500 homes.

Central Housing and Mortgage Company originally called for tenders on the first 150 houses but it was decided later to proceed with the full Windsor quota and new tenders were advertised for the entire block of 500 units.

Sterling Construction Company officials stated at noon that they had not been advised of the contract award but stated they were ready to start building at once.

The Sterling firm was the lowest bidder. Others who tendered were Ryan Construction Company, Windsor, and Russell Construction Company, Toronto.

Lumber On Hand

Lumber for the homes is practically all on hand. Carloads have been received in the city during the last few months and stored in East Winsdor yards.

The project was halted, under strong protest from Windsor city officials, several weeks ago when the federal government balked at proposed housing and Crown Lands legislation mooted by the provincial government.

Faced with objections from Windsor and other Ontario areas which faced loss of veterans' housing, the Ontario Government withdrew the objectionable legislation before it became law. The Dominion housing authorities then ordered agreements with Central Housing and Mortgage Corporation carried out as contracted.

Presidential Candidate Fight Shades Congress Competition

By CLYDE BLACKBURN

WASHINGTON, April 30—(CP).—Picking presidential candidates for Nov. 2 elections has tended to obscure the fact that the entire House of Representatives and 32 of the Senate seats are also involved. Right now both chambers are in control of the Republican party which won the 1946 off-year elections. It is not the first time that one party controlled the Congress while another ran the administration.

But the usual thing is for the party electing the President also to elect the majorities in Congress. However, anything may happen in this presidential election.

Congressional Control

Congressional control may depend upon the extent to which each party interprets and adopts the reform measures desired by the masses of people.

Occupancy of the White House may depend more upon the personality of the candidate than upon the policies contained in his party's manifesto.

These platforms will be submitted at the national nominating conventions in Philadelphia, the Republicans in June and the Democrats in July — after they have had a chance to look over the Republican statement and the party's nominated candidates for President and Vice-President.

Civil War Period.

Since the end of the Civil War period—1868 — Republicans have been in power more frequently than Democrats. Only four Democrat Presidents have held office in that period—Grover Cleveland, Woodrow Wilson, Franklin D. Roosevelt, and Harry Truman.

But the ratio is more nearly balanced in point of years in power because Roosevelt held office more than 12 years.

Thus the Democrats have been in power in the White House 32 years to 48 for the Republicans since the two-party system began in 1868.

In Congress, the Republicans have been in power in the House 22 sessions out of 40 and in the Senate 26 sessions out of 40.

Third Parties

The two parties have been able to remain dominant over efforts of third party movements in all these years, chiefly because of their ability, one or the other of them, to adopt as their own the major causes actuating third party movements.

It has been recorded that during the 40-year period from 1872 to 1912, 28 specific changes of domestic government policy were advocated by Progressive, Labor, and Agrarian movements which had formed minor parties.

By 1920 all but four of these proposed policies had been adopted by either Democrats or Republicans and the minor parties which originated them had disappeared.

The same process has prevailed since the Civil War and it now remains to be seen if it will operate in the case of the third party of the former Democratic Vice-President, Henry Wallace.

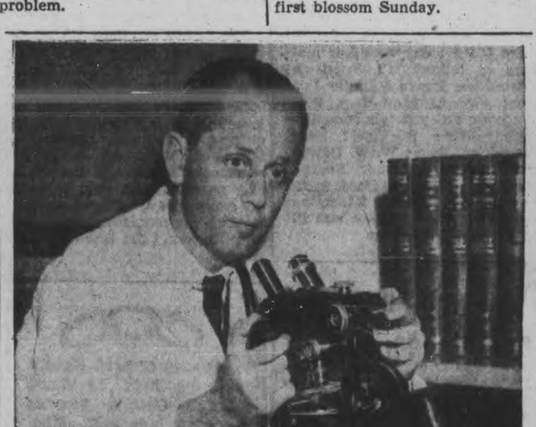
Up To Russians

WIESBADEN, Germany, April 30.—(AP).—The United States military government met a woman yesterday who says she lived next door to Adolf Hitler last year. Frau Dora Mai says Hitler was alive then and living in Polish-occupied Silesia. The military government, apparently skeptical, said it was Russia's problem.

Horse Tramples Cameron Child

LINDSAY, April 30.—A two-year-old Cameron child is in serious condition in Ross Hospital today following an accident on her father's farm yesterday. The child, June Wilson, was badly trampled when she went into a stall beside one of her father's horses. The animal trampled her on the chest causing extensive injuries. The little girl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wilson.

According to a report of the incident the child had gone in beside the horse while her brother, himself only five, stood nearby. When the lad realized what was happening he managed to free her from under the horse but not before she had been badly trampled.



Hospital authorities say her condition is quite serious.

Can't Sponsor Offer

OTTAWA, April 30 — (CP). — A cabinet source said yesterday the government could not sponsor an offer by Sir Albert Braithwaite to bring 3,000 skilled British workmen to Canada to start strip-mining in Alberta coal fields. The source said the plan is "interesting" but made no comment on its practicability.

Cherry Blossoms Open

ST. CATHARINES, April 30 — (CP). — Cherry blossoms have started to open throughout the Niagara fruit belt and thousands of Canadian and American tourists are expected to crowd into the Peninsula this week-end for the first blossom Sunday.

RELAX, QUIT WORRYING—Dr. Hans Selye, director of the Institute of Experimental Medicine of the University of Montreal has satisfied his medical confreres that high blood pressure and hardening of the arteries are due to too much table salt, exposure to cold and—above all—worrying under the stress and strain of modern life. His advice—"slow down and relax."

Says State Education Bonus Only Namby-Pamby Business

OTTAWA, April 30 — (CP). — A cry went up in the Senate yesterday that "this namby-pamby business of the state bonuses young people" to give them education "is going to lead to disaster."

It came from the Progressive Conservative leader, Senator John T. Haig.

He attacked a government bill, already passed by the Commons, that would widen the scope of the Vocational Training Co-ordination Act to give training to persons not eligible for unemployment insurance in the event they become jobless.

Earlier, Senator Arthur Roebuck (L—Ontario), piloting the bill, objected to a request from the speaker—which he interpreted as a ruling—that he omit references to the Unemployment Insurance Act. He cut his explanation short with the observation that this "takes out the background" and that "a most interesting subject has been destroyed by the rules—if they are the rules."

He left the chamber shortly after.

Senator Haig viewed the bill as the "thin edge of the wedge" in extension of the system of helping veterans through college or vocational schools, a system which he approved for them alone.

Work For It

"This," he cried, "is a pioneering country, and we have to learn that the most valuable education comes to those who get it by the sweat of their brow."

He agreed with the view that Canada is "going crazy" over higher education. The universities were turning out far more graduates than the country could absorb. Thirty thousand young Canadians left for the United States in 1947 and this bill would be public money to train more to do the same.

"The boys and girls who fight their own way through college are the ones who succeed," he said.

Senator Haig predicted that if unemployment started on a major scale, the government would be "swamped" by people who wanted to take vocational training at "terrific cost" to the public. Canadians must be taught that it was by their own efforts they would ge to the top.

"Why should young people stay on the farm when they can get a free education and then head for central Canada or the States," he asked. The whole idea was "namby-pamby" and would "lead to disaster."

Senator Roebuck, in his explanation of the bill, said it was intended to prevent future unemployment. Vocational training was necessary, along with unemployment insurance and the labor department system of employment offices.

Indict Two Women

LOS ANGELES, April 30.—(AP).—A grand jury indicted two middle-age women yesterday on charges that they conspired to sell infants in what the district attorney earlier called a baby market. The two, Mrs. Marie Chaplin, 51, and Mrs Isabel Drucke, 53, are charged with seven overt acts.

Fashion Flashes

IF THE CHOICE must be for just one dinner dress to carry a woman through the season, it might well be a V-necked, soft-shirtwaist, ankle-length model in smoke-grey taffeta. One model we admired has medium sleeves, closed with tiny, self-covered buttons and has a wide, tailored self belt and a whopping full skirt.

✧ ✧ ✧

NO END to the popularity of the dark faille suit, the sort of thing that looks well from luncheon on through dinner. Dark navy or black silk faille is used for a lovely suit with rounded hips and double flap pockets for the jacket that is detailed with nicely handled revers and one-button fastening at the waist.

✧ ✧ ✧

WONDERFUL gabardines, soft and silky and gleaming, have been used for handsome daytime suits. Blonde gabardine is used for a handsome suit with a fitted jacket that has a soft petal collar and big soft sleeves worked into turnback cuffs. Six tucks below the waist, where the jacket fastens with a double-breasted effect with tiny amber buttons.

✧ ✧ ✧

PERFECT for a gala spring evening is a dance dress of pale beige lace with a fine gold thread worked through it. The snug bodice buttons with tiny self buttons to a collar with points that turn up or down. The full ballerina skirt has a slightly padded hipline.

✧ ✧ ✧

INSPIRATION is drawn from many sources by good designers. The sea shell has inspired one milliner to do some charm hats. Sand-colored straw, covered with crocheted mesh and trimmed with deep amber-colored velvet roses and narrow velvet ribbons finished with rosebuds, uses of sea shell silhouette.

DOROTHY DIX

Answer Sought On Love, Vicissitudes of Marriage

DEAR MISS DIX—What is this thing called love? Is it physical attraction? Is it mental attitude? Is it an appreciation for the traits and characteristics of the other person? Can there be a successful marriage without love; that is, if the man is not in love with the woman, or the woman is not in love with the man?

Is it possible to learn to love someone after marriage, even though you are not in love at the time of marriage? Is love the prerogative of extreme youth? Can a man in his early thirties fall in love as well as one in his early twenties? This love business has been on my mind for some time, and I will greatly appreciate it if you will answer my questions.

TIM.

Dorothy Dix

ANSWER: Page Solomon, although even he didn't know the answers, even though he was the greatest sentimental experimentalist in recorded history and certainly hung up a record as a marrying man. But whether he was in love with his numerous wives, what he felt for them was merely a passing fancy, or whether his love affairs were just Hollywood romances, no one knows. Yet he is supposed to be the wisest man who ever lived.

So if Solomon couldn't find out what love is, it is futile to expect a poor dub of a man or a woman or a bobby-soxer to know whether what they think is love is the real, genuine, blown-in-the-bottle article, or whether the fluttering in their bosoms is due to the grand passion or indigestion.

Many Marriages Succeed

But to answer your other questions, Tim: Yes, there are many successful marriages without love, because many men and women have no sentimental or romantic leanings. There is not a thrill in their systems, but they are capable of having a warm friendship that stands the wear and tear of marriage better than the lovey-dovey stuff that sends many youths and maidens to the altar.

Also, it is possible to learn to love someone after marriage, even though a Managing Mama or being the boss's daughter had more to do with the wedding than Cupid had. Love begets love, and it is comparatively easy to fall in love with anyone who is crazy about us.

Certainly youth has no monopoly on love, though it thinks it has. Nothing is so flimsy and so little to be depended on as calf love. Only mature men and women are capable of a really deep and abiding love.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I are in our early fifties. We have four fine children whom we are trying to send through college, and another one in high school. Ever since our marriage we have had someone on both sides of the family to help out financially until it has amounted to between $8,000 and $10,000.

Right now we are having hard sledding ourselves, but none of our relatives have held out a helping hand to us, or have offered to repay any of the money that we gave them. They haven't even given us a "thank you" for what we have done for them. Do you think we have done right in helping others, when, in the end, our own family will have to go without what rightfully should be theirs?

WORRIED FATHER AND MOTHER.

ANSWER: You have done right insofar as your own consciences are concerned, because you have been generous and kind and helped the lame dog over the step, but also you are reaping the reward of the do-gooders, which is ingratitude. There is no surer way of making enemies of your family than to let them become independent upon you. It hurts their pride, and they take out their resentment on you, instead of thanking you.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am 25 years old and seriously considering marriage. There is only one thing that has me baffled. I have only $500 saved. Have practically no household furniture. And I earn only $37 a week. Do you think it wise to attempt marriage on such a small amount?

DALE.

ANSWER: I once heard a youth, who didn't even have a shoestring to marry on, say that he has as good a right to starve a woman as any other man. Maybe that is true, but it seems to me that it is a risky business to marry when you do not know where your next meal is coming from. Even a wife has to eat, and you can't be romantic on an empty stomach.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturady, May 1

The forecast is for continuation of strange and complicated situation, with long-range consequences dependent upon rational and considerate conduct now, but the judgment has not cleared, and some fresh obstruction, block or stubborn obstacles seem to accent frustration and futility. An indomitable urge to "batter the ramparts," to ruthlessly tear away strange and inexplicable conditions, is not advised, although there is definite promise for attaining safe ground by means of compromise, conciliation, tact and finesse. A resort to spiritual or idealistic implements might prove triumphant.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves compelled to unravel certain curious and baffling situations, in which the final happy culmination depends upon the solidity, justness, and responsibility of present critical and complex affairs, and their wise management. Solve problems by tact, diplomacy, gracious yielding or finesse rather than by attempts to batter down all opposition and frustrations. The gentle approach, or resort to spiritual weapons of ideals, might spectacularly gain what force and fury could not attain. The situation is intriguing, dramatic, adventurous.

A child born on this day, may be said to find life a difficult "row to hoe," being torn two ways, be the drag of duty, responsibility, sanity, and wild and demanding impulses and emotions. But there are signs of spiritual aids in crises.

THREE BABIES — ALL GIRLS

The maternity ward at Apsley Outpost Hospital filled up fast last Wednesday when three babies were born to three mothers, and all three were girls. The parents are Mr. and Mrs. M. Young, Mr. and Mrs. L. Youmans and Mr. and Mrs. J. Johnston. This is an unusual event in the Red Cross hospital, where often weeks go by without a child being born.

Site Secured For Mission In South End

NORWOOD, April 30—(ENS)—The spring meeting of the Peterborough Presbytery of the United Church of Canada was held in the Norwood United Church Tuesday with the chairman Rev. Dr. James Semple, presiding.

The Rev. A. M. Partridge of Mark Street Church conducted the Devotional Services at the opening session.

Interesting reports were presented by several committees including Religious Education, Evangelism and Social Service, Property, Missionary and Maintainence and Pension Fund Capital Campaign.

Rev. A. M. Partridge and F. R. Vanderburg, were appointed Presbytery representatives on the new Peterborough County and City Religious Education Council. Rev. M. J. Aiken reported the securing of a site for a new United Church Mission in the South West Peterborough area and stated that building operations should begin very soon. The total Missionary Givings for the Presbytery for 1947 amounted to $23,179.00 and the allocation for 1948 is $26,770.00. Revised local congregation objectives were adopted. Mr. I. H. Keefer reported that Bay of Quinte Conference had met its full objective in the Pensions Fund Capital Campaign and that it was expected that the total for the whole church now only about $200,000 short, would soon be met.

The following nominations were made for various Presbytery Conference and General Offices.

Rev. Dr. James Semple was nominated for the position of Moderator of the General Council and Dr. Semple and Mr. Porter of Lakefield were nominated as Commissioners to the next meeting of the General Council in September next.

Rev. J. Vernor McNeeley of Oshawa was nominated for the position of Presdient of the Bay of Quinte Conference.

Dr. Semple and Rev. Fred Craik were nominated as Settlement Committee members for the next Conference year.

Presbytery noted with regret the passing of one of its members, Rev. Andrew McLaughlin during the year and his obituary was read and a brief memorial silence was observed.

The Presbytery officers for the insuing conference year will be Chairman, Rev. E. E. Pugsley, Norwood and Secretary-Treasurer Rev. W. R. Archer, Lakefield.

The members of Presbytery were served a bounteous dinner at noon by the members of the Women's Association of the Norwood Church.

The adjourned meeting of Presbytery will be held at Conference at Smiths Falls during the week of May 24 and the Autumn meeting will be held at Trinity Church, Hastings.

JUST WAITING — The trout season opening this week-end need not keep anglers at home who have no reservations made at well-stocked preserves. Ontario's highways and county roads pass through speckled trout districts in many areas. Chatsworth boys, Eldon Wilkinson and Alvie McIntosh (below) and Don Shank (above), investigate spot on No. 10 Highway north of Shelburne that has yielded fish up to 12 inches long. Who wouldn't envy Lorne Webster, 14-year-old Horning's Mill lad, seen with his chum, Jim Fraser (extreme right), beside stream that runs right under Lorne's house, out of Horning's Mills lake, renowned for its trout fishing. They'll both be out bright and early to try their luck.

Find Second Glow-Worm Grotto

DUNEDIN, N.Z., April 30 (CP) —A rival to one of New Zealand's most remarkable scenic attractoins, the Glow-worm Grotto at Waitomo, has been found at Lake Te Anau, in the far south of New Zealand.

The grotto at Waitomo is a cave which arches above an underground river. The roof is covered with myriads of glow-worms and visiting scientists have declared they have never seen such intensity of brilliant radiance in glow-worm caves elsewhere. George Bernard Shaw called it the "eighth wonder of the world" when he visited it before the war.

The newly-discovered cave at Lake Te Anau is at present accessible only by wading waist-deep in water under a rock face and has so remained unknown until recently. Water swirls continuously into the cave and the scene revealed by the glow-worm radiance is truly awe-inspiring. It is planned to improve access to the cave so that it can be easily visted by tourists.

Girls In New Zealand City Resent Whistles Sailors Cite Scottish Song For Support

DUNEDIN, NZ, April 29 (CP). —Seamen visiting New Zealand's Scottish city of Dunedin complain that the girls there are different from others in that they object to being whistled at.

It is an old and established maritime custom to whistle at girls, the seamen claim, and girls going near a British ship, or any ship, anywhere, can expect seamen to whistle at them. Elsewhere, they say, girls like being whistled at and it boosts their morale.

Dunedin girls reply that it all deepnds on the whistle—and the girl.

A local paper has come out in support of the seamen. Surely, it points out, there is an honorable precedent for the custom in a town like Dunedin in the well-loved Scottish song, "O, Whistle and I'll Come Tae Ye, My Lad."

Two Cars Collide

The truck of L. Jackson, 991 Monaghan Rd. and the car of B. N. Andrews, 466 Sherbrooke St., collided at the corner of Park and Weller Sts. at 6.45 Wednesday night. The truck was badly dented at the front and had a torn running board. A front and rear fender of the Andrews car were dented and scraped.

ASSESS, ADD, SUBTRACT

SUCCESSFUL play for certain contracts involves a simple, but definite mathematical procedure. First assess or estimate the length of certain suits indicated by the bidding of the opponents. Second add the presumed length of those suits together. Third subtract that figure from thirteen to get the number of cards in the remaining suit or suits. That process may indicate a hopeful play for the objective which would appear unattainable without it.

After the club 5 was led and South surveyed the dummy, he noted that his task was no cinch. West was marked with at least four spades, to double with so little high card strength out. East probably would not have ventured that vulnerable overcall with only six hearts and such a dearth of honors, so probably had seven, with West blank. And West must have had a half a dozen clubs to double the 3-Club bid along the way.

Adding up either East and West placed each with three diamonds. For West six cards in clubs and four in spades, plus none in hearts would leave three diamonds. For East, seven hearts, one spade and two clubs would leave three for diamonds. So South based his playing plan on that premise.

Winning the club lead with the A, he scored the spade A and Q and diamond A, led to the spade K and scored the diamond K for a heart discard, then led the diamond 8, hoping both defenders would follow while he ruffed. They did. Then he led the spade 9 to the J, discarding the heart 8 from dummy. West had no good return left. He picked the club Q, which the K won. The heart 10 to the A and three established diamonds then brought him safely into port.

ARAB EXODUS—While their belongings are unloaded from a truck, Arabs stand on dock at Haifa Palestine, with their children and await sea transportation to Acre following seizure of most of city by Hagana, the Jewish militia. Metal Shortage Brings Scramble

By The Canadian Press

Shortage of base metals are features of the industrial picture, and there will be considerable scrambling for such items as copper, lead and zinc among others.

The situation is reflected on the stock markets, and in Toronto the base metal index has reached 101.77, highest since mid-June, 1946, and a gain of 24.10 points since March 16, the low point of their last dip.

On the United States markets, oils are attracting keen attention on the basis of almost sensational earnings this year. Rails, though threatened by a strike, accompanied them up yesterday in New York, but the market otherwise lacked buoyancy. The Associated Press 60-stock average managed an advance of .1 at 67.4.

In Montreal industrials, papers and golds gained in a quiet market.

Late selling shaved early grain advances in Chicago and Winnipeg. New York cotton futures closed 75 cents a bale higher to $1 lower.

Three Apsley Men Fined Under LCA

Three Apsley men were fined a total of $226 by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, when they pleaded guilty in court today on liquor counts. Charges were laid by Provincial Constable Bert Howden of Apsley.

Ted Nesbitt and Lloyd Lean were each fined $100 for illegal possession charges. Alternative sentences given were three month in jail.

Irvin Nesbitt was fined $15 and $5.50 costs or 15 days on a charge of consuming liquor in a place other than residence. Alternative was 15 days.

Speeches By 3 Party Leaders Send Campaign Into High Gear

By The Canadian Press

The Ontario election campaign went into high gear last night with addresses by three party leaders.

Premier Drew fired the opening gun of his Progressive Conservative campaign at Beamsville with an attack on CCF party leader E. B. Jolliffe. At Guelph Mr. Jolliffe spoke on CCF financial proposals. Liberal Leader Farquahr Oliver at Gravenhurst promised French-speaking Ontario residents representations in a Liberal cabinet.

Addresses also were given by Colin Campbell, chairman of the Liberal Party's Ontario election committee, and by Provincial Secretary Michener, Highways Minister Doucett and Liquor Commissioner Griesinger.

Premier Drew urged support of his administration's proposed Hydro frequency-conversion and development program and said the people of Ontario would vote June 7 on "the whole record of the government and its broad plans for the future in every department."

He criticized Mr. Jolliffe for calling the Ontario Provincial Police "Blackwell's Blacklegs" in a speech April 26.

Never Learns

"It is obvious that Mr.. Jolliffe is quite incapable of learning anything from past experience," he said. "In the last provincial election he sought to undermine public confidence in the provincial police and, through that, confidence in the government, by utterly false charges of the most despicable nature.

"Now he is up to his old tricks ...once again he has conclusively demonstrated his utter unfitness for public office of any kind."

Besides promising Ontario's French-Canadians a cabinet minister if the Liberals win, Mr. Oliver announced that his party planned to give Northern Ontario a representative in the cabinet.

He charges that Premier Drew had failed to provide for minorities and had ignored the rights of large sections of the province, particularly Northern Ontario. He said a Liberal government would free Hydro from politics and reduce gasoline taxation by three cents a gallon.

Not Getting Service

Mr. Jolliffe said people were paying for better services than they are receiving "because certain politicians prefer to boast of a $25,000,000 surplus."

He said the CCF proposed to spend provincial surpluses on increased old age pensions, mothers' allowances, hospital allowances and government employees' salaries. He said money still would remain for a housing program, communities centres, day nurseries "and perhaps a reduction in taxes."

Mr. Campbell described Premier Drew in a Hamilton speech as "a man who would like to be a dictator" and added:

"He hopes to go to Ottawa as the conquering hero of the Tories there."

Will Continue Truck Hearing In Two Weeks

TORONTO, April 30—(CP).—A United States trucking firm's bid for permission to carry automobiles in bond through Ontario between Detroit and Buffalo will be continued May 12.

Before the Ontario Municipal Board adjourned the hearing yesterday, a US Government official found himself supporting the application in opposition to five railways and two cities.

Donald Fleming, counsel for the New York Central Railway, said later he was considering the possibility of bringing the matter up in the House of Commons.

Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Toronto-Eglinton, Mr. Fleming said he doubted the fitness of the proceedings when H. Earl Russell, US consul here, told the board he hoped for a favorable decision and expressed "the extreme interest of my (US) government in this application."

The M and G Convoy Co. of Buffalo asked for a licence to carry automobiles in bond over provincial highways between the two United States points.

E. J. Hand, president, said it would mean a saving of 100 miles and from six to eight hours in delivery.

The application was opposed by the New York Central, Wabash, Canadian National, Canadian Pacific and Ontario Northland rail lines. In addition, the cities of St. Thomas and Niagara Falls registered protest on the grounds their railway worker citizens would suffer, and that international bridges and Ontario roads would be clogged.

John Magee, executive secretary of the Canadian Automotive Transport Association, told the board the members of his group were not opposed to US truckers carrying goods in bond over Canadian highways.

Two Pay Fines

One liquor and one traffic charge were received on written pleas of guilty by Magistrate Philp in today's court.

Wilfred Hie, RR 6, Cobourg, was fined $10 and $2.50 costs for illegal possession of liquor.

Justin V. Shaunessy, Bridgenorth, paid $5 and $2.50 costs for speeding.

QUACK WAS "QUACKSALVER"

A quack, a term used for an unlicensed medical practitioner, is a short form of the word "quacksalver."

SET PAINTING — GEN

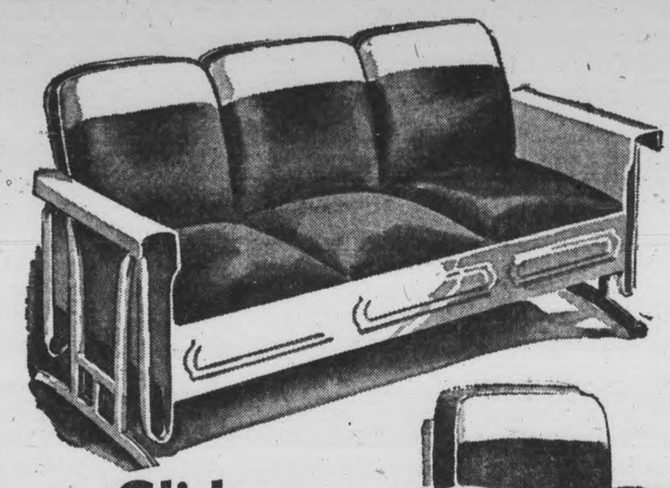
MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 30 — (AP). — A two-storey house was painted last night in five minutes 40 seconds. The painters called it a new world's record. The job normally requires 57 man hours. It was done by 125 painters as a feature of the city's cleanup week.

US Ideas Wrong On Travel Ban Dolan Declares

BOSTON, April 30. —(CP). — Canada's tourist chief said today Americans were under "a tremendous misconception" about Canadian restrictions on pleasure travel in the United States.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the New England Hotel Association, D. Leo Dolan, director of the Canadian Government Travel Bureau, hammered particularly at the thinking behind a recent resolution by the Maine Hotel Association. The Association urged that Americans spend their holidays in their own country because of the Canadian action.

Mr. Dolan, after outlining the "dangerous" exchange problem that forced the dollar-saving program, said "Canada has not instituted a prohibition of pleasure travel to this country."



"We have, in effect, said to our people they may travel here and we will provide them with U.S. dollars to the amount of $150. For a family of four, that meant $600, more than most families could afford for a vacation.

Last year on a per capita basis Canadians spent $220 in the U.S. compared with the $12 spent in Canada by the average American. Canadians spent $152,000,000 in the U.S., Americans $230,000,000 in Canada.

SCOTTISH BRIDE — Mrs. James Stuart Fairbairn, 29-year-old Scottish heiress, photographed with her Canadian husband and collie "Weull" as she arrived in this country on board the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada in Montreal recently en route to Banff, Alta., where they will live. They met when Mr. Fairbairn, on leave from the Canadian army, visited Galashiels, Scotland, where his bride-to-be, a noted horsewoman, kept her mounts in his father's stable.

the character and the ability that can be applied in the public life of this province and to the advantage of this riding."

In declining nomination Mr. Carley said he hoped "we'll not hear any grousing about this election being called suddenly by Premier Drew for a snap vote. This is an opportunity for the people of Ontario to tell George Drew they don't want any longer the kind of government he has been giving us. We have been hearing a lot from Mr. Drew about the Communists. Well, they are not the only persons who can do violence to democratic constitutions. Mr. Drew has accused the Prime Minister of Canada of uttering lies, he has spoken of a Toronto man as a contemptible liar, and he has said the Hon. C. D. Howe was a liar. That is the kind of statemanship that undermines confidence in the leadership of the country. Accusing men of dishonesty is undermining our democratic institutions at a time when they ought to be built up. Surely we can carry on public discussions in a better way than calling men liars."

Introduced by Mr. A. L. Elliott as the Minister of Agriculture for some years and previously as principal of the agricultural school at Kemptville, Mr Dewan said that the Drew government had done nothing of any value to agriculture that was not initiated by the Liberal government which preceded it.

Stopped Subsidy

"You can ask your Conservative friends to point out one thing worth while additional to the policies we brought in. We had initiated the policy of increasing by thousands the breeding ewes of the sheep industry. With the Dominion government we paid a subsidy on wool. Mr. Drew stopped it two years ago. We introduced the subsidy on cheese and bacon. Mr. Drew has carried on those subsidies exactly as they were arranged by us in office. We paid one-half the freight rates on feed grain from the west until the Hon. Mr. Gardiner agreed that the fetderal government would pay the whole freight assistance. We arranged to have the Department's agricultural representatives give their wholehearted support to the Federation of Agriculture. The Liberal government gave the first subsidy to the sugar beet industry of western Ontario. I have searched through the agricultural record of the Drew administration and I can find nothing but a slight increase in the sugar beet subsidy. When it was first applied we gave exactly what the heads of that industry asked.

I can assure you that a government headed by Farquhar Oliver will be just as generous to the farming industry as we were."

Mr. Dewan said Mr. Drew had gone to England early in the war and had seen there the operation of British agricultural committees which were set up with mandatory powers over farmers even to the extreme extent of displacing them from their farms.

"He said that if he became head of the government he was going to set up the same kind of committees. Any one of sense knew that it couldn't be done here, and that we didn't need legislation of that kind in this province. He did make some attempt to carry it out. Some one in his own party must have advised him that it couldn't be done for the legislation he brought down in 1944 was the most innocuous I ever read. The musts Mr. Drew was going to enact became nays. His committee even became optional. In the last session the government admitted there were only 28 county committees organized, and every farmer surely knows they have no authority."

Monopolized Broadcasts

Mr. Dewan said Premier Drew had been broadcasting weekly from January to April. "You might have thought he was the whole cabinet. His course indicated the finest type of dictatorship you could find in any democratic country. Hasn't the man any cabinet minister capable of speaking for his own department? How does he expect the people of Ontario to have any confidence in him if he virtually says "you boys are not qualified to make these broadcasts." He virtually tells your own member, Mr. Scott, that he is not qualified to speak over the air about the Department of Lands and Forests. There were only four of the thirteen broadcasts which Mr. Drew was rightly entitled to make.

On March 12 Mr. Drew virtually said to Harold Scott: "I appointed you Minister Lands and Forests, but you are not qualified to make a broadcast about your own department. I'll do that as I have done with the others." You don't find Mackenzie King doing that. He places confidence in the members of his cabinet. It may be that if he finds some one is not making a success of his department that he transfers him. But, at least he has given him a chance, and the responsibility of speaking for his department."

"I recall the day when Mr. Drew was in the Opposition he accused us of extravagance in having too many Cabinet ministers. We had eleven. Mr. Drew in office has the largest cabinet the province ever saw. When I was Minister of Agriculture, Dr. Drew was all for economy. He told me there was no reason why I should not handle the Department of Labor as well. But, when he came to office he did not ask the Minister of Agriculture to take on another department. A few weeks after Col. Kennedy became Minister of Agriculture, he was given an assistant deputy minister, I managed to get along with just the deputy.

One thing Ontario has learned about George Drew. He is vastly different in office to what he was in opposition."

Mr. Dewan said that the policies the Liberal leader would offer to the electors was being drafted, and would be announced in a few days.

Wasting $1,250,000

Mr. Dewan said Mr. Drew did not hesitate to spend $1,250,000 on premature elections, but when it was a matter of social services, old age pensions, assistance to hospitals, nearly all of them in the red across the province, the government couldn't do these things of a social nature because of a shortage of money. "But, $162,809 could be spent on an airplane for the use of officers of the Hydro-Electric Commission.

"The government has brought down a budget for a great surplus. They might be justified in boasting of it if the surplus is there as a result of economies of the government, and not the result of excessive taxes.

Mr. Dewan said the proposed Hydro conversion expenditure was not an election issue because it had received unanimous support in the House. "One reason for this election is that Mr. Drew knows that next winter and spring there will be more blackouts and idle machinery than we had this year. He knows he is largely responsible for Ontario's shortage of electric power. In the last year of the Liberal government, when Mr. Conant was Premier, we had an agreement between the governments of Ontario and Quebec for power developments. Mr. Drew then opposed it. In office he let 1943 and 1944 go by, and then made an agreement with Premier Duplessis of Quebec that was only slightly different in comparison with our old agreement. It was not until 1947 that anything was done in a substantial way to develop the power this province needed. He knew he couldn't face the electors after the darkness of another winter."

Nashua Workers Aid Arena Drive

A fillip was given to the fund-drive to erect a hockey rink next witner when Percy Killingbeck, chairman of the Industrial Section of the Civic Arena committee announced at a meeting on Thursday night that industry was supporting the drive with enthusiasm.

Nashua Paper Company, the first company to give a full report of a plant canvass said that through the payroll deduction plan $209.50 had been raised with all 49 employees supporting it

Committee officials point out that this means an average contribution of more than four dollars apiece, and if every firm in the city responds in the same manner success of the project is assured. George Clarke, plant manager of Nashua Paper, included his personal cheque for a large sum.

Other contributors were a couple of members of the Legion hockey team who showed their interest by donating $10 apiece. Charles Cummer, manager Bank of Montreal, sent a substantial cheque to the committee, describing the drive as "a worthy cause and I hope that the committee will succeed in reaching the objective so children can have a place to play organized hockey next winter."
